CONSTRUCTION OF VETERANS MEMORIAL AUDITORIUM NEARS END

The newest addition to the Marin Civic Center, the $3 million auditorium and exhibition hall, shows off its future promise. Workmen have still to put the finishing touches on it and the strips of cloth are to protect the floor from their work shoes. Construction is to be completed within a week, and then work will begin on installation of carpeting, seats, theatrical equipment and other furnishings. The auditorium, which shows clearly its architectural relationship to the other structures in the Civic Center designed by Frank Lloyd Wright, is to open next September. The sloping permanent auditorium area (left) and flat exhibition area (right) are separated by a wall that can be moved to increase the permanent seating of 800, 1,200 or 1,400 by adding telescoping seats on risers. Rear seats will continue the upward slope from the stage. Future plans are to bring the auditorium to its full 2,100-seat capacity. The ultimate cost, with land, landscaping, fees, construction, furnishings and seating for 2,100, will be almost $4 million, according to county officials.

Guinea Claims Invasion; U.N. Sending Investigators

ABIDJAN, Ivory Coast (UPI) —Guinea said 350 Portuguese-led mercenaries staged a seaborne invasion before dawn Sunday, but were repulsed and a number of them were captured.

The government of left-wing President Ahmed Sekou Toure, who has led Guinea since its independence from France in 1958, called on the United Nations to send airborne forces to help repel the invasion. The U.N. Security council, after a debate that lasted into early today, decided instead to send a mission to Guinea to investigate the charges.

The Portuguese government denied charges it was involved in the operation as "not having the slightest base."

A spokesman in Lisbon said "Portugal already has enough problems created on the frontiers by her neighbors in the African territories to have any interest in seeking others."

Guinea, with 3.5 million people in an area of 95,000 square miles on Africa's west coast, is bordered on the north by Portuguese Guinea. There are frequent border incidents between the two nations.

Conakry Radio, monitored at this African capital 600 miles northwest of Conakry Guinea, said "all points of resistance have been overcome and (Guinean) militants in uniform effectively control the whole city and have taken the necessary dispositions in case of a new attack."

The radio broadcasts gave no details of the fighting in the sprawling, humid seaport capital city but said "numbers" of mercenaries were captured.

Toure went on the radio himself early Sunday to announce the invasion. He said in the broadcast: "People of Guinea, since this morning at 3 a.m. you are the victims of an aggression. Your capital, Conakry, is attacked by imperialist forces, foreign warships are anchored in your territorial waters after having permitted European and African mercenaries to land."

Conakry radio later in the day broadcast what it said was the confession of a captured mercenary identified as Keita Mamadou of the "Africana Company." Keita said six ships carrying the invasion force arrived off Conakry during the night and "before the landing we received our instructions from a Portuguese general."

He added that "there were on board the ships 150 marines, 150 commandos and about 50 Guineans training in Portuguese Guinea who were to guide us."

Guinea has an armed force of some 5,000 men.

Reds To Boycott Talks

PARIS (UPI) — North Vietnam and the Viet Cong announced today they will boycott this week's 93rd session of the Vietnam peace talks to protest U.S. air raids on North Vietnam.

The talks this week were scheduled for Wednesday because the usual Thursday meeting day falls on the American Thanksgiving Holiday.

Xuan Thuy, the chief North Vietnamese negotiator, called a news conference to announce the boycott —the second one called in protest by the Communists.

SPEAKING FOR CONG

Thuy, who announced he also was speaking for the Viet Cong, demanded that the next session be held on Dec. 3.

A communique broadcast by the Provisional Revolutionary Government (Viet Cong) Foreign Ministry over a clandestine transmitter threatened reprisals "ten times harsher than the initial offense" for the U. S. air raids.

The broadcast, monitored in Saigon, said the Viet Cong "firmly condemns the extremely grave act of aggression committed by U. S. imperialism and added:

"The U. S. imperialists are hereby given the sternest warning that any of their criminal acts against North Vietnam will be determinedly met with severe retaliatory punishment from the South Vietnamese people which will be ten times harsher than the initial offense."

UNDER PORTRAIT

Thuy, seated beneath a huge portrait of Ho Chi Minh, said, "The Nixon administration must bear full responsibility for the obstacles to the work of the Paris conference on Vietnam and for all other serious consequences arising from its actions."

He repeated Hanoi's charges the raids were carried out by hundreds of aircraft in many waves and that they inflicted heavy casualties on civilians and wounded a number of American war prisoners.

Both Hanoi and the Viet Cong delegations had angrily announced the American bombing raids as "an act of war of extreme gravity" and said they were bound to affect the negotiations.

They boycotted the talks last May 7 to protest similar U.S. air action.

Fulbright: Viet Raids Are Major Escalation Of War

Defense Spokesman Mum On 19th Parallel Query

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William J. Fulbright, D-Ark., charged today that the Nixon Administration had embarked on a "major escalation" of the Vietnam war by weekend air raids in North Vietnam and ordered fresh hearings into U.S. policy in Southeast Asia.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird would be asked to testify.

He announced the reopening of hearings as the Pentagon continued to leave many questions unanswered about the extent of the weekend raids. Laird had said they were ordered as a response to North Vietnamese attacks on unarmed U.S. reconnaissance planes.

A Defense Department spokesman, Jerry W. Friedheim, did leave open the possibility that some of the attacks took place above the 19th parallel. Laird had insisted previously that all targets were below that, although Hanoi has charged some raids took place much farther north —some near Hanoi and Haiphong.

Friedheim said in response to questions that "all protective reaction strikes" —as the raids were characterized earlier — took place south of the 19th parallel.

But he declined comment when asked if any attacks besides protective reaction ones had taken place north of the 19th parallel.

The U.S. command in Saigon has referred all questions about the raids to Washington, where the exact targets, the number of planes lost and the precise rationale have not been made fully public.

Friedheim did say that 250 planes attacked "missile and antiaircraft gunsites and related facilities (along) the approch routes to the Mu Gia and Ban Karai passes into Laos, and the similar approach

OFFICIAL SILENCE

Source Claims Raid Hit Dump

SAIGON (UPI) — An informed American source said today the weekend air raids on North Vietnam destroyed a vast Communist supply dump sitting out in the open waiting for the supplies to be sent south through Cambodia and Laos.

"They clobbered the supply dump just north of Mu Gia Pass," the source said. "It was all up on pallets, ready for movement, and all out in the open."

The North Vietnamese had been building up large quantities just north of the pass, 60 miles above the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) for five months, waiting for the monsoon rains to end and make the Ho Chi Minh Trail available again.

In addition to the monsoon rains, a 47-day sustained air assault by B52 bombers also blocked most of the supplies from being moved through the pass onto the trail. Some of the B52s bombed mountainsides above the pass, causing landslides which blocked the road, military sources said.

The military sources said the bombing missions were "highly successful" and that waves of Air Force and Navy jets devastated supply and transportation facilities and missile and antiaircraft positions in North Vietnam.

The U.S. Command in Saigon maintained its silence about the raids, again refusing to say when the raids began or anything not contained in two statements issued in Washington by Defense Secretary Melvin Laird. He said they were "protective reaction missions" in retaliation for the shooting down of an unarmed American reconnaissance plane.

Some American diplomats and military officials were critical of the handling of the bombing attacks. They said the secrecy imposed in Washington gave North Vietnam a propaganda victory since the Communists presented their side of the case to the world before the Americans did.

They said as result of the Hanoi broadcasts much of the world will remain convinced that the raids did bomb north

Thurber Takes Stand, Denies Involvement

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Frank J. Thurber, a slight quiver in his voice, took the witness stand in Superior Court today and denied any involvement in the shooting death of Independent-Journal employee Allan W. Daly.

Thurber replied, "No, sir," to each of a series of questions from his attorney, Nathan Cohn, denying that he hired two San Bruno youths to firebomb Daly's San Francisco home in June, or to rob or beat up Daly July 4.

Thurber admitted being in the car of one of the youths, 17-year-old Richard A. Wamsley, on the night of the shooting. But, he said, it was only for a ride to his girl friend's home and then to a San Bruno tavern with the girl friend, Beatrice Sanders.

When asked why he had told police after his arrest July 6 that he had not been in the youths' car July 4, Thurber replied, "I didn't even think. I was scared. I didn't want to connect myself."

The statement to police had been introduced by the prosecution and a San Francisco police inspector had testified that Thurber and said he arrived at his San Bruno home between 5:30 and 6 p.m. the night of the fatal shooting.

Last Tuesday, Wamsley testified that he and Larry G. Rutherford, 17, who has confessed the fatal shooting of Daly, went to the Thurber home about 4 p.m. July 4 and made plans for that night's attack on Daly.

Today, Thurber testified that he arrived home at 6:45 or 6:50 p.m. by a Greyhound bus after leaving work at the San Fran-

Ex-Soldier Puts Calley At My Lai

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)— For the first time since the trial began, a witness testified today he saw 1st Lt. William L. Calley Jr. in the village of My Lai the day Calley is accused of killing, or ordering his men to kill, 102 South Vietnamese civilians.

The statement came from Gary M. Garfolo, 24, of Stockton, Calif., who also testified to seeing bodies strewn along a trail in the village March 16, 1968, the day Calley led the alleged massacre.

A previous witness said he "possibly" had seen Calley in the village, but when the question was put to Garfolo, he replied:

"At one time I saw him."

The former soldier was not asked what Calley was doing when he saw him.

Garfolo was the first witness in the second week of the trial. The initial week was taken up with jury selection, and court will be held only through Wednesday of this week because of the Thanksgiving holiday.

Garfolo was the 15th witness for the prosecution, and the 13th to testify that he saw bodies along a trail in My Lai.

Garfolo said he inspected the 12 to 15 bodies on the trail for three or four minutes to "see if

House Committee Shelves Nixon Antipollution Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Ways and Means Committee today shelved President Nixon's requested antipollution tax on lead and gasoline. The action killed the proposal for this year.

Committee members decided informally to defer action until the next Congress after agreeing that they needed more information on the proposal.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., the committee chairman, told newsmen, "we just didn't know enough about it."

"We didn't know the whys and the wherefores, particularly the whys," Mills said, presumably referring to why it was proposed.

The action was a major blow to Nixon's plans for additional revenue to help lessen a budget deficit that some observers believe may reach $15 billion this fiscal year.

As originally proposed, a tax of $4.25 per pound placed on lead additives would have produced $1.6 billion in this fiscal year. This would have figured out to 2 or 3 cents a gallon for leaded gasoline.

Nixon wanted the tax to take effect last Aug. 1. For each month of delay, the Treasury estimated it would lose $100 million.

The lead tax was included in a $5 billion revenue package proposed by Nixon. The committee planned to continue consideration of the other features of the package.

Those provisions include a one year continuation of the 10 per cent telephone and 7 per cent automobile excise taxes, both of which are scheduled to drop automatically to 5 per cent Jan. 1. The package also includes acceleration in the collection of gift and estate taxes.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Envoy Arrives

MOSCOW (UPI)—Communist China's new ambassador to the Soviet Union arrived Sunday to take the post that has been vacant for four years, the Soviet news agency Tass announced today.

Ambassador Liu Hsin Chuan, a former deputy foreign minister, arrived here 12 days after the Soviet ambassador to China, Vasili Tolstikov, took up his duties in Peking.

The two nations withdrew their ambassadors in 1966 at the height of China's cultural revolution when Peking openly challenged the Kremlin's leadership in the Communist world.

For four years the two nations stationed low ranking diplomatic personnel at their embassies in Peking and Moscow.

Flood In Manila

MANILA (UPI) — Monsoon rains Sunday and early today caused flash floods and disrupted relief and rehabilitation work in typhoon-stricken Manila.

Low-lying areas, including portions of the Manila International Airport, were under water as heavy rains drenched the city and its suburbs for nearly 12 hours. Foreign visitors and returning residents were forced to wade through the flooded aiport customs area at the height of the rains.

According to relief centers, the toll left behind by typhoon Patsy as it slashed across Manila and six nearby provinces last Saturday stood so far at 146 dead, 318 missing including 135 fishermen lost at sea and 1,1554 injured. In Manila alone, the Red Cross counted 31,382 refugees whose houses were either completely or partially destroyed.

Dental Aid

DETROIT (UPI) —A Rochester, N. Y., dental researcher predicts a clear plastic sealant he has developed will purove an important weapon in the battle to wipe out the most prevalent disease in the world today, tooth decay.

Dr. Michael Buonocore, a researcher at the Eastman Dental Center in Rochester, said one application of his sealant to the biting surfaces of the teeth of 60 children he experimented with proved nearly 100 per cent effective in warding off cavities for at least two years.

In a report to the Detroit District Dental Society Sunday, Buonocore described the sealant as an ordinary plastic similar to one dentists have used routinely for years. At present he said, it can be applied only to bicuspids and molars, which comprise about half of an adult's set of teeth.

President Dies

SINGAPORE (UPI) —President Yusof Bin Ishak of Singapore died today after a long illness. He was 60.

State-run Radio Singapore announced his death five and a half hours after Yusof succumbed of heart failure in the hospital to which he was admitted Saturday.

Flags at city hall and President House were lowered to half staff even before the official announcement was made and Radio Singapore switched to solemn music.

Dr. Yoh Ghim Seng will be acting president pending the election of a new president by parliament.

Yusof was elected head of state by the legislative assemzly in 1959 when Singapore became a self-governing state with foreign affairs and defense retained by Britain.

Congress Opens

BUDAPEST (UPI) —The Hungarian Communist party congress opened today with most Soviet bloc leaders on hand to endorse this nation's trail-blazing moves toward a more liberal and flexible Communism.

East Germany's Walter Ulbricht, the only bloc leader to publicly attack Hungray's economic and cultural liberalization in the past, stayed home in an apparent demonstration of distaste for the policies of Hungary's Communist party first secretary, Janos Kadar. Kadar's three-hour "state of the party" address kicked off the six-day songress, which is to set Hungarian policy for the next four years.

Strike Ends

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (UPI) —A 12-week strike, reportedly the longest ever by teachers in this country, is over. Teachers concede they won so little that merely going back to work looked like a major achievement.

"At least we're hired back, and I think that's a victory in itself," said Donald Miller, president of Local 1220 of the American Federation of Teachers (AFT). "The contract is certainly no great improvement over the one we had last year."

Teachers who resigned during the strike were reinstated on a two-year probationary basis. They lost their seniority and tenure and an average of $1,700 in wages. The starting pay for teachers is $7,800 per year.

Lunokhod Rests

MOSCOW (UPI)—Lunokhod I "hibernated" today against the coming lunar night, a two-week period too dark and too cold to permit activity by the robot moonwalker.

The Soviets said their space-controllers zig-zagged the eight-wheeled vehicle into a parking spot Sunday with maneuvers that "resembled fancy car driving." They battened the hatch on its solar battery and suspended communications.

The lunar night descends Tuesday upon the Sea of Rains, stomping ground of Lunokhod since Tuesday. It is expected to last until Dec. 8, the Soviets said.

May Visit

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI is considering a visit to disaster-stricken Pakistan during his Far Eastern and Pacific tour beginning Thursday.

The Pope announced during his regular Sunday noontime blessing from his study window that "We are studying whether it will be technically possible to make a brief stop there during our trip to Manila."

Vatican sources said the Pope wanted to visit the region to focus world attention on the pressing need for an all-out relief effort following a cyclone and tidal wave disaster that may have taken a million lives.

Cambodians Try Retaking Two Positions

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—About 3,000 Cambodian troops launched a counterattack today to retake two government positions in Highway 4 seized by Communist forces over the weekend.

The pass through the Kirirom mountains at Pich Nil and a Czechoslovak-built munitions factory, both about 60 miles southwest of Phnom Penh, were overrun by Communists Saturday. A spokesman in Phnom Penh, Col. Am Rong, said the three battalions of Cambodian troops withdrew, destroying their equipment and machinery in the munitions factory before leaving.

Brig. Gen. Sosthene Fernandez, commander of the operation to retake the two positions, said reports the Communists had captured one battalion of Cambodian troops at Pich Nil were exaggerated but conceded many of them had gone into the hills during the Communist attack and many had not yet returned.

In Saigon it was reported that U.S. troop strength fell by 3,800 men last week as the Phase Five troops withdrawal continued, according to figures released today by the U.S. Command.

Israel Says Egyptian Planes Over Sinai

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Israel said today eight Egyptian planes flew over Israeli military emplacements in the occupied Sinai Sunday in two "grave" violations of the Suez Canal cease-fire line.

It protested to the United Nations that the reconnaissance flights violated terms of the truce. Egypt had complained earlier that U.S. U2 spy planes were carrying out Israeli surveillance of Egypt.

A military spokesman in Jerusalem said four Egyptian Sukhoi 7 jets had flown over Israeli military emplacements Sunday and that four more Sukhois flew over Israeli positions between Qantara and Suez.

These were the first complaints Israeli has lodged since the cease-fire was renewed at midnight Nov. 5. During the first 90-day truce Israel lodged more than a score of complaints of Egyptian violations including moving up SAM missiles closer to the canal.

"In so doing, the Egyptians infringed the cease-fire and Israel has lodged a complaint against this grave violation with the supervisory body of the United Nations."

King Hussein of Jordan said today he plans to call for an Arab summit meeting to discuss the question of a Palestinian state. In an interview with the Beirut newspaper An Nahar, he stressed he did not consider the issue one for Palestinians alone and said all Arab nations must be involved.

Israeli sources in Jerusalem said Defense Minister Moshe Dayan and Foreign Minister Abba Eban are in sharp disagreement over the conditions for returning to Middle East peace talks.

Driver Is Injured As Car Misses Turn

An 18-year-old Novato man was injured yesterday at 11:30 p.m. when his car missed a curve on Nave Drive near Bel Marin Keys Boulevard in Novato and struck a steel pole.

Robert W. Cox, of 1315 Leafwood Drive, was examined at Novato General Hospital but not treated for minor scrapes and bruises. The California Highway Patrol attributed the accident to the smooth, worn tires on Cox's car and the fact that the pavement was wet.

New GM-UAW Contract; Ford, Chrysler In Talks

DETROIT (UPI)—The record three-year contract which ended the United Auto Workers strike against General Motors after 67 days went into effect today. Union officials began negotiating with Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp., seeking similar pacts.

G.M. agreed to a contract which will cost it at least $2.4 billion in wages alone Ford and Chrysler were expected to agree to at least as much —if not a few dollars more.

G.M. employes who walked off their jobs at midnight Sept. 14 began reporting to work again today with the first cars expected to begin rolling off the assembly lines either Wednesday or the Monday following the Thanksgiving holiday.

Company officials, hoping to achieve full-scale production by mid-December, found encouragement Sunday in the tentative settlement of a local dispute at a Chevrolet fabricating plant in suburban Warren which makes front end assemblies for all full size G.M. cars. A ratification vote by the local membership was scheduled today.

G.M. officials had said they could not resume building cars anywhere until the Warren facility and a stamping plant in Mansfield, Ohio, which ratified its local agreement Sunday, were back in operation.

The G.M. strike, according to the Federal Reserve Board, combined with an overall business slump to cause a 2.3 per cent drop in national industrial production during October —its sharpest monthly decline in more than 11 years.

The economic impact of the walkout also was felt in several communities, mostly in Michigan, where G.M. is the largest employer.

The UAW was not expected to strike either Ford or Chrysler, although it has given Ford until Dec. 7 to agree on a new contract.

The main reason further walkouts were not expected was that the union's strike fund, at a level of $120 million when the G.M. walkout began, is all but depleted and the UAW owes G.M. a considerable amount for picking up medical and life insurance benefit tabs for its striking employes during October.

Man, 28, Booked In Obscenity

A 28-year-old Larkspur man was booked Friday into Marin County Jail on a warrant charging child molesting, indecent exposure and selling obscene matter, the Marin County sheriff's department has reported.

Sheriff's deputies said Kenneth Bartlett Young of 501 Cane Street was released on his own recognizance to appear April 7 in Marin Municipal Court.

Young was arrested by Larkspur police, who said today they had no report of the arrest available.

Protest Develops On Flogging Order

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —An organization of probation officers today asked for an investigation of the judicial qualifications of Orange County Superior Court Judge William L. Murray, who ordered a prisoner flogged.

Murray recently ordered the cat-o-nine-tails flogging of an inmate who was convicted of assaulting another prisoner and creating a jail disturbance. Sheriff James A. Musick refused to carry out the order and Murray later sentenced the inmate to an additional 90 days in jail.

11 Groups Endorse Sewer Bonds

Eleven organizations and public agencies have endorsed the Novato Sanitary District's $5.5 million sewer bond measure to be voted upon Dec. 8 according to Evelyn Johnson of the Novato Citizens Sewer Bond Committee.

She reported that the following groups have endorsed the bond proposal:

San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board, Marin County Board of Supervisors, Novato City Council, Novato Chamber of Commerce, Novato Lions Club, Novato Chapter of American Association of University Women, North Marin Homeowners Federation, North Marin Chapter of Marin Conservation League, Bel Marin Keys Homeowners Association, Kappa Psi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority and the Novato Creek Committee.

Relief For Pakistan Showing Improvement

DACCA, East Pakistan (UPI) —Relief operations showed improvement today but fell far short of the level necessary to relieve the suffering of millions of survivors in East Pakistan's cyclone disaster zone.

The United States doubled its original commitment of four large helicopters and said four more were en route along with 50 patrol boats and 147 soldiers to help dispense blankets, rice, sugar, powdered milk and baby food.

After a slow start, Pakistan army, navy and air force units joined foreign assistance on a larger scale Sunday.

The Pakistan army, which has 40,000 troops stationed in East Pakistan, had been under heavy criticism for not acting faster to aid the stricken area.

American officials based in Dacca estimated two million to three million people lived in the path of the cyclone and tidal wave that roared in from the Bay of Bengal Nov. 12, and nearly all the survivors need food, clothing and shelter.

It is estimated as many as 500,000 may have died.

Local newsmen returning from stricken regions said survivors were calling out to visitors "Give us food. Give us water, fuel, medicine and clothes."

There were still coastal areas and islands in the mouth of the Ganges River that had not been reached by relief teams.

Weapons Charge Is Dismissed

A weapons charge against Robert John Fleeks, 41, of San Rafael, has been dismissed in Marin Municipal Court when the district attorney decided not to proceed with the case.

Fleeks, who is serving a 90-day jail sentence for a stolen property conviction, was also accused of being an ex-felon in possession of a concealed weapon.

The Most Exciting Headache News In Years!

Doctors' Tests In Treating Nervous Tension Headaches Now Made Public

Non-Narcotic Tablet (that needs no prescription) Proves Just As Effective As The Expensive, Leading Pain-Relief Prescription Of Doctors.

If you're one of the many who get tense, nervous headaches, these latest tests by doctors should be of the greatest importance.

In recent medical tests doctors proved a famous tablet that needs no prescription gives the same complete headache relief as the expensive, leading prescription of doctors.

These doctors' tests proved, beyond a doubt, that Anacin is just as effective to relieve tension headaches, yet Anacin needs no prescription and is far more economical.

With Anacin, headache pain and its nervous tension vanish in minutes. Despite its strength, Anacin is not narcotic. You can take it without getting dizzy or an upset stomach.

Next time take powerful, fast-acting Anacin®. Anacin Tablets give the same complete headache pain relief as the leading prescription product for which doctors wrote 21 million prescriptions last year.

Novato Teachers Continue Sanctions

The Novato Teachers Association will continue its sanctions alert against Novato Unified School District, despite teacher ratification of a proposed agreement on a 6.5 per cent pay hike.

John H. Enders, president of the Novato Teachers Association, said the sanctions alert is continuing "Because a crisis continues to exist in this district.

"Even though the agreement has been ratified, this doesn't signify that the teachers are satisfied with the salary settlement," he said.

Teachers voting last week approved the proposed 1970-71 salary agreement, reached by a representative of the board and the teachers' negotiating committee. The proposal has yet to be ratified by the district board.

The teachers representative council has maintained that it would require an 8.3 pay raise to maintain district salaries in a median salary position, Ender explained.

Novato is spending $721 per pupil, while the Tamalpais High School District is spending $1,259 and the San Rafael Elementary District is spending $853. "This situation is deplorable," he said.

Enders said that 90 per cent of the district's 534 teaching staff voted last week, and 62 per cent favored ratification.

He declined to give the vote count, saying the executive committee of the association voted not to release the figures until they had been presented to the representative council.

Policeman Says Man Didn't Hit

I-J Special Report

FAIRFIELD — A San Rafael police officer testified today that it was not Terry Warner Lansing who struck him as he was rushing to the aid of another policeman outside the Independent-Journal Feb. 14.

Officer Donald Rose, testifying under cross-examination in the trial of seven men arrested durng the Valentine's Day riot at the newspaper plant, said his assailant was wearing a light colored coat, similar to the one Lansing was wearing, but that the attacker was not Lansing.

Lansing, 20, of Berkeley, is one of the seven men on trial on a total of 36 charges growing out of the riot. Six of the seven, including Lansing, are charged with assault on a police officer.

Earlier in the trial, two of Rose's fellow San Rafael officers, testified they saw Lansing strike Rose on the head with a picket sign handle, breaking it, then hurl the weapon into Rose's face.

Rose testified today he does not recall being struck in this manner, nor does he remember being hit by Lansing.

The riot trial began its sixth week today in Solano County Superior Court.

route north and west of the demilitarized zone."

Administration officials said privately that the North Vietnamese had undertaken what appeared to be a major effort to reinforce and resupply their troops in Cambodia and South Vietnam, in preparation for undisclosed operations in 1971.

The officials acknowledged that the weekend air raids were prompted in large part by a desire to inflict enough damage to make it clear to Hanoi that the United States will not tolerate any major building of Communist forces in the Laos-South Vietnam battle area.

There also was speculation that the raids were aimed partly at destroying Red supplies being stored for shipment to the combat zone. To this, Friedheim said only that the weekend attacks "might very well hamper" such Communist operations.

The Communists charged that the attacks had gravely damaged prospects of progress at the Paris peace talks and announced they would boycott this week's scheduled meeting.

Fulbright's committee held a two-hour meeting to discuss the situation before he announced plans to try to get Rogers and Laird to appear.

Fulbright said the raids represented "a very major escalation of the war that, it seems to me, will entail greatly intensified conflict both North and South."

of the 19th parallel and that they hit an American prisioner of war camp. Saigon newspapers followed much the same line.

A spokesman for U.S. military commander Gen. Creighton W. Abrams said that unarmed U.S. photo-taking planes had been fired on six times since last May 2 on missions north of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) border.

Two of the aircraft were shot down, including an RF4C Phantom reconnaissance plane on Nov. 13. The two crewmen were missing and presumed dead.

While U.S. Command spokesmen in Saigon declined to discuss the strikes except to read statements issued by Laird in Washington, South Vietnamese leaders called the raids "a natural consequence" to protect U.S. airmen.

Sources said the land and carrier-based planes concentrated on supply arteries leading into the Ho Chi Minh Trail in eastern Laos. American B52 bombers have been concentrating on supply movements along the Trail in Laos for seven weeks but thousands of tons of supplies were still on the North Vietnamese side of the border when the raids were ordered.

any were breathing." None was, he said.

The next witness, Lt. Hugh C. Thompson Jr., 27, told the court that when he asked for help in getting wounded women and children out of a bunker at My Lai, he was told by a soldier: "The only was to get them out is with a hand grenade."

Thompson said he told the individual, who was not identified, to "hold the troops right there and I would get them out of the bunker."

Thompson said he got about 10 women, old men, and a baby out of the bunker and a gunship helicopter came and removed them to a hospital.

Calley, 27, sat with his left cheek resting on his fist for much of the Thompson testimony. He is charged with the premeditated murder of 102 civilians in the Vietnamese village—either by his own hand or by directing members of the platoon he commanded.

Thompson said that riding in a reconnaissance helicopter with him the morning of the shootings were Spec. Lawrence M. Colburn and a Specialist Androtta. Those two spotted the ditch, he said, which in a section 25 feet long and 8 feet wide he saw "50 to 100 people — just a lot of bodies in there, women, kids, babies, old men, some dead, some alive."

The American soldiers were to the east of the ditch, and when he landed, he motioned to one of them to come to the side of the ditch. That was when a soldier told him, "The only way you could help them out, was out of their misery."

Later in the morning, he said, he went back to the ditch, which was east of the town, because "we'd seen some in the ditch still alive."

Colburn and Androtta, he said, "went and got a kid out of the ditch, about the size of a six-year-old, muddy, with blood all over him."

They took the child to the Quang Ngai hospital, where it was found he had "just a scratch" of a wound.

Asked to describe the wounds of some of the others in the ditch, Thompson said: "there was one baby there that had part of its head missing, sir."

THURBER

cisco Newspaper Printing Co.

Thurber also denied today attempting to recruit an unemployed carpenter and a roofer, now in Soledad State Prison, to rough up Daly or anyone else.

The carpenter, James Thomas Turner Jr., now of South Carolina, and the Soledad prisoner, Wayne Cavelli, both testified last week that Thurber had offered them money to beat up Daly.

Wamsley and Rutherford have been sentenced to long-terms with the California Youth Authority for their roles in the death of Daly.

Wamsley testified last week that Thurber promised him and Rutherford $300 to rough up Daly and that it was Thurber who took the boys to and from Daly's home and provided them with the murder weapon.

OBITUARIES

Gordon McLean Dies At 66

Gordon McLean of Tiburon died yesterday at a local hospital after a long illness. He was 66.

McLean moved to Marin City in 1950 and also lived in Tamalpais Valley before settling at 55 Mercury Avenue in 1955.

He was born in Scotland, but moved to Vancouver, B.C., as a boy and to San Francisco in 1929.

McLean retired in 1968 after 20 years as senior storekeeper of the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco. Prior to 1948 he was office manager for Mead-Johnson Co. in San Francisco for 15 years.

McLean was forced to drop out of school in the eighth grade to help support his family when his father went to fight in World War I, but he took his high school diploma in night school. In 1927, he took courses on the use of office machines at a Seattle, Wash., business college.

He was a member of the California State Employment Association.

Surviving are his wife, Mamie Oborn McLean of the family home; two sons, Douglas McLean of Milpitas and Gordon McLean of San Diego and two grandsons.

Funeral will be Wednesday at 2 p.m. at the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints, Greenbrae Ward. Burial will follow at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

ALICE MEYERS

I-J Special Report

GENEVA, Switzerland — Funeral was today in Geneva for Alice Wilson Meyers, former Belvedere school teacher and wife of former Belveder Mayor Ralph Meyers.

Mrs. Meyers died unexpectedly Wednesday while visiting in Geneva. She was 54

Born in Boston, she moved to Santa Cruz as a child and attended San Jose State College from 1933 to 1937. While there she was president of Black Mask, an honorary society.

She and her husband, an employee of General Electric Co., moved to Belvedere in 1947 and lived at 14 Cove Road. Meyers served two terms as mayor, 1955-56 and 1958-59. Mrs. Meyers taught kindergarten at Reed School during this time.

The couple moved to Geneva in 1959 when Meyers became European representative for commercial jet engines for General Electric, and then moved to Portofino, Italy, in 1969.

While in Geneva, Mrs. Meyers served as president of the American Women's Club.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Meyers is survived by three daughters: Jeanne Embry, of Corte Madera, Kathy Robinson, of Waterbury, Conn., and Terry Dillingham, of Chico; two brothers, Alfred Wilson, of San Jose, and George Wilson, of Santa Cruz; and one granddaughter.

The family asks that contributions be sent to the Alice Meyers Memorial Fund, care of the American Church, Geneva.

A. S. LICATOVICH

Alex S. Licatovich of Novato, who died Friday at a San Francisco hospital after a short illness, was 47.

His age had been erroneously reported to the Independent-Journal by the mortuary as 53.

BYRON T. HANSON

A requiem Mass for Byron T. Hanson, 55, a brother of Roy Hanson of Fairfax, was held today in Pacificia.

He died Wednesday in Daly City. He had operated a service station in Linda Mar.

Burial was in Holy Cross Cemetery in Pacificia.

CLARENCE McLAIN

Memorial service for Clarence M. McLain, 36, husband of Lamar Powell McLain of San Anselmo, will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo.

McLain's body was found in the wreckage of a helicopter in Indonesia late last week. A pilot for Utility Helicopter Co. of Jakarta, Indonesia, his craft had been missing since June 6.

His wife, who was raised in San Anselmo and graduated from Drake High School, had been living in Singapore until June 6 when she returned to her parents' home at 1329 San Anselmo Avenue.

McLain was born in San Francisco, but had lived on the San Francisco Peninsula and in Louisiana before moving to the Far East.

Also surviving him are two sons, Robert and James Michael McLain, a daughter, Patricia McLain, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy McLain of Wrightwood, San Bernardino County, a brother, F. Roger McLain of Pleasanton, and a sister, Cheryl Stone of Wrightwood.

The family requested that memorial gifts be made to St. Luke's Hospital Memorial Fund, San Francisco.

JACK VON STADEN

Funeral for Jack von Staden, 42, of Woodacre, will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Burial will be private.

Von Staden died Saturday in his home on Scott Street after an illness.

A native of San Francisco, he lived in Marin for the past 41 years, many of them in San Anselmo. He moved to Woodacre 13 years ago.

He was a graduate of Tamalpais High School.

Von Staden, for the past month, owned and operated a Texaco service station in Woodacre. Before that, he was a dispatcher for McPhail's in San Rafael.

He was a member of the board of directors of the San Geronimo Tennis and Swim club.

He is survived by his wife, Marjorie; two children. Kurt, 7, and Katrina, 10; his mother, Henrietta von Staden of San Anselmo, and a sister, Lois von Staden of Florida.

CARYL HUNTER

Private funeral for Caryl R. Hunter of Mill Valley was held today in Mill Valley. Mrs. Hunter, 63, died Saturday in a local hospital following a long illness.

A native of Scotland, Conn., she had lived in California 41 years and in Marin County 11 years, residing at 99 Montford Avenue. She was a member of the League of Women Voters.

Her husband, John L. Hunter, a former engineer, served as city engineer for Sausalito for four years and retired in 1963.

Mrs. Hunter is also survived by a daughter, Anita Tomasi of Santa Rosa; a brother, Richard Russell of New Jersey; four sisters, Frances Greenwood of Florida; Ann Weingartner of New Jersey; Ellen Brooks of San Francisco and Edith Arsenault of Connecticut and two grandchildren.

LONA CONTOS

Lona Contos of Point Reyes Station died yesterday at a local hospital after suffering what appeared to be a stroke Saturday, according to Deputy Coroner Richard W. Madigan.

Mrs. Contos, 73, of Shoreline Highway was born near Watsonville, but lived most of her life in San Francisco.

She was a parishioner of St. Boniface Church in San Francisco.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Gantner-Felder-Kenny Chapel, 1965 Market Street, San Francisco. Requiem Mass will be offered at 9 a.m. Wednesday at St. Boniface, 133 Golden Gate Avenue. Burial will be at Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

LEWIS NESTY

Lewis Nesty of 5 Plymouth Avenue, Mill Valley, was pronounced dead at Marin General Hospital yesterday after he was found slumped in a chair at his home.

Nesty, who was 75, was watching television when he became ill at about 7:30 p.m. the Marin County coroner's office said today.

Following closed chest massage by the Mill Valley Fire Department, Nesty was rushed to the hospital where he was pronounced dead. His body was removed to Russell and Gooch Mortuary for autopsy.

No other information was available.

DR. SLAYBACK

Dr. Alan M. (Jerry) Slayback, 30, of 360 Ebbtide Avenue., Apt. 122, Sausalito, was found dead yesterday at 6:30 p.m. in his kitchen by his apartment manager, according to the Marin County Coroner's Office.

Deputy coroner Richard W. Madigan said cause of death was unknown pending autopsy.

Slayback, recently discharged from the army, had been a surgical resident at Saint Mary's Hospital in San Francisco since June.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill Valley.

J. WARREN EWING

Word has been received in San Rafael of the death of J. Warren Ewing, longtime San Rafael High School English teacher.

Ewing died Aug. 24 in Salem, Ore., after a long illness. He retired from San Rafael High School in 1965, and moved to a ranch at Livermore, Colo. He returned to San Rafael the next year, however, and late in 1966 moved to Salem, Ore., where he had resided since. He was 65 years old.

A native of Dalton, Neb., Ewing received his bachelor's degree from University of Nebraska and did post-graduate study at University of Colorado, University of Washington, University of Oregon, San Francisco State College, University of Hawaii, and University of California at Berkeley.

He began teaching in Anselmo, Neb., and taught also in Hampton, Neb.; Windsor, Colo.; Wenatchee, Wash., and Hillsboro, McMinnville, Roseburg and Florence, Ore., before coming to San Rafael in 1954.

All his teaching was at the high school level. Early in his career, he taught physics, chemistry, biology, and aerodynamics. During World War II, he even taught a course in home economics, and while at Windsor, Colo., coached basketball. From 1950 until the end of his career, however, he was a teacher of English.

A Miserable Journey To The New World

CHICAGO (UPI)—They had picked the worst time of the year to cross the ocean.

Most of the 66 days aboard the tiny ship had been sheer misery. Now they were ready to go ashore.

It was 350 years ago, on Nov. 21, 1620, that the Mayflower arrived at what is now Provincetown, Mass. The landing subsequently has been heralded through history. But at that moment, in all probability, what the passengers and crew wanted most was a chance to get off that wretched boat.

There were far too many passengers aboard for any degree of comfort. According to Encyclopaedia Britannica, the ship was 90 feet long with a 64-foot keel, 26-foot beam and 11-foot hold.

Into this floating closet, with a crew of 20 to 25, were crammed several score passengers. Mostly they were humble English folk —laborers, tradesmen and craftsmen with wives and children.

They called themselves Pilgrims. A minority within a minority, their lives had been torn apart by religious conflicts during the 16th and 17th centuries. A large body of English men and women, the Puritans, wanted their church "pure" of anything associated with Catholic worship, but were willing to work within the organization. Not the Pilgrims. They broke further away to exile in Holland.

When war threatened the country they got permission, somehow, to settle in Virginia after a group of London businessmen financed them. All the Pilgrims had to do in return was work like slaves for seven years.

The Mayflower sailed with another ship, the Speedwell. But, about 300 miles beyond Lands End, England, the Speedwell leaked so badly the two ships put into Plymouth. The Mayflower sailed again, on September 16. The Speedwell stayed in England, with many of her passengers being taken aboard the Mayflower. By now the Pilgrim party numbered 50 men, 20 women and 32 children.

Each was miserable much of the time. They were never warm and almost never dry. Many suffered seasickness as the ship rolled and tossed day after day. When they would try to leave their fetid quarters crewmen would tell them to get below deck. There was one functioning stove on the ship. Its smoke added to the foul atmosphere. So all the food was cold. There was no plumbing. Everyone slept in wet clothes under wet blankets.

Surprisingly there were only two deaths on board —one a young Pilgrim, the other a crewman. But the Mayflower's population was only one less when the ship at last reached land —Elizabeth Hopkins had given birth to a son named Oceanus.

Nearing land, the Pilgrims discovered a new problem: A storm had tossed the Mayflower off course. The ship was many miles north of her destination. The settlers were perplexed about going to a place outside the limits of the Virginia government.

So a covenant, the Mayflower Compact, was drawn up and signed by every eligible person on board. They promised obedience to the laws they themselves would pass. It was an agreement to submit to the majority. It was the first time anyone in the new world had ever done this.

The Pilgrims went ashore and the Mayflower returned to England. Little is known about what happened to the ship after that.

Of the Pilgrims, nearly half died in the new land before summer came.

Acting Award To Gregory Peck

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The Screen Actors Guild Sunday presented its annual award to Gregory Peck "for outstanding achievement in fostering the ideals of the acting profession."

Charlton Heston, who was installed for a sixth one-year term as president of SAG, made the presentation to Peck, star of more than 40 films, at the group's annual membership meeting.

In his annual report to the SAG, Heston said that in contract negotiations next spring the guild would call for penalties against producers who employ nonprofessional actors when professionals are available.

Trio Arrested In Burglary Attempt

Three Richmond men were arrested by Corte Madera police at 8:18 p.m. Friday on suspicion of burglary.

Elishes Cavness, 24 , Robert Benjamin Hassell, 33, and Joe Douglas Lowe, 37, were held in Marin County Jail in lieu of $3,125 bail each, to appear this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

Police went to the Edgewater Motel at 1815 Redwood Highway when notified that a burglary was in progress. They found the door to the store room pried open, but nothing taken.

The three men were behind the motel and had a pair of pliers similar to the one used to pry the door, police reported.

Policy On Student Rights On Agenda

Revisions in policy on student rights and responsibilities will be weighed tomorrow night by the San Rafael Board of Education.

The controversial policy has been in the hands of a subcommittee of the San Rafael Schools Policy Review Committee, which has mulled suggestions by students and parents.

The board, meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the schools administration building at Third and E streets, also will hear a progress report on 1970-71 curriculum development and a complaint from a Terra Linda newspaper publisher that the new district newspaper, "San Rafael School Report," is a waste of taxpayers' money.

Plans For Center To Be Studied

Adoption of the regional shopping center portion of the city's proposed downtown plan will be before the Novato City Council at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the community house.

Planning consultants Sedway and Cooke have recommended a regional shopping center on both sides of Highway 101, north of Olive Avenue, known as the Pinheiro Ranch site.

The council also is scheduled to hear a report from City Atty. Clark M. Palmer on legal problems involved if the Diablo triangle property were to be rezoned from commercial to multiple family as recommended by the planning consultants.

Owners of the property bounded by Center Road, South Novato Boulevard and Diablo Avenue, are protesting any change in land use in the triangle.

California was a province of Mexico from 1823 to 1848.

New York Stock Exchange Vice President Resigns

NEW YORK (UPI)—R. John Cunningham has resigned as vice president of the New York Stock Exchange effective March 1, saying it was "an appropriate time" to leave.

Cunningham, in a letter the NYSE made public Sunday, submitted his resignation Nov. 16, the day before exchange President Robert W. Haack threw the securities industry into a turmoil in a speech that recommended a revamping of the exchange's board of governors and a change in the commission rate system.

Haack, contacted at his Potomac, Md., home said Cunningham's resignation had nothing to do with his speech. Cunningham, in his letter, said he felt many of his programs had been completed and that it was time to leave the exchange's No. 2 staff member post.

Cunningham, 44, had been executive vice president of the exchange since Jan. 1, 1968. Previously, he had been senior vice president of the Midwest Stock Exchange and a management consultant with the firm of Arthur Young and Co.

First Viet Shot Fired Late In '46

SAIGON (UPI)—The opening shots of the Indochina war were fired 24 years ago, Nov. 23, 1946.

They left 23 French soldiers and 6,000 Vietnamese civilians dead in the port city of Haiphong. While there were recriminations on both sides, the gunfire kicked off an inevitable war.

The Viet Minh-Kuomintang coalition government headed by the late Ho Chi Minh had controlled Vietnam for more than a year after the end of World War II. A trip by Ho and members of his government to France in September, 1946, had culminated with a signed modus vivendi, and the leader of the Indochinese Communists had reason to believe armed resistance to the French would not be necessary.

A month before the "Haiphong incident," Ho returned from France.

"I hope that from now on, cooperation between the (French and Vietnamese) peoples will be closer," Ho said in a statement. "Acts of reprisal are firbidden . . . violent actions are absolutely forbidden."

Ho's Viet Minh army was not disbanded, of course. His military leader, Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, built and further trained a force organized to fight the Japanese in the Indochinese jungles.

The first shots were actually fired by the French, at a Nationalist Chinese boat trying to smuggle goods into Haiphong.

The Vietnamese protested, and on Nov. 23, attacked French soldiers shopping in the city's market, killing 23.

In response, the French ordered Viet Minh forces in Haiphong to leave the city in two hours.

Thousands of Haiphong residents were panicked by the French ultimatum, fearing street fighting, and swarmed out of the city. The Viet Minh refused to obey the order and stayed in town.

At the city's airport at Cat Bi, the French commander thought the fleeing civilians were Viet Minh troops, or so he said later. Other accounts of the slaughter said the French decided "to teach the Vietnamese a lesson."

In any case, ships in the harbor and gunners at the airfield opened up on the civilians. They killed 6,000.

All out war didn't begin for another 26 days, when the French launched a massive assault on Hanoi, and drove the Viet Minh out of the capital for eight years, until Ho returned, triumphantly, from the jungles.

But the "Haiphong incident" marked the opening shots.

Indian Arrested Who Charged Toll

SANTA ROSA (UPI) — Richard Oakes, 28, a leader of the Indian invasion of Alcatraz a year ago, was arrested during the weekend for attempting to charge a $1 toll to motorists driving through the Pomo Indian Reservation near hear.

Oakes was arrested early Saturday for investigation of armed robbery. He was later released on his own recognizance when he agreed to stop collecting the toll.

Oakes, allegedly carrying a rifle, was reported to have put a roadblock on the Skagg's Springs road with a sign reading: "Stop. Pay toll ahead $1.00. This is Indian land."

Joint Meeting On Park At Fairfax

Proposed plans for Fairfax Park will be presented to a joint meeting of the Fairfax City Council and Fairfax Park and Recreation Commission at 8 o'clock tonight at the Fairfax Women's Club.

Alan Ribera of the landscape architectural firm of Ribera and Sue will present the park plans.

The council tonight is also scheduled to appoint a screening committee to review applications for the post of city administrator.

MERRILY THEY ROLL ALONG . . . MOST OF THE TIME

Two pairs of cyclists provide a study in contrast. Aaron Hall (left photo) and his buddy, Chris DuFur, both active 8-year-old Mill Valley residents, rode freely this week from their home town towards Waldo Point on a recently-completed bicycle path. Jamey Schofield, 5, (right photo) gazes wistfully over a fence that prevents him and Lynne Polack, 17, from peddling from College Avenue to Bon Air Bridge along Corte Madera Creek in Kentfield. The county constructed the path from Mill Valley to Waldo Point this summer and has reached agreement with the Northwestern Pacific Railroad to extend the path into Sausalito. Now it appears the county may intervene on behalf of riders obstructed by the fence built by Allan Larkins Jr. at the rear of 19 and 21 Stadium Way. The county Parks and Recreation Commission has asked the supervisors to order that the creek bank be open to fishing, walking and cycling now prevented for 200 feet along the creek by Larkins' fencing.

Gunmen Kill Five Persons Who Gave No Resistance

NEW YORK (UPI)—Gunmen staging separate holdups at two barrooms in Manhattan during the night shot five persons to death and critically wounded two more although none of the victims had offered any resistance, police reported today.

The woman owner and all five patrons at the Nadja Bar and Grill on the Lower East Side were shot by two robbers who had emptied the till. Four of them, including the owner, died.

Three hours earlier a single gunman held up Harold's Bar and Grill further uptown on the Avenue of the Americas, killing the lone patron. He was captured by two patrolmen who spotted a stranger pilfering the cash register as they passed the bar.

Police said there was no apparent reason for the shootings at either bar.

The Nadja, located in a rundown neighborhood was frequented by Polish-Americans. All the victims were of Polish-American descent, police said.

The robbers, both armed with revolvers, entered the bar at about 3 a.m. and demanded money, police said. They rifled the cash register and as they turned to leave suddenly opened fire.

The owner and two of the patrons were killed outright and another died on the operating table at Bellevue Hospital. Another man and woman were reported in critical condition at the hospital.

"We presume they got some money, but how much we don't know," Detective Roy Ardizzone said of the holdup men. "The owner's dead and what was in the cash register is anybody's guess."

Killed in the holdup at Harold's bar shortly before midnight was Leo O'Brien, 61, who lived at the nearby Keystone Hotel. Bartender Gilbert Janin told police the robber said a few inaudible words to O'Brien before firing. He said the gunman then locked him in the men's room.

The gunman, identified as Jesse Martin, 20, was charged with homicide and possession of a dangerous weapon.

Bridge Directors Plan To Unveil Transit Proposal

Golden Gate Bridge District consultants will unveil a $690,000 long-range transit plan for the district at 10 am.. tomorrow in toll plaza offices.

Kaiser Engineers of Oakland and other consultants have been working on the plan since last January. The plan was ordered by the 1969 Legislature, and is due to be presented to the 1971 Legislature in April after a series of public hearings on it throughout the district.

The Legislature's request for the plan included a demand that it also provide a recommendation for dissolving the district — a clear threat by the Legislature in case the long-range plan does not get its approval.

The finance-auditing committee will meet first at 9:30 a.m.

Drugs Suspect Being Held

A 24-year-old Santa Rosa man was arrested yesterday on suspicion of possessing dangerous drugs and paraphernalia and being under the influence of drugs, Corte Madera police said today.

Officers said Michael T. Martin was arrested outside the Uplands Apartments at 532 Robin Drive after he was observed using a hypodermic kit at 10:30 p.m. in the apartment's driveway.

Officers said they found suspected dangerous drugs in one of Martins' pockets as well as a hypodermic kit.

Jed Barahal Tops Scholars At San Rafael High School

Sophomore Jed Barahal topped the scholarship roll of San Rafael High School in a listing of California Scholarship Federation members released by the school today.

The listing was based on grades received during the second semester of last year.

Young Barahal earned straight A grades in eight subjects in the spring semester, following an identical performance in the fall semester. He is a son of Alan Barahal, social studies teacher at the high school.

East Petaluma Blacked Out

A large section of East Petaluma was blacked out for an hour yesterday when power lines came loose in two locations.

Electrical service was disrupted at 3:30 p.m. when power lines were reported down near the Bank of America building on East Washington Street and in front of 1609 Joan Drive.

Clifford Bartlett Jr., district manager for Pacific Gas and Electric Co., said no cause has been found for the power failure.

Stolen '59 Pickup Is Recovered

His 1959 model pickup was taken between noon and 5:30 p.m. Friday while it was parked on Heatherton Street between Fifth Avenue and Mission Avenue in San Rafael, Ray Lafferty Thompson of 235 Palmer Street, Petaluma, reported to San Rafael police.

It was recovered at 6:20 p.m. in Sausalito, police reported.

WOMAN MINISTER ORDAINED — Elizabeth A. Platz, 30, of Pittsburgh, Pa., yesterday was ordained as a Lutheran minister in the University of Maryland Chapel in nearby College Park, Md., where she has been a lay chaplain for students since 1965. It was the first such ordination of a woman into the Lutheran ministry in North America. (UPI Telephoto)

Clark Sees Grass, LSD Crime Link

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Attorney General Ramsey Clark said Sunday he sees an underworld link between marijuana and drugs like LSD and heroin.

He told interviewers on the CBS-TV show "Face The Nation" that marijuana by itself has not been proven harmful, but he underscored its connection with other drugs in the crime world.

"In my judgment, the case against marijuana has failed," Clark said.

Clark, who served President Lyndon B. Johnson as attorney general, said that when he held the office he asked a Justice Department advisory council on drugs repeatedly "to demonstrate to me the damage that" marijuana can do.

"They were unable to," Clark said. "It's like looking for a white crow. I don't know whether there are white crows or not. All I know is that society hasn't found one yet."

If marijuana were made legal, Clark said, great care would have to be taken.

"We know that 90 per cent of the arrests for LSD in the late 1960s — that in 90 per cent of those arrests, marijuana was present," Clark said. "So you just can't, you know, just ... make it lawful all at once and hope to relieve the problem."

Clark said under questioning he believed there was a relationship between marijuana and the use of heroin.

"That's why I say if you move to legalize marijuana, that is to make at least possession and use a nonpenal offense, you're going to have to be very careful," Clark said. "You're going to have to take it out of the hands of crime merchants who are dealing in it; because if you don't then they're going to sell other wares too."

Key Changes For Colleges Envisaged

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A major overhaul of America's system of higher education by 1980—including a three-year bachelor's degree program—was recommended today by the Carnegie Commission in Higher Education.

A special report containing several far-reaching recommendations, the first report to result from a study launched early in 1967 by the Carneigie Foundation, was released here by Commission Chairman Clark Kerr, former president of the University of California.

The report calls for reduction of the time required to earn all degrees including the medical school M.D. degree; installation of two new postgraduate degrees; establishment of community college across the nation; federal support to students for all postsecondary education; and life-long educational opportunities for older adults.

"To promote life-long learning and extension of educational opportunity," Kerr said, "the commission recommends that all persons, after high school graduation, have two years of postsecondary education placed 'in the bank' for them to be withdrawn at any time in their lives when it best suits them."

The commission's members include college presidents, corporate board chairmen, top professors and educational administrators. Its report, titled "Less Time, More Options: Education Beyond the High School," will be published in book form in December.

It calls for revision of the traditional degree structure, including reduction of the time required for the b.a. from four years to three for capable students. The report also recommends reducing by one or two years the time required to earn the PH.D. and the M.D.

It recommends general availability of the two-year M.A. degree and installation of a new degree, the M.Phil., as a level between the M.A. and PH.D., thus providing more points for reassessment of goals.

Another new degree, the Doctor of Arts, is recommended on the same level as the Ph.D. but with more emphasis on teaching than research.

"We now select and train a student to do research," Kerr explained, "then employ him to teach . . . and then promote him on the basis of his research. This both confuses him and subverts the teaching process."

One goal listed for the year 2000 is establishment of "open universities" bringing the classroom into the home with rental video cassettes.

Drug Addict List Given By Pentagon

By DARRELL GARWOOD

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Pentagon admitted today it has been giving the Justice Department the names of civilians disqualified for military service because of drug addiction.

It said the practice has been going on for six years but was done "with the understanding that the information is not to be used for prosecution or investigation of any particular individual."

The indication such a practice might exist was first raised last week during a congressional hearing when witnesses from the Army surgeon general's office said they turned addicts' names over to the Defense Department but did not know what happened to the names after that.

Sen. Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, chairman of a Senate subcommittee on Alcoholism and Drug Abuse, said the practice might involve improper use of "confidential medical information." Defense officials were unavailable for comment at the time.

But answering a written inquiry from UPI today, the Defense Department said the practice was started in 1964 at the request of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous drugs.

"This statistical information, which includes the names and addresses of persons using drugs, has been provided with the understanding that the information is not to be used for prosecution or investigation of any patricular individual," the department said.

It added: "The objective has been to persist in collecting statistical information as to areas of the United States where specific drugs are being used. This statistical data has been provided on a monthly basis."

Entertainment Permits On Tap

An amendment to Mill Valley's zoning ordinance that would require a use permit for all entertainment establishments will be considered tonight when the Mill Valley Planning Commission meets at 8 o'clock at city hall.

A use permit presently is required only for dancehalls, bars and restaurants with live entertainment if they are to be located within 200 feet of a residential zone.

Also on the agenda will be consideration of standards for a proposed ordinance that would restrict outdoor lighting in residential zones.

Girl, 3, Slightly Hurt In Accident

A 3-year-old San Rafael girl was slightly injured Friday while a passenger in her father's car which collided at 3:20 p.m. with another car on Second Street east of Brooks Street, San Rafael, police reported today.

Roxanne Dubreuil, according to police, was cut over her right eye when she hit the dashboard of the car driven by her father Roger John Dubreuil, 26, of 355 Canal Street, Apt. 9. It collided with another eastbound car driven by Raymond Lawrence Congress, 53, of 11 Oakridge Road, San Rafael, police reported. Neither driver was injured.

Pope Paul Hands Down Election Ban

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI ruled today that cardinals no longer will be allowed to participate in the election of a new Pope once they pass the age of 80.

The pontiff, in a Motu Proprio (by his own will) decree dated Nov. 21 and made public today, said the ruling will be effective Jan. 1, 1971.

He also asked all cardinals to offer their retirement from posts in the church government when they turn 75.

Cardinals alone elect the Pope. When a pontiff dies, they must gather in secret conclave within 21 days to choose any Roman Catholic Priest, but for centuries they have picked a man from their own number.

In his ruling, Pope Paul said any cardinal turning 80 after the start of a conclave for the election of a new Pope retains his voting rights in the conclave.

It was the first time in Roman Catholic history that an age limit has been set for participation in a papal election or for heading one of the 12 departments of the Roman Curia, the central government of the church.

By the time the decree becomes effective in January, 25 of the 127 cardinals will be over the age of 80 and will thus lose their voting rights in conclaves.

Equipment Taken

Office equipment valued at $1,548 was taken between 5 p.m. Friday and 11 a.m. Saturday from the law office of Natalie Holly at 834 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, police reported .

Lutherans Ordain First Woman Minister

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI) —Her students have called her Beth during her five years as lay Lutheran chaplain at the University of Maryland, but from now on it will be "Pastor Platz."

The Rev. Elizabeth A. Platz, 30, was ordained in the University Chapel Sunday as the first woman minister of the Lutheran Church of America.

Miss Platz said she never thought of becoming a minister until the church convention this summer opened the Lutheran ministry to women. Then, she said, she realized that it was what she had been wanting all along.

"In the last three years I have felt a sense of frustration because so much of the activity in worship was restricted from me as a woman," she said. "Some essentials of the church were cut off."

Miss Platz holds a divinity degree from Gettysburg, Pa., Lutheran Seminary and a B.A. from Chatham College in her native Pittsburgh.

She was ordained in a 90-minute ceremony combining traditional and modern elements by the Rev. Dr. Paul M. Orso, president of the Maryland Synod of the church.

She contributed to the ceremony by making the bright green vestment adorned with orange flowers and a pink butterfly cutout worn by the Rev. Gilbert E. Doan Jr., regional director of the Lutheran campus administration who celebrated Holy Communion at the service.

Attached to the vestment was a button reading "right on."

Miss Platz plans to stay at the University where she says "I have the best job in the world."

Films For Children In Terra Linda

2 Petaluma Youths Held In Car Theft

Two Petaluma youths were arrested in Rohnert Park Saturday morning on suspicion of stealing a car Friday night in Petaluma.

Robert G. Hammond, 15, of 89 Thompson Lane, was booked into Sonoma County Juvenile Hall, and Steven Arthur Shields, 19, of 101 McNear Avenue, was booked into county jail for arraignment today in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

Rohnert Park police said the youths were found asleep in the vehicle at 5:35 a.m. parked on East Cotati Avenue at Beverly Drive. The car, a 1969 black Mustang, had been reported stolen from Western Motors, 1221 Petaluma Boulevard North.

Petaluma police said a 1964 yellow Oldsmobile had also been stolen Friday night from Western Motors and was recovered Saturday behind the Willowbrook Inn, Petaluma Boulevard North. No arrest has been made in the second theft.

License Fee On Hub Agenda

The Sn Anselmo City Council is to consider raising the license fee from $3 to $25 for businesses with gross receipts between $5,000 and $10,000 at 8 p.m. tomorrow at city hall.

Also set for discussion are a request by the San Anselmo Garbage Disposal Co. to begin garbage collections in business and school areas at 6 a.m. The council has ordered a 7 a.m. start throughout the ciy.

The proposed new sign ordinance is to have first reading

Nicasio Trustees To Discuss Land

Progress on the purchase of a small plot of land adjacent to Nicasio School will be discussed by the Nicasoo School Board at an 8 p.m. meeting today at the school

The district is purchasing the land from the Marin Municipal Water District.

Nuclear Reactor May Be Answer

NEW YORK (UPI)—Working wives constitute the biggest increase in the working force in the United States each year, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported Monday.

In the latest statistical period —March, 1968, to March, 1969, —there were 775,000 wives among the 1.8 million workers added to the labor force.

The biggest age group of working wives is 20 to 24.

More than 300,000 of the 775,000 additional married women who entered the labor force in the 1968-69 period were in that age group, according to Herbert Bienstock, regional director of the BLS.

Boutique Idea Replaces Parisian Designers' Famous Couture Houses

The designer houses in Paris have atmospheres that range from "most elegant, pleasant, but in good taste, to commercial and American-like," reports Mary Sullivan Roy, instructor in retail fashions at the College of Marin who returned last week from a trip to New York, London and Paris.

Mrs. Roy, on sabbatical leave this year, returned to lecture to her College of Marin students on her walking tour of the couture and boutique areas of Paris.

The designer houses are no longer couture houses and have made almost a complete change over to boutiques, Mrs. Roy says. (Couture means selecting from a design modeled and ordering it made for you.) Couture is only a fraction of the designer business today, said Mrs. Roy.

"In the mid-60s as the Paris designers saw the profits made by the Americans in the line-for-line copies, they realized the Americans were making more money from their designs than they were.

MARY SULLIVAN ROY

"YOU'LL FEEL at ease going into all the houses, with the possible exception of Chanel," remarked Mrs. Roy. There she was met at the entrance by a stuffy doorman who demanded to know what she wished to see. Nevertheless, she encouraged Paris-bound students to visit Chanel, if only for a short tour of the boutique.

"You will not be able to get into the couture," she explained.

She found that the three major boutique areas are concentrated in a small section of Paris, beginning with Coco Chanel's on the Rue Saint Honore and continuing to Avenue Montague to the Sienne, Francois, Avenue George and Avenue Victor Hugo.

"If you have only three hours in Paris, spend them there," she advised.

There are no individual fitting rooms for clothes as in America. Clothes are tried and fitted in one large room. The competition for the fashions that are available is positively fierce. There are so few fashions available now and they seem apologetic, always promising, "we'll have more dresses on Friday," she told the fashion students.

Mrs. Roy, dressed in a midi length Courreges brown wool suit with vinyl trim, described the manner in which she whisked the suit away quickly, after waiting patiently for another woman to decide whether or not she wanted it.

"They try the fashions, dash out into the show rooms to wait until more are available without bothering to re-dress, and are completely at ease," Mrs. Roy said.

FASHIONS ARE displayed on racks, unhemmed. Each is hemmed especially for the one who buys it. Mrs. Roy's Courreges suit reached the top of her brown vinyl boots.

"It's at least two inches shorter than they are worn in Paris," she explained. She was told by the seamstress who made the hem, "but you will be laughed at in Paris if you wear it this short."

Mrs. Roy took along only longer dresses, skirts and pants on her European trip. "Everywhere, on the streets, and in the stores in Paris, the smart women are in midi, so much that you feel frumpy and definitely out of date in short skirts," she said.

Her tour of the designer houses:

Louis Feraud: "Not too interesting because we see his designs here at Saks in San Francisco. Very few shoppers were present. He is certainly better liked in America than in France.

Cardin (for men): "Mod, expensive, the most commercial and American-like in my opinion. The Frenchmen do not shop here; the American do."

Cardin (for women): "We couldn't get into this house when we visited Paris five years ago, but things have changed. There were many Americans shopping here. A lady from London who stated she had bought Cardin fashions the previous year complained that her invitation to a couture showing requested a $20 admission charge. 'It's too bad,' she said, 'I won't be buying Cardin.' "

Dior: "The first of the houses to switch to boutique. Though not crowded with shoppers, Dior is the largest with more fashions to select from. They have a college shop for men as well," said Mrs. Roy.

LaRouche: An old house, very French-like and a favorite with French women.

St. Laurent: "For lowest prices and young, kooky fashions, this is the house. Not as well made, but you can buy a suit for $80. St. Laurent has shops in New York, Beverly Hills as well, and the prices are the same as in Paris.

Jean Patou: "Made for the tall, slender, tailored and beautiful look. Buy a suit here if you want to wear it for five or 10 years and enjoy it."

Givenchy: "The same as Givenchy in San Francisco. How-

Books For Children Is The Aim Of 'Belvedere Bookie'

By PAT BALMES

"When I was a child we didn't own books like some children do now," remembers children's author Phyllis Sarasy. "I was indebted to Andrew Carnegie and the public library system for my books."

To capture the interest of today's children, Mrs. Lewis Sarasy works to make the small branch library that serves Belvedere and Tiburon "a place where things happen." Happenings like community meetings, musical performances, author's talks and services like a collection of musical recordings, tapes and scores and art rentals are envisioned.

Newcomer Phyllis helped organize Friends of Belvedere-Tiburon Library this year. Energetic and enthusiastic, its first president laughs when she's called "the Belvedere bookie."

PHYLLIS IS recruiting Friends to work toward a fine collection of reference, fiction, non-fiction, children's and periodical literature. They plan to improve floor space, shelving, furniture and files and encourage donation of land for a new library.

On Dec. 10 at 10 a.m. at the branch library its Friends will hold their first general meeting and a panel discussion by three Bay Area authors about the merits and qualifications of children's books. Children's paperbacks will be on sale.

Phyllis wants more Marin authors to speak, displays of art and timely information by community organizations, volunteers to assist the librarian, publication of a list of needed books and periodicals that the library would welcome as gifts.

Knowing her keen interest in books and children, Lewis Sarasy sent his wife a photograph of the tiny library addition to the post office on Beach Road in Belvedere, even before she moved from New York City last year. He has real estate businesses in both New York City and San Francisco.

"We lived in New York City for 16 years," relates midi-skirted Phyllis. "I enjoyed raising small children in the city. I was out with them all the time. But we got tired of city-living and saw this house when we were vacationing here. Now the boys are six and eight and this is the place to be."

BEHIND THEIR Belvedere Lagoon home small sail boats are docked. A beagle, a rabbit and a cat play companionably on the patio waiting for the school boys to return home. Much of Phyllis's first year here has been devoted to remodeling and redecorating the house on the water's edge with her daring flair for style and color developed at New York School of Interior Design.

"Making the transition of furnishings from ...ew York to California was difficult because I was working with a different kind of light and a different style of living. Furnishing a house in California is a whole different ball of wax," says the petite reupholstering and sewing enthusiast.

She plans to make a needlepoint rug for her entrance hall. Her imaginative living room, furnished with antiques, is accented by a zebra-skin rug and her collection of antique knife rests and crystal bottle stoppers.

Phyllis's other interests are tennis, skiing, sailing and scuba diving. She is a member of Marin Regional Council of San Francisco Symphony Foundation, a member of Delta Gamma, recording secretary (as of January) for Friends of California Libraries and president of Belvedere School's Parent-Teacher Club.

Phyllis taught 8 to 12-year-olds at St. Luke's School during the first six years they lived in New York City.

"If one of my students hadn't spoken up, I never would have written a children's science book. It was a fluke! " she says.

AN EDITOR from Prentice-Hall, Inc., visited her school in 1961 to learn what science books children needed.

"Our class was studying hibernation, but we had no books because those which did exist had difficult vocabulary. 'Where do you get your information, students?' the editor asked. A child spoke up, 'Mrs. Sarasy writes it on her charts!' So the editor asked me to write a book on hibernation," relates Phyllis.

But Phyllis's schedule was already tight — teaching full time, attending New York School of Design at night, renovating their brownstone and planning to study in Spain that summer. Nevertheless, the energetic young woman submitted the first two chapters and an outline of "Winter Sleepers" to the editor and signed the contract before leaving for two months study at Universidad Internacional Menendez y Pelayo in Santander, Spain.

"It all got done, and I had my first baby that July," says the author, a little surprised at her own efficiency.

THIS KIND of energy came in handy when Phyllis served

AUTHOR PHYLLIS SARASY reads the children's science book she wrote in 1961, "Winter Sleepers," to her sons Brian, left, 8 and Graham (Bo), 6. The former teacher saved her story of hibernation to read to them when they were old enough to understand its vocabulary. A newcomer to Marin, Mrs. Lewis Sarasy of Belvedere Lagoon has been elected president of both Belvedere School Parent-Teacher Club and Friends of Belvedere-Tiburon Library and is recording secretary of Friends of California Libraries. Carla Mallien Becomes The Bride Of Gary Kerch

St. Anselm's Catholic Church in San Anselmo was the setting Sunday for the marriage of Carla Mallien of Fairfax and Gary Kerch of Nicasio.

A reception at Rancho Nicasio restaurant in Nicasio followed the ceremony.

Carla is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willy F. Mallien of Anaheim, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn M. Kerch of Nicasio.

Junita Correia of Scarborough, Canada, was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Cristl Messerschmidt of Oroville, Desiree De Liser De Morsain of Orange and Barbara Papke of Fairfax.

Best man for his brother was Tom Kerch of Nicasio. Guests were ushered to their seats by Don Humphrey of Santa Clara, Rocky Stitch of Corte Madera and Russ Damos of San Anselmo.

Following a wedding trip to Canada the couple will live in Fairfax.

Carla was graduated from Santa Ana Valley High School and College of Marin. She is employed by Tele-Vue Systems, Inc., in San Rafael. Ferdinand John Mallien of Virginia is her brother.

A graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, Gary attended College of Marin and is employed by Cristal Pool Service in San Rafael.

PLANT PARENTHOOD

Honoring the San Francisco Symphony's "branch-out" into Marin County a number of little redwood trees have been presented to cities such as San Rafael, Mill Valley, Ross, Tiburon and Sausalito by the Marin Regional Council of the San Francisco Symphony Association. The San Rafael official planting ceremony was held Friday in the new Freitas Park. From left Mrs. David Dooley of Mill Valley is preparing the ground while Andrew J. Snyder of the San Rafael Park and Recreation Department watches. Mrs. Kleve Johnson of San Rafael lifts the redwood. It was also a "support plant parenthood" endeavor in line with current efforts to improve the environment.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Do Women Really Get A Fair Shake On The Women's Pages?

DEAR HELEN:

It seems to me that of all places in the paper, women should be given equal rights on the women's pages. Could they be edited by men?

I mean — look at the fashion news; a total cop-out to the hideous midi, when you still see very few of them on the streets; often the whole section aimed at the little "weevil in an oatmeal box" housewife whose world is recipes, clubs, and kids.

Even you, Helen, devoted four-fifths of your column to letters slamming Women's Lib, and printed ONLY ONE letter in favor (though I must admit you did use an excellent pro rebuttal later).

If modern, thinking, whole women can't even get a fair shake on the women's pages, what hope is there for them?

— TIRED OF NOTHING BUT WEDDING ANNOUNCEMENTS

DEAR TONBWA:

Women's page editors print what they believe the majority wants to read — but I think you judge them too harshly. More and more newspapers are expanding the women's section to include thoughtful features on controversial subjects, profiles of successful career or volunteer women, etc.

As for Helen Help Us!; it's a reflection of its readers. Last month my mail ran about six to one against Women's Liberation, and I print 'em as you call 'em! This month the odds have dropped: one out of three lib letters favor the movement, which proves the power of women on the move. (Or perhaps those anti notes stirred more of you into expressing yourselves.)

Let it be known right now that I publish many letters with which I don't agree. Here's one:

DEAR HELEN:

Much of the time I'm grateful for your good advice, but you disappointed me when you said that "two children are plenty these days."

The subject of overpopulation has been drilled into the public so systematically in the past 20 years that I wonder what is behind it all. Are subversive interests perhaps subtly trying to depopulate us, so we would be weak, morally, politically, economically, militarily? It seems so, especially when we witness the steady movement toward liberalization of long-standing abortion laws.

Our country is great because of its people. Our present growth rate is only 1.1 percent per year. Our Creator's advice is "increase and multiply." What would happen if our population were reduced to 50 million people? We would be gobbled up by stronger power.

A White House national goals research staff recently reported that the U.S. population would stabilize in 10 years or so. What we need is decentralization: regrouping our people in the less populated areas — where anyone can see from an airplane there is still plenty of space.

As for The Pill: It's dangerous. Abortion is taking human life. I'm for people, not for killing them. — V.A.I.

DEAR V.:

My readers already know I disagree with much of what you say — and that's a major reason why I'm using your letter, Voltaire, are you listening?

One observation: Our United States population jumped from 151,325,798 in 1950 to an estimated 200,658,000 in 1968, an increase of one-third in 18 years (Census Bureau statistics). Even with the declining birth rate, we added over 20½ million people between 1960 and 1968 . . . and that kind of growth can fill a lot of wide open spaces. . . Plus create pollution, deplete natural resources and cause untold miseries that come from overcrowding. — H.

BOUTIQUE

ever, the Givenchy boutique on the Avenue George is much more exciting and far more elegant. You find sable skirts for $500, suits, but no couture. This is where the French women love to shop."

Balenciaga: "Though he is not designing currently, there is one little section of the house open. The best scarves at the lowest prices can be found here. All houses are promoting designer autographed scarves, but they are very expensive, everywhere except at Balenciaga."

Other houses on the walking tour includes Jacques Esterel, Lanvin, — "It's flourishing, but their profits are in perfume," — Molyneux, Balmain, Jacques Delahaye and Ricci.

IN NEW YORK Mrs. Roy visited the major American markets. She found the average women in the street looking very fashion-dated.

"It would appear they've tried to lower hems of their mini skirts and they look terrible." "The American market failed to capture the new look as seen in Paris. The translation is uninteresting."

She described the look in Paris as "very long and very lean, non bulky, slender and slightly shaped skirts, small shoulders and slim sleeves fitted at the wrist. There are no beads or jewelry, just fabulous belts with a big buckle."

Is this also the look she saw elsewhere in Paris, at the department stores? "Yes, very much so and definitely not limited to the major designer houses. It's everywhere."

The Americans will improve with the spring lines, as they are catching on to the look, predicts Mrs. Roy. "Yes, there is no doubt, it will go."

Mrs. Calvin Peck Is New Worthy Matron Of Chapter 215

Mrs. Calvin R. Peck of San Rafael is being installed worthy matron of San Rafael Chapter 215, Order of Eastern Star, in a ceremony tonight at 8 at the San Rafael Masonic Temple.

A seven-year-member of the lodge, Ruth G. Peck has also held the offices of Adah and Ruth. Charity is the lodge's purpose, and members are wives, daughters, mothers, sisters, widows and granddaughters of master Masons.

Members sponsor a weekly cancer dressing station and are planning a luncheon and fashion show.

Born and reared in St. Paul, Minn., Mrs. Peck attended the University of Minnesota. She has lived in Marin for seven years, since her husband's retirement from the Army. He is now employed as a bookkeeper. The couple have two children, Shirley, 15, and Calvin Jr., 13.

Music and sewing are the new president's hobbies, and she enjoys working with Job's Daughters.

Escorting Mrs. Peck at the installation will be her son, and Carl Umland Jr., new worthy patron, will be escorted by his daughter, Kathryn.

Also being installed tonight are Mmes. Herbert Hotchner, associate matron; F. Harvey Morrill, secretary; Fred Redden, treasurer; Joseph Daly, conductress; H.C. Jackson, associate conductress; Charles Lee Goodwin, marshal; Elmer Jones, organist; Thomas Dwight, Adah; James Wanless, Ruth; Miss Kathryn Scott, Esther; Mmes. William B. Lauderbaugh, Martha; John Martens, Electa; Carl P. Umland Jr., warder; and Messrs. Herbert Hotchner, associate patron; and Fred Redden, sentinel.

MRS. CALVIN PECK

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Lupini are hosts for the installation.

from 1965 through 1968 as a volunteer on the board of directors of the Parks Association of New York City.

"It was a vigilante committee to see the parks department didn't destroy all the greenery," Phyllis grins with tongue-in-cheek.

She explains their aims were to "support" the parks department to retain all green spaces, not allowing huge parking lots or riding stables to encroach upon open green areas.

Remarking that San Francisco could use some more trees, Phyllis recounts that she promoted vest pocket parks in New York City and planting more street trees. She was on the committee for the 1965 campaign called "Be a Friend of Trees" because city children break trees. Aimed at third, fourth and fifth grades (millions of kids), she distributed pledge cards reading, "I Will Take Care of Trees," film strips entitled "City Street Trees" and lapel pins with the legend "I'm a Friend of the Trees." Jack Parr wore one of the pins on his television show.

SHE WAS chairman of City Parks Week in 1966 for the Vest Pocket Parks promotion and in 1967 for "Nature in the Metropolis" City Parks Week.

"I was a one-woman-show during City Parks Week 1968," recalls Phyllis about the hectic weeks when as chairman she co-ordinated Arbor Day tree-plantings simultaneously in five boroughs of New York City.

At noon five borough presidents put spades into the ground to plant trees and dedicate plaques in five different parks of New York City.

"I carried little boys trailing behind me. You might say, 'A Tree Grows in Brooklyn' through my efforts."

PRESS GUIDE IS AVAILABLE

A guide for press chairmen of organizations interested in getting news to the Marin Women's Section of the Independent-Journal is available at the San Rafael main office and the Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma I-J offices.

The booklet, "Getting News Into Your Newspaper," is issued as a service of the Independent-Journal Women's Section to assist press chairmen for women's organizations.

The guide explains policies of coverage, how to prepare news stories and meeting notices, and the special stories and features emphasized by the section.

The booklets at the San Rafael office may be obtained from the switchboard on the main floor.

Ross Tyler, Kentfield.

Pins for 200 hours of service went to Mrs. Harrison Leppo, Mill Valley; Mrs. John Mueller, Tiburon, and Mrs. Ronald Tatum, San Rafael, and 300-hour service pins were presented to Mmes. Harlan Barry, Larkspur; LeRoy French, Ross; and Louis Goldblatt, Mill Valley.

Mrs. Henri Boussy, Mill Valley and Mrs. John Fassio, Kentfield, received 400 hour pins, and 500 hour awards went to Mmes. Hugh Cook, San Anselmo; Thomas Elliott, Tiburon; Richard Potter, San Rafael, and Warren Smith, Mill Valley.

Recipients of 700-hour service awards were Mrs. Richard Cruikshank, Sausalito, and Mrs. Mario Pellegrini, San Rafael. And 900-hour pins were given to Mrs. Charles Harton, Kentfield, and Mrs. Albert MacCarthy, Mill Valley.

For 5,000 hours of service a pin was awarded to Miss Jane H. Adams, Larkspur, and for 10,000 service hours as a Marin General Hospital volunteer, a pin was presented to Mrs. Russel Chatham, San Anselmo.

PETALUMA PANHELLENIC Association will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. John J. King Jr., 833 Sixth Street, Petaluma. Introduction of new members, rush resume and election of officers will be the topics of business. Mrs. George T. De Long, president, urges any woman who was a member of a national sorority at an accredited university or college to attend.

A PUBLIC lecture titled, "Outrageous Solutions to the Population Outrage" will be given by psychologist Wayne R. Bartz on Dec. 1 at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall at the College of Marine in Kentfield. Dr. Bartz is a psychologist at DeWitt State Hospital in Auburn.

Sponsors of the free lecture are the Marin Psychological Association, Zero Population Marin Chapter and Planned Parenthood of Marin.

THREE SIR Francis Drake High School students will be headed for Europe this summer if community support for the exchange program is forthcoming. Chosen by a board of judges were senior Janet Guastavino, juniors Cynthia L. Miller and Robert Morgen, all of San Anselmo.

To aid the exchange program the Drake Parent-Teacher Association international committee will stage a rummage sale Feb. 27 and members are collecting sale material. Contributions of clothing, furniture, and other usable articles may be left at the homes of Laura Cann, 25 Entrada and Pauline Brooks, 7 Dutch Valley Lane, both in San Anselmo; Louise Celle, 25 Pacheco Avenue, Fairfax; and Jean Van Riper, 1349 Butterfield Road, San Anselmo.

The committee hopes the sale will also raise enough funds to send a larger group to Mexico, a district venture.

The committee also is seeking homes for South American exchange students arriving for 10 weeks beginning in January.

JOHANNE MATHIASEN blows out a row of candles on her birthday cake decorated with Danish and American flags and then smiles broadly, right. She was born Nov. 19, 1870 at Godvad, Denmark and has lived in the Danish Aldersly Home in San Rafael since 1953. Mrs. Mathiasen has worked almost all of her life and believes in honest work and eating balanced meals.

100 YEARS OLD

Her Main Interest Is 'Living Right'

Johanne Mathiasen who came to the United States alone at the age of 16 on the steamship "America" in 1887 said in an interview in San Rafael last week, "My main interest in life has been that people live right."

The occasion was her 100th birthday.

Alert and only slightly hard of hearing, Mrs. Muthiasen has lived in the Danish Aldersly Home since 1953.

She almost apologetically admits to using a cane to get around now. "So I'm sure that I don't stumble," she says.

She received birthday greetings from the King of Denmark, Governor Ronald Reagan and President Richard M. Nixon as well as from scores of friends and relatives. She told of one card from Pakistan where a grandson just went as an ambassador from the United States. Another was from a great-granddaughter studying in Spain.

"But of course it isn't every day that you get to be 100," she says.

The former Johanne Andersen left her family in Denmark to come to America for the same reason "all the immigrants came, to earn a living. I came to Baltimore. Lots of people came to Castle Garden, New York but I came to Baltimore."

She found work as a governess for a three year old boy whose family was taking a trip to Europe. "It was a banker's family. We stayed at the best hotels."

In all she returned to Europe three times. One was in 1919 for her parents golden wedding anniversary.

She moved to Omaha, Neb. where an older sister was living. There she met and married Mr. Mathiasen in 1894. They had two sons, Soren who lives in New York and O.F. who lives in Cupertino. Her sons were 8 and 10 years-old when her husband died in 1906. To support her family she went to work and later moved to Newcastle, Wyo. to operate a 24-hour telephone exchange that connected the ranchers in he area.

"I was night and day operator for four years with a 14-year-old son. It was a private telephone that had seven trunk lines for the ranchers. There was no public transportation in Cheyenne River and that was the only means of communication. The telephone was very important. We could reach the Bell Telephone but not directly."

She talked about the hotel above the exchange and said she had contact with the telegraph operator at the railroad station. He would signal her when the trains were coming in and she would notify the hotel residents who wanted a certain train.

"I told him (telegraph operator) that when he and I owned the B and M railroad we wouldn't have 42 coming in at 6 a.m.," she laughs.

"In 1913 I had a home that blew away," she says quietly waiting for a reaction. "I was in Wyoming and I had the house in Omaha rented and the house went next door. I had two ladies in the house and they went into the only room where the window remained intact."

She explained how the roof blew off and the house was lifted to the next lot. The closet door of the room the ladies went into disappeared and Mrs. Mathiasen said," Never did find that."

"Yes, people remember the 1913 cyclone," she said.

She returned to Omaha and went to work cooking in the high school.

In 1919 she went to work as a nurse-companion for a retired teacher. "I lived with her for 20 years. She was from Omaha and I came to California with her. I was to be nurse-companion but I kept house for her." They lived in Berkeley but took long trips to Salt Lake Ctiy and Denver.

At this time, she explains, both her sons were working their way through Oberlin College in Ohio. Both graduated and O.F. received a doctor's degree in education from Harvard and taught at Antioch College.

Asked why she is still healthy at 100 Mrs. Mathiasen said," I think probably because I treat food special. I don't over eat and I try to balance my food. I don't touch liquor of any kind and I don't eat too rich food."

What does she think of the state of the world today?

"I think it's so pitiful that the young people today don't see that honest hard work make them the happiest life. Nothing makes you happier than a job well done. It's doesn't matter what job just do it honestly."

Junior Theater Sets Marionette Show

The Lesselli Marionettes will present "The Sorcerer's Apprentice", "Little Red Riding Hood," and a circus at 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m., Dec. 5 at San Rafael High School auditorium sponsored by the Junior Theater of Marin.

"The Sorcerer's Apprentice" is an old story of an apprentice who masters enough magic to command a broom to bring him buckets of water, but he had not learned enough magic to stop it.

"Little Red Riding Hood" is complete with the little girl, her ailing grandmother, the woodsman and the wicked, but funny wolf.

The show ends with a circus of clowns and singing animals.

Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. H. Wayne Kirk on Oak Drive, San Rafael, or Mrs. John Boudett at 40 Woodside Way, Ross.

Group Therapy Plan On Hospital Agenda

Program changes to place more emphasis on group therapy at the Marin Community Mental Health Center will be considered tomorrow by the Marin Hospital District board.

Meeting at 7 p.m. at Marin General Hospital, the board will consider three changes in all. The recommended changes, which require both hospital and county approval, include a request that funds allocated for an unfilled psychiatrist's slot at the center be transferred to the Marin Child Development Center, which is having financial difficulties; a request that approval be given a program to increase the per centage of group therapy treatment in both adult and children outpatient services; and a request that the number of psychiatrists slots in childrens' services be reduced from five to three and that additional social workers and psychologists be hired.

Dr. John S. Guerrant, director of the center, said he does not expect the same controversy over increased group therapy that rose when his predecessor, Dr. Donald P. Wilson, recommended such action.

"People have calmed down a bit since then" he said. "There is an increasing awareness (among staff) that the money is not going to increase" with the increasing need for services. And group therapy is the most economical means of treating large numbers of patients.

When Wilson recommended such a change last year along with staff integration in adult and childrens' services, the latter balked. It became a point of contention in the power struggle between Wilson and Dr. Clyde G. Miller, former director of the county's Community Mental Health Services.

Guerrant estimated about $20,000 can be diverted to the development center by delaying until January the hiring of a psychiatrist and "other assorted" personnel at the mental health center and an unfilled psychologist's position in the county's mental retardation program.

His final recommendation is a change in the staffing pattern of childrens' services, Guerrant said.

He said there is a greater need for psychologists, psychiatric nurses and social workers in that section than for two additional psychiatrists.

By deleting the doctor positions, which are unfilled, he said, he can add three or four nurses, psychologists or social workers.

Guerrant said he will also discuss with the board a plan to change inservice training for center employees to provide more training in group therapy.

The board, which will gather at 6 p.m. for dinner in the hospital cafeteria, will also hear reports on remodeling at the intensive care unit, X-ray special procedures room and laboratory and the feasibility of a kidney machine at the hospital.

Police, Cycle Chase Winds Up With Accident

A police chase between San Anselmo and San Rafael and back again, ended early Saturday when a 16-year-old Fairfax youth crashed his motorcycle into a San Anselmo patrol car.

Officers said Rory Mark Ward of 88 Canyon Road did not appear injured after the collision which badly damaged his motorcycle.

According to police, Ward was observed in a speed contest with an auto at 12:25 a.m. along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. Police gave chase with Ward reaching speeds of about 90 miles an hour on Greenfield Avenue toward San Rafael and back to San Anselmo on Red Hill Avenue.

The chase ended when Ward struck a police vehicle at the intersection of Sir Francis Drake and Sonoma Avenue. He was cited for reckless driving.

Oldtimer Claims He Holds Beer Record

TOPSHAM, England (UPI)—Gardener Fred Dimond, 78, thinks he's set a record for the most beer drunk in a lifetime.

He estimates he has drunk 225,000 pints since he was 16, and all at the Lord Nelson pub here.

"I used to average about 15 pints a day, but I'm getting on now and 10 is about my mark," said Dimond, who visits the pub each morning and evening.

Wives Boost Labor Force

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—An atomic energy expert said today a new nuclear reactor being built at Hanford, Wash., involves technology which could provide a long-range solution to the nation's energy shortage.

Dr. Walter H. Esselman, of Westinghouse Electric Corp., told a luncheon meeting that the new Hanford reactor facility "will provide a temperature, radiation and coolant environment typical of future fast breeder nuclear power reactors which will produce more fuel than they consume."

Speaking before the San Francisco Electric Club, Esselman said the Atomic Energy Commission has granted top priority to the test facility because of the expected doubling of the nation's power requirements in the next decade.

'Amigos' Session Set Tomorrow

A public organizational meeting for a Marin Chapter of "Amigos De Las Americas" will be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow at St. John's Church, Lagunitas Road, Ross.

"Amigos" is an international program to train students to work with doctors to help the poverty-stricken people of Central and South America.

Dr. Rodney Abernathy from the Peninsula chapter of "Amigos" will speak. Pictures of Honduran natives, taken by Anne C. Kimball during the summer of 1970, will be shown.

MUSIC REVIEW

Brilliant The Word For Marin's Trio

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Brilliance of orchestral color and dynamics was the prominent keynote last night in the first concert of the Marin Symphony's 19th season conducted by Sandor Salgo in the College of Marin gymnasium.

"Brilliant" applied to both the character of the program and to its performance. Three of the numbers were selections from theatrical works of composers noted for mastery of dramatic form — Leonard Bernstein, Zoltan Kodaly and Richard Strauss — and the fourth, Beethoven's triple concerto, was by virtue of the great technical virtuosity demanded of the soloists, a natural showpiece.

Sharing top honors were the trio, composed of cellist Jean Mitchell, violinist Charles Meacham and pianist Faith France, for their superb performance in the Beethoven concerto, and Salgo and the orchestra for a scintillating performance of Strauss' tone poem "Death and Transfiguration."

For Jean Mitchell the concerto was especially a tour de force. Written with many passages an octave higher in order to make the cello equally audible with the violin, it sounded at times like two violins playing. The cello and violin were the singers, both individually and in duet, while the piano, though important, was more like the accompanist.

Never better heard was the crystalline purity of Meacham's tone — with perfect intonation — a rare gift among string players. Clarity of touch and smooth, strongly accented rhythm were notable in the piano. Not only was there split second timing among the solo instruments but excellent balance in the dialogue between the trio and the orchestra — the latter thanks to Salgo.

In the orchestra I could have wished for greater strength in the low strings, and this was noted elsewhere in the program.

Though it is first and foremost a musical masterpiece, "Death and Transfiguration" must be among the most effective program (story telling) music ever written describing states of feeling — in this case those of a man in his struggle with death.

Requiring the full resources of the orchestra, the piece was tremendously impressive both in its thundering crises with brasses and percussion at full volume and in the quieter moments depicting a sign, heart beats or reverie. The hymn-like music of the final acceptance of death and exaltation of the spirit was inspiring.

In comparison with these two major works the opening overture to Bernstein's operetta "Candide" and three of the movements — entitled "Viennese Musical Clock," "Intermezzo," and "Entrance of the Emperor and His Court" — of the suite from Kodaly's comic opera "Hary Janos" were great good fun.

They had enough decibels and strong beat to please the most ardent youthful devotees of rock. I was pleased to see several in the audience. Yes, there are many signs that the Marin Symphony is "getting with it," as the kids would say.

Traffic Warrant Leads In Arrest For Narcotics

A 20-year-old San Francisco man was booked into Marin County jail Saturday for investigation of possessing marijuana and narcotics paraphernalia after Sausalito police discovered he was wanted for a $30 traffic warrant in San Mateo County.

Charles Abner Fox was arrested about 7 p.m. when officers noticed him hitchhiking in the roadway of Bridgeway and stopped to talk with him.

When a check revealed the outstanding warrant and Fox informed officers he could not pay the fine, he was taken to the police station. A preliminary search revealed a container of brown substance thought to be hatshish and a pipe, both found in his coat pocket, police said.

Fox was freed on $315 bail to appear tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court.

Gas Plant Rocked By 2 Explosions

CHARLOTTE AMALIE, St. Thomas (UPI)—Two explosions rocked the Carib Gas Co. plant Monday, sending flames 400 feet into the air and leaving an undetermined number of casualties.

The first explosion, which rocked virtually the entire island, occurred at 1:25 p.m. It was immediately followed by another.

Carib Gas is located in an industrial complex along the waterfront some two and one half miles from the center of this popular tourist center.

Sausalitan, 23, Booked In Sale Of Marijuana

A 23-year-old Sausalito man has been booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of possessing marijuana for sale, possessing dangerous drugs and narcotics paraphernalia.

Frank S. Lynn III, of 923 Bridgeway, was arrested Friday about 7 p.m. after Sausalito police, who went to his home on another complaints, saw him through a window smoking a cigaret e believed to contain marijuana.

Officers said they found three handrolled ciagrettes, in an ashtray in the living room of the residence and a brown paper bag containing 11 plastic bags of green vegetable substance, thought to be the drug, in the bedroom. Also found, according to police, were four bags of white tablets, a tin box containing a brown substance believed to be hashish and a can of seeds and a small pipe.

Lynn was released on $1,000 to appear Wednesday in Marin Municipal Court.

Three Plays Scheduled

An "Evening of Absurdity," consisting of three plays, will be presented by the College of Marin Department of Drama at 8 p.m. Dec. 3 in the Studio Theater.

The plays — to be performed at the same hour on Dec. 4,-5,6,8,9,10,11,12 and 13 — are:

"Out At Sea," "Act Without Words II," and "The Bald Soprano". They are directed by H. J. Susser.

"Out At Sea" by the Polish playwright Slawomir Morzek, takes one fat, one medium and one thin man adrift on a raft. They have eaten their last can of pork and beans and are hungry. They decide that in order to survive, one of them must offer himself for lunch. The result is black humor and biting satire.

"Act Without Words II" by Samuel Beckett, author of "Waiting for Godot," is a short mime for two players. It traces the life cycle of both characters from birth to death in 17 minutes.

The third play in the trilogy is "The Bald Soprano," by Eugene Ionesco. The theme is that habit, society and the middle class have stripped language of meaning and content. The characters speak to each other in a series of unrelated cliches and empty phrases. They become creatures without mind, soul, or identity.

Members of the cast for the three plays are: J.W. Harper of Fairfax, Shelly Lipkin of Mill Valley, Rick Casorla of Kentfield, Jess Jestrab of Mill Valley, Paul Finnegan of San Rafael, Joel Blum of Fairfax, John Evans of San Rafael, Reynold Acevedo of San Anselmo, Roxane Wilkinson of Novato, Robin Williams of Novato, Denise Orr of Fairfax, Carla Alsworth of Fairfax and Wayne Burke of San Anselmo.

Driver's Lip Hurt In Wreck

A Corte Madera man was treated for a cut lip at Marin General Hospital yesterday after his car struck another vehicle at the intersection of Bridgeway and Gate 5 Road about 6 p.m.

Police said John J. Poppin, 48, of 189 Birch Avenue, pulled out into Bridgeway from a service station and was driving on the wrong side of the road when his car hit an auto driven by Robert Parker, 30, of Box 412, Fairax.

Parker was heading west across Bridgeway when the accident occured, according to police.

How A Funny Thing Happened By Following Native Custom

By BARNEY SEIBERT

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—What does one do when deposited for a week in Cambodia with only the clothes he is wearing? Buy a sarong, of course.

In the Hollywood of the 1930s and 1940s, Sarongs were worn by lithesome movie queens.

But in Southeast Asia sarongs are worn by both sexes and even the toughest Cambodian mercenaries don them for comfort after a day of fighting.

There wasn't time for me to order a shirt and trousers made by a Phnom Penh tailor. I was moving around, covering a South Vietnamese army operation.

Buying clothing off the rack is out of the question in a country where the average citizen is ten inches shorter than me and has half the girth.

And after a two-day trip up the Mekong River aboard a South Vietnamese Navy landing craft and a night in a flophouse style hotel in South Vietnam's Mekong Delta, my camouflage jungle suit looked and smelled as if it had been used to wrap mummies.

Scouring haberdasheries, I finally managed to find a shirt that would fit and paid the equivalent of $13 for the sleezy, wildly colored product of a central European sweat shop. When there are but three shirts my size in all of Cambodia, you don't quibble over price.

But what about the pants? Then I hit upon the sarong.

I showed one of my Cambodian interpreters my shirt and asked him to go to the market and buy me a matching or contrasting sarong.

He returned an hour later with the garment, which resembles a cloth bag, open at both ends.

The match of the material was fair, but there were improbable looking, bright red jungle flowers stamped all over it.

I reconciled that this was the tropics and native craftsmen could be expected to reproduce their natural surrounding in their handicraft. Then I discovered near the hem the grand name of an American textile firm.

Still, it was a garment, and it fit, and I could wash my trousers. So I got a quick lesson in sarong folding, put it on and got to work.

Everything went fine until I finished the laundry and returned to the UPI bureau and seated myself in a chair. When guests entered the bureau, I rose to greet them and the sarong fell to the floor.

When they stopped laughing they told me they didn't know which was funnier—Seibert in a sarong or Seibert without one.

MMWD To Consider Retirement Plan

The Marin Municipal Water District board will consider a new employee retirement plan to cost an additional $76,000 per year Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. at the district office in Corte Madera.

The proposal which would increase retirement benefits by the amount each retired employee receives from social security was put over at the last meeting so a study of analogous private industry retirement plans could be made.

Fast Wage Rise For White Collars

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Labor Department says wages in a selected group of white collar workers rose at their highest rate in 10 years during a one-year period ending in June.

The increases averaged 6.2 per cent, the department said.

It said no comparable figures were available for the economy as a whole, but straight-time hourly earnings of manufacuring production workers during the same period climbed 6.3 per cent, while union scales in the building trades jumped 11.6 per cent during the one-year period ending in October.

15-Hour Kiss Claims New Mark

WINONA, Minn. (UPI)—A Winona State College couple claims the world record for kissing — a 15-hour, one minute marathon smooch.

Cindy Ehringer, Savanna, Ill., and Wayne Peterson Jr., Houston, Minn., began kissing at midnight Friday and gave up at 3:01 p.m. Saturday. They were permitted a three-minute break each hour to moisten lips.

The session tops the claimed record of 13 hours, 45 minutes set the previous weekend at the University of Hartford in Connecticut.

Rubella Campaign Widens —4,423 Children Immunized

Marin County's intensive campaign against rubella today reached a total of 4,434 children immunized against the disease.

The total stood at 4,169 at Friday's close of the first week in the month-long campaign, and 265 more were immunized this morning at Granada School in Corte Madera, reported the county health officer, Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht.

The total at Granada included 228 of the 347 enrolled in the school, plus 37 pre-school children. She stressed that youngsters need not be enrolled in the schools where the clinics are being held, and that additional clinics will be scheduled later for absentees who missed the regular clinics.

Dr. Albrecht said she hoped to immunize at least 80 per cent of the county's 47,000 children between ages 1 and 11

Rubella, if contacted by expectant mothers, causes crippling deformities and deaths to unborn babies. A major outbreak of the disease has been predicted in coming months.

The clinics were to move later today to San Clemente and Neil Cummins schools.

The schedule the rest of this week is:

TOMORROW — Henry Hall School at 9 a.m.; St. Patrick's School at 10 a.m.; Larkspur-Corte Madera School at 1 p.m., Ross School at 2 p.m.

WEDNESDAY — Glenwood School at 9 a.m.; San Pedro School at 10:30 a.m.; Santa Venetia School at 1 p.m.; 3-R School at 2 p.m.

No clinic is scheduled Thursday or Friday, but the schedule through Dec. 15 is as follows:

Nov. 30 — 9 a.m. John MacPhail, 10 a.m. Gallinas, 11 a.m. Blessed Sacrament, 1 p.m. West End, 2 p.m. Sun Valley.

Dec. 1 — 9 a.m. Oliver Hartzell, 10 a.m. Nova Albion, 11 a.m. Don Timoteo, 1 p.m. St. Isabella, 2 p.m. Bernard Hoffman.

Dec. 2 — 9 a.m. Santa Margarita, 10:30 a.m. Oak View, 12:30 p.m. Dixie, 2 P.M. Lucas Valley.

Dec. 3 — 9:30 a.m. Tomales, 11 a.m. West Marin, 12:30 p.m. Inverness, 2 p.m. Bolinas.

Dec. 4 — 8:45 a.m. St. Anselms, 9:45 a.m. Wade Thomas, 10:45 a.m. Isabel Cook, 1 p.m. Yolansdale, 1:45 p.m. Sleepy Hollow.

Dec. 7 — 9 a.m. Brookside, 10:15 a.m. Deer Park, 11 a.m. Central, 1 p.m. Manor, 2 p.m. St. Rita's.

Dec. 8 — 9 a.m. Lagunitas, 10:30 a.m. Nicasio, 1:30 p.m. Mary Silveira.

Dec. 9 — 9 a.m. Central, 10:15 a.m. Manzanita, 11 a.m. Bayside, 12:15 p.m. Martin Luther King, 1:30 p.m. Loma Verde.

Dec. 10 — 8:45 a.m. Olive, 10:15 a.m. Marion, 11:30 a.m. Our Lady of Loretto, 1 p.m. Lu Sutton.

Bank Explosion Tied To Gas Leak

PITTSFIELD, Mass. (UPI)—The state Fire Marshal's office is investigating an explosion and fire that heavily damaged the five-story Pittsfield National Bank building during the weekend.

Police said Sunday a gas leak of unknown origin is thought to have triggered Saturday night's explosion that left the first three floors and the basement "heavily charred."

Damage was expected to run well over $100,000, officials indicated. Offices in the building, including the headquarters of Rep. Silvio O. Conte, R-Mass., were heavily damaged. A Comte aide said duplicates of important records destroyed in the fire were on file in Washington.

Still Deadlocked

BERLIN (UPI)—The Big Four Ambassadors held their longest meeting on Berlin today but did not break their deadlock, a western diplomatic source said.

Honor Dinner For Gary Thomas

Approximately 125 persons attending a dinner Saturday night to honor Gary W. Thomas, assistant district attorney who was paralyzed from the waist down by a bullet wound received in the Aug. 7 shoot-out at the Civic Center.

Guest speakers at the stag dinner held in the San Rafael Elks Club were Judge Samuel W. Gardner, former Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety, Attorney William O. Weissich. Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, master of ceremonies, presented Thomas with a watch.

The organizing committee was Edward R. Vinci. Peter H. O'Toole and Elmo C. Howell.

Tawny Owl Booted After He Hooted

PETERBOROUGH, England (UPI)—The uninvited guest at formal dinners in the town hall had bad manners.

He made strange noises, swung on the chandeliers and gorged himself on leftovers. Sometimes he just went to sleep.

Officials finally had enough and called in the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, which caught and ousted the large tawny owl living in the rafters.

UFO Over London

LONDON (UPI)—The ministry of defense is investigating a report that an unidentified flying object looking like a fried egg — white with a yellow center — flew over East London this weekend.

DeMolay Youths In Litter Drive

Two station wagons full of litter were collected Saturday from Camino Alto by members of the Mill Valley chapter of De Molay.

Chapter adviser Gibson Crawford said 10 youths, all Tamalpais High School students, participated in the cleanup, one of seven civic and community projects conducted by the organization each year.

Paper, cans, bottles and four full cans of beer, tossed by the side of the road, were among the items collected. At the top of the grade an old rug was found, Crawford said.

At an awards banquet later Saturday, prizes for rifle competition and for meritorious service to De Molay were presented to members, Crawford said.

The group's next project will be the sale of Christmas trees from a lot on Miller Avenue next to Malugani's Tire Center. Proceeds will support other De Molay service projects.

Petrini Plaza Truck Tires, Cab Damaged

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Vandals slashed 10 truck tires, threw acid on a truck cab and stink-bombed five doors at Petrini Plaza here last night.

The store manager of Petrini's Market in the plaza said he had no idea who damaged the store's meat delivery trucks prior to 6 a.m. today, but he said the trucks had also been vandalized Nov. 9 when the tires on two Petrini produce trucks were slashed in South San Francisco.

After the Nov. 9 slashings the manager of Petrini's Market in Greenbrae was warned by telephone to discontinue advertising in the Independent-Journal.

The firm has been the victim of numerous attacks, secondary boycott picketing and union efforts to halt truck deliveries since San Francisco Typographical Union 21 struck the I-J Jan. 7.

High Court Ducks Out On Pornography Case

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Supreme Court refused today to interfere with a lower court ruling that photos of nude women —whatever the pose — are not obscene if no sexual activity is shows.

The action by a 5-3 vote let stand a federal appeals court decision which reversed the Massachusetts state court conviction of two men on charges of selling and possessing with intent to sell obscene magazines.

The Court order —which is not tantamount to a decision — drew dissents from Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justices John M. Harlan and Harry M. Blackmun.

They felt the appeal by Massachusetts authorities should have been heard and asserted that state courts should be the ones to decide such issues. Justice William O. Douglas did not participate in the case.

In other actions, the Court:

—Ruled, 6 to 3, that a state is legally allowed to permit a person accused of first degree murder to plead guilty to a lesser offense to avoid the death penalty even though he continues to insist on his innocence. The decision reinstated a second degree murder judgment against Henry C. Alford, of Winston-Salem, N.C., who was sentenced to 30 years after pleading guilty to second degree murder in such circumstances.

—Declared, by a 7-2 vote that national banks may not compete with travel agents. The decision with Burger and Harlan dissenting threw out an authorization by the U.S. Comptroller of the Treasury for banks to provide travel services to customers.

—Declined to accept the appeal of two men convicted of moonshining in Tennessee that the federal law requiring a tax stamp on all liquor would subject them to state prosecution and violate their privilege against possible self-incrimination.

—Let stand a District of Columbia court ruling that an apartment house tenant may withhold rent because of housing code violations by a landlord after the lease is signed.

The obscenity case involving Joseph N. Palladino Sr. and Joseph L. Hunt who sold magazines at Boston book shops had been brought before the Supreme Court once previously.

Railroad Talks On Wages Resume

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Railroad and union negotiators resumed contract talks today on the basis of a White House panel's recommendations that were rejected by the four unions.

The unions described as inadequate the suggested pay increase of 37 per cent over a three-year period and a strike is threatened for Dec. 11.

State Announces Low Bids Of Highway Work

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The California Division of Highways has announced a low bid of $705,881 for widening of Highway 116 near Petaluma and a low bid of $44,474 for guardrail work on Highway 101 north of Novato.

Arthur B. Siri Inc. of Santa Rosa was low bidder on the Highway 116 project, the division reported. The two-lane road is to be widened from 26-30 feet to 40 feet to provide eight-foot shoulders along a four-mile stretch.

Low bidder for the guardrail work was E.A. Forde Co. of Greenbrae, the division said. The work called for is installation and modification of guardrails from north of Atherton Avenue in Novato to a point north of the Todd Road overcrossing in Rohnert Park.

They make Volkswagens, but they buy Renaults.

Last year only 18,132 VW's were sold in France.

Yet, during the same period, Renault sold 112,263 cars in West Germany.

Germans are famous for demanding quality and dependability above all else.

Does that seem to tell you anything?

"Love Your Neighbor"

is a

☐ Platitude

☐ Commandment

(CHECK ONE)

You've probably said it a thousand times. And maybe that's the trouble. The words give you a nice, warm feeling, and back to business as usual.

It's almost as if speaking the words serves as a substitute for observing the commandment.

"Love your neighbor" means caring —really caring about others. "Love your neighbor" carries the responsibility to right the wrongs around us. "Love your neighbor" calls for the courage to be unpopular in the cause of justice.

If we'd all say it less and practice it more, maybe we'd start seeing some changes in the world.

Kennedy Visits Brothers' Graves

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, his wife Joan and his sister-in-law, Ethel Kennedy, knelt in prayer for about five minutes Sunday before the Kennedy graves in Arlington National Cemetery.

It was the seventh anniversary of President John F. Kennedy's assassination. Edward Kennedy placed seven white roses on the presidential grave, and the family then went to mass at a nearby church.

Republican Group Reports Loss Of $23,000

ANAHEIM (UPI)—The California Republican Assembly has begun a private investigation into the loss of more than $23,000 from its treasury.

The announcement of the loss came Saturday from CRA president David W. Gater of Anaheim following a day long, closed door meeting here.

After the session Gater announced that CRA treasurer Paul Casattas of San Jose had resigned and was replaced by former assistant treasurer Robert Eichemberg of Tustin.

Gater, who said "clever bookkeeping techniques" apparently were used to remove the funds, announced that civil action would be taken to recover the funds and that information from the group's investigation would be turned over to the Santa Clara County District Attorney for possible criminal action.

To Select Panel

The Dixie School District board will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday in administratice offices to appoint additional members to a citizens finance advisory group, then meet at 9 p.m. in Don Timoteo School with district administrators to discuss teacher complaints about staffing and working conditions raised at a meeting earlier this month.

BLACK CANYON — A portion of 539 acres being offered to the City of San Rafael encompasses the steep slopes of the city's Black Canyon area. This photo., looking north, was taken from Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co.'s microwave relay station. The steep canyon area is heavily covered with brush and small trees. The other side of the slope is not as steep and is forested with pine and other trees. Plans call for the property to be maintained as recreational open space.

Crash Kills Decorated Viet Vet

A 25-year-old decorated Vietnam War veteran from Santa Rosa was killed last night when his motorcycle crashed into a power pole in Novato.

Killed was Melven Ruttan Jr. of 662 King Street, holder of five purple hearts, the Bronze Star, and the Silver Star.

Deputy coroner Richard W. Madigan said Ruttan died of multiple injuries suffered in the crash.

Ruttan's death was the 38th traffic fatality in Marin this year as compared to 32 during the same period last year.

Novato police reported that Ruttan was driving northeast on Sunset Parkway north of Parkwood Drive, when his motorcycle swerved into a power pole in the divider strip at 9:40 p.m.

A witness, told police Ruttan had gone through a stop sign at South Novato Boulevard at about 25 miles per hour, then accelerated to about 45 to 59 miles an hour.

For no apparent reason, the motorcycle left the roadway and swerved into the median strip, struck the pole, and Ruttan was thrown to the ground.

Ruttan was taken to Novato General Hospital and pronounced dead at 10:33 p.m.

LARKSPUR TOWN MEETING

Preserve The Marshland

By ERIK M. INGRAM

A group of concerned Larkspur residents has agreed to oppose any future filling of Piper Park's marshland which they feel should be maintained as a wildlife sanctuary.

Preservation of the marsh was one of 16 proposals approved Saturday by about 150 citizens who nearly filled Redwood High School's Little Theater for the city's first town meeting.

The group gathered at 9 a.m. and were given an introduction to the concept of town meetings by Lewis W. Stewart, a consultant with Pacific Gas and Electric Co., originator of such gatherings, which have also been held in San Anselmo, Fairfax and Novato.

The citizens later divided into five committees to delve into problems faced by their growing community.

The committee topics included: parks, recreation and open spaces; zoning and population density; traffic circulation and the proposed ferry terminal; downtown development and improvements; and one on improving the looks of the city immediately.

The committees, following two-hour workshops, reassembled to vote acceptance, rejection or amendments to recommendations drafted by the committees.

The group rejected only one workshop recommendation: to petition the state to allow gas tax revenues to be used for bicycle paths and the city to register bicycles and use revenues to prevent bike thefts.

Objection to the measure was raised by residents who opposed registering their bicycles because as one said, "We have to register everything except bicycles now." The assembly was also reminded of recent voter rejection of expanded use of gas tax revenues.

The 16 recommendations will be considered Dec. 3 at 8 p.m. at city hall by the town meeting's steering committee, formed from a citizens' group which cosponsored the meeting with PG&E. The steering committee will then channel the recommendation to appropriate city agencies.

During the workshops, about 40 residents attending the discussion on parks and recreation were told Piper Park's marshland must be preserved because it is a source of oxygen for the bay and a source of food for wildlife.

Describing the marsh as "the lungs of the bay" and "a marine soup for wildlife," naturalist Clerin Zumwalt of the Audubon Canyon Ranch said government must save the swamps because "they won't be preserved by developers."

About half of Piper Park's 40 acres, located between Henry Hall School on Doherty Drive and Corte Madera Creek, have been filled and proposals have been made to fill the remainder.

The committee agreed the marsh should be preserved as well as the marshlands along the remainder of the creek from Highway 101 to Bon Air Bridge.

The parks and recreation committee was also presented to differing concepts for land use at the park.

Edward W. Adams, Novato Park and recreation director, said the park should be developed to provide residents with playground facilities and not be "just a park for people to walk in."

He said adults outnumber children three to one in Larkspur and predicted that ratio would change. "You have to plan for that increase," he said. "It's important the city have a well-balanced recreation program."

His ideas for expanded use of the area were embraced by Yopie Lewis, a member of the Larkspur Library Board, who said a library facility should be planned at the park.

"I feel a library is part of recreation and should be provided for," she said.

Pierre W. Joske, county parks and recreation director, was warmly applauded when he suggested the park be kept vacant of structures and equipment.

"The trend now is for less centralized, less organized parks," he said. "People want to go to a place where they can just sit under a tree."

Ample playground facilities are located at Redwood High School, city elementary schools and the College of Marin, he said. "The city would be well off to work with the school districts," he said. "Leave the park informal."

Residents nodded agreement but said site development should be considered later when Larkspur's park report is presented the city by its landscape and site planners, Arbegarst and Newton.

Other workshop recommendations passed at Saturday's town meeting were:

PARKS, RECREATION

No harbor or marina for motorboats or large sailing craft be constructed at Piper Park.

A series of public hearings on development of Piper Park be conducted by the Larkspur Park and Recreation Commission.

The city council amend the subdivision ordinance and require developers to dedicate open lands or money for park and recreation.

Focus development of continuous and improved access to water along Corte Madera Creek from Bon Air Bridge to Highway 101.

The city should acquire and preserve all rights-of-ways and easements within the city for bicycle and hiking trails.

ZONING, POPULATION

The city council should adopt an interim ordinance prohibiting building adjacent Corte Madera Creek until the Larkspur Master Plan is reviewed.

A citizens' committee be formed to study the 1965 Larkspur Master Plan and make recommendations for alterations at the next town meeting.

The city council reconsider the planning commission's recommendation to join the Marin City-County Planning Council and that the town meeting support the planning commission's recommendation.

TRAFFIC, FERRY TERMINAL

The Golden Gate Bridge District and the city make a study of the environmental impact a ferry terminal would have on Larkspur and if such a study has been conducted, it be made public.

If there are no serious ecological disadvantages to the Larkspur site, the town meeting favors selection of the Larkspur site for the terminal.

DOWNTOWN DEVELOPMENT

The study area for the Downtown Precise Plan be enlarged from the two-block downtown area to include area to the Kentfield boundary on the north to William Avenue on the south.

Form two volunteer committees, one an aesthetics committee to study renovating downtown buildings and the other to study downtown parking, traffic and land use problems.

ACTION NOW

The city provide a bike path between Doherty Drive and Bon Air Road with work to start immediately after acquisition of land and to be finished within two weeks; that the path be paved in asphalt and motorcycles prohibited.

The city stencil a white line along Doherty Drive four feet from the curb and designate it a bike path from the Disco Store to Redwood High School.

The public's right be preserved to use the trail along Madrone Avenue and up Baltimore Canyon along Larkspur (Rotunda) Creek.

In its final action, the town meeting reelected current officers on the Town Meeting Committee. The officers are: Joan Sestak, chairman; Charles Brousse, treasurer and Helen Heitkamp, secretary.

Another town meeting is planned in April.

500 Acres Of Land Offered San Rafael

More than 500 acres of densely forested property valued at about $1.5 million, southeast of the Marin County Civic Center have been offered for sale to the City of San Rafael for less than $200,000.

City Mgr. James H. McCown, city councilmen and other city officials toured the hilly area Saturday as they pondered the offer from singer Frank Sinatra and associates, who own the property.

McCown said the offer, being made through Los Angeles attorney Norman Tyre, would require the city to pay the last mortgage payment of $167,000 and to provide the present owners with appraisals of the property value and title reports.

Total cost to the city, McCown said, would be about $170,000.

Two appraisals have already been made, he said. One valued the property at $1.4 million, the other at $1,650,000.

If the council accepts the property, the city manager said, it is planned to "retain it as a recreational "greenbelt" area.

No specific proposals have been made, but the property near San Rafael's Black Canyon area would be ideal for hiking, bicycling and bridal paths, he said.

Two parcels within the 539 acres are under separate ownership. The parcels, the Army's Nike missile site and the microwave relay facilities of Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., are not included in the offer, McCown said.

The peak elevation of the property, 1,003 feet, provides views in all directions, he said.

Colorado Exploring

HOUSTON (UPI) — Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co. announced it will join Pan American Petroleum Corp. in drilling up to 111 explorator wells on a 300,000 acre tract leased by Pan Am in Colorado. Pan Am is part of the Standard Oil (Indiana) group.

Bay Water Board Due Map Request

A proposal to require cities and counties in the Bay Area to file all tentative subdivision maps with the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board will be heard by the board in its all-day meeting tomorrow in Hayward.

The regular monthly meeting, scheduled from 9:30 to noon and 1:30 p.m. to conclusion, will be in the Alameda County Public Works Building, 399 Elmhurst Street.

Also on the agenda is fixing requirements for plans by Mill Valley Air Force Station to treat its sewage wastes for use in the station swimming pool. The wastes now are sprayed onto a field, a system criticzed by public health officials because the wastes can reach public water supplies.

The requirement for the subdivision maps was proposed by the board's staff to help keep tabs on the ability of sewage systems to handle wastes as lands are developed. Any system found to be approaching capacity would face a board order against approving any new development until the treatment system was expanded.

Twenty sewerage agencies have responded to notice of the proposal, most of them oppoisng it.

Planners Approve Kappas Plan

George Kappas will be allowed to build one long houseboat pier at Gate 6½ in Richardson Bay to replace his previous plan for two piers.

Marin County planning commissioners this morning voted 5 to 1 to accept the redesign on a recommendation by planner Raymond Smith. Commissioner John F. West, the lone dissenter, agreed that the redesign is an improvement, but he opposes either plan. Commissioner Jack G. Nixon was absent.

Both the planning commission and the county board of supervisors last month approved Kappas's previous plan for two piers providing berths for 35 houseboats.

The number of berths remains the same under the new plan. Smith explained that the change from two piers to one will unclutter the area and give a less obstructed view from both the highway and for houseboat dwellers.

Attorney Hugh G. Lawrence, representing Kappas, agreed to various conditions for approval, including the requirement for 42 automobile parking spaces and an eight-foot pathway for pedestrians and bicycles, plus landscaping along the waterfront.

Romney Says No Switch In Works

WASHINGTON (UPI) — George Romney sought today to dispel reports that President Nixon plans to shift him from secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development to another post in the administration.

"I have not been asked, nor am I planning, to resign from the cabinet," Romney said in a statement. "I have not been asked to accept any other position by the President, the attorney general . . . or anyone else."

Defense Business Gets SEC Queries

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Securities and Exchange Commission has reported it sent questionnaires relating to financial disclosures made by defense contractors to approximately 40 companies.

The SEC's defense contract disclosure hearings resumed Monday after having been in recess since July 6. It put into the record the replies of 26 contractors, including General Motors Corp., General Electric Co., International Business Machines Corp. and Standard Oil Co. (N.J.).

Obsolete Products

DETROIT (UPI) — Ex-Cell-O Corp. says it will phase out operations at its small cutting tool division in Detroit that employs 90 workers. The company said the plant's products are becoming obsolete.

The Word 'Saloon' Made Legal Again

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —The California barkeep who yearns to return to those thrilling days of yesteryear in the old west and call his cocktail lounge a saloon has a golden opportunity today.

For that word, banned from tavern signs since the 1930s, is again legal, along with "bar" and "barroom." The law repealing the ban is one of about 1,060 passed by the state legislature this year and signed by Gov. Ronald Reagan that take effect today.

$6 Million Loan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — (UPI) — The Civil Aeronautics Board has approved a proposed loan of an additional $6 million to Northeast Airlines by its parent firm, Storer Broadcasting Co. Northeast is in process of being sold by Storer to Northwest Airlines.

Christopher Is New Co-Chairman

NEW YORK (UPI)—Former San Francisco Mayor George Christopher was installed today as Eastern Orthodox co-chairman of the National Conference of Christians and Jews (NCCJ).

Christopher joins William F. May, board chairman of American Can Co.; Oscar S Strauss II, president of Straus Exploration Inc., and Robert D. Murphy, board chairman of Corning Glass International, co-chairmen respectively representing Protestants, Jews and Roman Catholics.

An amendment of the conference's by-laws last year provided for the addition of an Eastern Orthodox cochairman to the organization.

Supervisors To Begin Hunt For Defender

Marin County Board of Supervisors will begin recruitment tomorrow to find a successor to Public Defender Jerome C. Durham, who resigned under fire last week.

County Administrator Alan Bruce will recommend to the supervisors that the personnel director conduct an open recruitment to get qualified candidates. County supervisors will make the final appointment.

The supervisors, meeting at 9 a.m. in the Civic Center, will also decide what to do with the $75,000 community planning program for Marin City, which ran into trouble because of slow progress and delay in getting federal reimbursement. It is partially financed by Title 701 of the Housing Act of 1954, with $50,000 reimbursement to come from the Housing and Urban Development Fund.

Bruce will recommend no further county spending on the Marin City 701 program until reimbursement arrives from HUD for the $36,000 spent to date.

Another major topic is a request by the privately operated Marin Child Development Center in Tiburon for $30,000 in county aid to keep the center open through June 30.

Other items on the supervisors agenda include:

CAFETERIA — The county administrator will ask for approval of bid documents to be sent to restaurateurs who want to operate the Hall of Justice cafeteria. Supervisors cancelled the contract with the present operator, the state Department of Rehabilitation, because of protests against poor service and high prices.

NUISANCE — Hearings will be held on proposed abatement of two dilapidated structures in Forest Knolls.

McNEARS BEACH — The parks and recreation department will present a master plan for development of McNears Beach and ask for contracts to improve the grounds and remodel a caretaker's residence.

WATER — Chairman John F. McInnis will ask for a resolution asking the federal government to hold up the funding for the Peripheral Canal project, which is a state water program to divert Sacramento River water around the periphery of the Sacramento Delta and pipe it to Southern California. Northern California counties want to study possible damage to the Bay Area and Delta.

The 'Nutcracker' Scheduled At College Of Marin

"Nutcracker" ballet will be presented by the Marin Civic Ballet the week before Christmas in the Fine Arts Building at the College of Marin.

Performances will be at 2:30 and 8 p.m. on Dec. 19 and 20, and at 1 p.m. on Dec. 21.

The role of Prince Charming will be danced by Charles Perrier of Fairfax; Sugar Plum Fairy by Cindy Lucas of San Rafael and Laurie Berryman of Mill Valley; Snow Prince by Rocky White of Corte Madera; Snow Queen by Jane Phelan of San Rafael and Flower solo by Kathy McCormick of Terra Linda.

The production is directed by Leona Norman.

Wrong-Side Cyclist Hurt In Shoreline Accident

One person was hospitalized and two others received minor injuries in three separate accidents, the California Highway Patrol reported today.

Donald Clifford Vickery, 28, of Orinda, was reported in good condition at Marin General Hospital with multiple cuts and bruises.

Vickery's motorcycle, southbound on Shoreline Highway one mile east of Muir Beach Road, at 2:20 p.m. Saturday, collided with a car driven by Robert John Evans, 46, of San Francisco, northbound on Shoreline Highway, CHP reported. Vickery was cited for driving on the wrong side of the highway.

Walter Edward Bass, 45, of 7708 Blair Avenue, Rohnert Park was treated for a lacerated elbow at Marin General Hospital. He received it in a one car accident at 5:30 a.m. yesterday on Highway 101 at the Tiburon turnoff, the highway patrol reported. Details of the accident were not available.

Kathleen Ann Mitchell, 30, of 400 Canal Street, Apt. 314 San Rafael, was to see her own doctor for pain in the back. Her car, southbound on Highway 101 near Sausalito collided at 8:55 a.m. Friday with one driven by Ruth Puller Kilby, 49, of 1085 Las Ovejas Avenue, San Rafael.

Union College, Schenectady, N.Y. was the first architecturally planned campus in America.

Safety Group Back In Business With A Backlog

Marin County Safety Commissioners, who were stymied last month by the absence of chairman Robert Bertrand and his briefcase, are back in business, trying to catch up with a heavy backlog of accident cases.

Last Thursday, acting chairman Richard L. Uchida reported that he had contacted the elusive Bertrand, the sheriff's sergeant who patrols West Marin, and retrieved the pile of accident reports which Bertrand carried in his briefcase.

With the reports in the hands of the commission, the commissioners were able to review 15 cases where county employees were involved in mishaps. The commission has a backlog of about 60 more to review.

The next commission meeting is set for 9 a.m. Dec. 17 at the Civic Center.

Sergeant Bertrand, who missed most of the meetings since he was elected chairman last February, has been replaced by Sgt. George Reuss of the sheriff's office.

Hearing For Red Soldier's Attacker

BERLIN (UPI)—A British spokesman said today Ekkehard Weil, 21-year-old hospital orderly suspected of shooting a Soviet war memorial sentry, would be arraigned Tuesday before a British military government magistrate's court.

Weill was recaptured at gunpoint Friday after 28 hours of freedom. He escaped Thursday by shoving aside a lone unarmed policeman who was taking him from jail to an interrogation at political police headquarters.

Bagley To Texas For Panel Study

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, will head a panel discussion of financing state and local government at the Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs at the University of Texas in Austin.

The three-day conference for Texas legislators, to start today, is sponsored by the League of Women Voters and Sears, Roebuck foundations.

Bagley is chairman of the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee.

Petaluma Car Theft

Harvey Johnson of 14 Fairfax Street, San Rafael, told Petaluma police that his car was stolen last night while parked on Petaluma Boulevard South at B Street. The 1960 Chevrolet had license number IBV 582.

Stalin Depicted As Sick, Fearful Man In Late Years

NEW YORK (UPI) — Josef Stalin is depicted as a sick man living in constant fear of assassination during his last years in an excerpt of what purportedly were former Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's written memoirs.

Khrushchev, deposed in 1964, said if Stalin were alive today he would vote he "be brought to trial and punished for his crimes," even though he attributed much of his rise to power to the dictator and his wife, a former classmate. Stalin died in 1953.

Life magazine, which insists the memoirs are authentic, published the first of four installments, "Life with Khrushchev," Sunday. It was taken from a forthcoming book, "Khrushchev Remembers," to be published by Little, Brown and Co.

Svetlana Alliluyeva, Stalin's daughter who is now Mrs. William Wesley Peters; was contacted by The New York Times Sunday and said she found many of the incidents written in Life of which she had personal knowledge were either confused or false. She is the only witness of the events reported now living in the West.

Khrushchev, 76 and reportedly suffering from a heart ailment, called the reminiscences a "fabrication" in a letter dated Nov. 10 and released a week ago by the Tass news agency. Neither Life nor Little, Brown has revealed the source of the information.

The memoir excerpt, written in earthy Khrushchevian style, said the former premier believed during World War II "Stalin started to be not quite right in the head." He said "there was unquestionably something sick about Stalin."

During a vacation in 1951, Khrushchev and Anastas Mikoyan were shocked by Stalin who said, "I'm finished. I trust no one, not even myself." Khrushchev wrote Stalin took elaborate security precautions during his last two years to the point of having guests eat first at a meal to see if the food were poisoned. He often drank heavily, he said.

"Stalin's pretensions to a very special role in our history are well-founded," Khrushchev wrote, and, "In everything about Stalin's personality there was something admirable and correct, as well as something savage.

"Nevertheless, if he were alive today I would vote that he should be brought to trial and punished for his crimes," Khrushchev said, according to Life.

Khrushchev wrote, however, he "draw a lucky lottery ticket when it happened that Stalin observed my activities through Nadezhda Sergeyevna," Stalin's wife and Svetlana's mother who committed suicide in 1932. She had been a classmate of Khrushchev's at the Industrial Academy in Moscow.

"It was because of her that Stalin trusted me. In later years he sometimes attacked me and insulted me; but right up until the last day of his life he liked me," wrote Khrushchev who met the dictator for the first time in 1925.

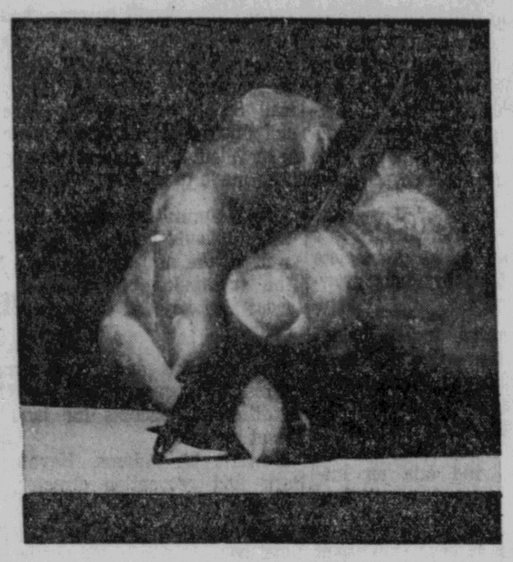
Cable Car, Auto Wreck Injures 2

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A cable car and an automobile collided Sunday at Hyde and Washington streets, hospitalizing two persons.

James Stayros, 58, of San Francisco suffered a possible leg fracture and Pamela Wolff of Berkeley a possible foot break.

Both were passengers on the cable car and both were treated at Harbor Emergency Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. E.F. Holland of Coleraine, Minn, tourists on their first day in San Francisco, suffered cuts and bruises but refused hospitalization



. . . because somebody knows enough about most crimes to help solve them

The Independent-Journal

announces

A special program enabling citizens to help combat violence, burglaries, vandalism, crime of any kind

The "Secret Witness"

Based upon a system of publicly offered rewards in which the identity of anyone offering information is never known

A program which has proved of direct aid to law enforcement agencies in other communities

THE SUCCESS OF "SECRET WITNESS"

The program has had significant success in other areas of the U.S. and has won the endorsement of law enforcement agencies.

A major contribution has been made in that the program provides police with information which has hitherto been denied them. It reinforces proper police action, speeds up apprehension of persons involved in crime and enables the citizen to make a legitimate contribution to law enforcement.

Rules to further protect the identity of anyone offering information

1. The police will make no attempt to determine the source of the tip to the newspaper but agree to check out the information when received.
2. The I-J agrees to post rewards only when police request them or with police approval, and the newspaper agrees not to investigate any of the information on its own.
3. The police agree to keep the paper posted on the progress police are making on the tips.
4. The I-J agrees not to publish any stories on the investigation until an arrest is made or a warrant issued.
5. Once court procedures are under way, the I-J will cover developments on the basis of what happens in the courtroom.

The "Secret Witness" program is aimed at protecting citizens in their homes, places of business, at their jobs, and on the streets, With the present scale of violence and crime it is often difficult for the general public to offer direct aid to law enforcement agencies and in turn the entire judicial process. The "Secret Witness" program is based on the assumption that somebody knows enough about most crimes to help solve them. It provides the means through which any citizen with legitimate information involving a crime or crimes may present it for proper legal investigation without fear of reprisal . . . since his identity can never be known. Substantial rewards will be paid if such information leads to the arrest and conviction of those engaged in criminal activities.

HOW THE PROGRAM WORKS

The Independent-Journal, in cooperation with the police, will publish stories of crimes in which a reward is offered for information. Rewards will be posted only with police approval. Any and all information elicited will be turned over to the police. The newspaper will make no investigation of the information on its own.

IF YOU HAVE INFORMATION, DO THIS:

- Write a letter, either typed or printed, about a crime on which you believe you have significant information.
- DO NOT SIGN YOUR NAME. At base of the letter (see example below), write in any six-digit number of your own choosing. Write the same six digits at bottom right-hand corner of the letter. Tear off this lower right-hand corner with the number and retain it.
- Mail the letter (with corner torn off) to:

"Secret Witness"
Box 330, San Rafael, Calif. 94102

123456 Choose your own number

123456

(TEAR HERE) SAVE THIS

HERE'S HOW BOTTOM OF YOUR LETTER SHOULD LOOK

HOW REWARDS ARE PAID

Directly after the conviction of any person or persons as a result of information which you have helped supply, merely send in the torn off corner of your letter bearing the number which you wrote down. If this matches up with the letter, the I-J will immediately arrange for the reward to be paid you. Again, your identity will not be disclosed.

REWARDS

For information leading to the arrest and conviction of those engaged in criminal activities.

$10,000

has been posted by the Independent-Journal as a fund to initiate the program.

$1,000 REWARD - BOMBING OF THE CIVIC CENTER

for information leading to arrest and conviction of person or persons involved in acts of vandalism to property, buildings or vehicles belonging to the Independent-Journal, its employees, or to advertisers and suppliers of the Independent-Journal.

REAL ESTATE OPPORTUNITY
In the past year, our investors acquired in excess of $6,000,000 of land thru the ARGUS office. The continuing demand of our investors has created an opening for a land or acreage oriented sales-person. Applicants must be licensed and should be prepared to devote the majority of their efforts to listing rural properties in Marin, Sonoma, Napa, and Solano counties. We prefer a seasoned land man, but will consider substituting drive and ambition for that requirement. We offer a generous commission schedule, an atmosphere of stimulating real estate activities, and congenial co-workers.

Please call Jim Redding at 897-6127 to arrange a personal interview.

BEHIND EVERY SUCCESS STORY IS A MAN WHO GRABBED AN OPPORTUNITY!!
And here's that opportunity! UII Snack Shop vending machines.

A proven winner in the growing $5 billion a year market. One of the few markets left where the independent operator does the lion's share of the business.

UII Snack Shops are a proven business opportunity, with a proven line of nationally famous brands of confections that sell themselves. If you can invest as little as $600 to $1500 and 10 hours a week in your own car to begin, you can build a business. Your income is commensurate with your desire to succeed through hard work and conscientious service.

You need no experience, you make no personal sales calls. We will train you, counsel you, and secure your locations. You service them, and earn the profits yourself.

If you're interested in improving your income and your life style, fill out the coupon below.

Three Scheduled To Appear As Burglary Suspects

Three Richmond men were scheduled to appear today in Marin Municipal Court on suspicion of attempted burglary at the Edgewater Inn, Corte Madera.

Police reported today that Joe D. Lowe, 37, Elishes Cavness, 24, and Robert B. Hassell, 33, were arrested Friday at 8:18 p.m. outside a linen storage room at the motel.

Officers said the door knob had been pried off but an inter-security door was untouched. The linen room has been burglarized several times during the past months, the motel manager told police.

Officers said they were called to the scene by a report of suspicious persons at the storage room. When they arrived, officers said, the three men were sitting in a car outside the room.

The three remained in jail over the weekend in lieu of $3,124 bail each.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

More Than 20 Medical Problems Can Hinder Potential Flyers

Van Dellen

If a passenger becomes unconscious or has a heart attack while airborne, the pilot may be forced to make an unscheduled landing. These landings are expensive considering the fees, added cost of missed connections and the ensuing ill will. But the chances of dying en route are one in a million, as most victims of heart trouble are more likely to succumb on the ground.

The new jumbo jets carry 400 or more passengers and may have a registered nurse among the 10-15 member crew. Her presence may cut down on unscheduled landings provided she is able to determine if the emergency is real or imaginary. Many nervous people breathe so rapidly that they pass out.

THE MEDICAL clinic at John F. Kennedy International Airport in New York studied the records of 55 fatalities that took place at the field. Forty-three per cent died preflight and 27 per cent after landing. Only 30 per cent of the fatalities occurred en route.

Dr. George J. Kidera of United Air Lines advises persons with cardiac disorders or hypertension to arrive at the field at least one hour before departure. In this way they avoid the excitement and hurry of checking in. Meanwhile, they can take their time getting to the departure gate. Those who need wheelchairs should call ahead.

NOT EVERY sick person should fly. The more than 20 medical problems that require special scrutiny are listed in Medical Criteria for Passenger Flying, published by the American Medical Association. According to Dr. Ludwig G. Lederer of American Airlines, a nonmedical coordinator familiar with these conditions is responsible for boarding approval. American prefers the word of the family physician as to whether it is safe for the person to fly. The decision regarding a seriously ill passenger is made by an air line company physician.

TB OF THE NECK

Mrs. W. E. writes: Our 7-year-old son has tuberculosis of the neck glands. Is this a new form of tuberculosis?

REPLY

No. Scrofula goes back to medieval times and once was known as the king's evil. The condition is not common today-because we drink pasteurized milk and have eliminated tubercular cattle. Years ago, surgery was a popular type of treatment for this form of tuberculosis and is the reason many older persons have unsightly scars on the neck at the site where the infected glands were removed. Since excellent results are obtained with isoniazid, streptomycin and PAS, today, surgery is unnecessary.

RUNAROUNDS

Mrs. L. G. writes: I have an inflammation around my fingernails. They swell and get very sore. What causes this condition and what can be done about it?

REPLY

Paronychia involves the skin around the nail border and usually stems from injury, vigorous manicuring, or nailbiting. The condition usually responds to soaking the fingers in warm water and applying a mild antiseptic. Try to avoid injury. Send stamped, self-addressed envetope for our leaflet on runarounds.

REGAINING STRENGTH

L. B. writes: How can a person build himself up after a period of extreme nervousness that caused insomnia and fatigue?

REPLY

Thru regular exercise, sleep and a balanced diet containing ample proteins.

Today's Health Hint — Tainted foods do not always have peculiar odor or taste.

Boy's Condition Is Satisfactory

Robert A. Parrish, 15, of 5 Dellwood Court, San Rafael, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital with his left leg amputated below the knee.

Parrish suffered the injury Friday when a new motorcycle he was taking on a demonstration ride collided with the rear of a truck in San Rafael.

He had been listed in critical condition and in the intensive care unit until yesterday.

Vandals Damage Two Schools

Burglars entered two Petaluma elementary schools over the weekend, ransacking rooms and causing damage.

Police said that windows in the gymnasium and nurses' office were broken at the Valley Vista School. Vandals ransacked the kitchen, principal's office, main office and work room.

At McNear School, a rear door was pried open and a radio and undetermined amount of cash were taken.

Warren Says Race Split Worst Issue

NEW YORK (UPI)—Former Chief Justice Earl Warren said Sunday night America will overcome its problems but asserted racial discrimination was the toughest dilemma because minority Americans "are becoming more divided from the vast majority every day."

He told an American Jewish Congress dinner Americans "in self-defense" will find a way to "work our way out of war . . . stop inflation and prevent depression . . . wipe out illiteracy in the nation" and solve the pollution problem.

"But the problem which hovers over all of these, and the one which will determine whether we will be able to live in peace and harmony at home and abroad, is the problem of whether we can achieve the plural society with freedom for everyone envisioned by our founding fathers," Warren told his audience of 500.

The former chief justice said racial discrimination "approaches more closely to the limit of insolubility" than any American problem.

"Possibly 30 million Americans (including blacks, Indians, Mexican-Americans and Asian-Americans) are becoming more divided from the vast majority every day," Warren said.

Warren, 79, who served 16 years on the nation's highest tribunal, received the Stephen Wise Award at the dinner for "distinguished service in advancing human freedom."

Also honored were Benjamin H. Swig, owner of San Francisco's Fairmont Hotel, and New York attorney Shad Polier.

The Stephen Wise Awards have been presented annually since 1949 in honor of the founder of the American Jewish Congress.

Holiday Deaths May Exceed '69

CHICAGO (UPI) —From 670 to 770 Americans will die in traffic accidents over the four-day Thanksgiving holiday weekend, the National Safety Council has estimated.

Howard Pyle, NSC president, said last year 696 Americans died on the nation's highways over Thanksgiving.

From 29,000 to 34,000 persons will be injured in highway accidents over the 102-hour weekend that begins at 6 p.m. Wednesday and ends midnight Sunday, the council estimated.

Car Burgled

Money, clothes, stereo and tapes valued at $449 were taken between 1 and 1:30 a.m. yesterday from the car of David J. Hashimoto of Winton, Merced county, while the car was parked at 36 Medway Street, San Rafael, police reported.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Kent Killings Make Good Show

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—A two-part drama variy obviously based on the Kent State tragedy began Sunday night on NVC-TV's "The Bold Ones" series in an hour starring Hal Holbrook as an idealistic U.S. senator.

Holbrook portrays the head of a commission formed to investigate two student deaths —and other circumstances—in a campus confrontation with the guard.

The script by David W. Rintels was emotion-charged, so much so that this viewer would have preferred seeing a two-hour production of the story, right to the end, rather than being left up in the air and told to wait for a week to learn how everything comes out.

Rintels used a "Rashomon"-style storytelling technique in which the various principals testifying before the commission—the school chancellor, the governor, the mayor, etc.—offered differing versions of their confrontations about whether to send in troops.

The opening hour seems certain to arouse deep feelings in viewers for the usual reasons. Inevitably, some will identify themselves with key characters and their attitudes. Others undoubtedly will feel certain figures were stereotyped. It is possible that still others will feel the two-parter is exploiting a senstive current issue.

In fairness, though, whatever one's attitude, it seemed clear that, unlike other so-called "relevant" shows on television, the people involved with this one genuinely felt concerned about the matter at stake. In this sense, the "Rashomon" technique—the series of emotional and self-serving accounts—was effective in establishing the sad insolubility and vast complexity of certain human situations.

Two other things seemed clear, regardless of one's feelings: it was all but impossible to turn off the hour, once hooked. And the Rintels script delineated painfully the tragedy of hostility among protagonists who have given up trying to communicate with each other.

What with ABC-TV's new Monday night gridiron games, the annual Thanksgiving Day contests Thursday and the networks' practice of presenting doubleheaders, the next week will offer a binge of televised football.

Canadians Think Envoy Still Alive

MONTREAL (UPI)—Authorities today sought to determine the authenticity of a letter from kidnaped British diplomat James R. Cross in which he said he was in good health but was despondent.

Cross was abducted 50 days ago by the terrorist Front de Liberation du Quebec (FLQ), which later abducted and killed Quebec Labor Minister Pierre Laporte. The FLQ has demanded release of 24 terrorist prisoners and their deportation to Cuba and $500,000 in gold as ransom for Cross.

"Time drags very heavily after six weeks of imprisonment . . . what more can I say? What can I expect? When and how will this bad dream end?" The letter read in part.

Montreal and Quebec provincial police were attempting to establish the authenticity of the letter and an FLQ communique found with it.

A spokesman said the signature appears to match that of Cross but he pointed out there were a number of spelling mistakes and "fractured English" had been used in places.

Speaking on radio late Sunday, Quebec Justice Minister Jerome Choquette said the Cross letter "appears to be authentic."

"We draw the conclusion that Cross is still alive," Choquette said on Montreal radio station CJAD.

However, police still maintained they would not know whether the letter and the FLQ communique were authentic until at least later today.

The FLQ communique said the United Nations should step into the kidnap case and act as an intermediary to gain Cross' release.

Included with the letter and communique, left in a phone booth for a Montreal newspaper alerted by an anonymous telephone call, was a second letter purportedly written by Cross and addressed to his wife.

Mrs. Barbara Cross and her daughter have been staying in Berne, Switzerland, with the British ambassador, Eric A. Midgley, for the past two weeks. The contents of the "personal" letter to Mrs. Cross were not known.

The letter thought to be from Cross was dated Nov. 15, apparently explaining the reference to "six weeks" in captivity. It was found late Saturday by a reporter for the newspaper "Journal de Montreal."

THE BIG BOOT — It's jubilation for Oakland's George Blanda (16), Daryle Lamonica (3) and Hewritt Dixon (35) plus the other Raiders and their legion of fans after Blanda's 16-yard field goal with seven seconds left gave them a heart-stopping 20-17 triumph over San Diego yesterday. Dejected Chargers at right are Speedy Duncan (45) and Bob Howard (24). (UPI Telephoto)

Let George Do It, Say The Raiders

Blanda's Kick Beats Chargers

By JOE SARGIS

OAKLAND (UPI)—It may sound a bit corny in this sophisticated age to say "Let George do it," but that's exactly what the Oakland Raiders are doing this season, and so far George Blanda hasn't let them down.

The 43-year-old backup quarterback and kicking specialist did it again—for the fifth time in 1970 to be exact—booting a 66-yard field goal with seven seconds left Sunday to give the Raiders, fighting for their lives in the American Conference West race, a 20-17 victory over the San Diego Chargers.

EQUALIZER

Earlier, Blanda booted an 18-yarder that had put Oakland on top 17-14, but Mike Mercer equalled it with an 11-yarder to tie the score with 4:46 left to play.

The Raiders moved up field to the eight yard line and then with the clock ticking away the final seconds, quarterback Daryle Lamonica finally called time with seven seconds to go.

Blanda came on and booted the winner from an angle and the 54,594 fans almost tore up the Oakland Coliseum.

"With only seven seconds left I didn't have time to think about the pressure," Blanda said. "I only wish I had a better angle but you can't have everything."

Blanda, who has seen nearly everything in his 22 years of pro football, said his only concern as they lined up for the game winning field goal was Speedy Duncan, the San Diego defensive back who plays on the field goal kicking defense unit.

STACKED

"I know he is good at blocking kicks and I only hoped we could hold him off," said Blanda. "In fact, we lined the defense up to stack him (Duncan) and I guess he never made it."

Blanda missed two earlier field goal trys—one from the 43 and the other from the 41—but he dismissed both.

"You aren't going to get all of them," he said, "so why worry about it. As long as you get the ones that count, that's all that matters."

John Madden, the 37-year-old Raiders coach who says he has aged "at least 20 years" this season, said Oakland figured all the time that it would just try to maneuver the ball "so that George could get a whack at it."

Madden said that on the last play before Blanda's field goal try he told Lamonica to stand right alongside the official and call time with 10 seconds to go.

USED UP TIME

Charlie Smith, who scored the two Oakland touchdowns on three and one yard smashes, set up the winning boot by running for 35 yards in four

A WILD TIME

Massive Rally At Ohio State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — It took 12 hours and caused $10,000 damage when Ohio State University football fans staged the city's longest and most expensive football victory celebration in history during the weekend.

An estimated 10,000 persons began jamming into a one-mile stretch of N. High St. along the campus within minutes after Ohio State's 20-9 triumph over Michigan and began the city's biggest "block party" ever.

The celebrants, mostly high school and college-aged youths, also staged several marches to the downtown statehouse carrying the Ohio Stadium's $2,000 goal posts, torn away from their concrete moorings in a demonstration of exultation that just could not be contained.

Hundreds, if not thousands, of beer cans, wine bottles and other debris made walking difficult as the exuberant fans danced to music provided by several rock music bands and kept shouting, "We're No. 1."

Even OSU football coach Woody Hayes, who made a brief appearance during the giant celebration, could not make himself heard above the din. But words were not necessary as the crowd went wild when the coach held up his index finger to signify OSU's No. 1 status.

Although dozens of campus-area store windows were smashed, cars damaged and even steel utility poles uprooted by the fans, police, for the most part, stayer away from the area.

Plainclothed officers mingled with the crowd and dozens of riot-trained patrolmen were on standby at a nearby command post in case the celebration got completely out of hand. They were never called into action.

The "block party" began about 4 p.m. Saturday and lasted until 4 a.m. Sunday, when tired police officials finally ordered the remaining, still-celebrating, fans from the street to allow cleanup crews to begin work.

Several arrests were reported, some for drug violations. Dozens of persons suffered minor injuries, some in fist fights.

Series With Japanese On Giants' Schedule

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Giants announced Saturday a 32-game spring exhibition season for 1971 including a two-game weekend series with the Japan Pacific League champion Lotte Orions in Candlestick Park, April 3-4.

The Orions will hold their spring training next year in Arizona, using the Gaints facility at Casa Grande after the San Francisco club moves on to Phoenix following a two-week conditioning period.

In all, seven National and American League teams will train in the desert, including the California Angels at Palm Springs, Calif., along with the Orions. The Giants schedule lists games with all the big league clubs, including a pair with the Los Angeles Dodgers, one at Albuquerque and the second in Phoenix.

The Giants' first game in Phoenix is scheduled for Sunday, March 7, against traditional rivals, the Cleveland Indians. The Giants play the Oakland A's three times.

The Giants play their final Arizona game on April 1 against the Milwaukee Brewers in Tempe, then come home to meet the University of Santa Clara on April 2 before winding up the exhibition season against the Orions.

The regular N.L. season opens on April 6 with the Giants at San Diego.

49ERS DRUBBED IN DETROIT

Lions Are Back To Early Form

DETROIT (UPI) —The Lions "were searching for themselves" and the San Francisco 49ers were not a bit pleased with what Detroit discovered.

Detroit recaptured its early season winning ways Sunday by pasting San Francisco, 28-7, to snap its three-game losing streak and break a four-game 49ers' winning string.

They rediscovered fullback Mel Farr, who counted a two-yard touchdown run in his first 100-yard rushing day in two seasons, and unveiled a four-linebacker defense which shocked San Francisco quarterback John Brodie, who entered the game as the conference's leading passer.

Young Greg Landry, third-year quarterback from Massachusetts, started his second game of the season and upstaged Brodie with three touchdown passes in engineering the win.

"The guys were searching for themselves," Landry, who started in place of Bill Munson the previous game, revealed after the game. "They were wondering is it gonna happen again? They went out and played a real fine football game."

Detroit, now 6-4 after winning five of its first six National Football Conference games, lost on a record field goal in the last two seconds by Tom Dempsey of New Orleans and in the last two minutes to Minnesota after leading the whole game in its last two contests.

"This was my best performance," Landry said of his game, which saw him complete 11 of 17 passes for 111 yards and three scores. "But I think all year I've been picking up stuff."

"I'm better because of last year, too," he said. Landry made seven starts a season ago and won five of them. "But I've still got a lot to learn."

"We just had too many fumbles, penalties and interceptions," lamented losing Coach Dick Nolan of San Francisco. "You can't give the ball up that many times and expect to win. At least not to Detroit —they are a good football team."

Brodie didn't show Landry a whole lot, despite completing 19 of 25 passes for 130 yards. Three of his throws were intercepted by Dick Lebeau, Lem Barney and Mike Weger of the Lions.

The 14-year veteran quarterback decided to hand off to Doug Cunningham against the four-linebacker defense on the second play of the game and the San Francisco halfback fumbled the ball, with defensive end Jim Mitchell falling on it for Detroit on the 49ers' 26.

Five plays later, Farr gained the first two of his 117-yard total in 16 carries to give Detroit a 7-0 lead with the game but 4:18 old.

A 19-yard pass to tight end Charlie Sanders from Landry, who kept popping on the short ones until he could connect in the end gone in the longer

Warriors Moving On To Philadelphia

By LARRY MOWELL

SAN FRANCISCO — Records are made to be broken, the old bromide states.

Unfortunately for the Warriors, the Milwaukee Bucks played like they believe it as they frustrated San Francisco, 127-102, before a season-high 8,-204 fans at the Cow Palace Saturday night.

The Midwest Division leaders easily won their 13th straight, five short of the consecutive win record set last year by the world-champion New York Knicks.

Continually beating the home team down for easy layups on offense and, on defense, forcing the Warriors to struggle for every shot, the Bucks looked capable of claiming that record.

The only bright spot for San Francisco, now 11-9, was the play of Nate Thurmond. The lanky center pumped in 30 points and pulled down 14 rebounds to gain a standoff with awesome Lew Alcindor.

The Bucks' giant pivot man scored 28 points with 15 rebounds, but, unlike Thurmond, got strong support from four other Bucks.

Oscar Robertson popped in 25, Greg Smith, 23, and Bob Dandridge and Bob Boozer each netted 18 as the Bucks shot 56.5 per cent.

The Warriors shot a creditable 45 per cent from the field, but gave the ball away 34 times to the swarming Buck defense.

The Warriors played the talented Bucks, now 14-1, on even terms until the last minute of the first quarter when the Bucks reeled off three baskets for a 32-26 lead.

Relying on the shooting of Robertson and Boozer in the second quarter, the Bucks burst to a 56-42 half-time lead and pulled away steadily in the second half.

The Warriors' next game is tomorrow in Philadelphia against the 76ers, the second place team in the Atlantic Division of the National Basketball Association with a 13-9 record.

Seals Home After Disastrous Trip

CHICAGO (UPI) —All the California Golden Seals can show today for their disastrous seven-game road trip are a win over Boston, a $25 meal and a $200 suit for each player.

Oddly, all of those goodies sprang from the pocketbook of owner Charles O. Finley after the Seals edged the Bruins 2-1 a week ago Sunday. But Finley would have taken back the new suits and $25 meals if he had seen his Golden Seals succumb 9-0 to Bobby Hull and the Chicago Black Hawks Sunday night.

It was the worst defeat of the young season for the Seals and left them mired in last place in the Western Division of the National Hockey League.

Hull scored the 25th hat trick of his career to pull to within three of the NHL record held by Maurice (The Rocket) Richard of Montreal.

The Seals defense completely collapsed and gave little protection to rookie goalie Bob Sneddon. All the Chicago goals came on close-in plays.

The loss ended a miserable 1-6 road trip for the Seals who were playing inspired hockey with four straight victories at home before heading east.

Oakland looked a little better in losing 5-3 to Toronto Saturday night. Trailing 4-1, the Seals made it close on goals by Dennis Hextall and Gary Jarrett in the third period.

Veteran goalie Gary Smith relieved Sneddon in the second period at Toronto with the Maple Leafs leading 3-1.

Now the Seals try to pick up the pieces in an abbreviated home stand starting with Los Angeles at the Coliseum Wednesday night. Oakland then plays Minnesota in the same arena Friday night before taking to the road again for games at Buffalo and Minnesota.

Don Makela Qualifies For Finals

Don Makela, College of Marin sophomore cross country ace, will be competing in the California State Finals Saturday in Moorpark, Ventura County.

Makela, a star runner for Novato high School before College of Marin, qualified for the state meet last Friday when he finished seventh in the Northern California cross country finals at Santa Maria.

Makela, who finished 11th last year in the Norcal meet, missing the state meet by one place, covered the four-mile course last Friday in 20 minutes and 33 seconds. The winning time was 20:21.

Daly City Meet To Marin Runner

DALY CITY (UPI) — Darryl Beardall of the Marin Athletic Club has won the 6.7-mile Daly City Hill Run in record time of 36 minutes, 29.6 seconds.

Second was Jim Howell of the West Valley Track Club who finished 21 seconds behind Beardall. Saturday's cross country run went to the top of San Bruno Mountain and back.

Chico Gridders Bomb Sonoma State, 75-14

The Sonoma State College Cossacks ended their 1970 football season on a sour note Saturday, losing to Far Western Conference co-champion Chico State, 75-14 at Chico.

The loss, fourth for the Cossacks of Rohnert Park against four wins and a tie in this, their first season of varsity competition, was a matter of course after the Wildcats racked up a 24-0 halftime lead. But the team that tied for the FWC title with Hayward State continued to pour it on, scoring 38 points in the final quarter.

Sonoma State scored on a one-yard dive in the third quarter by freshman quarterback Ernie Simon, and a 30-yard touchdown pass from Simon to Jack Trujillo in the final period.

Cossack coach Carl Peterson said afterward that, although disappointed over the final game, he was pleased with the seoson on the whole.

Two Cal Stars Named To West Shrine Squad

OAKLAND (UPI) — Linebacker Phil Croyle and tackle Bob Richards of the Cal Bears will play for the West squad in the East-West Shrine game Jan. 2 at Oakland Coliseum. They will be the only Bears on the all star squad.

It's The Cotton Bowl For Fighting Irish

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI)—The Fighting Irish are Dallas-bound for a New Years Day battle in the Cotton Bowl But they don't know who they will be fighting.

Ara Parseghian's boys bypassed a shot at Nebraska in the Orange Bowl and voted Sunday for a return trip to Dallas to take on the Southwest Conference champ — Texas or Arkansas.

The Longhorns have invited Arkansas to Austin Dec. 5 in a gridiron match that will determine which team spends New Years in Dallas. If Texas wins, the Cotton Bowl could be a rematch of last year's contest in which the Longhorns lassoed a touchdown in the final minute to hand Notre Dame a 21-17 defeat in its first post-season bowl game.

"It was not an easy decision," Parseghian said. "Both the Orange Bowl and the Cotton Bowl are fine affairs. It was a great game a year ago, but of course our opponents are still unknown. The squad felt that regardless of the opposition it would be a great challenge."

Notre Dame meets Southern California at Los Angeles Saturday to finish out its regular season. The Irish won the Cotton Bowl bid with a 3-0 squeaker over Louisiana State Saturday to post their ninth victory in their undefeated season.

Less cash, more carry.

Consider the Jim Beam half gallon:
(1) The World's Finest Bourbon Since 1795 costs less per drink.
(2) There's a handle on it. Easy to carry, easy to pour.
(3) There's less chance of running out; less need to run out for more. A sensible way to enjoy the Bourbon that has been a family art since 1795.

Always a good buy at $11.99 per half gallon

Tentative Orange Bowl Bid To LSU

MIAMI (UPI)—The Louisiana State Tigers can come to Miami and battle Nebraska in the Orange Bowl if—and it's a big if—they can beat Tulane and Mississippi in their remaining regular season games.

Notre Dame spurned an Orange Bowl invitation Sunday, deciding instead to go to the Cotton Bowl and play the winner of the Dec. 5 Texas-Arkansas clash. Orange Bowl committee scouts at first indicated the search was wide open again after the Irish rejected the bid, but committee director Keith Phillips later extended the tentative invitation to LSU.

CLEVELAND (UPI) — A federal grand jury which is probing possible anti-trust violations by the National Football League may not resume hearings again until January, according to reports here.

No date has been set for the grand jury to reconvene after four days of testimony last week.

The jury is believed to be considering the testimony already presented by team officials and former players.

Bowling

DETROIT (UPI) —Dave Davis is ready for a good run at his 12th career pro bowling tournament win today after taking a 185-pin lead in the elimination phase of the American Airlines Open.

The tall, left-handed Miamian rolled a 1,377 in Sunday's third round and then came back with a fourth round of 1,388 to lead 15 others into the round-robin match-game finals.

Horse Racing

LOS ALAMITOS, Calif. (UPI) —The richest exacta payoff in California history, a payoff of $5,182.50, highlighted the first week of the fall quarter horse meeting at Los Alamitos Saturday.

The huge payoff was set up when Cool It captured the sixth race and paid $70.40 to win while a 15-1 choice, Parker's Image, finished second. The exacta surpassed the $4,586.50 record set at Bay Meadows recently.

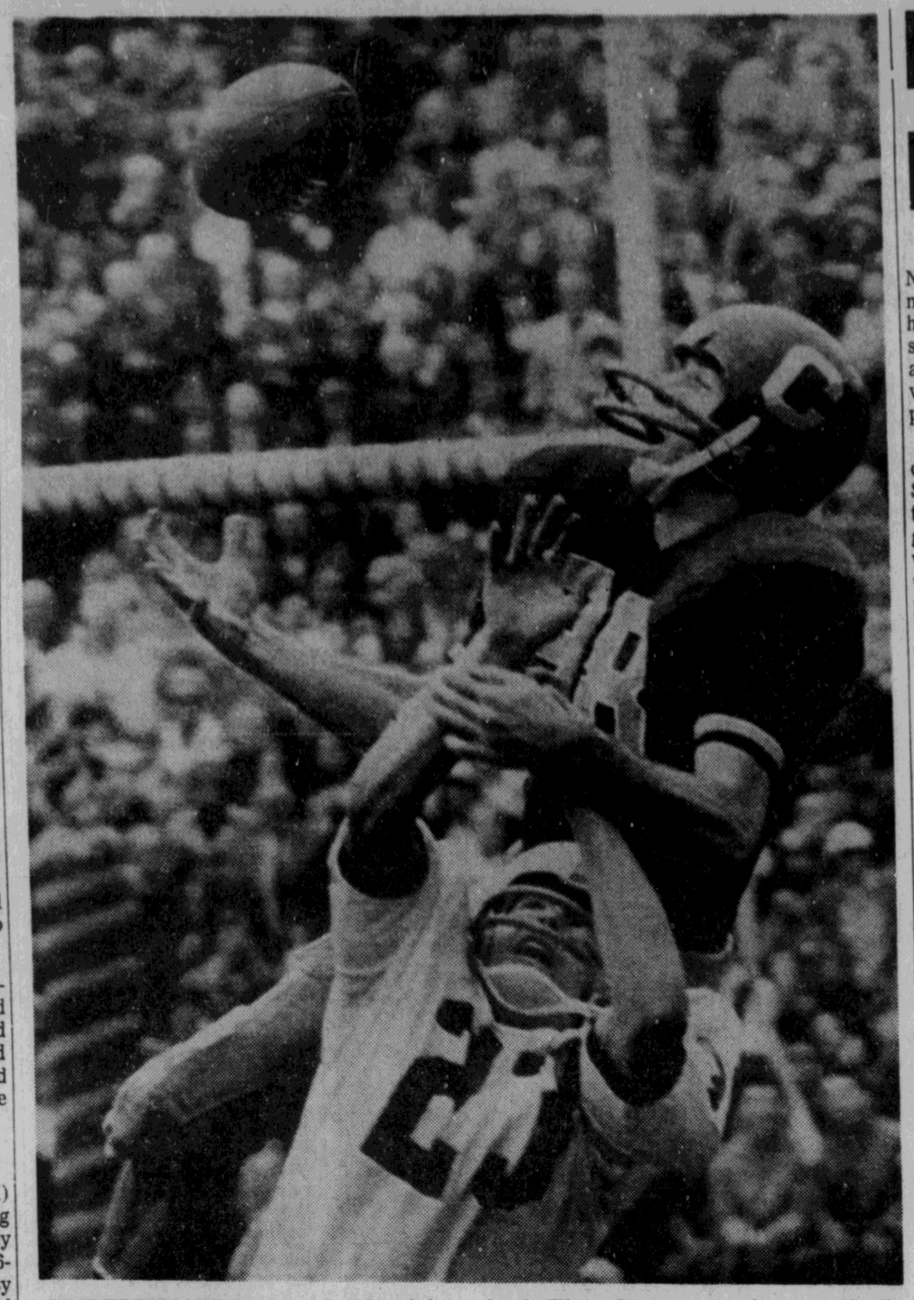
Auto Racing

PHOENIX (UPI) —Swede Savage of Costa Mesa, Calif. won the 150-mile Bobby Ball Memorial championship auto race.

ASHKELON, Israel (UPI) — Israel's first scheduled Grand Prix auto race was abandoned when an unruly mob poured onto the 2.5 mile circuit and ignored appeals to clear the track.

Tennis

WEMBLEY, England (UPI) —Rod Laver, the defending champion, defeated Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., 6-3, 6-4, 6-4, to take the $60,000 Embassy indoor tennis tournament and first prize money of $7,200.



UNBELIEVABLE! — California's Steve Sweeney (88) is about to make an unbelieveable catch of a pass thrown by Dave Penhall during first period drive against Stanford in Saturday's Big Game against Stanford. The play — caught over Indian defender Jim Kaufman — set up a field goal that led Cal to a 22-14 upset over Rose Bowl bound Stanford.

Indians And Chief Have No Excuses

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — Neither the Stanford Indians nor their coach, John Ralston, had any excuses today for their season ending loss to California as they began a two week vacation before beginning preparations for the Rose Bowl.

"We were out-played and out-coached," Ralston said of Stanford's 22-14 humiliation in the 73rd "Big Game." "Our game plan was to pass a lot, which we did, and maybe that was wrong. Don't take away, please, from a fine performance by a fine California team."

8-3 MARK

Stanford finished the regular season with an 8-3 overall record and won the Pacific 8 Conference title with a 6-1 mark. Four teams —Washington, UCLA, Oregon and California,—tied for second at 4-.3

Ralston dismissed his men Sunday after a brief review of the California game, sending them home for two weeks of rest before re-grouping for the Rose Bowl game against Big Ten champ Ohio State.

"I don't like going into the Rose Bowl with three defeats and I wish we could have gone unbeaten in the conference," Ralston s aid. "It would be a little hard for me to hold my head up if it weren't for the fact we can play again."

California beat Stanford every way possible —up front in the head to head skirmishes, in the defensive backfield and at quarterback, where Dave Penhall upstaged Jim Plunkett, the alltime college passing and total offense champ.

INTERCEPTIONS

Penhall hit on 18 of 26 passes for 231 yards and one touchdown and scored another on a one-yard dash. Plunkett connected on 20 of 37 passes for 280 yards and two TDs but threw two interceptions on key plays and fumbled when Stanford had a chance to pull it out with a little more than five minutes left and the Indians behind, 19-14.

"The thing that hurt us the most was our inability to score when we had first down on their nine yard line and that missed field goal," Ralston continued, "and not anything Plunkett did or did not do."

The Indians were ahead 14-13 and had momentum going for the first time in the fourth quarter when Steve Horowitz, who has booted some key field goals for the Indians the last two seasons, missed one of 31 yards.

SHANKED IT

"He simply shanked it," said Ralston. "It was one of those things but it hurt."

On the following series California was on the move but bogged down at the Stanford 23 when Stanford defensive back Mike Ewing was called for interference on a Penhall pass into the end zone. It was a third and seven situation and had it not been for the interference, a call that baffled even the most ardent Cal rooters, the Bears would have been forced to go for a field goal.

The referee placed the ball on the one and three plays later, Penhall went in for 19-14. He missed the try for two extra points.

Then Plunkett raced to the 37 for a first down after Stanford got the ball at the California 48 on an exchange of punts.

But Plunkett fumbled and Ray Youngblood recovered for Cal and the Indians were finished.

PRAISE

Penhall had nothing but praise for Plunkett, whom he called the best quarterback in the nation.

"It would be a shame if he doesn't get the Heisman Trophy," Penhall said of Plunkett, "after what he has done for his team this year. I just think he has done more against better opponents this year than any other quarterback in the running for the trophy."

Pac-8 Honors For Cal Tackle White

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — For sacking quarterback Jim Plunkett twice behind the line and for making seven other tackles, California's Sherman White earned the final defensive player of the week honors in the Pacific-8 Conference.

The 6-foot-5, 245-pound junior defensive tackle from Portsmouth, N.H., led an aroused Golden Bear line that allowed the Rose Bowl-bound Stanford Indians only 97 rushing yards. This enabled Cal to upset Stanford 22-14.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER

A freely-spinning, "active" ball is encouraged when you determine to make a full follow-through. That is, your hand and arm should continue on out toward the pins after the release. At the finish, your right hand should be at least head-high, if not higher.

Giants Can Close In On Cardinals Tonight

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The surprising New York Giants have everything to win or lose and the Philadelphia Eagles have nothing but prestige to gain when the two National Football League teams meet at Franklin Field here tonight.

The game will be televised on ABC-TV beginning at 6 o'clock, PST.

The Giants, with a six and three mark, are in second place in the eastern division of the league's National Conference right behind the St. Louis Cardinals, 7-2-1, who tied the Kansas City Chiefs Sunday.

The Giants, 0-3 in early season play, started the six-game win streak that pushed them up in the standings at New York Oct. 11 when they beat the Eagles 30-23.

The victory came when halfback Ron Johnson burst 34 yards off tackle late in the fourth quarter for the winning touchdown.

The Eagles expect to see a lot of Johnson again tonight.

The running back obtained from the Cleveland Browns in an off-season trade has rushed for a total of 729 yards and caught 38 passes from quarterback Fran Tarkenton. Another outstanding receiver is the Giants' tight-end Bob Tucker, who once had a tryout with the Eagles and was picked up this year from the Pottstown Firebirds in the Atlantic Coast League.

The Eagles, who lost their first six games, have improved somewhat, winning over the Miami Dolphins and tying the Atlanta Falcons last week.

Running backs Lee Bougess and Cyril Pinder have minor injuries but were expected to be in the starting backfield with quarterback Norm Snead.

Snead, who had the dubious distinction of leading the league in interceptions prior to Sunday with 14, will be throwing to tight end Steve Zabel and wide receivers Gary Ballman and Howard Jackson.

Convention Slated

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — For the first time since 1949, the annual convention of the Amateur Athletic Union will be held here Nov. 30-Dec. 5 at the Sheraton Palace Hotel.

NBA ROUNDUP

Big Guns Sound Off On Hot Scoring Night

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Some big guns were sounding off yesterday in National Basketball Association action. There were four games and four standout performers.

Pete Maravich had 32 points, Wilt Chamberlain had 31, Lew Alcindor got 30 and Connie Hawkins had 29.

Maravich, the hot-shot, sloppy-socked rookie with the Atlanta Hawks had help from Lou Hudson and Walt Hazzard as Atlanta swept to a 125-115 victory over the Philadelphia 76ers. Hazzard had 28 points and Hudson 24 as the Hawks roared from a 52-47 deficit at the half to roll up 40 points in the third quarter.

Chamberlain had an ally in Jerry West in the Los Angeles Laker 149-124 rout of the Seattle Supersonics. West chipped in with 26 as all but one of the eight Lakers in action hit for double figures.

Alcindor grabbed 26 rebounds as his Milwaukee Bucks ripped off their 14th straight win, a 126-104 shellacking of the Portland Trail Blazers.

The poor Cleveland Cavaliers got pounded with a 114-99 by Hawkins and the other Phoenix Suns. Hawkins got 10 in the first half as the Cavaliers held on for a 53-52 edge, but then he poured in 19 in the last half.

Chargers' Coach Hot At Officials

OAKLAND (UPI) —Charlie Waller, the San Diego Chargers coach, was as mad as he could be today with National Football League officials and said he didn't care who knows it.

Waller was especially incensed at a call made in Sunday's game with the Oakland Raiders which the Chargers lost, 20-17, in the last seven seconds on a 16-yard field goal by George Blanda.

Waller's beef was with back judge Ralph Vandenberg, who made a call which baffled the San Diego coach and most of the crowd of 54,594 in the Oakland Coliseum.

With San Diego in front 14-7 early in the third period, the Raiders started a drive from their own 24. They got to their own 41 and then Daryle Lamonica threw a long pass down the right sideline for Fred Biletnikoff.

San Diego defensive back Bob Howard stayed with Biletnikoff ever ystep of the way and both went high for the ball as it came down just barely inside the sideline at the five.

One official, not Vandenberg, ruled no play claiming neither had possession when they came down.

Then Vandenberg raced over and ruled Biletnikoff had made the catch and Howard had taken the ball away from him out of bounds.

"How could he say that," Howard screamed and I told him so. I caught the ball on my chest and Biletnikoff never had it. He just rolled over me."

At best Howard said it should have been called no play and if not that, then he should have been given an interception.

The play became a big one because two plays later Charlie Smith cracked over from the one to tie the score at 14-14.

"Howard got a better explanation from him (Vandenberg) than I did," Waller said testily.

"The blankety blank officials are killing us and I don't care who knows it. I know we (coaches) aren't supposed to complain publicly about officials but I'm just tired of all this stuff.

"I wanted to protest but they (officials) told me I couldn't. In the past I've sent films along to the NFL office with my complaints and they haven't had the decency to even answer me."

Asked how have officials acted generally when he has complained, Waller said:

"Heck, I've had officials curse at me and my players. After a while you just get fed up with the whole bunch."

RAIDERS

carries. His last started with 44 seconds to go, so the Raiders used up 37 seconds on the play to be sure they wouldn't have to give the chargers, who fell two games off the Oakland pace in the tight AFC West race, more than one play.

Smith credited the Oakland offensive line for springing him loose so many times.

"Those guys played one heck of a game," said Smith, who ran for a total of 84 yards in 15 carries. "They made it easy, I'll tell you."

The victory improved Oakland's record to 6-2-2 and, with Kansas City playing to a 6-6 tie with St. Louis, the Raiders now lead the Chiefs by a full game.

GARRISON

The Chargers got two touchdowns from Gary Garrison—on 5 and 15-yard catches of passes from John Hadl—and Mercer booted his lone field goal for the other points.

The Raiders have no time to reflect on their latest victory as they go to work today to prepare for their Thanksgiving Day game in Detroit with the Lions.

"We'll look at films of Detroit's game with San Francisco and practice on Monday," said Madden. "It's not a lot of time to get ready for a team as good as Detroit."

It isn't, but the Raiders, it seems, always will have that little extra edge against anyone as long as George Blanda stays healthy.

passes, gave the Lions a 14-0 lead in the second quarter.

San Francisco, 7-2-1, has now trailed at halftime in its last six games but after rallying to tie the first and win the next four, the 49ers saw their Western Division lead chopped to a single game over Los Angeles when interceptions blunted their scoring threats.

Barney picked off one Brodie pass on the goal line in the second quarter and Lebeau's 53rd of his career, giving him fourth place on the all-time list of pass thieves, set up Landry's 23-yard touchdown toss to wide receiver Larry Walton in the third period.

San Francisco marched right back, with Cunningham diving over from a yard out to make it 21-7 but Detroit ground out a score following the kickoff with wide receiver Mark McCullouch taking an 18-yard scoring strike from Landry.

Comeback Victory In Drags

ONTARIO, Calif. (UPI)—Rick Ramsey, who retired from drag racing for nearly two years after a series of accidents, climaxed his comeback Sunday when he won the Top Fuel Eliminator championship of the Hot Wheels-National Hot Rod Association Supernationals at Ontario Motor Speedway.

The 26-year-old speedster from Manhattan Beach, Calif., defeated Gerry Glenn of Panorama City in 6.7 seconds and reached a top speed of 204.08 miles an hour.

Glenn had blown an engine in his semifinal heat and was forced to replace it with a gas dragster engine. Ramsey said he delayed a second or more at the start to see how Glenn would handle the makeshift car. It blew the replacement engine shortly after the start and Ramsey coasted to his victory.

A crowd announced at 41,917 turned out for the first drag races ever conducted at Ontario Speedway where more than 200 cars competed for $203,300 in prize and accessory money.

Other winners:

Funny Car Eliminator—Gene Snow, Fort Worth, Tex., 7.58 seconds and 195.22 mph.

Top Gas Eliminator—Don Cain, Kansas City, 7.39 seconds and 187.89 mph.

Pro Stock Eliminator—Ronnie Sox, Burlington, N.C., in '70 Cuda, 9.85 seconds and 139.96 mph.

Competition Eliminator—Don Enriquez, Dana Point, Calif., 7.33 seconds and 199.11 mph.

Super Stock Eliminator—Ray Allen, South Orange, N.J., in '70 Chevy, 11.32 seconds and 117.95 mph.

Modified Eliminator — Jim Stevens, Leona Valley, Calif., 10.41 seconds.

NFL ROUNDUP

Wind Blows, Vikings Win

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

It was supposed to have been a game decided by field goals, but 30-40 mile-an-hour winds Sunday in Bloomington, Minn., hampered kickers and resulted in a 10-3 Minnesota victory over Green Bay. Dale Livingston, Green Bay's field goal kicker, missed three of four attempts from inside the 35 while the Vikings' Fred Cox missed one of two. One of Livingston's attempts, from the 12 yard line, bounced off the uprights.

"Every time I thought it hit the ball all right, the wind was making it wobble," Livingston said.

NIGHTMARE FOR KICKERS

"It was a nightmare for kickers," Cox said. "I've seen these conditions before, but never quite so bad as this. The same thing happened to Tom Dempsey of New Orleans as happened to Livingston today. The wind is swirling around and you don't have any idea how much to allow for it."

On Cox's successful kick — which made him the ninth highest scorer in NFL history, he said "I just went right for the middle. That's usually the best way."

The Vikings won the game when a completed pass from Gary Cuozzo to Gene Washington on the Green Bay five set up Clinton Jones' touchdown from the one in the third quarter.

OTHER GAMES

In other games Sunday, Kansas City fought to a 6-6 tie with St. Louis; Oakland edged San Diego, 20-17; Detroit routed San Francisco, 28-7; Los Angeles defeated Atlanta, 17-7; Miami upset Baltimore, 34-17; Dallas crushed Washington, 45-21; Cleveland downed Houston, 28-14; Cincinnati topped Pittsburgh, 34-7; the New York Jets beat Boston, 17-3; Denver stopped New Orleans, 31-6, and Chicago whipped Buffalo, 31-13.

Philadelphia hosts the New York Giants tonight.

George Blanda's game-winning field goal enabled the Raiders to pick up a half-game on the Chiefs in their fight for first place in the AFC West. The Raiders now are 6-2-2 and have a full game edge on the Chiefs, who are 5-3-2.

BAKKEN, STENERUD TIE

St. Louis, which leads the National Football Conference's East Division with a 7-2-1 record, needed a 14-yard field goal by Jim Bakken with 1:49 remaining to salvage a tie with the Chiefs. Bakken also kicked a 49-yard field goal while the Chiefs' kicking specialist, Jan Stenerud, countered with field goals of 39 and 15 yards. Stenerud, however, missed on a 55-yarder with 27 second to go which would have pulled the game out.

The Vikings avenged their only loss of the season by beating the Raiders. The victory left the Vikings with a 9-1 record and a three-game lead over Detroit in the NFC's Central Division.

DEFENSE SAVES RAMS

The Rams, upset a week ago by the Jets, got two touchdowns from their defense within a 46-second span of the third quarter and pulled out their game with the Falcons. The first TD came on a 14-yard run with a fumble by Coy Bacon and the second on a 25-yard run with a pass interception by Kermit Alexander.

Miami engineered the day's biggest upset and got back into the AFC East title picture by downing the Colts. Bob Griese sparked the victory by scoring one touchdown himself and passing for two others. Baltimore, now 7-2-1, leads the Dolphins (6-4) by a game and a half.

Dallas, which had not played well in recent weeks, snapped out of its slump by routing the Redskins. Rookie Duane Thomas scored three touchdowns and rookie Mark Washington scored on a 100-yard kickoff return to pace the victory.

BROWNS IN FIRST

Cleveland took over sole possession of first place in the AFC's Central Division by beating Houston. The Browns (5-5) won on the passing of Bill Nelson, who returned to a starting role and connected on 10 of 22 passes for 229 yards and three touchdowns.

Paul Robinson gained 119 yards rushing and Virgil Carter tossed for two touchdowns to pace Cincinnati's victory. George Nocks scored two second half TDs in the Jets' triumph; Pete Liske threw for two touchdowns as the Broncos ended a four-game losing streak and Bobby Douglass passed for four TDs in Chicago's triumph.

Lester, Cooper Fight

OAKLAND (UPI) — California middleweight champion George Cooper of Oakland fights Jimmy Lester of San Francisco in a 10-round non title bout Tuesday night at the Oakland Auditorium.

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, Nov. 23, the 327th day of 1970.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury and Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Sagittarius.

On this day in history:

In 1903 Italian tenor Enrico Caruso made his American debut in "Rigoletto" at the Metropolitan opera in New York City.

In 1945 World War II rationing ended in the United States for all foods except sugar.

In 1954 the Chinese Communists said they had convicted 11 American airmen and two civilians of espionage.

In 1968 French President Charles de Gaulle, after refusing to devalue the franc, ordered an austerity program for the nation.

A thought for today: British writer Samuel Butler said "An empty house is like a stray dog or a body from which life has departed."

St. Isabella's School Is Hit By Burglars

The theft of a portable typewriter, a television set, a projector and an unknown amount of cash from St. Isabella's School in Terra Linda was reported by San Rafael police Saturday.

The principal's office was ransacked, officers reported, and the television set was taken from the teacher's lounge area.

The burglary was reported to police Friday morning by school officials, who discovered the break-in when they arrived at the school.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Forget Double Trump Squeeze, Triple Hipper Dipper Floy Floy

Some of the advanced bridge books tell you how to execute complicated plays with outlandish names, such as the Double Trump Squeeze, or the Triple Hipper Dipper with the Floy Floy. You can afford to ignore all such fancy maneuvers if you use good common sense in such bread-and-butter situations as the correct diamond play in today's hand.

TWO SPADE TRICKS

West opened the six of spades, and South correctly played low from the dummy. He would automatically get two spade tricks if West had led from K-10 or from Q-10 of spades, or even if East blindly played "third hand high."

Many a defender would put up the king of spades from the East hand, after which South would easily get two spade tricks by taking a finesse with dummy's jack. The actual East player was shrewd enough to play the ten of spades.

East returned the king of spades at the second trick, and South properly refused to win the trick. East then led a third spade, knocking out dummy's ace.

NEEDS ONE TRICK

South could easily take five clubs, two hearts and one spade for a total of eight tricks. He therefore needed one diamond trick to make his contract.

South cashed the ace and queen of clubs and then overtook the jack of clubs with the king to run the rest of his long suit. West discarded three hearts on the clubs, saving three diamonds and two spades.

KING OR JACK?

Declarer then led a diamond and wondered whether to play the king or the jack from dummy. This common bridge situation is usually called a "guess," but in this case it was a certainty: West did not have the ace of diamonds.

If West had the ace of diamonds he would take it at once and defeat the contract with the rest of the spades. South had to assume that East had the ace of diamonds, and the only chance for the contract was to try a finesse with dummy's jack of diamonds. This simple, logical play brought home the game and rubber.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with two hearts (forcing to game).

The next player passes, you hold:

♠ K 10 2
♥ Q J 10 3
♦ A 8 5
♣ 10 9 2

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three hearts.

There is no need for any higher bid at this stage. Show the trump support and leave it to partner to make the next move. If he fails to take strong action, you intend to drag him to a slam by the scruff of his neck; but let him have his chance first.

To Lower Rates

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Bank of America, largest commercial bank in the world, and the Bank of California Friday lowered their prime interest rates to 7 per cent—the second drop in as many weeks.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Good Potential For Anti-Noise Issue

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I have $500 which I would like to invest. I am undecided whether to buy a utility like Detroit Edison or a more speculative issue like Tool Research & Engineering. — W. F.

A. Detroit Edison and utility stocks in general are best suited for the conservative investor interested in income. At present prices, this stock yields 7.7 per cent. While earnings have been rather static in recent years, shares have investment merit.

Tool Research & Engineering is, as you stated, a more speculative issue, geared to investors seeking growth and capital gains potential. Because of the firm's heavy involvement in the anti-noise pollution field and the increasing emphasis being placed on this area, shares have moved up sharply from September lows.

Further sparking interest is the $2.2 million contract received from Rohr Corp. for Tool Research's Soundwich paneling — proprietary engine sound deadening materials. Soundwich and Stresskin are the two materials for aircraft produced by TRE.

With these products, company is expected to be a prime beneficiary of the FAA's drive to cut back jet engine noise. Despite recent share strength, TRE is still selling at only 18x fiscal 1971's earnings estimates, and down from a 1969 high at 70x. This situation represents an intelligent but highly speculative buy.

Q. Is the NYSE trust fund in any danger of being exhausted by member bankruptcies? How many firms have actually gone under? — T. F.

A. Of the 580 firms of the New York Stock Exchange, twelve have or are in the process of termination, liquidation or are in receivership. Another seventeen financially shaky firms have been absorbed by stronger companies. And there are an additional sixteen companies whose liquidity is being closely watched by the NYSE.

All told, 196 firms have had financial difficulties of varying seriousness. The $55 million trust fund, set up by member firms to free customer assets when brokerage houses fail, is understood to be fully committed in the failures thus far.

New broker assessments may be required, pending passage of the proposed government-backed investor protection plan.

Securities Breach Laid To 9 Firms

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — The Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) has filed a suit charging nine corporations and 10 of their officers with violating the Securities Exchange Act of 1934.

Those charged in the suit filed in U.S. District Court here included Crofters, Inc., of Columbus, involved in a state loan scandal that penetrated ranks of the Ohio Republican Party. The SEC said Crofters submitted false information to the Ohio Treasurer's office to arrange illegal loans to two out-of-state firms.

The SEC said Crofters filed false information while arranging loans for King Resources, a Denver-based minerals firm.

Prices Close Strong In Medium Day

NE W YORK (UPI)—Prices on the New York Stock Exchange closed strong in moderate trading Monday.

Shortly before the bell the Dow Jones industrial average of 30 selected blue chips stood at 767 up 6.30. Among the 1,651 issues crossing the tape, 894 advanced and 463 declised.

The volume of around 12,500,000 shares compared with 10,920,000 traded Friday.

Closing prices included: Am T&T 44 up 3-4, Beth St 20 3-8 off 1-8, Chrysler 26 1-8 up 1-2, DuPont 121 3-4 up 3, Ford 49 1-4 off 1-8, Gen El 86 3-8 up 1-8; Gen Motors 74 5-8 up 7-8, IBM 299 up 2 1-2.

Observers attributed the market's strength to the cut in the prime interest rate started Friday by the Chase Manhattan Bank. The rest of the industry went along with the quarter point slash.

Analysts agreed that the bombing of North Vietnam by U.S. warplanes and the announcement that the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong would boycott Wednesday's peace talks in Paris "dampened" the rally.

One analyst said he did not believe the advance would "go too far" and he expected the market to settle back into "backing and filling."

Another said the bleak economic picture also was restraining the advances. Some of the buying dried up after the Commerce Department announcement that durable goods orders fell in October for the third consecutive month, he noted. The drop was .39 per cent.

Tenneco, Fannie Mae, Allegheny Power, American Standard and Telex were active issues.

Most major groups were mixed.

Prices were higher in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

Delmas Locates Dimpco, Golf Masters Shops At Northgate

Two new openings at Northgate Industrial Park to take place in January are those of Dimpco Associates, Inc. and Golf Masters, Inc., located at 7 and 11 Mark Drive.

These are adjoining quarters in the same building, leased through William W. Hoey and Co.

Both Dimpco and Golf Masters are divisions of the San Francisco jewelry firm, Delmas and Delmas. The father and son team of Peter L. and Leonard P. Delmas is well known in Marin County. Son Peter, who is president of the company, lives in San Rafael. His father, a diamond setter and jewelry designer for many years, still continues active with the firm.

Dimpco creates unusual and functional jewelry presentations on a national scope and has done work for such organizations as Ford Motor Co., Chrysler Motor Co., the National League, National Basketball association and Trans World Airlines. Clocks, jade items, rings and pins are among the many articles specially designed and produced.

Golf Masters is the pet project of Leonard Delmas, who creates trophies, medallions and commemorative pieces for most of the major golf competitions, tournaments and country clubs.

Assisting in the management of the two divisions will be Henry J. Murray Jr., vice president of sales; Mrs. Dotti Stevens, administrative assistant; and Edward P. Fung, technical specialist.

FRANK P. MC GOWAN of Sleepy Hollow has been appointed senior account executive in the investment counsel division of Eaton and Howard, Inc., investment management firm, and will be at the San Francisco office. He was formerly manager of the San Francisco office of Standard and Poor's Counseling Corp.

THIS WEEK'S San Francisco International Imported Car Show, opening tomorrow and running through Sunday at the Civic Auditorium and Brooks Hall, will serve as the sounding board for many new foreign cars coming to this country next year.

Some of the new ones for 1971 on display will include Switzerland's Monteverdi, Dodge's new Colt made in Japan, Peugeot's 304 sedan, Alfa Romeo's Veloce, Ford's De Tomasso Pantera, Datsun's 240-Z with automatic transmission, Russia's Moskvich 412 and England's Bond Bug.

Show hours are from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. through the week (including Thanksgiving Day) and from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. next Sunday.

SHERMAN LITTLE JR. of Kentfield has been appointed sales manager of the central branch of Hill Refrigeration Corp., Glendale and will be headquartered at the Oakland branch office. Previously he was regional manager for Weber Showcase and Fixture Co.

Little Larkin

KENNETH V. LARKIN of Greenbrae observed his 25th anniversary with Bank of America last week. He has been senior vice president in charge of marketing at San Francisco headquarters since 1967. Previously he was statewide head of consumer installment credit lending for three years.

BELL SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION, San Rafael has promoted James F. McConnell of Novato and William Dennis Hassler of Terra Linda to assistant vice presidents. McConnell has been with the company several years and he and Hassler were previously with the Marin County Appraisers Office for seven and three years respectively. Both hold Class IV appraisers ratings.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Oakland Teacher's Case Exposes Welfare Idiocy

The complete idiocy of California's welfare system has been exposed by the state Department of Social Welfare's ruling that an Oakland school teacher, receiving $11,000 per year salary, is entitled to child-support funds for the two summer months when she gets no payroll check.

The woman filed for the money on the basis that she had failed to save enough from her $11,000 pay to tide her over the vacation period. She is separated from her husband but not divorced, so has no assurance that he will pay toward costs of rearing their two children.

The Alameda County Welfare Department turned down her request, saying it was ridiculous. She is not unemployed during July and August, the county pointed out: she is on vacation. She draws her annual pay in 10 installments instead of 12 as a matter of convenience.

SHE APPEALED. A state hearing officer named Maurice Rosen heard her case and ordered Alameda County to pay her $374 for child support for July and August.

How did Rosen arrive at such a decision? Well, the hearing was closed, as are all welfare hearings. Even the teacher's name was never disclosed, because California law says the name of a welfare recipient is secret. This is supposed to be to avoid embarrassment for the unfortunate. But it serves also to prevent exposure of the chiseler.

A little about Rosen's rationale leaked out, however, because Robert Martin, director of the California Department of Scoial Welfare, ordered an investigation — fearing, with ample reason, that the case might mean the start of a treasury raid by everyone who gets more than two weeks vacation per year.

It seems the woman testified that in past years she had saved enough from her salary to see her through vacation. But this year she used the money to make a down payment on a house, so had nothing left. So Rosen ruled the county must pick up the tab.

HERE, AS BALDLY as it could be, is exposed the basis of welfare aid in California: If a person manages carefully, so that he or she has a little money saved, he can draw no welfare assistance. But if he blows it all as fast as he receives it, he can go on welfare during his vacation — even though he makes $11,000 a year (or more, apparently, for the amount of earnings did not enter into the decision).

Simply put, the system is designed to subsidize the wastrel.

And get this: The applicant may own property, and still draw vacation pay from the state. The unnamed Oakland school teacher had invested her savings in a house.

But if the savings had been kept in the bank, or invested in stocks and bonds, she would not be eligible for the handout.

That is the explanation provided by the state Department of Public Welfare.

IN A COUPLE of months, our legislators are going back into session. They will have a lot of bills to "reform the tax structure," to "save the environment," to increase school support, to buy this and underwrite that.

We suggest that before they so much as look at any of these, they attack the welfare law and clean it up so that it makes sense. This is long overdue.

"The previous administration bears the responsibility for the deficit facing the state of California!"

THE DRUMMONDS

Nixon Will Shuffle His Cabinet To Improve Chances For 1972

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — President Nixon is moving at once toward 1972.

He plans substantial changes at the top of his administration to improve his prospects for re-election.

Important economic policy is primarily at stake.

Significant shifts may well include as much as 10 per cent of his top White House aides. But this is far more than change for its own sake.

THE PRESIDENT very much has in mind that seven of the nine House seats the Republicans lost Nov. 3 came because of a sharp decline in the usual GOP farm vote in the Midwest. And he knows that, unless the economy improves, his second term in the White House is in jeopardy.

This is an overriding concern of the President.

This is why a new secretary of agriculture is likely to replace Clifford Hardin and why a new secretary of the treasury is soon expected to replace David Kennedy.

Unlike Walter Hickel at the Interior Department, neither Hardin or Kennedy is personally out of favor with Mr. Nixon. But the president is understood to feel that he needs a new face and a new force to put some muscle on administration farm policy. And he wants a new and stronger expositor at the treasury for a possibly changing anti-inflation policy.

PRESIDENT NIXON expects Secretary Hickel's resignation to be forthcoming, and in any event he hopes his departure can be worked out without painful controversy.

But it's in the making. Their relations have been strained ever since Hickel criticized the Cambodia action and permitted his personal letter to the President on student protest to become public.

There is no policy issue involved in the prospective change at interior, but it lost large areas of responsibility when the President transferred nearly all its environmental authority to the new Environmental Protection Agency.

There may be surprising changes beyond those already mentioned.

SEC. OF DEFENSE Melvin Laird is a firm fixture. So is Sec. of State William Rogers, unless and until there's an opening on the Supreme Court. That nomination would have no trouble with Senate confirmation. But a southern appointee would come first.

The two most influential White House aides will not be touched. It is a ear-certainty that they are secure for the duration. They are Chief of Staff H. R. (Bob) Haldeman and Dr. Henry Kissinger, foreign policy adviser.

FARM AND anti-inflation policies are closely linked. It was both the fuzziness of administration farm policy and the impact of inflation on the farmer's costs that undercut the Republicans in the congressional election.

This is why the speculation is plausible that Gabriel Hauge, president of the Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co. of New York, will become secretary of the treasury.

Mr. Nixon and Hauge were very compatible during the Eisenhower years when Hauge was assistant to the President for economic affairs. Both wanted General Eisenhower to do more to stimulate the economy in 1960, and failure to do so contributed to Richard Nixon's defeat. They have kept in touch and the President feels that Hauge takes a broad view of the economy and the government's role as balance wheel.

Teachers Made No Sacrifice Promise

Re: I-J editorial, Nov. 17, — Is Promise to Voters So Soon Forgotten?

Please, let's get the story straight.

The board of trustees and the administrators may have made "tighten the belt" promises to the local taxpayers. However, the teachers made no such promises. In fact, the teachers were led to believe if additional monies were received from the state, and monies were received, the teachers could negotiate for improved salaries. Based on this understanding, the teachers have begun negotiations with the board in an attempt to improve a salary schedule that is rated by the CTA to be one of the lowest in the Bay Area.

Terra Linda Fan Detects Prejudice

As one of the ever-growing band of Terra Linda alumni who return each fall to cheer on the Trojans, I too question the article about the game which gave T. L. their fifth MCAL championship. I feel Dennis Rogers ("Readers Say," Nov. 17) has a valid point and asked my mother to call David Einstein after his story appeared. He pointed out to her that only as a Terra Linda fan would she view the article as biased; well, one would hardly expect the losers to complain about coverage that gave no credit to their opponents. . .

If there is doubt that Mr. Einstein wrote with some prejudice one has only to read his article about the San Rafael-Drake game in which the Bulldogs "romped, rampaged, poured it on," etc., and "capitalized on two fumble recoveries and an interception" in the third quarter. Didn't Terra Linda recover fumbles, intercept and capitalize for their victory and didn't Matt Bowman catch up with "speed-burner" Scott Duncan to stop him from going all the way? I'm not putting San Rafael down, they're great and Don Lucas and his team knew it but to the victor belongs the spoils and in his article David Einstein seemed to be denying that fact.

Insurance Firms Pull 'Sneak-Out'

More evidence of the large insurance companies "sneaking out from under" came to light last week with a very loud BANG, when the Firemen's Fund Insurance Co. and United States Fidelity and Guaranty Co. dictated to the County of Marin that the $100 deductible on the Civic Center insurance police is to be increased to $100,000 deductible.

This is not new! For years now, if you live or are in business in a "trouble area" you cannot buy insurance of any kind. The unfair tragedy is also, that if you live within a few miles of this insurance company's so-designated "trouble area" your insurance has either been cancelled, premiums raised or large deductibles attached to policies. Have you looked at your home fire insurance policy lately? Please do. You will find that you have been cheated and short-changed. Because rubber-stamped across the face of policy is: "IMPORTANT — $100 deductible applies to all property losses under this policy."

Let's fight back. The Firemen's Fund American Insurance Companies are made up of the following: Firemen's Fund Ins. Co., American Insurance Co., National Surety Corp., American Automobile Insurance Co., a true corporate giant. The other large company who wants out from under is United States Fidelity Guaranty Co.

Look at your policies . . . Hit this irresponsible octopus where it hurts the most — their corporate pocket book. . .

Our supervisors are in a beautiful position to really lash out at the above companies and all the other companies doing business in our state, by demanding that the insurance commissioner appear at the next meeting and explain to them and to the people, how come they allow companies to "sneak out from under" on insurance contracts that have been bought and paid for, either by a county or by plain Joe Public. Who is the insurance commissioner serving and protecting, the people or the very large and rich and powerful insurance companies?

Haunted House Drew 25,000

On behalf of the Jolly Rogers Chapter of Children's Home Society, I would like to express our gratitude to the many merchants and individuals who so generously supported our recent Haunted House project. This year 25,000 persons ventured through our "house." I would also like to extend our thanks to the San Rafael Fire and Police Departments for their help and cooperation.

The entire proceeds from the Haunted House go to the Children's Home Society, California's largest non-profit adoption agency. Our contribution enables this agency to better help the natural parents, prospective adoptive parents and the children who are in need of their help and advice.

Candidate Backed For City Council

It is extremely gratifying to learn that our current parks and recreation commissioner, George S. Burton, has expressed an interest in the appointment to the San Rafael City Council. Mr. Burton is an outstanding individual who takes extreme pleasure in serving his felow man.

The city and citizens of San Rafael are very fortunate to have such a person come forward. I would urge the mayor and the councilmen to give Mr. Burton's application their highest consideration and also urge all those who know Mr. Burton, and share my convictions, to contact the mayor and councilmen to express their desire to have him appointed.

Veto Of TV Spending Bill Scarcely Frees Discussion

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — The clarion party call bugled through the Republican cloakroom has made an extremely close thing of today's vote to override Richard Nixon's veto of the campaign TV spending bill.

It also has made even more laughable than before the contention that the President's veto six weeks ago was an apolitical act based on serious flaws in the bill, rather than a partisan move to preserve the GOP's advantages in forthcoming campaigns. Not that anybody seriously bought that contention to start with.

If the motion to override carries, it is imperative to the democratic process that the House go along. If it fails, it is even more urgent that work start now to devise some bipartisan solution to the evil this bill was intended to cure.

THAT EVIL, of course, is the often noted fact that politics has become a rich man's game, and the main reason is the exorbitant cost of broadcast time for candidates. Being often noted has done nothing to alter the fact, and spending in the campaign just past has underlined it all over again.

True, some of the best-financed television blitzes failed to produce winners. Millionaire Richard Ottinger lost in New York and millionaire Howard Metzenbaum lost in Ohio. But they lost to opponents who also were able to mount expensive media campaigns back at them.

The most noticeable exception to the generality that in order to win you have to spend a fortune on television was Florida's "Walkin' Lawton" Chiles, who made it into the Senate by traipsing from one end of his long state to the other. But, in fact, his was not an antimedia effort: It was an ingenious way of getting media attention without paying for it. And not all candidates are as young and spry as Chiles or situated in such congenial strolling climates.

WHEN CONGRESS voted to limit the money spent on broadcasting by candidates in federal elections, it was taking the first important step in election-spending reform in 45 years. Yet Mr. Nixon saw fit to veto the measure.

In his veto message, he did not mention that the Republicans were fixed to outspend the Democrats $8 to $1 this fall, and hopefully to continue the trend next time out. Neither did he mention the less-discussed second part of the bill, which would remove the equal-time provisions of federal law to allow televised debates among major candidates without the networks' having to give equal time to obscure screwballs.

What the President said was that a spending limitation would favor well-known incumbents over newcomers eager to buy their way to fame and would put candidates in high-priced urban broadcasting districts at a disadvantage. He also said it would plug only one hole in the "sieve" of campaign spending. Faced with boradcasting limitations, politicians might be forced to spend even more on other forms of publicity, he predicted.

"THE BILL WOULD restrict freedom of discussion," he said. What it would actually restrict would be the selling of a candidate by high-priced techniques which have been peddled with increasing profits by the "media consultants" of the new politics.

Yet even these political image-makers have themselves come out for the bill. Last week they called on Congress to override the veto because the bill was "an important first step" toward assuring candidates equal access to the air waves. They approved that resolution unanimously. And this was no one-party gathering; the group includes Democrats and Republicans, and its president is F. Clifton White, the old Goldwater hand who ran James Buckley's successful outing against Ottinger.

As for the President's avowed concern for "freedom of discussion," he and his dictionary-happy staff should be aware that the word "discussion" implies more than one point of view. Television spots showing a smiling candidate above a repetitive slogan are the most frequent products of campaign television, and they decidedly are not "free discussions."

GOLDEN GATE VIEW

If You Want Cleaner Air, Here's What You'll Have To Do

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Hey there, public, you have been challenged to become "they." As in, "Why don't 'they' do something about air pollution?"

The rude truth is that you never will see it really cleaned up until you are willing to make "major changes in the mode of life."

This challenge was issued by the state Air Resources Board's technical advisory committee in its recomemndations for new standards on the maximum levels of pullutants. The board adopted the standards Thursday, but we keep remembering the committee's caution that "it is the reduction of emissions into the atmosphere which ameliorates air pollution, not the simple act of legislating a strict air quality standard."

THE COMMITTEE cited as an example its estimate that oxidant values in Los Angeles, even by 1985, probably will be two to two and a half times over the standard of .1 of one part per million. And that will be 10 years after the expected imposition of the most stringent auto emission limits seen as possible.

"The public must be apprised of this fact and must be warned that unless drastic changes are made, they will continue to be exposed to levels of oxidant which will have effects on their health," the committee declared.

"The public also must be made aware of the cost of these drastic changes and the technological feasibility of making them," it said. Its warning was aimed especially at the Los Angeles area, but holds for the Bay Area as well.

THE COMMITTEE conceded that the "drastic changes which must occur will have direct and jarring effects," and listed seven actions needed to clean up the air:

"1. Limit the number and use of automobiles, trucks and aircraft permitted in the basin.

"2. Reduce emissions from these sources to levels below those now proposed.

"3. Remove or make essentially emission-free all industries and fossil-fuel power plants in the basin.

"4. Develop a comprehensive nonpolluting urban transport system.

"5. Limit population growth by sharply restricting subdivision and residential expansion in the basin.

"6. Limit commercial and industrial growth to zero-emission facilities.

"7. Restrict emissions from commercial, agricultural, domestic and recreational sources."

"THE IMPACT of these requirements staggers the imagination," the committee quite quite correctly concluded. But it insisted that once a basin's capacity to absorb pollution has been exceeded, "no further activity which adds air contaminants to the basin can be permitted if the objective of air quality standards is to be met and maintained."

The choices posed by these hard-headed experts are clear. Go on as we are, and pay the inevitable price of ravaged health. Or unearth as yet undiscovered evidence that we have at least some of the instinct for survival that is possessed by the average bug.

Rumored Package Deal Could Mean End Of Richardson Bay Mess

A big waterfront development with an international flavor may be jelling in Richardson Bay, where a jumbled mess now exists from Kappas Harbor to Richardson Bay Bridge.

Rumor has it that Paul J. Broman of Peacock Gap, the one who installed the Japanese Trade Center in San Francisco, is about to tie up all tidelots (about 50 acres) from Kappas' Gate 6½ northward to Richardson Bay Bridge, including property of Alexis Tellis, Commodore Properties, Tom E. Nowell Jr., and some of George Kappas's land.

For years, the county has been trying to get all owners together for a unified development with open water, marina green, and other esthetics. If Broman can swing this deal and put all properties together for a single planned development, it would be quite an accomplishment.

One thing that could change the whole picture is Broman's current battle with Strawberry Recreation District over the 102 units of apartments planned on Leonard Fleischman's property along Seminary Drive. If those apartments are blocked, Broman might have second thoughts about the rest of Richardson Bay.

Broman is also reported to be interested in acquiring the Howard Johnson hotel-restaurant development on the west side of Richardson Bay Bridge.

SUPERVISOR PETER Arrigoni will be given the honorary title of "deputy county counsel" on New Year's Day.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney wants to deputize Arrigoni, not to lure him away from his stock and bond business but to get him to play in the annual Gopher Bowl football game between the county counsel's office and the department of public works.

Arrigoni, who was a star halfback a few years back in his high school and college days, would provide badly needed muscle and talent on the county counsel's team.

The county counsel's forward wall has been deteriorating rapidly ever since the formerly hefty center, Tom Hendricks, went on a diet and lost about 50 pounds.

Even with the addition of Arrigoni, the county counsel will need all the help he can get, including office secretaries, to match the public works department, which will field men who are built like the bulldozers they operate the year around.

PUBLIC WORKS will be led by the likes of Mario Balestrieri and a few giants from the road crews.

Oddsmakers were giving public works a six-point edge, but when news spread that Arrigoni had been proselyted by the legal eagles, the odds vanished.

They're trying to recruit the county administrator's office to serve as referee, but Alan Bruce isn't exactly enthusiastic. After all, what county employee wants to call a foul on a county supervisor and penalize him 15 yards or toss him out of the game for arguing with the ref?

Too bad we don't have an annual basketball championship among the county departments. Supervisor Bud Baar, 6 feet 6 in stocking feet, would be much in demand.

Bombast Out Of Fear With Voting Majority

By JOHN HALL

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Looking over the Senate as it has been fashioned by voters in the past two elections, it is difficult to escape the conclusion that what American voters have spoken out against is simply outspokenness.

Despite its reputation as an inflamed, passionate organization of individualists, the Senate is becoming a body of low-profile statesmen. The Morses and Gruenings and Goodells are gone. In their place are the Cooks, the Tafts, the Stevensons—men whose views are no less strong but have found a way to express them without offending voters.

THIS SIMPLE fact may be the lesson of the November elections, more than any of the various interpretations involving the war, the economy, campus militancy or any other issue.

It may be a lesson that applies equally to a high-profile vice president and high-profile doves.

In the elections of 1968 and 1970, the men who used intemperate language—or at least who had been identified in the public mind with stridency—have been retired.

For that matter, it may have started in 1964 with Barry Goldwater's race for the presidency and his advocacy of "extremism in the defense of liberty."

IN 1970 Sens. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., Charles Goodell, R-N.Y., and Joseph Tydings, D-Md.—all of who has stuck their necks out on more than one occasion —were defeated at the same time that men on the opposite end of the political spectrum, backed by the extravagant language of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, were losing.

Two years earlier, Senators Wayne Morse, D-Oregon, Joseph Clark, D-Pa., and Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, were turned out by their constituents after a tense, open struggle with the President over Vietnam.

All had exposed themselves as persistent, unflinching and harsh critics of the war.

And they did so out of the most deeply held views. But others shared these views, perhaps just as strongly, and survived.

The reason may be that they were able to restrain themselves and their retorts.

TO AN EXTENT, Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., the most dovish dove of all and Agnew's prototype of the radical liberal, has survived because he is a master in the use of the language and comes through as a reasonable and dispassionate man. At least his Arkansas constituents regard him as such and they re-elected him in 1968.

Other senators, just as dovish as Morse and Goodell, won reelection easily this year. Agnew's charge that Sen. Quentin Burdick, D-N.D., was a radical liberal simply did not wash. Burdick is probably the quietest, least visible man in the Senate—except when he steps up to vote. He has one of the solidest anti-war records in the Senate—but simply does not make a big production of it.

On the other side of the spectrum, the question is now whether the Nixon administration will realize that the hard sell has turned off the silent majority.

Pottery Sale Is Announced

The Ceramics Department of the College of Marin will hold its annual pottery sale next Monday in the Art Gallery of the Fine Arts Building.

Pottery offered for sale is an accumulation of unclaimed student ware for the past year.

Silent bidding will start at 7 p.m. and close at 9 p.m. Revenue will go to the students' ceramic fund

Community Chorus Will Give Concert

The newly formed Marin Jewish Community Center Chorus will give a concert on Dec. 4 for the patients of the San Rafael Convalescent Hospital at 234 North San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia.

This will be the first performance of the chorus of the 50 Plus Club. It will include favorite old songs and solos by Phillip Sennette and Sara Barrot.

Design For Sears Store On Agenda

The San Rafael Planning Commission will meet at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in city hall to consider the design of the proposed Sears store and other new structures nearby at Northgate Shopping Center.

Architectural approval is sought for six buildings.

The commission also will review plans for a San Rafael Sanitation District administration building to be erected on the site of the district treatment plant off Francisco Boulevard.

New Officers For Irate Taxpayers

Irate Taxpayers of Marin have elected Willis Bohm of Tiburon as the association's president for 1971.

The new slate also included Leonard Turner of Marin City, first vice president; Grant Halsing of San Anselmo, second vice president; Susan Tennler of Greenbrae, reelected treasurer; Sara Nome of San Anselmo, reelected corresponding secretary; Mrs. Louis Emis of San Anselmo, reelected recording secretary, and Frank Sloan of Fairfax, membership secretary.

At the Irate Taxpayers' election meeting, members heard Raymond Kesner of Larkspur condemn public housing as "socialistic and immoral." Kesner, chairman of the Committee Against Socialized Housing (CASH) which fought public housing proposals on the June ballot, called for return of all housing efforts to private industry.

The group canceled its December meeting, since it would fall on Christmas Eve. The meeting Thursday was in the Ross Valley Savings and Loan offices, San Anselmo.

Rohnert Park Council Sets Special Session

The Rohnert Park City Council will meet in special session today at 7 p.m. to study the proposed assessment district for the widening of Snyder Lane.

The council will also consider the proposal of Stern, Brenner and Co. to purchase bonds for the project. Also to be studied is the construction of a shed at the municipal golf course to house electric golf cars.

Parcel Rezoning To Be Considered

The Novato Planning Commission will consider a request to rezone 857 acres north of Novato Creek and west of San Marin High School at 8 p.m. today at the community house.

Applicant Jay Garlick is seeking a change in zoning from limited agricultural to planned community.

Commissioners also will consider a staff recommendation that surplus state property, west of Highway 101 and north of South Novato Boulevard, be rezoned from planned commercial to planned residential.

CONSTRUCTION OF VETERANS MEMORIAL AUDITORIUM NEARS END

The newest addition to the Marin Civic Center, the $3 million auditorium and exhibition hall, shows off its future promise. Workmen have still to put the finishing touches on it and the strips of cloth are to protect the floor from their work shoes. Construction is to be completed within a week, and then work will begin on installation of carpeting, seats, theatrical equipment and other furnishings. The auditorium, which shows clearly its architectural relationship to the other structures in the Civic Center designed by Frank Lloyd Wright, is to open next September. The sloping permanent auditorium area (left) and flat exhibition area (right) are separated by a wall that can be moved to increase the permanent seating of 800, 1,200 or 1,400 by adding telescoping seats on risers. Rear seats will continue the upward slope from the stage. Future plans are to bring the auditorium to its full 2,100-seat capacity. The ultimate cost, with land, landscaping, fees, construction, furnishings and seating for 2,100, will be almost $4 million, according to county officials.

Guinea Claims Invasion; U.N. Sending Investigators

ABIDJAN, Ivory Coast (UPI) —Guinea said 350 Portuguese-led mercenaries staged a seaborne invasion before dawn Sunday, but were repulsed and a number of them were captured.

The government of left-wing President Ahmed Sekou Toure, who has led Guinea since its independence from France in 1958, called on the United Nations to send airborne forces to help repel the invasion. The U.N. Security council, after a debate that lasted into early today, decided instead to send a mission to Guinea to investigate the charges.

The Portuguese government denied charges it was involved in the operation as "not having the slightest base."

A spokesman in Lisbon said "Portugal already has enough problems created on the frontiers by her neighbors in the African territories to have any interest in seeking others."

Guinea, with 3.5 million people in an area of 95,000 square miles on Africa's west coast, is bordered on the north by Portuguese Guinea. There are frequent border incidents between the two nations.

Conakry Radio, monitored at this African capital 600 miles northwest of Conakry Guinea, said "all points of resistance have been overcome and (Guinean) militants in uniform effectively control the whole city and have taken the necessary dispositions in case of a new attack."

The radio broadcasts gave no details of the fighting in the sprawling, humid seaport capital city but said "numbers" of mercenaries were captured.

Toure went on the radio himself early Sunday to announce the invasion. He said in the broadcast: "People of Guinea, since this morning at 3 a.m. you are the victims of an aggression. Your capital, Conakry, is attacked by imperialist forces, foreign warships are anchored in your territorial waters after having permitted European and African mercenaries to land."

Conakry radio later in the day broadcast what it said was the confession of a captured mercenary identified as Keita Mamadou of the "Africana Company." Keita said six ships carrying the invasion force arrived off Conakry during the night and "before the landing we received our instructions from a Portuguese general."

He added that "there were on board the ships 150 marines, 150 commandos and about 50 Guineans training in Portuguese Guinea who were to guide us."

Guinea has an armed force of some 5,000 men.

Reds To Boycott Talks

PARIS (UPI) — North Vietnam and the Viet Cong announced today they will boycott this week's 93rd session of the Vietnam peace talks to protest U.S. air raids on North Vietnam.

The talks this week were scheduled for Wednesday because the usual Thursday meeting day falls on the American Thanksgiving Holiday.

Xuan Thuy, the chief North Vietnamese negotiator, called a news conference to announce the boycott —the second one called in protest by the Communists.

SPEAKING FOR CONG

Thuy, who announced he also was speaking for the Viet Cong, demanded that the next session be held on Dec. 3.

A communique broadcast by the Provisional Revolutionary Government (Viet Cong) Foreign Ministry over a clandestine transmitter threatened reprisals "ten times harsher than the initial offense" for the U. S. air raids.

The broadcast, monitored in Saigon, said the Viet Cong "firmly condemns the extremely grave act of aggression committed by U. S. imperialism and added:

"The U. S. imperialists are hereby given the sternest warning that any of their criminal acts against North Vietnam will be determinedly met with severe retaliatory punishment from the South Vietnamese people which will be ten times harsher than the initial offense."

UNDER PORTRAIT

Thuy, seated beneath a huge portrait of Ho Chi Minh, said, "The Nixon administration must bear full responsibility for the obstacles to the work of the Paris conference on Vietnam and for all other serious consequences arising from its actions."

He repeated Hanoi's charges the raids were carried out by hundreds of aircraft in many waves and that they inflicted heavy casualties on civilians and wounded a number of American war prisoners.

Both Hanoi and the Viet Cong delegations had angrily announced the American bombing raids as "an act of war of extreme gravity" and said they were bound to affect the negotiations.

They boycotted the talks last May 7 to protest similar U.S. air action.

Fulbright: Viet Raids Are Major Escalation Of War

Defense Spokesman Mum On 19th Parallel Query

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William J. Fulbright, D-Ark., charged today that the Nixon Administration had embarked on a "major escalation" of the Vietnam war by weekend air raids in North Vietnam and ordered fresh hearings into U.S. policy in Southeast Asia.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird would be asked to testify.

He announced the reopening of hearings as the Pentagon continued to leave many questions unanswered about the extent of the weekend raids. Laird had said they were ordered as a response to North Vietnamese attacks on unarmed U.S. reconnaissance planes.

A Defense Department spokesman, Jerry W. Friedheim, did leave open the possibility that some of the attacks took place above the 19th parallel. Laird had insisted previously that all targets were below that, although Hanoi has charged some raids took place much farther north —some near Hanoi and Haiphong.

Friedheim said in response to questions that "all protective reaction strikes" —as the raids were characterized earlier — took place south of the 19th parallel.

But he declined comment when asked if any attacks besides protective reaction ones had taken place north of the 19th parallel.

The U.S. command in Saigon has referred all questions about the raids to Washington, where the exact targets, the number of planes lost and the precise rationale have not been made fully public.

Friedheim did say that 250 planes attacked "missile and antiaircraft gunsites and related facilities (along) the approch routes to the Mu Gia and Ban Karai passes into Laos, and the similar approach

OFFICIAL SILENCE

Source Claims Raid Hit Dump

SAIGON (UPI) — An informed American source said today the weekend air raids on North Vietnam destroyed a vast Communist supply dump sitting out in the open waiting for the supplies to be sent south through Cambodia and Laos.

"They clobbered the supply dump just north of Mu Gia Pass," the source said. "It was all up on pallets, ready for movement, and all out in the open."

The North Vietnamese had been building up large quantities just north of the pass, 60 miles above the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) for five months, waiting for the monsoon rains to end and make the Ho Chi Minh Trail available again.

In addition to the monsoon rains, a 47-day sustained air assault by B52 bombers also blocked most of the supplies from being moved through the pass onto the trail. Some of the B52s bombed mountainsides above the pass, causing landslides which blocked the road, military sources said.

The military sources said the bombing missions were "highly successful" and that waves of Air Force and Navy jets devastated supply and transportation facilities and missile and antiaircraft positions in North Vietnam.

The U.S. Command in Saigon maintained its silence about the raids, again refusing to say when the raids began or anything not contained in two statements issued in Washington by Defense Secretary Melvin Laird. He said they were "protective reaction missions" in retaliation for the shooting down of an unarmed American reconnaissance plane.

Some American diplomats and military officials were critical of the handling of the bombing attacks. They said the secrecy imposed in Washington gave North Vietnam a propaganda victory since the Communists presented their side of the case to the world before the Americans did.

They said as result of the Hanoi broadcasts much of the world will remain convinced that the raids did bomb north

Thurber Takes Stand, Denies Involvement

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Frank J. Thurber, a slight quiver in his voice, took the witness stand in Superior Court today and denied any involvement in the shooting death of Independent-Journal employee Allan W. Daly.

Thurber replied, "No, sir," to each of a series of questions from his attorney, Nathan Cohn, denying that he hired two San Bruno youths to firebomb Daly's San Francisco home in June, or to rob or beat up Daly July 4.

Thurber admitted being in the car of one of the youths, 17-year-old Richard A. Wamsley, on the night of the shooting. But, he said, it was only for a ride to his girl friend's home and then to a San Bruno tavern with the girl friend, Beatrice Sanders.

When asked why he had told police after his arrest July 6 that he had not been in the youths' car July 4, Thurber replied, "I didn't even think. I was scared. I didn't want to connect myself."

The statement to police had been introduced by the prosecution and a San Francisco police inspector had testified that Thurber and said he arrived at his San Bruno home between 5:30 and 6 p.m. the night of the fatal shooting.

Last Tuesday, Wamsley testified that he and Larry G. Rutherford, 17, who has confessed the fatal shooting of Daly, went to the Thurber home about 4 p.m. July 4 and made plans for that night's attack on Daly.

Today, Thurber testified that he arrived home at 6:45 or 6:50 p.m. by a Greyhound bus after leaving work at the San Fran-

Ex-Soldier Puts Calley At My Lai

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)— For the first time since the trial began, a witness testified today he saw 1st Lt. William L. Calley Jr. in the village of My Lai the day Calley is accused of killing, or ordering his men to kill, 102 South Vietnamese civilians.

The statement came from Gary M. Garfolo, 24, of Stockton, Calif., who also testified to seeing bodies strewn along a trail in the village March 16, 1968, the day Calley led the alleged massacre.

A previous witness said he "possibly" had seen Calley in the village, but when the question was put to Garfolo, he replied:

"At one time I saw him."

The former soldier was not asked what Calley was doing when he saw him.

Garfolo was the first witness in the second week of the trial. The initial week was taken up with jury selection, and court will be held only through Wednesday of this week because of the Thanksgiving holiday.

Garfolo was the 15th witness for the prosecution, and the 13th to testify that he saw bodies along a trail in My Lai.

Garfolo said he inspected the 12 to 15 bodies on the trail for three or four minutes to "see if

House Committee Shelves Nixon Antipollution Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Ways and Means Committee today shelved President Nixon's requested antipollution tax on lead and gasoline. The action killed the proposal for this year.

Committee members decided informally to defer action until the next Congress after agreeing that they needed more information on the proposal.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., the committee chairman, told newsmen, "we just didn't know enough about it."

"We didn't know the whys and the wherefores, particularly the whys," Mills said, presumably referring to why it was proposed.

The action was a major blow to Nixon's plans for additional revenue to help lessen a budget deficit that some observers believe may reach $15 billion this fiscal year.

As originally proposed, a tax of $4.25 per pound placed on lead additives would have produced $1.6 billion in this fiscal year. This would have figured out to 2 or 3 cents a gallon for leaded gasoline.

Nixon wanted the tax to take effect last Aug. 1. For each month of delay, the Treasury estimated it would lose $100 million.

The lead tax was included in a $5 billion revenue package proposed by Nixon. The committee planned to continue consideration of the other features of the package.

Those provisions include a one year continuation of the 10 per cent telephone and 7 per cent automobile excise taxes, both of which are scheduled to drop automatically to 5 per cent Jan. 1. The package also includes acceleration in the collection of gift and estate taxes.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Envoy Arrives

MOSCOW (UPI)—Communist China's new ambassador to the Soviet Union arrived Sunday to take the post that has been vacant for four years, the Soviet news agency Tass announced today.

Ambassador Liu Hsin Chuan, a former deputy foreign minister, arrived here 12 days after the Soviet ambassador to China, Vasili Tolstikov, took up his duties in Peking.

The two nations withdrew their ambassadors in 1966, at the height of China's cultural revolution when Peking openly challenged the Kremlin's leadership in the Communist world.

For four years the two nations stationed low ranking diplomatic personnel at their embassies in Peking and Moscow.

Flood In Manila

MANILA (UPI) — Monsoon rains Sunday and early today caused flash floods and disrupted relief and rehabilitation work in typhoon-stricken Manila.

Low-lying areas, including portions of the Manila International Airport, were under water as heavy rains drenched the city and its suburbs for nearly 12 hours. Foreign visitors and returning residents were forced to wade through the flooded aiport customs area at the height of the rains.

According to relief centers, the toll left behind by typhoon Patsy as it slashed across Manila and six nearby provinces last Saturday stood so far at 146 dead, 318 missing including 135 fishermen lost at sea and 1,1554 injured. In Manila alone, the Red Cross counted 31,382 refugees whose houses were either completely or partially destroyed.

Dental Aid

DETROIT (UPI) —A Rochester, N. Y., dental researcher predicts a clear plastic sealant he has developed will purove an important weapon in the battle to wipe out the most prevalent disease in the world today, tooth decay.

Dr. Michael Buonocore, a researcher at the Eastman Dental Center in Rochester, said one application of his sealant to the biting surfaces of the teeth of 60 children he experimented with proved nearly 100 per cent effective in warding off cavities for at least two years.

In a report to the Detroit District Dental Society Sunday, Buonocore described the sealant as an ordinary plastic similar to one dentists have used routinely for years. At present he said, it can be applied only to bicuspids and molars, which comprise about half of an adult's set of teeth.

President Dies

SINGAPORE (UPI) —President Yusof Bin Ishak of Singapore died today after a long illness. He was 60.

State-run Radio Singapore announced his death five and a half hours after Yusof succumbed of heart failure in the hospital to which he was admitted Saturday.

Flags at city hall and President House were lowered to half staff even before the official announcement was made and Radio Singapore switched to solemn music.

Dr. Yoh Ghim Seng will be acting president pending the election of a new president by parliament.

Yusof was elected head of state by the legislative assemzly in 1959 when Singapore became a self-governing state with foreign affairs and defense retained by Britain.

Congress Opens

BUDAPEST (UPI) —The Hungarian Communist party congress opened today with most Soviet bloc leaders on hand to endorse this nation's trail-blazing moves toward a more liberal and flexible Communism.

East Germany's Walter Ulbricht, the only bloc leader to publicly attack Hungray's economic and cultural liberalization in the past, stayed home in an apparent demonstration of distaste for the policies of Hungary's Communist party first secretary, Janos Kadar. Kadar's three-hour "state of the party" address kicked off the six-day songress, which is to set Hungarian policy for the next four years.

Strike Ends

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (UPI) —A 12-week strike, reportedly the longest ever by teachers in this country, is over. Teachers concede they won so little that merely going back to work looked like a major achievement.

"At least we're hired back, and I think that's a victory in itself," said Donald Miller, president of Local 1220 of the American Federation of Teachers (AFT). "The contract is certainly no great improvement over the one we had last year."

Teachers who resigned during the strike were reinstated on a two-year probationary basis. They lost their seniority and tenure and an average of $1,700 in wages. The starting pay for teachers is $7,800 per year.

Lunokhod Rests

MOSCOW (UPI)—Lunokhod I "hibernated" today against the coming lunar night, a two-week period too dark and too cold to permit activity by the robot moonwalker.

The Soviets said their space-controllers zig-zagged the eight-wheeled vehicle into a parking spot Sunday with maneuvers that "resembled fancy car driving." They battened the hatch on its solar battery and suspended communications.

The lunar night descends Tuesday upon the Sea of Rains, stomping ground of Lunokhod since Tuesday. It is expected to last until Dec. 8, the Soviets said.

May Visit

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI is considering a visit to disaster-stricken Pakistan during his Far Eastern and Pacific tour beginning Thursday.

The Pope announced during his regular Sunday noontime blessing from his study window that "We are studying whether it will be technically possible to make a brief stop there during our trip to Manila."

Vatican sources said the Pope wanted to visit the region to focus world attention on the pressing need for an all-out relief effort following a cyclone and tidal wave disaster that may have taken a million lives.

Cambodians Try Retaking Two Positions

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—About 3,000 Cambodian troops launched a counterattack today to retake two government positions in Highway 4 seized by Communist forces over the weekend.

The pass through the Kirirom mountains at Pich Nil and a Czechoslovak-built munitions factory, both about 60 miles southwest of Phnom Penh, were overrun by Communists Saturday. A spokesman in Phnom Penh, Col. Am Rong, said the three battalions of Cambodian troops withdrew, destroying their equipment and machinery in the munitions factory before leaving.

Brig. Gen. Sosthene Fernandez, commander of the operation to retake the two positions, said reports the Communists had captured one battalion of Cambodian troops at Pich Nil were exaggerated but conceded many of them had gone into the hills during the Communist attack and many had not yet returned.

In Saigon it was reported that U.S. troop strength fell by 3,800 men last week as the Phase Five troops withdrawal continued, according to figures released today by the U.S. Command.

Israel Says Egyptian Planes Over Sinai

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Israel said today eight Egyptian planes flew over Israeli military emplacements in the occupied Sinai Sunday in two "grave" violations of the Suez Canal cease-fire line.

It protested to the United Nations that the reconnaissance flights violated terms of the truce. Egypt had complained earlier that U.S. U2 spy planes were carrying out Israeli surveillance of Egypt.

A military spokesman in Jerusalem said four Egyptian Sukhoi 7 jets had flown over Israeli military emplacements Sunday and that four more Sukhois flew over Israeli positions between Qantara and Suez.

These were the first complaints Israeli has lodged since the cease-fire was renewed at midnight Nov. 5. During the first 90-day truce Israel lodged more than a score of complaints of Egyptian violations including moving up SAM missiles closer to the canal.

"In so doing, the Egyptians infringed the cease-fire and Israel has lodged a complaint against this grave violation with the supervisory body of the United Nations."

King Hussein of Jordan said today he plans to call for an Arab summit meeting to discuss the question of a Palestinian state. In an interview with the Beirut newspaper An Nahar, he stressed he did not consider the issue one for Palestinians alone and said all Arab nations must be involved.

Israeli sources in Jerusalem said Defense Minister Moshe Dayan and Foreign Minister Abba Eban are in sharp disagreement over the conditions for returning to Middle East peace talks.

Driver Is Injured As Car Misses Turn

An 18-year-old Novato man was injured yesterday at 11:30 p.m. when his car missed a curve on Nave Drive near Bel Marin Keys Boulevard in Novato and struck a steel pole.

Robert W. Cox, of 1315 Leafwood Drive, was examined at Novato General Hospital but not treated for minor scrapes and bruises. The California Highway Patrol attributed the accident to the smooth, worn tires on Cox's car and the fact that the pavement was wet.

New GM-UAW Contract; Ford, Chrysler In Talks

DETROIT (UPI)—The record three-year contract which ended the United Auto Workers strike against General Motors after 67 days went into effect today. Union officials began negotiating with Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp., seeking similar pacts.

G.M. agreed to a contract which will cost it at least $2.4 billion in wages alone Ford and Chrysler were expected to agree to at least as much —if not a few dollars more.

G.M. employes who walked off their jobs at midnight Sept. 14 began reporting to work again today with the first cars expected to begin rolling off the assembly lines either Wednesday or the Monday following the Thanksgiving holiday.

Company officials, hoping to achieve full-scale production by mid-December, found encouragement Sunday in the tentative settlement of a local dispute at a Chevrolet fabricating plant in suburban Warren which makes front end assemblies for all full size G.M. cars. A ratification vote by the local membership was scheduled today.

G.M. officials had said they could not resume building cars anywhere until the Warren facility and a stamping plant in Mansfield, Ohio, which ratified its local agreement Sunday, were back in operation.

The G.M. strike, according to the Federal Reserve Board, combined with an overall business slump to cause a 2.3 per cent drop in national industrial production during October —its sharpest monthly decline in more than 11 years.

The economic impact of the walkout also was felt in several communities, mostly in Michigan, where G.M. is the largest employer.

The UAW was not expected to strike either Ford or Chrysler, although it has given Ford until Dec. 7 to agree on a new contract.

The main reason further walkouts were not expected was that the union's strike fund, at a level of $120 million when the G.M. walkout began, is all but depleted and the UAW owes G.M. a considerable amount for picking up medical and life insurance benefit tabs for its striking employes during October.

Man, 28, Booked In Obscenity

A 28-year-old Larkspur man was booked Friday into Marin County Jail on a warrant charging child molesting, indecent exposure and selling obscene matter, the Marin County sheriff's department has reported.

Sheriff's deputies said Kenneth Bartlett Young of 501 Cane Street was released on his own recognizance to appear April 7 in Marin Municipal Court.

Young was arrested by Larkspur police, who said today they had no report of the arrest available.

Protest Develops On Flogging Order

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —An organization of probation officers today asked for an investigation of the judicial qualifications of Orange County Superior Court Judge William L. Murray, who ordered a prisoner flogged.

Murray recently ordered the cat-o-nine-tails flogging of an inmate who was convicted of assaulting another prisoner and creating a jail disturbance. Sheriff James A. Musick refused to carry out the order and Murray later sentenced the inmate to an additional 90 days in jail.

Relief For Pakistan Showing Improvement

DACCA, East Pakistan (UPI) —Relief operations showed improvement today but fell far short of the level necessary to relieve the suffering of millions of survivors in East Pakistan's cyclone disaster zone.

The United States doubled its original commitment of four large helicopters and said four more were en route along with 50 patrol boats and 147 soldiers to help dispense blankets, rice, sugar, powdered milk and baby food.

After a slow start, Pakistan army, navy and air force units joined foreign assistance on a larger scale Sunday.

The Pakistan army, which has 40,000 troops stationed in East Pakistan, had been under heavy criticism for not acting faster to aid the stricken area.

American officials based in Dacca estimated two million to three million people lived in the path of the cyclone and tidal wave that roared in from the Bay of Bengal Nov. 12, and nearly all the survivors need food, clothing and shelter.

It is estimated as many as 500,000 may have died.

Local newsmen returning from stricken regions said survivors were calling out to visitors "Give us food. Give us water, fuel, medicine and clothes."

There were still coastal areas and islands in the mouth of the Ganges River that had not been reached by relief teams.

Weapons Charge Is Dismissed

A weapons charge against Robert John Fleeks, 41, of San Rafael, has been dismissed in Marin Municipal Court when the district attorney decided not to proceed with the case.

Fleeks, who is serving a 90-day jail sentence for a stolen property conviction, was also accused of being an ex-felon in possession of a concealed weapon.

The Most Exciting Headache News In Years!

Doctors' Tests In Treating Nervous Tension Headaches Now Made Public

Non-Narcotic Tablet (that needs no prescription) Proves Just As Effective As The Expensive, Leading Pain-Relief Prescription Of Doctors.

If you're one of the many who get tense, nervous headaches, these latest tests by doctors should be of the greatest importance.

In recent medical tests doctors proved a famous tablet that needs no prescription gives the same complete headache relief as the expensive, leading prescription of doctors.

These doctors' tests proved, beyond a doubt, that Anacin is just as effective to relieve tension headaches, yet Anacin needs no prescription and is far more economical.

With Anacin, headache pain and its nervous tension vanish in minutes. Despite its strength, Anacin is not narcotic. You can take it without getting dizzy or an upset stomach.

Next time take powerful, fast-acting Anacin®. Anacin Tablets give the same complete headache pain relief as the leading prescription product for which doctors wrote 21 million prescriptions last year.

Novato Teachers Continue Sanctions

The Novato Teachers Association will continue its sanctions alert against Novato Unified School District, despite teacher ratification of a proposed agreement on a 6.5 per cent pay hike.

John H. Enders, president of the Novato Teachers Association, said the sanctions alert is continuing "Because a crisis continues to exist in this district.

"Even though the agreement has been ratified, this doesn't signify that the teachers are satisfied with the salary settlement," he said.

Teachers voting last week approved the proposed 1970-71 salary agreement, reached by a representative of the board and the teachers' negotiating committee. The proposal has yet to be ratified by the district board.

The teachers representative council has maintained that it would require an 8.3 pay raise to maintain district salaries in a median salary position, Ender explained.

Novato is spending $721 per pupil, while the Tamalpais High School District is spending $1,259 and the San Rafael Elementary District is spending $853. "This situation is deplorable," he said.

Enders said that 90 per cent of the district's 534 teaching staff voted last week, and 62 per cent favored ratification.

He declined to give the vote count, saying the executive committee of the association voted not to release the figures until they had been presented to the representative council.

Policeman Says Man Didn't Hit

I-J Special Report

FAIRFIELD — A San Rafael police officer testified today that it was not Terry Warner Lansing who struck him as he was rushing to the aid of another policeman outside the Independent-Journal Feb. 14.

Officer Donald Rose, testifying under cross-examination in the trial of seven men arrested durng the Valentine's Day riot at the newspaper plant, said his assailant was wearing a light colored coat, similar to the one Lansing was wearing, but that the attacker was not Lansing.

Lansing, 20, of Berkeley, is one of the seven men on trial on a total of 36 charges growing out of the riot. Six of the seven, including Lansing, are charged with assault on a police officer.

Earlier in the trial, two of Rose's fellow San Rafael officers, testified they saw Lansing strike Rose on the head with a picket sign handle, breaking it, then hurl the weapon into Rose's face.

Rose testified today he does not recall being struck in this manner, nor does he remember being hit by Lansing.

The riot trial began its sixth week today in Solano County Superior Court.

route north and west of the demilitarized zone."

Administration officials said privately that the North Vietnamese had undertaken what appeared to be a major effort to reinforce and resupply their troops in Cambodia and South Vietnam, in preparation for undisclosed operations in 1971.

The officials acknowledged that the weekend air raids were prompted in large part by a desire to inflict enough damage to make it clear to Hanoi that the United States will not tolerate any major building of Communist forces in the Laos-South Vietnam battle area.

There also was speculation that the raids were aimed partly at destroying Red supplies being stored for shipment to the combat zone. To this, Friedheim said only that the weekend attacks "might very well hamper" such Communist operations.

The Communists charged that the attacks had gravely damaged prospects of progress at the Paris peace talks and announced they would boycott this week's scheduled meeting.

Fulbright's committee held a two-hour meeting to discuss the situation before he announced plans to try to get Rogers and Laird to appear.

Fulbright said the raids represented "a very major escalation of the war that, it seems to me, will entail greatly intensified conflict both North and South."

of the 19th parallel and that they hit an American prisioner of war camp. Saigon newspapers followed much the same line.

A spokesman for U.S. military commander Gen. Creighton W. Abrams said that unarmed U.S. photo-taking planes had been fired on six times since last May 2 on missions north of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) border.

Two of the aircraft were shot down, including an RF4C Phantom reconnaissance plane on Nov. 13. The two crewmen were missing and presumed dead.

While U.S. Command spokesmen in Saigon declined to discuss the strikes except to read statements issued by Laird in Washington, South Vietnamese leaders called the raids "a natural consequence" to protect U.S. airmen.

Sources said the land and carrier-based planes concentrated on supply arteries leading into the Ho Chi Minh Trail in eastern Laos. American B52 bombers have been concentrating on supply movements along the Trail in Laos for seven weeks but thousands of tons of supplies were still on the North Vietnamese side of the border when the raids were ordered.

CALLEY

any were breathing." None was, he said.

The next witness, Lt. Hugh C. Thompson Jr., 27, told the court that when he asked for help in getting wounded women and children out of a bunker at My Lai, he was told by a soldier: "The only was to get them out is with a hand grenade."

Thompson said he told the individual, who was not identified, to "hold the troops right there and I would get them out of the bunker."

Thompson said he got about 10 women, old men, and a baby out of the bunker and a gunship helicopter came and removed them to a hospital.

Calley, 27, sat with his left cheek resting on his fist for much of the Thompson testimony. He is charged with the premeditated murder of 102 civilians in the Vietnamese village—either by his own hand or by directing members of the platoon he commanded.

Thompson said that riding in a reconnaissance helicopter with him the morning of the shootings were Spec. Lawrence M. Colburn and a Specialist Androtta. Those two spotted the ditch, he said, which in a section 25 feet long and 8 feet wide he saw "50 to 100 people — just a lot of bodies in there, women, kids, babies, old men, some dead, some alive."

The American soldiers were to the east of the ditch, and when he landed, he motioned to one of them to come to the side of the ditch. That was when a soldier told him, "The only way you could help them out, was out of their misery."

Later in the morning, he said, he went back to the ditch, which was east of the town, because "we'd seen some in the ditch still alive."

Colburn and Androtta, he said, "went and got a kid out of the ditch, about the size of a six-year-old, muddy, with blood all over him."

They took the child to the Quang Ngai hospital, where it was found he had "just a scratch" of a wound.

Asked to describe the wounds of some of the others in the ditch, Thompson said: "there was one baby there that had part of its head missing, sir."

THURBER

cisco Newspaper Printing Co.

Thurber also denied today attempting to recruit an unemployed carpenter and a roofer, now in Soledad State Prison, to rough up Daly or anyone else.

The carpenter, James Thomas Turner Jr., now of South Carolina, and the Soledad prisoner, Wayne Cavelli, both testified last week that Thurber had offered them money to beat up Daly.

Wamsley and Rutherford have been sentenced to long-terms with the California Youth Authority for their roles in the death of Daly.

Wamsley testified last week that Thurber promised him and Rutherford $300 to rough up Daly and that it was Thurber who took the boys to and from Daly's home and provided them with the murder weapon.

OBITUARIES

Gordon McLean Dies At 66

Gordon McLean of Tiburon died yesterday at a local hospital after a long illness. He was 66.

McLean moved to Marin City in 1950 and also lived in Tamalpais Valley before settling at 55 Mercury Avenue in 1955.

He was born in Scotland, but moved to Vancouver, B.C., as a boy and to San Francisco in 1929.

McLean retired in 1968 after 20 years as senior storekeeper of the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco. Prior to 1948 he was office manager for Mead-Johnson Co. in San Francisco for 15 years.

McLean was forced to drop out of school in the eighth grade to help support his family when his father went to fight in World War I, but he took his high school diploma in night school. In 1927, he took courses on the use of office machines at a Seattle, Wash., business college.

He was a member of the California State Employment Association.

Surviving are his wife, Mamie Oborn McLean of the family home; two sons, Douglas McLean of Milpitas and Gordon McLean of San Diego and two grandsons.

Funeral will be Wednesday at 2 p.m. at the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints, Greenbrae Ward. Burial will follow at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

ALICE MEYERS

I-J Special Report

GENEVA, Switzerland — Funeral was today in Geneva for Alice Wilson Meyers, former Belvedere school teacher and wife of former Belveder Mayor Ralph Meyers.

Mrs. Meyers died unexpectedly Wednesday while visiting in Geneva. She was 54

Born in Boston, she moved to Santa Cruz as a child and attended San Jose State College from 1933 to 1937. While there she was president of Black Mask, an honorary society.

She and her husband, an employee of General Electric Co., moved to Belvedere in 1947 and lived at 14 Cove Road. Meyers served two terms as mayor, 1955-56 and 1958-59. Mrs. Meyers taught kindergarten at Reed School during this time.

The couple moved to Geneva in 1959 when Meyers became European representative for commercial jet engines for General Electric, and then moved to Portofino, Italy, in 1969.

While in Geneva, Mrs. Meyers served as president of the American Women's Club.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Meyers is survived by three daughters: Jeanne Embry, of Corte Madera, Kathy Robinson, of Waterbury, Conn., and Terry Dillingham, of Chico; two brothers, Alfred Wilson, of San Jose, and George Wilson, of Santa Cruz; and one granddaughter.

The family asks that contributions be sent to the Alice Meyers Memorial Fund, care of the American Church, Geneva.

A. S. LICATOVICH

Alex S. Licatovich of Novato, who died Friday at a San Francisco hospital after a short illness, was 47.

His age had been erroneously reported to the Independent-Journal by the mortuary as 53.

BYRON T. HANSON

A requiem Mass for Byron T. Hanson, 55, a brother of Roy Hanson of Fairfax, was held today in Pacificia.

He died Wednesday in Daly City. He had operated a service station in Linda Mar.

Burial was in Holy Cross Cemetery in Pacificia.

CLARENCE McLAIN

Memorial service for Clarence M. McLain, 36, husband of Lamar Powell McLain of San Anselmo, will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo.

McLain's body was found in the wreckage of a helicopter in Indonesia late last week. A pilot for Utility Helicopter Co. of Jakarta, Indonesia, his craft had been missing since June 6.

His wife, who was raised in San Anselmo and graduated from Drake High School, had been living in Singapore until June 6 when she returned to her parents' home at 1329 San Anselmo Avenue.

McLain was born in San Francisco, but had lived on the San Francisco Peninsula and in Louisiana before moving to the Far East.

Also surviving him are two sons, Robert and James Michael McLain, a daughter, Patricia McLain, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy McLain of Wrightwood, San Bernardino County, a brother, F. Roger McLain of Pleasanton, and a sister, Cheryl Stone of Wrightwood.

The family requested that memorial gifts be made to St. Luke's Hospital Memorial Fund, San Francisco.

JACK VON STADEN

Funeral for Jack von Staden, 42, of Woodacre, will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Burial will be private.

Von Staden died Saturday in his home on Scott Street after an illness.

A native of San Francisco, he lived in Marin for the past 41 years, many of them in San Anselmo. He moved to Woodacre 13 years ago.

He was a graduate of Tamalpais High School.

Von Staden, for the past month, owned and operated a Texaco service station in Woodacre. Before that, he was a dispatcher for McPhail's in San Rafael.

He was a member of the board of directors of the San Geronimo Tennis and Swim club.

He is survived by his wife, Marjorie; two children. Kurt, 7, and Katrina, 10; his mother, Henrietta von Staden of San Anselmo, and a sister, Lois von Staden of Florida.

CARYL HUNTER

Private funeral for Caryl R. Hunter of Mill Valley was held today in Mill Valley. Mrs. Hunter, 63, died Saturday in a local hospital following a long illness.

A native of Scotland, Conn., she had lived in California 41 years and in Marin County 11 years, residing at 99 Montford Avenue. She was a member of the League of Women Voters.

Her husband, John L. Hunter, a former engineer, served as city engineer for Sausalito for four years and retired in 1963.

Mrs. Hunter is also survived by a daughter, Anita Tomasi of Santa Rosa; a brother, Richard Russell of New Jersey; four sisters, Frances Greenwood of Florida; Ann Weingartner of New Jersey; Ellen Brooks of San Francisco and Edith Arsenault of Connecticut and two grandchildren.

LONA CONTOS

Lona Contos of Point Reyes Station died yesterday at a local hospital after suffering what appeared to be a stroke Saturday, according to Deputy Coroner Richard W. Madigan.

Mrs. Contos, 73, of Shoreline Highway was born near Watsonville, but lived most of her life in San Francisco.

She was a parishioner of St. Boniface Church in San Francisco.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Gantner-Felder-Kenny Chapel, 1965 Market Street, San Francisco. Requiem Mass will be offered at 9 a.m. Wednesday at St. Boniface, 133 Golden Gate Avenue. Burial will be at Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

LEWIS NESTY

Lewis Nesty of 5 Plymouth Avenue, Mill Valley, was pronounced dead at Marin General Hospital yesterday after he was found slumped in a chair at his home.

Nesty, who was 75, was watching television when he became ill at about 7:30 p.m. the Marin County coroner's office said today.

Following closed chest massage by the Mill Valley Fire Department, Nesty was rushed to the hospital where he was pronounced dead. His body was removed to Russell and Gooch Mortuary for autopsy.

No other information was available.

DR. SLAYBACK

Dr. Alan M. (Jerry) Slayback, 30, of 360 Ebbtide Avenue., Apt. 122, Sausalito, was found dead yesterday at 6:30 p.m. in his kitchen by his apartment manager, according to the Marin County Coroner's Office.

Deputy coroner Richard W. Madigan said cause of death was unknown pending autopsy.

Slayback, recently discharged from the army, had been a surgical resident at Saint Mary's Hospital in San Francisco since June.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill Valley.

J. WARREN EWING

Word has been received in San Rafael of the death of J. Warren Ewing, longtime San Rafael High School English teacher.

Ewing died Aug. 24 in Salem, Ore., after a long illness. He retired from San Rafael High School in 1965, and moved to a ranch at Livermore, Colo. He returned to San Rafael the next year, however, and late in 1966 moved to Salem, Ore., where he had resided since. He was 65 years old.

A native of Dalton, Neb., Ewing received his bachelor's degree from University of Nebraska and did post-graduate study at University of Colorado, University of Washington, University of Oregon, San Francisco State College, University of Hawaii, and University of California at Berkeley.

He began teaching in Anselmo, Neb., and taught also in Hampton, Neb.; Windsor, Colo.; Wenatchee, Wash., and Hillsboro, McMinnville, Roseburg and Florence, Ore., before coming to San Rafael in 1954.

All his teaching was at the high school level. Early in his career, he taught physics, chemistry, biology, and aerodynamics. During World War II, he even taught a course in home economics, and while at Windsor, Colo., coached basketball. From 1950 until the end of his career, however, he was a teacher of English.

A Miserable Journey To The New World

CHICAGO (UPI)—They had picked the worst time of the year to cross the ocean.

Most of the 66 days aboard the tiny ship had been sheer misery. Now they were ready to go ashore.

It was 350 years ago, on Nov. 21, 1620, that the Mayflower arrived at what is now Provincetown, Mass. The landing subsequently has been heralded through history. But at that moment, in all probability, what the passengers and crew wanted most was a chance to get off that wretched boat.

There were far too many passengers aboard for any degree of comfort. According to Encyclopaedia Britannica, the ship was 90 feet long with a 64-foot keel, 26-foot beam and 11-foot hold.

Into this floating closet, with a crew of 20 to 25, were crammed several score passengers. Mostly they were humble English folk —laborers, tradesmen and craftsmen with wives and children.

They called themselves Pilgrims. A minority within a minority, their lives had been torn apart by religious conflicts during the 16th and 17th centuries. A large body of English men and women, the Puritans, wanted their church "pure" of anything associated with Catholic worship, but were willing to work within the organization. Not the Pilgrims. They broke further away to exile in Holland.

When war threatened the country they got permission, somehow, to settle in Virginia after a group of London businessmen financed them. All the Pilgrims had to do in return was work like slaves for seven years.

The Mayflower sailed with another ship, the Speedwell. But, about 300 miles beyond Lands End, England, the Speedwell leaked so badly the two ships put into Plymouth. The Mayflower sailed again, on September 16. The Speedwell stayed in England, with many of her passengers being taken aboard the Mayflower. By now the Pilgrim party numbered 50 men, 20 women and 32 children.

Each was miserable much of the time. They were never warm and almost never dry. Many suffered seasickness as the ship rolled and tossed day after day. When they would try to leave their fetid quarters crewmen would tell them to get below deck. There was one functioning stove on the ship. Its smoke added to the foul atmosphere. So all the food was cold. There was no plumbing. Everyone slept in wet clothes under wet blankets.

Surprisingly there were only two deaths on board —one a young Pilgrim, the other a crewman. But the Mayflower's population was only one less when the ship at last reached land —Elizabeth Hopkins had given birth to a son named Oceanus.

Nearing land, the Pilgrims discovered a new problem: A storm had tossed the Mayflower off course. The ship was many miles north of her destination. The settlers were perplexed about going to a place outside the limits of the Virginia government.

So a covenant, the Mayflower Compact, was drawn up and signed by every eligible person on board. They promised obedience to the laws they themselves would pass. It was an agreement to submit to the majority. It was the first time anyone in the new world had ever done this.

The Pilgrims went ashore and the Mayflower returned to England. Little is known about what happened to the ship after that.

Of the Pilgrims, nearly half died in the new land before summer came.

Acting Award To Gregory Peck

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The Screen Actors Guild Sunday presented its annual award to Gregory Peck "for outstanding achievement in fostering the ideals of the acting profession."

Charlton Heston, who was installed for a sixth one-year term as president of SAG, made the presentation to Peck, star of more than 40 films, at the group's annual membership meeting.

In his annual report to the SAG, Heston said that in contract negotiations next spring the guild would call for penalties against producers who employ nonprofessional actors when professionals are available.

Trio Arrested In Burglary Attempt

Three Richmond men were arrested by Corte Madera police at 8:18 p.m. Friday on suspicion of burglary.

Elishes Cavness, 24 , Robert Benjamin Hassell, 33, and Joe Douglas Lowe, 37, were held in Marin County Jail in lieu of $3,125 bail each, to appear this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

Police went to the Edgewater Motel at 1815 Redwood Highway when notified that a burglary was in progress. They found the door to the store room pried open, but nothing taken.

The three men were behind the motel and had a pair of pliers similar to the one used to pry the door, police reported.

Policy On Student Rights On Agenda

Revisions in policy on student rights and responsibilities will be weighed tomorrow night by the San Rafael Board of Education.

The controversial policy has been in the hands of a subcommittee of the San Rafael Schools Policy Review Committee, which has mulled suggestions by students and parents.

The board, meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the schools administration building at Third and E streets, also will hear a progress report on 1970-71 curriculum development and a complaint from a Terra Linda newspaper publisher that the new district newspaper, "San Rafael School Report," is a waste of taxpayers' money.

Plans For Center To Be Studied

Adoption of the regional shopping center portion of the city's proposed downtown plan will be before the Novato City Council at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the community house.

Planning consultants Sedway and Cooke have recommended a regional shopping center on both sides of Highway 101, north of Olive Avenue, known as the Pinheiro Ranch site.

The council also is scheduled to hear a report from City Atty. Clark M. Palmer on legal problems involved if the Diablo triangle property were to be rezoned from commercial to multiple family as recommended by the planning consultants.

Owners of the property bounded by Center Road, South Novato Boulevard and Diablo Avenue, are protesting any change in land use in the triangle.

California was a province of Mexico from 1823 to 1848.

New York Stock Exchange Vice President Resigns

NEW YORK (UPI)—R. John Cunningham has resigned as vice president of the New York Stock Exchange effective March 1, saying it was "an appropriate time" to leave.

Cunningham, in a letter the NYSE made public Sunday, submitted his resignation Nov. 16, the day before exchange President Robert W. Haack threw the securities industry into a turmoil in a speech that recommended a revamping of the exchange's board of governors and a change in the commission rate system.

Haack, contacted at his Potomac, Md., home said Cunningham's resignation had nothing to do with his speech. Cunningham, in his letter, said he felt many of his programs had been completed and that it was time to leave the exchange's No. 2 staff member post.

Cunningham, 44, had been executive vice president of the exchange since Jan. 1, 1971. Previously, he had been senior vice president of the Midwest Stock Exchange and a management consultant with the firm of Arthur Young and Co.

First Viet Shot Fired Late In '46

SAIGON (UPI)—The opening shots of the Indochina war were fired 24 years ago, Nov. 23, 1946.

They left 23 French soldiers and 6,000 Vietnamese civilians dead in the port city of Haiphong. While there were recriminations on both sides, the gunfire kicked off an inevitable war.

The Viet Minh-Kuomintang coalition government headed by the late Ho Chi Minh had controlled Vietnam for more than a year after the end of World War II. A trip by Ho and members of his government to France in September, 1946, had culminated with a signed modus vivendi, and the leader of the Indochinese Communists had reason to believe armed resistance to the French would not be necessary.

A month before the "Haiphong incident," Ho returned from France.

"I hope that from now on, cooperation between the (French and Vietnamese) peoples will be closer," Ho said in a statement. "Acts of reprisal are forbidden . . . violent actions are absolutely forbidden."

Ho's Viet Minh army was not disbanded, of course. His military leader, Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, built and further trained a force organized to fight the Japanese in the Indochinese jungles.

The first shots were actually fired by the French, at a Nationalist Chinese boat trying to smuggle goods into Haiphong.

The Vietnamese protested, and on Nov. 23, attacked French soldiers shopping in the city's market, killing 23.

In response, the French ordered Viet Minh forces in Haiphong to leave the city in two hours.

Thousands of Haiphong residents were panicked by the French ultimatum, fearing street fighting, and swarmed out of the city. The Viet Minh refused to obey the order and stayed in town.

At the city's airport at Cat Bi, the French commander thought the fleeing civilians were Viet Minh troops, or so he said later. Other accounts of the slaughter said the French decided "to teach the Vietnamese a lesson."

In any case, ships in the harbor and gunners at the airfield opened up on the civilians. They killed 6,000.

All out war didn't begin for another 26 days, when the French launched a massive assault on Hanoi, and drove the Viet Minh out of the capital for eight years, until Ho returned, triumphantly, from the jungles.

But the "Haiphong incident" marked the opening shots.

Indian Arrested Who Charged Toll

SANTA ROSA (UPI) — Richard Oakes, 28, a leader of the Indian invasion of Alcatraz a year ago, was arrested during the weekend for attempting to charge a $1 toll to motorists driving through the Pomo Indian Reservation near hear.

Oakes was arrested early Saturday for investigation of armed robbery. He was later released on his own recognizance when he agreed to stop collecting the toll.

Oakes, allegedly carrying a rifle, was reported to have put a roadblock on the Skagg's Springs road with a sign reading: "Stop. Pay toll ahead $1.00. This is Indian land."

Joint Meeting On Park At Fairfax

Proposed plans for Fairfax Park will be presented to a joint meeting of the Fairfax City Council and Fairfax Park and Recreation Commission at 8 o'clock tonight at the Fairfax Women's Club.

Alan Ribera of the landscape architectural firm of Ribera and Sue will present the park plans.

The council tonight is also scheduled to appoint a screening committee to review applications for the post of city administrator.

MERRILY THEY ROLL ALONG . . . MOST OF THE TIME

Two pairs of cyclists provide a study in contrast. Aaron Hall (left photo) and his buddy, Chris DuFur, both active 8-year-old Mill Valley residents, rode freely this week from their home town towards Waldo Point on a recently-completed bicycle path. Jamey Schofield, 5, (right photo) gazes wistfully over a fence that prevents him and Lynne Polack, 17, from peddling from College Avenue to Bon Air Bridge along Corte Madera Creek in Kentfield. The county constructed the path from Mill Valley to Waldo Point this summer and has reached agreement with the Northwestern Pacific Railroad to extend the path into Sausalito. Now it appears the county may intervene on behalf of riders obstructed by the fence built by Allan Larkins Jr. at the rear of 19 and 21 Stadium Way. The county Parks and Recreation Commission has asked the supervisors to order that the creek bank be open to fishing, walking and cycling now prevented for 200 feet along the creek by Larkins' fencing.

Gunmen Kill Five Persons Who Gave No Resistance

NEW YORK (UPI)—Gunmen staging separate holdups at two barrooms in Manhattan during the night shot five persons to death and critically wounded two more although none of the victims had offered any resistance, police reported today.

The woman owner and all five patrons at the Nadja Bar and Grill on the Lower East Side were shot by two robbers who had emptied the till. Four of them, including the owner, died.

Three hours earlier a single gunman held up Harold's Bar and Grill further uptown on the Avenue of the Americas, killing the lone patron. He was captured by two patrolmen who spotted a stranger pilfering the cash register as they passed the bar.

Police said there was no apparent reason for the shootings at either bar.

The Nadja, located in a rundown neighborhood was frequented by Polish-Americans. All the victims were of Polish-American descent, police said.

The robbers, both armed with revolvers, entered the bar at about 3 a.m. and demanded money, police said. They rifled the cash register and as they turned to leave suddenly opened fire.

The owner and two of the patrons were killed outright and another died on the operating table at Bellevue Hospital. Another man and woman were reported in critical condition at the hospital.

"We presume they got some money, but how much we don't know," Detective Roy Ardizzone said of the holdup men. "The owner's dead and what was in the cash register is anybody's guess."

Killed in the holdup at Harold's bar shortly before midnight was Leo O'Brien, 61, who lived at the nearby Keystone Hotel. Bartender Gilbert Janin told police the robber said a few inaudible words to O'Brien before firing. He said the gunman then locked him in the men's room.

The gunman, identified as Jesse Martin, 20, was charged with homicide and possession of a dangerous weapon.

Bridge Directors Plan To Unveil Transit Proposal

Golden Gate Bridge District consultants will unveil a $690,000 long-range transit plan for the district at 10 am.. tomorrow in toll plaza offices.

Kaiser Engineers of Oakland and other consultants have been working on the plan since last January. The plan was ordered by the 1969 Legislature, and is due to be presented to the 1971 Legislature in April after a series of public hearings on it throughout the district.

The Legislature's request for the plan included a demand that it also provide a recommendation for dissolving the district — a clear threat by the Legislature in the case the long-range plan does not get its approval.

The finance-auditing committee will meet first at 9:30 a.m.

Drugs Suspect Being Held

A 24-year-old Santa Rosa man was arrested yesterday on suspicion of possessing dangerous drugs and paraphernalia and being under the influence of drugs, Corte Madera police said today.

Officers said Michael T. Martin was arrested outside the Uplands Apartments at 532 Robin Drive after he was observed using a hypodermic kit at 10:30 p.m. in the apartment's driveway.

Officers said they found suspected dangerous drugs in one of Martins' pockets as well as a hypodermic kit.

Sausalito Meeting

Designation of an administrative assistant to the superintendent and employment of teaching aides will be considered by the Sausalito School District board today at 7:30 p.m. in Bayside School. The board will also hear a report on a proposed hot lunch program for the district.

East Petaluma Blacked Out

A large section of East Petaluma was blacked out for an hour yesterday when power lines came loose in two locations.

Electrical service was disrupted at 3:30 p.m. when power lines were reported down near the Bank of America building on East Washington Street and in front of 1609 Joan Drive.

Clifford Bartlett Jr., district manager for Pacific Gas and Electric Co., said no cause has been found for the power failure.

Stolen '59 Pickup Is Recovered

His 1959 model pickup was taken between noon and 5:30 p.m. Friday while it was parked on Heatherton Street between Fifth Avenue and Mission Avenue in San Rafael, Ray Lafferty Thompson of 235 Palmer Street, Petaluma, reported to San Rafael police.

It was recovered at 6:20 p.m. in Sausalito, police reported.

WOMAN MINISTER ORDAINED — Elizabeth A. Platz, 30, of Pittsburgh, Pa., yesterday was ordained as a Lutheran minister in the University of Maryland Chapel in nearby College Park, Md., where she has been a lay chaplain for students since 1965. It was the first such ordination of a woman into the Lutheran ministry in North America. (UPI Telephoto)

Pope Paul Hands Down Election Ban

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI ruled today that cardinals no longer will be allowed to participate in the election of a new Pope once they pass the age of 80.

The pontiff, in a Motu Proprio (by his own will) decree dated Nov. 21 and made public today, said the ruling will be effective Jan. 1, 1971.

He also asked all cardinals to offer their retirement from posts in the church government when they turn 75.

Cardinals alone elect the Pope. When a pontiff dies, they must gather in secret conclave within 21 days to choose any Roman Catholic Priest, but for centuries they have picked a man from their own number.

In his ruling, Pope Paul said any cardinal turning 80 after the start of a conclave for the election of a new Pope retains his voting rights in the conclave.

It was the first time in Roman Catholic history that an age limit has been set for participation in a papal election or for heading one of the 12 departments of the Roman Curia, the central government of the church.

By the time the decree becomes effective in January, 25 of the 127 cardinals will be over the age of 80 and will thus lose their voting rights in conclaves.

Equipment Taken

Office equipment valued at $1,548 was taken between 5 p.m. Friday and 11 a.m. Saturday from the law office of Natalie Holly at 834 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, police reported .

Lutherans Ordain First Woman Minister

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI) —Her students have called her Beth during her five years as lay Lutheran chaplain at the University of Maryland, but from now on it will be "Pastor Platz."

The Rev. Elizabeth A. Platz, 30, was ordained in the University Chapel Sunday as the first woman minister of the Lutheran Church of America.

Miss Platz said she never thought of becoming a minister until the church convention this summer opened the Lutheran ministry to women. Then, she said, she realized that it was what she had been wanting all along.

"In the last three years I have felt a sense of frustration because so much of the activity in worship was restricted from me as a woman," she said. "Some essentials of the church were cut off."

Miss Platz holds a divinity degree from Gettysburg, Pa., Lutheran Seminary and a B.A. from Chatham College in her native Pittsburgh.

She was ordained in a 90-minute ceremony combining traditional and modern elements by the Rev. Dr. Paul M. Orso, president of the Maryland Synod of the church.

She contributed to the ceremony by making the bright green vestment adorned with orange flowers and a pink butterfly cutout worn by the Rev. Gilbert E. Doan Jr., regional director of the Lutheran campus administration who celebrated Holy Communion at the service.

Attached to the vestment was a button reading "right on."

Miss Platz plans to stay at the University where she says "I have the best job in the world."

2 Petaluma Youths Held In Car Theft

Two Petaluma youths were arrested in Rohnert Park Saturday morning on suspicion of stealing a car Friday night in Petaluma.

Robert G. Hammond, 15, of 89 Thompson Lane, was booked into Sonoma County Juvenile Hall, and Steven Arthur Shields, 19, of 101 McNear Avenue, was booked into county jail for arraignment today in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

Rohnert Park police said the youths were found asleep in the vehicle at 5:35 a.m. parked on East Cotati Avenue at Beverly Drive. The car, a 1969 black Mustang, had been reported stolen from Western Motors, 1221 Petaluma Boulevard North.

Petaluma police said a 1964 yellow Oldsmobile had also been stolen Friday night from Western Motors and was recovered Saturday behind the Willowbrook Inn, Petaluma Boulevard North. No arrest has been made in the second theft.

Clark Sees Grass, LSD Crime Link

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Attorney General Ramsey Clark said Sunday he sees an underworld link between marijuana and drugs like LSD and heroin.

He told interviewers on the CBS-TV show "Face The Nation" that marijuana by itself has not been proven harmful, but he underscored its connection with other drugs in the crime world.

"In my judgment, the case against marijuana has failed," Clark said.

Clark, who served President Lyndon B. Johnson as attorney general, said that when he held the office he asked a Justice Department advisory council on drugs repeatedly "to demonstrate to me the damage that" marijuana can do.

"They were unable to," Clark said. "It's like looking for a white crow. I don't know whether there are white crows or not. All I know is that society hasn't found one yet."

If marijuana were made legal, Clark said, great care would have to be taken.

"We know that 90 per cent of the arrests for LSD in the late 1960s — that in 90 per cent of those arrests, marijuana was present," Clark said. "So you just can't, you know, just ... make it lawful all at once and hope to relieve the problem."

Clark said under questioning he believed there was a relationship between marijuana and the use of heroin.

"That's why I say if you move to legalize marijuana, that is to make at least possession and use a nonpenal offense, you're going to have to be very careful," Clark said. "You're going to have to take it out of the hands of crime merchants who are dealing in it; because if you don't then they're going to sell other wares too."

Nuclear Reactor May Be Answer

NEW YORK (UPI)—Working wives constitute the biggest increase in the working force in the United States each year, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported Monday.

In the latest statistical period —March, 1968, to March, 1969, —there were 775,000 wives among the 1.8 million workers added to the labor force.

The biggest age group of working wives is 20 to 24.

More than 300,000 of the 775,000 additional married women who entered the labor force in the 1968-69 period were in that age group, according to Herbert Bienstock, regional director of the BLS.

Key Changes For Colleges Envisaged

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A major overhaul of America's system of higher education by 1980—including a three-year bachelor's degree program—was recommended today by the Carnegie Commission in Higher Education.

A special report containing several far-reaching recommendations, the first report to result from a study launched early in 1967 by the Carnegie Foundation, was released here by Commission Chairman Clark Kerr, former president of the University of California.

The report calls for reduction of the time required to earn all degrees including the medical school M.D. degree; installation of two new postgraduate degrees; establishment of community college across the nation; federal support to students for all postsecondary education; and life-long educational opportunities for older adults.

"To promote life-long learning and extension of educational opportunity," Kerr said, "the commission recommends that all persons, after high school graduation, have two years of postsecondary education placed 'in the bank' for them to be withdrawn at any time in their lives when it best suits them."

The commission's members include college presidents, corporate board chairmen, top professors and educational administrators. Its report, titled "Less Time, More Options: Education Beyond the High School," will be published in book form in December.

It calls for revision of the traditional degree structure, including reduction of the time required for the b.a. from four years to three for capable students. The report also recommends reducing by one or two years the time required to earn the PH.D. and the M.D.

It recommends general availability of the two-year M.A. degree and installation of a new degree, the M.Phil., as a level between the M.A. and PH.D., thus providing more points for reassessment of goals.

Another new degree, the Doctor of Arts, is recommended on the same level as the Ph.D. but with more emphasis on teaching than research.

"We now select and train a student to do research," Kerr explained, "then employ him to teach . . . and then promote him on the basis of his research. This both confuses him and subverts the teaching process."

One goal listed for the year 2000 is establishment of "open universities" bringing the classroom into the home with rental video cassettes.

Entertainment Permits On Tap

An amendment to Mill Valley's zoning ordinance that would require a use permit for all entertainment establishments will be considered tonight when the Mill Valley Planning Commission meets at 8 o'clock at city hall.

A use permit presently is required only for dancehalls, bars and restaurants with live entertainment if they are to be located within 200 feet of a residential zone.

Also on the agenda will be consideration of standards for a proposed ordinance that would restrict outdoor lighting in residential zones.

Girl, 3, Slightly Hurt In Accident

A 3-year-old San Rafael girl was slightly injured Friday while a passenger in her father's car which collided at 3:20 p.m. with another car on Second Street east of Brooks Street, San Rafael, police reported today.

Roxanne Dubreuil, according to police, was cut over her right eye when she hit the dashboard of the car driven by her father Roger John Dubreuil, 26, of 355 Canal Street, Apt. 9. It collided with another eastbound car driven by Raymond Lawrence Congress, 53, of 11 Oakridge Road, San Rafael, police reported. Neither driver was injured.

Drug Addict List Given By Pentagon

By DARRELL GARWOOD

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Pentagon admitted today it has been giving the Justice Department the names of civilians disqualified for military service because of drug addiction.

It said the practice has been going on for six years but was done "with the understanding that the information is not to be used for prosecution or investigation of any particular individual."

The indication such a practice might exist was first raised last week during a congressional hearing when witnesses from the Army surgeon general's office said they turned addicts' names over to the Defense Department but did not know what happened to the names after that.

Sen. Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, chairman of a Senate subcommittee on Alcoholism and Drug Abuse, said the practice might involve improper use of "confidential medical information." Defense officials were unavailable for comment at the time.

But answering a written inquiry from UPI today, the Defense Department said the practice was started in 1964 at the request of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous drugs.

"This statistical information, which includes the names and addresses of persons using drugs, has been provided with the understanding that the information is not to be used for prosecution or investigation of any patricular individual," the department said.

It added: "The objective has been to persist in collecting statistical information as to areas of the United States where specific drugs are being used. This statistical data has been provided on a monthly basis."

Boutique Idea Replaces Parisian Designers' Famous Couture Houses

The designer houses in Paris have atmospheres that range from "most elegant, pleasant, but in good taste, to commercial and American-like," reports Mary Sullivan Roy, instructor in retail fashions at the College of Marin who returned last week from a trip to New York, London and Paris.

Mrs. Roy, on sabbatical leave this year, returned to lecture to her College of Marin students on her walking tour of the couture and boutique areas of Paris.

The designer houses are no longer couture houses and have made almost a complete change over to boutiques, Mrs. Roy says. (Couture means selecting from a design modeled and ordering it made for you.) Couture is only a fraction of the designer business today, said Mrs. Roy.

"In the mid-60s as the Paris designers saw the profits made by the Americans in the line-for-line copies, they realized the Americans were making more money from their designs than they were.

MARY SULLIVAN ROY

"YOU'LL FEEL at ease going into all the houses, with the possible exception of Chanel," remarked Mrs. Roy. There she was met at the entrance by a stuffy doorman who demanded to know what she wished to see. Nevertheless, she encouraged Paris-bound students to visit Chanel, if only for a short tour of the boutique.

"You will not be able to get into the couture," she explained.

She found that the three major boutique areas are concentrated in a small section of Paris, beginning with Coco Chanel's on the Rue Saint Honore and continuing to Avenue Montague to the Sienne, Francois, Avenue George and Avenue Victor Hugo.

"If you have only three hours in Paris, spend them there," she advised.

There are no individual fitting rooms for clothes as in America. Clothes are tried and fitted in one large room. The competition for the fashions that are available is positively fierce. There are so few fashions available now and they seem apologetic, always promising, "we'll have more dresses on Friday," she told the fashion students.

Mrs. Roy, dressed in a midi length Courreges brown wool suit with vinyl trim, described the manner in which she whisked the suit away quickly, after waiting patiently for another woman to decide whether or not she wanted it.

"They try the fashions, dash out into the show rooms to wait until more are available without bothering to re-dress, and are completely at ease," Mrs. Roy said.

FASHIONS ARE displayed on racks, unhemmed. Each is hemmed especially for the one who buys it. Mrs. Roy's Courreges suit reached the top of her brown vinyl boots.

"It's at least two inches shorter than they are worn in Paris," she explained. She was told by the seamstress who made the hem, "but you will be laughed at in Paris if you wear it this short."

Mrs. Roy took along only longer dresses, skirts and pants on her European trip. "Everywhere, on the streets, and in the stores in Paris, the smart women are in midi, so much that you feel frumpy and definitely out of date in short skirts," she said.

Her tour of the designer houses:

Louis Feraud: "Not too interesting because we see his designs here at Saks in San Francisco. Very few shoppers were present. He is certainly better liked in America than in France.

Cardin (for men): "Mod, expensive, the most commercial and American-like in my opinion. The Frenchmen do not shop here; the American do."

Cardin (for women): "We couldn't get into this house when we visited Paris five years ago, but things have changed. There were many Americans shopping here. A lady from London who stated she had bought Cardin fashions the previous year complained that her invitation to a couture showing requested a $20 admission charge. 'It's too bad,' she said, 'I won't be buying Cardin.' "

Dior: "The first of the houses to switch to boutique. Though not crowded with shoppers, Dior is the largest with more fashions to select from. They have a college shop for men as well," said Mrs. Roy.

LaRouche: An old house, very French-like and a favorite with French women.

St. Laurent: "For lowest prices and young, kooky fashions, this is the house. Not as well made, but you can buy a suit for $80. St. Laurent has shops in New York, Beverly Hills as well, and the prices are the same as in Paris.

Jean Patou: "Made for the tall, slender, tailored and beautiful look. Buy a suit here if you want to wear it for five or 10 years and enjoy it."

Givenchy: "The same as Givenchy in San Francisco. How-

Books For Children Is The Aim Of 'Belvedere Bookie'

By PAT BALMES

"When I was a child we didn't own books like some children do now," remembers children's author Phyllis Sarasy. "I was indebted to Andrew Carnegie and the public library system for my books."

To capture the interest of today's children, Mrs. Lewis Sarasy works to make the small branch library that serves Belvedere and Tiburon "a place where things happen." Happenings like community meetings, musical performances, author's talks and services like a collection of musical recordings, tapes and scores and art rentals are envisioned.

Newcomer Phyllis helped organize Friends of Belvedere-Tiburon Library this year. Energetic and enthusiastic, its first president laughs when she's called "the Belvedere bookie."

PHYLLIS IS recruiting Friends to work toward a fine collection of reference, fiction, non-fiction, children's and periodical literature. They plan to improve floor space, shelving, furniture and files and encourage donation of land for a new library.

On Dec. 10 at 10 a.m. at the branch library its Friends will hold their first general meeting and a panel discussion by three Bay Area authors about the merits and qualifications of children's books. Children's paperbacks will be on sale.

Phyllis wants more Marin authors to speak, displays of art and timely information by community organizations, volunteers to assist the librarian, publication of a list of needed books and periodicals that the library would welcome as gifts.

Knowing her keen interest in books and children, Lewis Sarasy sent his wife a photograph of the tiny library addition to the post office on Beach Road in Belvedere, even before she moved from New York City last year. He has real estate businesses in both New York City and San Francisco.

"We lived in New York City for 16 years," relates midi-skirted Phyllis. "I enjoyed raising small children in the city. I was out with them all the time. But we got tired of city-living and saw this house when we were vacationing here. Now the boys are six and eight and this is the place to be."

BEHIND THEIR Belvedere Lagoon home small sail boats are docked. A beagle, a rabbit and a cat play companionably on the patio waiting for the school boys to return home.

Much of Phyllis's first year here has been devoted to remodeling and redecorating the house on the water's edge with her daring flair for style and color developed at New York School of Interior Design.

"Making the transition of furnishings from ... ew York to California was difficult because I was working with a different kind of light and a different style of living. Furnishing a house in California is a whole different ball of wax," says the petite reupholstering and sewing enthusiast.

She plans to make a needlepoint rug for her entrance hall. Her imaginative living room, furnished with antiques, is accented by a zebra-skin rug and her collection of antique knife rests and crystal bottle stoppers.

Phyllis's other interests are tennis, skiing, sailing and scuba diving. She is a member of Marin Regional Council of San Francisco Symphony Foundation, a member of Delta Gamma, recording secretary (as of January) for Friends of California Libraries and president of Belvedere School's Parent-Teacher Club.

Phyllis taught 8 to 12-year-olds at St. Luke's School during the first six years they lived in New York City.

"If one of my students hadn't spoken up, I never would have written a children's science book. It was a fluke! " she says.

AN EDITOR from Prentice-Hall, Inc., visited her school in 1961 to learn what science books children needed.

"Our class was studying hibernation, but we had no books because those which did exist had difficult vocabulary. 'Where do you get your information, students?' the editor asked. A child spoke up, 'Mrs. Sarasy writes it on her charts!' So the editor asked me to write a book on hibernation," relates Phyllis.

But Phyllis's schedule was already tight — teaching full time, attending New York School of Design at night, renovating their brownstone and planning to study in Spain that summer. Nevertheless, the energetic young woman submitted the first two chapters and an outline of "Winter Sleepers" to the editor and signed the contract before leaving for two months study at Universidad Internacional Menendez y Pelayo in Santander, Spain.

"It all got done, and I had my first baby that July," says the author, a little surprised at her own efficiency.

THIS KIND of energy came in handy when Phyllis served

AUTHOR PHYLLIS SARASY reads the children's science book she wrote in 1961, "Winter Sleepers," to her sons Brian, left, 8 and Graham (Bo), 6. The former teacher saved her story of hibernation to read to them when they were old enough to understand its vocabulary. A newcomer to Marin, Mrs. Lewis Sarasy of Belvedere Lagoon has been elected president of both Belvedere School Parent-Teacher Club and Friends of Belvedere-Tiburon Library and is recording secretary of Friends of California Libraries. Carla Mallien Becomes The Bride Of Gary Kerch

St. Anselm's Catholic Church in San Anselmo was the setting Sunday for the marriage of Carla Mallien of Fairfax and Gary Kerch of Nicasio.

A reception at Rancho Nicasio restaurant in Nicasio followed the ceremony.

Carla is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willy F. Mallien of Anaheim, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn M. Kerch of Nicasio.

Junita Correia of Scarborough, Canada, was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Cristl Messerschmidt of Oroville, Desiree De Liser De Morsain of Orange and Barbara Papke of Fairfax.

Best man for his brother was Tom Kerch of Nicasio. Guests were ushered to their seats by Don Humphrey of Santa Clara, Rocky Stitch of Corte Madera and Russ Damos of San Anselmo.

Following a wedding trip to Canada the couple will live in Fairfax.

Carla was graduated from Santa Ana Valley High School and College of Marin. She is employed by Tele-Vue Systems, Inc., in San Rafael. Ferdinand John Mallien of Virginia is her brother.

A graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, Gary attended College of Marin and is employed by Cristal Pool Service in San Rafael.

PLANT PARENTHOOD

Honoring the San Francisco Symphony's "branch-out" into Marin County a number of little redwood trees have been presented to cities such as San Rafael, Mill Valley, Ross, Tiburon and Sausalito by the Marin Regional Council of the San Francisco Symphony Association. The San Rafael official planting ceremony was held Friday in the new Freitas Park. From left Mrs. David Dooley of Mill Valley is preparing the ground while Andrew J. Snyder of the San Rafael Park and Recreation Department watches. Mrs. Kleve Johnson of San Rafael lifts the redwood. It was also a "support plant parenthood" endeavor in line with current efforts to improve the environment.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Do Women Really Get A Fair Shake On The Women's Pages?

DEAR HELEN:

It seems to me that of all places in the paper, women should be given equal rights on the women's pages. Could they be edited by men?

I mean — look at the fashion news; a total cop-out to the hideous midi, when you still see very few of them on the streets; often the whole section aimed at the little "weevil in an oatmeal box" housewife whose world is recipes, clubs, and kids.

Even you, Helen, devoted four-fifths of your column to letters slamming Women's Lib, and printed ONLY ONE letter in favor (though I must admit you did use an excellent pro rebuttal later).

If modern, thinking, whole women can't even get a fair shake on the women's pages, what hope is there for them? — TIRED OF NOTHING BUT WEDDING ANNOUNCEMENTS

DEAR TONBWA:

Women's page editors print what they believe the majority wants to read — but I think you judge them too harshly. More and more newspapers are expanding the women's section to include thoughtful features on controversial subjects, profiles of successful career or volunteer women, etc.

As for Helen Help Us!; it's a reflection of its readers. Last month my mail ran about six to one against Women's Liberation, and I print 'em as you call 'em! This month the odds have dropped: one out of three lib letters favor the movement, which proves the power of women on the move. (Or perhaps those anti notes stirred more of you into expressing yourselves.)

Let it be known right now that I publish many letters with which I don't agree. Here's one:

DEAR HELEN:

Much of the time I'm grateful for your good advice, but you disappointed me when you said that "two children are plenty these days."

The subject of overpopulation has been drilled into the public so systematically in the past 20 years that I wonder what is behind it all. Are subversive interests perhaps subtly trying to depopulate us, so we would be weak, morally, politically, economically, militarily? It seems so, especially when we witness the steady movement toward liberalization of long-standing abortion laws.

Our country is great because of its people. Our present growth rate is only 1.1 percent per year. Our Creator's advice is "increase and multiply." What would happen if our population were reduced to 50 million people? We would be gobbled up by stronger power.

A White House national goals research staff recently reported that the U.S. population would stabilize in 10 years or so. What we need is decentralization: regrouping our people in the less populated areas — where anyone can see from an airplane there is still plenty of space.

As for The Pill: It's dangerous. Abortion is taking human life. I'm for people, not for killing them. — V.A.I.

DEAR V.:

My readers already know I disagree with much of what you say — and that's a major reason why I'm using your letter, Voltaire, are you listening?

One observation: Our United States population jumped from 151,325,798 in 1950 to an estimated 200,658,000 in 1968, an increase of one-third in 18 years (Census Bureau statistics). Even with the declining birth rate, we added over 20½ million people between 1960 and 1968 . . . and that kind of growth can fill a lot of wide open spaces. . . Plus create pollution, deplete natural resources and cause untold miseries that come from overcrowding. — H.

Mrs. Calvin Peck Is New Worthy Matron Of Chapter 215

Mrs. Calvin R. Peck of San Rafael is being installed worthy matron of San Rafael Chapter 215, Order of Eastern Star, in a ceremony tonight at 8 at the San Rafael Masonic Temple.

A seven-year-member of the lodge, Ruth G. Peck has also held the offices of Adah and Ruth. Charity is the lodge's purpose, and members are wives, daughters, mothers, sisters, widows and granddaughters of master Masons.

Members sponsor a weekly cancer dressing station and are planning a luncheon and fashion show.

Born and reared in St. Paul, Minn., Mrs. Peck attended the University of Minnesota. She has lived in Marin for seven years, since her husband's retirement from the Army. He is now employed as a bookkeeper. The couple have two children, Shirley, 15, and Calvin Jr., 13.

Music and sewing are the new president's hobbies, and she enjoys working with Job's Daughters.

Escorting Mrs. Peck at the installation will be her son, and Carl Umland Jr., new worthy patron, will be escorted by his daughter, Kathryn.

Also being installed tonight are Mmes. Herbert Hotchner, associate matron; F. Harvey Morrill, secretary; Fred Redden, treasurer; Joseph Daly, conductress; H.C. Jackson, associate conductress; Charles Lee Goodwin, marshal; Elmer Jones, organist; Thomas Dwight, Adah; James Wanless, Ruth; Miss Kathryn Scott, Esther; Mmes. William B. Lauderbaugh, Martha; John Martens, Electa; Carl P. Umland Jr., warder; and Messrs. Herbert Hotchner, associate patron; and Fred Redden, sentinel.

MRS. CALVIN PECK

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Lupini are hosts for the installation.

ever, the Givenchy boutique on the Avenue George is much more exciting and far more elegant. You find sable skirts for $500, suits, but no couture. This is where the French women love to shop."

Balenciaga: "Though he is not designing currently, there is one little section of the house open. The best scarves at the lowest prices can be found here. All houses are promoting designer autographed scarves, but they are very expensive, everywhere except at Balenciaga."

Other houses on the walking tour includes Jacques Esterel, Lanvin, — "It's flourishing, but their profits are in perfume," — Molyneux, Balmain, Jacques Delahaye and Ricci.

IN NEW YORK Mrs. Roy visited the major American markets. She found the average women in the street looking very fashion-dated.

"It would appear they've tried to lower hems of their mini skirts and they look terrible." "The American market failed to capture the new look as seen in Paris. The translation is uninteresting."

She described the look in Paris as "very long and very lean, non bulky, slender and slightly shaped skirts, small shoulders and slim sleeves fitted at the wrist. There are no beads or jewelry, just fabulous belts with a big buckle."

Is this also the look she saw elsewhere in Paris, at the department stores? "Yes, very much so and definitely not limited to the major designer houses. It's everywhere."

The Americans will improve with the spring lines, as they are catching on to the look, predicts Mrs. Roy. "Yes, there is no doubt, it will go."

from 1965 through 1968 as a volunteer on the board of directors of the Parks Association of New York City.

"It was a vigilante committee to see the parks department didn't destroy all the greenery," Phyllis grins with tongue-in-cheek.

She explains their aims were to "support" the parks department to retain all green spaces, not allowing huge parking lots or riding stables to encroach upon open green areas.

Remarking that San Francisco could use some more trees, Phyllis recounts that she promoted vest pocket parks in New York City and planting more street trees. She was on the committee for the 1965 campaign called "Be a Friend of Trees" because city children break trees. Aimed at third, fourth and fifth grades (millions of kids), she distributed pledge cards reading, "I Will Take Care of Trees," film strips entitled "City Street Trees" and lapel pins with the legend "I'm a Friend of the Trees." Jack Parr wore one of the pins on his television show.

SHE WAS chairman of City Parks Week in 1966 for the Vest Pocket Parks promotion and in 1967 for "Nature in the Metropolis" City Parks Week.

"I was a one-woman-show during City Parks Week 1968," recalls Phyllis about the hectic weeks when as chairman she co-ordinated Arbor Day treeplantings simultaneously in five boroughs of New York City.

At noon five borough presidents put spades into the ground to plant trees and dedicate plaques in five different parks of New York City.

"I carried little boys trailing behind me. You might say, 'A Tree Grows in Brooklyn' through my efforts."

PRESS GUIDE IS AVAILABLE

A guide for press chairmen of organizations interested in getting news to the Marin Women's Section of the Independent-Journal is available at the San Rafael main office and the Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma I-J offices.

The booklet, "Getting News Into Your Newspaper," is issued as a service of the Independent-Journal Women's Section to assist press chairmen for women's organizations.

The guide explains policies of coverage, how to prepare news stories and meeting notices, and the special stories and features emphasized by the section.

The booklets at the San Rafael office may be obtained from the switchboard on the main floor.

Service Pins Awarded To Marin General Hospital Volunteers

Fourteen members of the Marin General Hospital Volunteers were awarded 100-hour service pins in October. The group included Mmes. Glen Auld, Michael DeVinck, Edward Johansen and Beverly Kosta, Greenbrae; Richard Bradshaw and Harriot Massoni, San Rafael; Walter Joseph and Ted Wight, Mill Valley; Thomas Corn, Belvedere; Keith Davis, Fairfax; Richard Dondero, San Anselmo; Albert Kapkin, Ross; William Redfield, Tiburon and D. Ross Tyler, Kentfield.

Pins for 200 hours of service went to Mrs. Harrison Leppo, Mill Valley; Mrs. John Mueller, Tiburon, and Mrs. Ronald Tatum, San Rafael, and 300-hour service pins were presented to Mmes. Harlan Barry, Larkspur; LeRoy French, Ross; and Louis Goldblatt, Mill Valley.

Mrs. Henri Boussy, Mill Valley and Mrs. John Fassio, Kentfield, received 400 hour pins, and 500 hour awards went to Mmes. Hugh Cook, San Anselmo; Thomas Elliott, Tiburon; Richard Potter, San Rafael, and Warren Smith, Mill Valley.

Recipients of 700-hour service awards were Mrs. Richard Cruikshank, Sausalito, and Mrs. Mario Pellegrini, San Rafael. And 900-hour pins were given to Mrs. Charles Harton, Kentfield, and Mrs. Albert MacCarthy, Mill Valley.

For 5,000 hours of service a pin was awarded to Miss Jane H. Adams, Larkspur, and for 10,000 service hours as a Marin General Hospital volunteer, a pin was presented to Mrs. Russel Chatham, San Anselmo.

PETALUMA PANHELLENIC Association will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. John J. King Jr., 833 Sixth Street, Petaluma. Introduction of new members, rush resume and election of officers will be the topics of business. Mrs. George T. De Long, president, urges any woman who was a member of a national sorority at an accredited university or college to attend.

A PUBLIC lecture titled, "Outrageous Solutions to the Population Outrage" will be given by psychologist Wayne R. Bartz on Dec. 1 at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall at the College of Marine in Kentfield. Dr. Bartz is a psychologist at DeWitt State Hospital in Auburn.

Sponsors of the free lecture are the Marin Psychological Association, Zero Population Marin Chapter and Planned Parenthood of Marin.

THREE SIR Francis Drake High School students will be headed for Europe this summer if community support for the exchange program is forthcoming. Chosen by a board of judges were senior Janet Guastavino, juniors Cynthia L. Miller and Robert Morgen, all of San Anselmo.

To aid the exchange program the Drake Parent-Teacher Association international committee will stage a rummage sale Feb. 27 and members are collecting sale material. Contributions of clothing, furniture, and other usable articles may be left at the homes of Laura Cann, 25 Entrada and Pauline Brooks, 7 Dutch Valley Lane, both in San Anselmo; Louise Celle, 25 Pacheco Avenue, Fairfax; and Jean Van Riper, 1349 Butterfield Road, San Anselmo.

The committee hopes the sale will also raise enough funds to send a larger group to Mexico, a district venture.

The committee also is seeking homes for South American exchange students arriving for 10 weeks beginning in January.

100 YEARS OLD

Her Main Interest Is 'Living Right'

Johanne Mathiasen who came to the United States alone at the age of 16 on the steamship "America" in 1887 said in an interview in San Rafael last week, "My main interest in life has been that people live right."

The occasion was her 100th birthday.

Alert and only slightly hard of hearing, Mrs. Muthiasen has lived in the Danish Aldersly Home since 1953.

She almost apologetically admits to using a cane to get around now. "So I'm sure that I don't stumble," she says.

She received birthday greetings from the King of Denmark, Governor Ronald Reagan and President Richard M. Nixon as well as from scores of friends and relatives. She told of one card from Pakistan where a grandson just went as an ambassador from the United States. Another was from a great-granddaughter studying in Spain.

"But of course it isn't every day that you get to be 100," she says.

The former Johanne Andersen left her family in Denmark to come to America for the same reason "all the immigrants came, to earn a living. I came to Baltimore. Lots of people came to Castle Garden, New York but I came to Baltimore."

She found work as a governess for a three year old boy whose family was taking a trip to Europe. "It was a banker's family. We stayed at the best hotels."

In all she returned to Europe three times. One was in 1919 for her parents golden wedding anniversary.

She moved to Omaha, Neb. where an older sister was living. There she met and married Mr. Mathiasen in 1894. They had two sons, Soren who lives in New York and O.F. who lives in Cupertino. Her sons were 8 and 10 years-old when her husband died in 1906. To support her family she went to work and later moved to Newcastle, Wyo. to operate a 24-hour telephone exchange that connected the ranchers in he area.

"I was night and day operator for four years with a 14-year-old son. It was a private telephone that had seven trunk lines for the ranchers. There was no public transportation in Cheyenne River and that was the only means of communication. The telephone was very important. We could reach the Bell Telephone but not directly."

She talked about the hotel above the exchange and said she had contact with the telegraph operator at the railroad station. He would signal her when the trains were coming in and she would notify the hotel residents who wanted a certain train.

"I told him (telegraph operator) that when he and I owned the B and M railroad we wouldn't have 42 coming in at 6 a.m.," she laughs.

"In 1913 I had a home that blew away," she says quietly waiting for a reaction. "I was in Wyoming and I had the house in Omaha rented and the house went next door. I had two ladies in the house and they went into the only room where the window remained intact."

She explained how the roof blew off and the house was lifted to the next lot. The closet door of the room the ladies went into disappeared and Mrs. Mathiasen said," Never did find that."

"Yes, people remember the 1913 cyclone," she said.

She returned to Omaha and went to work cooking in the high school.

In 1919 she went to work as a nurse-companion for a retired teacher. "I lived with her for 20 years. She was from Omaha and I came to California with her. I was to be nurse-companion but I kept house for her." They lived in Berkeley but took long trips to Salt Lake Ctiy and Denver.

At this time, she explains, both her sons were working their way through Oberlin College in Ohio. Both graduated and O.F. received a doctor's degree in education from Harvard and taught at Antioch College.

Asked why she is still healthy at 100 Mrs. Mathiasen said," I think probably because I treat food special. I don't over eat and I try to balance my food. I don't touch liquor of any kind and I don't eat too rich food."

What does she think of the state of the world today?

"I think it's so pitiful that the young people today don't see that honest hard work make them the happiest life. Nothing makes you happier than a job well done. It's doesn't matter what job just do it honestly."

Junior Theater Sets Marionette Show

The Lesselli Marionettes will present "The Sorcerer's Apprentice", "Little Red Riding Hood," and a circus at 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m., Dec. 5 at San Rafael High School auditorium sponsored by the Junior Theater of Marin.

"The Sorcerer's Apprentice" is an old story of an apprentice who masters enough magic to command a broom to bring him buckets of water, but he had not learned enough magic to stop it.

"Little Red Riding Hood" is complete with the little girl, her ailing grandmother, the woodsman and the wicked, but funny wolf.

The show ends with a circus of clowns and singing animals.

Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. H. Wayne Kirk on Oak Drive, San Rafael, or Mrs. John Boudett at 40 Woodside Way, Ross.

Group Therapy Plan On Hospital Agenda

Program changes to place more emphasis on group therapy at the Marin Community Mental Health Center will be considered tomorrow by the Marin Hospital District board.

Meeting at 7 p.m. at Marin General Hospital, the board will consider three changes in all. The recommended changes, which require both hospital and county approval, include a request that funds allocated for an unfilled psychiatrist's slot at the center be transferred to the Marin Child Development Center, which is having financial difficulties; a request that approval be given a program to increase the per centage of group therapy treatment in both adult and children outpatient services; and a request that the number of psychiatrists slots in childrens' services be reduced from five to three and that additional social workers and psychologists be hired.

Dr. John S. Guerrant, director of the center, said he does not expect the same controversy over increased group therapy that rose when his predecessor, Dr. Donald P. Wilson, recommended such action.

"People have calmed down a bit since then" he said. "There is an increasing awareness (among staff) that the money is not going to increase" with the increasing need for services. And group therapy is the most economical means of treating large numbers of patients.

When Wilson recommended such a change last year along with staff integration in adult and childrens' services, the latter balked. It became a point of contention in the power struggle between Wilson and Dr. Clyde G. Miller, former director of the county's Community Mental Health Services.

Guerrant estimated about $20,000 can be diverted to the development center by delaying until January the hiring of a psychiatrist and "other assorted" personnel at the mental health center and an unfilled psychologist's position in the county's mental retardation program.

His final recommendation is a change in the staffing pattern of childrens' services, Guerrant said.

He said there is a greater need for psychologists, psychiatric nurses and social workers in that section than for two additional psychiatrists.

By deleting the doctor positions, which are unfilled, he said, he can add three or four nurses, psychologists or social workers.

Guerrant said he will also discuss with the board a plan to change inservice training for center employees to provide more training in group therapy.

The board, which will gather at 6 p.m. for dinner in the hospital cafeteria, will also hear reports on remodeling at the intensive care unit, X-ray special procedures room and laboratory and the feasibility of a kidney machine at the hospital.

Police, Cycle Chase Winds Up With Accident

A police chase between San Anselmo and San Rafael and back again, ended early Saturday when a 16-year-old Fairfax youth crashed his motorcycle into a San Anselmo patrol car.

Officers said Rory Mark Ward of 88 Canyon Road did not appear injured after the collision which badly damaged his motorcycle.

According to police, Ward was observed in a speed contest with an auto at 12:25 a.m. along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. Police gave chase with Ward reaching speeds of about 90 miles an hour on Greenfield Avenue toward San Rafael and back to San Anselmo on Red Hill Avenue.

The chase ended when Ward struck a police vehicle at the intersection of Sir Francis Drake and Sonoma Avenue. He was cited for reckless driving.

Oldtimer Claims He Holds Beer Record

TOPSHAM, England (UPI)—Gardener Fred Dimond, 78, thinks he's set a record for the most beer drunk in a lifetime.

He estimates he has drunk 225,000 pints since he was 16, and all at the Lord Nelson pub here.

"I used to average about 15 pints a day, but I'm getting on now and 10 is about my mark," said Dimond, who visits the pub each morning and evening.

Wives Boost Labor Force

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—An atomic energy expert said today a new nuclear reactor being built at Hanford, Wash., involves technology which could provide a long-range solution to the nation's energy shortage.

Dr. Walter H. Esselman, of Westinghouse Electric Corp., told a luncheon meeting that the new Hanford reactor facility "will provide a temperature, radiation and coolant environment typical of future fast breeder nuclear power reactors which will produce more fuel than they consume."

Speaking before the San Francisco Electric Club, Esselman said the Atomic Energy Commission has granted top priority to the test facility because of the expected doubling of the nation's power requirements in the next decade.

'Amigos' Session Set Tomorrow

A public organizational meeting for a Marin Chapter of "Amigos De Las Americas" will be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow at St. John's Church, Lagunitas Road, Ross.

"Amigos" is an international program to train students to work with doctors to help the poverty-stricken people of Central and South America.

Dr. Rodney Abernathy from the Peninsula chapter of "Amigos" will speak. Pictures of Honduran natives, taken by Anne C. Kimball during the summer of 1970, will be shown.

MUSIC REVIEW

Brilliant The Word For Marin's Trio

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Brilliance of orchestral color and dynamics was the prominent keynote last night in the first concert of the Marin Symphony's 19th season conducted by Sandor Salgo in the College of Marin gymnasium.

"Brilliant" applied to both the character of the program and to its performance. Three of the numbers were selections from theatrical works of composers noted for mastery of dramatic form — Leonard Bernstein, Zoltan Kodaly and Richard Strauss — and the fourth, Beethoven's triple concerto, was by virtue of the great technical virtuosity demanded of the soloists, a natural showpiece.

Sharing top honors were the trio, composed of cellist Jean Mitchell, violinist Charles Meacham and pianist Faith France, for their superb performance in the Beethoven concerto, and Salgo and the orchestra for a scintillating performance of Strauss' tone poem "Death and Transfiguration."

For Jean Mitchell the concerto was especially a tour de force. Written with many passages an octave higher in order to make the cello equally audible with the violin, it sounded at times like two violins playing. The cello and violin were the singers, both individually and in duet, while the piano, though important, was more like the accompanist.

Never better heard was the crystalline purity of Meacham's tone — with perfect intonation — a rare gift among string players. Clarity of touch and smooth, strongly accented rhythm were notable in the piano. Not only was there split second timing among the solo instruments but excellent balance in the dialogue between the trio and the orchestra — the latter thanks to Salgo.

In the orchestra I could have wished for greater strength in the low strings, and this was noted elsewhere in the program.

Though it is first and foremost a musical masterpiece, "Death and Transfiguration" must be among the most effective program (story telling) music ever written describing states of feeling — in this case those of a man in his struggle with death.

Requiring the full resources of the orchestra, the piece was tremendously impressive both in its thundering crises with brasses and percussion at full volume and in the quieter moments depicting a sign, heart beats or reverie. The hymn-like music of the final acceptance of death and exaltation of the spirit was inspiring.

In comparison with these two major works the opening overture to Bernstein's operetta "Candide" and three of the movements — entitled "Viennese Musical Clock," "Intermezzo," and "Entrance of the Emperor and His Court" — of the suite from Kodaly's comic opera "Hary Janos" were great good fun.

They had enough decibels and strong beat to please the most ardent youthful devotees of rock. I was pleased to see several in the audience. Yes, there are many signs that the Marin Symphony is "getting with it," as the kids would say.

Traffic Warrant Leads In Arrest For Narcotics

A 20-year-old San Francisco man was booked into Marin County jail Saturday for investigation of possessing marijuana and narcotics paraphernalia after Sausalito police discovered he was wanted for a $30 traffic warrant in San Mateo County.

Charles Abner Fox was arrested about 7 p.m. when officers noticed him hitchhiking in the roadway of Bridgeway and stopped to talk with him.

When a check revealed the outstanding warrant and Fox informed officers he could not pay the fine, he was taken to the police station. A preliminary search revealed a container of brown substance thought to be hatshish and a pipe, both found in his coat pocket, police said.

Fox was freed on $315 bail to appear tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court.

Gas Plant Rocked By 2 Explosions

CHARLOTTE AMALIE, St. Thomas (UPI)—Two explosions rocked the Carib Gas Co. plant Monday, sending flames 400 feet into the air and leaving an undetermined number of casualties.

The first explosion, which rocked virtually the entire island, occurred at 1:25 p.m. It was immediately followed by another.

Carib Gas is located in an industrial complex along the waterfront some two and one half miles from the center of this popular tourist center.

Sausalitan, 23, Booked In Sale Of Marijuana

A 23-year-old Sausalito man has been booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of possessing marijuana for sale, possessing dangerous drugs and narcotics paraphernalia.

Frank S. Lynn III, of 923 Bridgeway, was arrested Friday about 7 p.m. after Sausalito police, who went to his home on another complaints, saw him through a window smoking a cigaret e believed to contain marijuana.

Officers said they found three handrolled ciagrettes, in an ashtray in the living room of the residence and a brown paper bag containing 11 plastic bags of green vegetable substance, thought to be the drug, in the bedroom. Also found, according to police, were four bags of white tablets, a tin box containing a brown substance believed to be hashish and a can of seeds and a small pipe.

Lynn was released on $1,000 to appear Wednesday in Marin Municipal Court.

Three Plays Scheduled

An "Evening of Absurdity," consisting of three plays, will be presented by the College of Marin Department of Drama at 8 p.m. Dec. 3 in the Studio Theater.

The plays — to be performed at the same hour on Dec. 4,-5,6,8,9,10,11,12 and 13 — are:

"Out At Sea," "Act Without Words II," and "The Bald Soprano". They are directed by H. J. Susser.

"Out At Sea" by the Polish playwright Slawomir Morzek, takes one fat, one medium and one thin man adrift on a raft. They have eaten their last can of pork and beans and are hungry. They decide that in order to survive, one of them must offer himself for lunch. The result is black humor and biting satire.

"Act Without Words II" by Samuel Beckett, author of "Waiting for Godot," is a short mime for two players. It traces the life cycle of both characters from birth to death in 17 minutes.

The third play in the trilogy is "The Bald Soprano," by Eugene Ionesco. The theme is that habit, society and the middle class have stripped language of meaning and content. The characters speak to each other in a series of unrelated cliches and empty phrases. They become creatures without mind, soul, or identity.

Members of the cast for the three plays are: J.W. Harper of Fairfax, Shelly Lipkin of Mill Valley, Rick Casorla of Kentfield, Jess Jestrab of Mill Valley, Paul Finnegan of San Rafael, Joel Blum of Fairfax, John Evans of San Rafael, Reynold Acevedo of San Anselmo, Roxane Wilkinson of Novato, Robin Williams of Novato, Denise Orr of Fairfax, Carla Alsworth of Fairfax and Wayne Burke of San Anselmo.

Driver's Lip Hurt In Wreck

A Corte Madera man was treated for a cut lip at Marin General Hospital yesterday after his car struck another vehicle at the intersection of Bridgeway and Gate 5 Road about 6 p.m.

Police said John J. Poppin, 48, of 189 Birch Avenue, pulled out into Bridgeway from a service station and was driving on the wrong side of the road when his car hit an au o driven by Robert Parker, 30, of Box 412, Fairax.

Parker was heading west across Bridgeway when the accident occured, according to police.

How A Funny Thing Happened By Following Native Custom

By BARNEY SEIBERT

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—What does one do when deposited for a week in Cambodia with only the clothes he is wearing? Buy a sarong, of course.

In the Hollywood of the 1930s and 1940s, Sarongs were worn by lithesome movie queens.

But in Southeast Asia sarongs are worn by both sexes and even the toughest Cambodian mercenaries don them for comfort after a day of fighting.

There wasn't time for me to order a shirt and trousers made by a Phnom Penh tailor. I was moving around, covering a South Vie namese army operation.

Buying clothing off the rack is out of the question in a country where the average citizen is ten inches shorter than me and has half the girth.

And after a two-day trip up the Mekong River aboard a South Vietnamese Navy landing craft and a night in a flophouse style hotel in South Vietnam's Mekong Delta, my camouflage jungle suit looked and smelled as if it had been used to wrap mummies.

Scouring haberdasheries, I finally managed to find a shirt that would fit and paid the equivalent of $13 for the sleezy, wildly colored product of a central European sweat shop. When there are but three shirts my size in all of Cambodia, you don't quibble over price.

But what about the pants? Then I hit upon the sarong.

I showed one of my Cambodian interpreters my shirt and asked him to go to the market and buy me a matching or contrasting sarong.

He returned an hour later with the garment, which resembles a cloth bag, open at both ends.

The match of the material was fair, but there were improbable looking, bright red jungle flowers stamped all over it.

I reconciled that this was the tropics and native craftsmen could be expected to reproduce their natural surrounding in their handicraft. Then I discovered near the hem the grand name of an American textile firm.

Still, it was a garment, and it fit, and I could wash my trousers. So I got a quick lesson in sarong folding, put it on and got to work.

Everything went fine until I finished the laundry and returned to the UPI bureau and seated myself in a chair. When guests entered the bureau, I rose to greet them and the sarong fell to the floor.

When they stopped laughing they told me they didn't know which was funnier—Seibert in a sarong or Seibert without one.

MMWD To Consider Retirement Plan

The Marin Municipal Water District board will consider a new employee retirement plan to cost an additional $76,000 per year Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. at the district office in Corte Madera.

The proposal which would increase retirement benefits by the amount each retired employee receives from social security was put over at the last meeting so a study of analogous private industry retirement plans could be made.

Fast Wage Rise For White Collars

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Labor Department says wages in a selected group of white collar workers rose at their highest rate in 10 years during a one-year period ending in June.

The increases averaged 6.2 per cent, the department said.

It said no comparable figures were available for the economy as a whole, but straight-time hourly earnings of manufacuring production workers during the same period climbed 6.3 per cent, while union scales in the building trades jumped 11.6 per cent during the one-year period ending in October.

15-Hour Kiss Claims New Mark

WINONA, Minn. (UPI)—A Winona State College couple claims the world record for kissing — a 15-hour, one minute marathon smooch.

Cindy Ehringer, Savanna, Ill., and Wayne Peterson Jr., Houston, Minn., began kissing at midnight Friday and gave up at 3:01 p.m. Saturday. They were permitted a three-minute break each hour to moisten lips.

The session tops the claimed record of 13 hours, 45 minutes set the previous weekend at the University of Hartford in Connecticut.

Rubella Campaign Widens —4,423 Children Immunized

Marin County's intensive campaign against rubella today reached a total of 4,434 children immunized against the disease.

The total stood at 4,169 at Friday's close of the first week in the month-long campaign, and 265 more were immunized this morning at Granada School in Corte Madera, reported the county health officer, Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht.

The total at Granada included 228 of the 347 enrolled in the school, plus 37 pre-school children. She stressed that youngsters need not be enrolled in the schools where the clinics are being held, and that additional clinics will be scheduled later for absentees who missed the regular clinics.

Dr. Albrecht said she hoped to immunize at least 80 per cent of the county's 47,000 children between ages 1 and 11

Rubella, if contacted by expectant mothers, causes crippling deformities and deaths to unborn babies. A major outbreak of the disease has been predicted in coming months.

The clinics were to move later today to San Clemente and Neil Cummins schools.

The schedule the rest of this week is:

TOMORROW — Henry Hall School at 9 a.m.; St. Patrick's School at 10 a.m.; Larkspur-Corte Madera School at 1 p.m., Ross School at 2 p.m.

WEDNESDAY — Glenwood School at 9 a.m.; San Pedro School at 10:30 a.m.; Santa Venetia School at 1 p.m.; 3-R School at 2 p.m.

No clinic is scheduled Thursday or Friday, but the schedule through Dec. 15 is as follows:

Nov. 30 — 9 a.m. John MacPhail, 10 a.m. Gallinas, 11 a.m. Blessed Sacrament, 1 p.m. West End, 2 p.m. Sun Valley.

Dec. 1 — 9 a.m. Oliver Hartzell, 10 a.m. Nova Albion, 11 a.m. Don Timoteo, 1 p.m. St. Isabella, 2 p.m. Bernard Hoffman.

Dec. 2 — 9 a.m. Santa Margarita, 10:30 a.m. Oak View, 12:30 p.m. Dixie, 2 P.M. Lucas Valley.

Dec. 3 — 9:30 a.m. Tomales, 11 a.m. West Marin, 12:30 p.m. Inverness, 2 p.m. Bolinas.

Dec. 4 — 8:45 a.m. St. Anselms, 9:45 a.m. Wade Thomas, 10:45 a.m. Isabel Cook, 1 p.m. Yolansdale, 1:45 p.m. Sleepy Hollow.

Dec. 7 — 9 a.m. Brookside, 10:15 a.m. Deer Park, 11 a.m. Central, 1 p.m. Manor, 2 p.m. St. Rita's.

Dec. 8 — 9 a.m. Lagunitas, 10:30 a.m. Nicasio, 1:30 p.m. Mary Silveira.

Dec. 9 — 9 a.m. Central, 10:15 a.m. Manzanita, 11 a.m. Bayside, 12:15 p.m. Martin Luther King, 1:30 p.m. Loma Verde.

Dec. 10 — 8:45 a.m. Olive, 10:15 a.m. Marion, 11:30 a.m. Our Lady of Loretto, 1 p.m. Lu Sutton.

Dec. 11 — 8:45 a.m. Lynwood, 10:15 a.m. Rancho, 1 p.m. San Ramon.

Bank Explosion Tied To Gas Leak

PITTSFIELD, Mass. (UPI)— The state Fire Marshal's office is investigating an explosion and fire that heavily damaged the five-story Pittsfield National Bank building during the weekend.

Police said Sunday a gas leak of unknown origin is thought to have triggered Saturday night's explosion that left the first three floors and the basement "heavily charred."

Damage was expected to run well over $100,000, officials indicated. Offices in the building, including the headquarters of Rep. Silvio O. Conte, R-Mass., were heavily damaged. A Comte aide said duplicates of important records destroyed in the fire were on file in Washington.

Still Deadlocked

BERLIN (UPI)—The Big Four Ambassadors held their longest meeting on Berlin today but did not break their deadlock, a western diplomatic source said.

Honor Dinner For Gary Thomas

Approximately 125 persons attending a dinner Saturday night to honor Gary W. Thomas, assistant district attorney who was paralyzed from the waist down by a bullet wound received in the Aug. 7 shoot-out at the Civic Center.

Guest speakers at the stag dinner held in the San Rafael Elks Club were Judge Samuel W. Gardner, former Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety, Attorney William O. Weissich. Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, master of ceremonies, presented Thomas with a watch.

The organizing committee was Edward R. Vinci. Peter H. O'Toole and Elmo C. Howell.

Tawny Owl Booted After He Hooted

PETERBOROUGH, England (UPI)—The uninvited guest at formal dinners in the town hall had bad manners.

He made strange noises, swung on the chandeliers and gorged himself on leftovers. Sometimes he just went to sleep.

Officials finally had enough and called in the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, which caught and ousted the large tawny owl living in the rafters.

UFO Over London

LONDON (UPI)—The ministry of defense is investigating a report that an unidentified flying object looking like a fried egg — white with a yellow center — flew over East London this weekend.

DeMolay Youths In Litter Drive

Two station wagons full of litter were collected Saturday from Camino Alto by members of the Mill Valley chapter of De Molay.

Chapter adviser Gibson Crawford said 10 youths, all Tamalpais High School students, participated in the cleanup, one of seven civic and community projects conducted by the organization each year.

Paper, cans, bottles and four full cans of beer, tossed by the side of the road, were among the items collected. At the top of the grade an old rug was found, Crawford said.

At an awards banquet later Saturday, prizes for rifle competition and for meritorious service to De Molay were presented to members, Crawford said.

The group's next project will be the sale of Christmas trees from a lot on Miller Avenue next to Malugani's Tire Center. Proceeds will support other De Molay service projects.

Petrini Plaza Truck Tires, Cab Damaged

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Vandals slashed 10 truck tires, threw acid on a truck cab and stink-bombed five doors at Petrini Plaza here last night.

The store manager of Petrini's Market in the plaza said he had no idea who damaged the store's meat delivery trucks prior to 6 a.m. today, but he said the trucks had also been vandalized Nov. 9 when the tires on two Petrini produce trucks were slashed in South San Francisco.

After the Nov. 9 slashings the manager of Petrini's Market in Greenbrae was warned by telephone to discontinue advertising in the Independent-Journal.

The firm has been the victim of numerous attacks, secondary boycott picketing and union efforts to halt truck deliveries since San Francisco Typographical Union 21 struck the I-J Jan. 7.

High Court Ducks Out On Pornography Case

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Supreme Court refused today to interfere with a lower court ruling that photos of nude women —whatever the pose — are not obscene if no sexual activity is shows.

The action by a 5-3 vote let stand a federal appeals court decision which reversed the Massachusetts state court conviction of two men on charges of selling and possessing with intent to sell obscene magazines.

The Court order —which is not tantamount to a decision — drew dissents from Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justices John M. Harlan and Harry M. Blackmun.

They felt the appeal by Massachusetts authorities should have been heard and asserted that state courts should be the ones to decide such issues. Justice William O. Douglas did not participate in the case.

In other actions, the Court:

—Ruled, 6 to 3, that a state is legally allowed to permit a person accused of first degree murder to plead guilty to a lesser offense to avoid the death penalty even though he continues to insist on his innocence. The decision reinstated a second degree murder judgment against Henry C. Alford, of Winston-Salem, N.C., who was sentenced to 30 years after pleading guilty to second degree murder in such circumstances.

—Declared, by a 7-2 vote that national banks may not compete with travel agents. The decision with Burger and Harlan dissenting threw out an authorization by the U.S. Comptroller of the Treasury for banks to provide travel services to customers.

—Declined to accept the appeal of two men convicted of moonshining in Tennessee that the federal law requiring a tax stamp on all liquor would subject them to state prosecution and violate their privilege against possible self-incrimination.

—Let stand a District of Columbia court ruling that an apartment house tenant may withhold rent because of housing code violations by a landlord after the lease is signed.

The obscenity case involving Joseph N. Palladino Sr. and Joseph L. Hunt who sold magazines at Boston book shops had been brought before the Supreme Court once previously.

Railroad Talks On Wages Resume

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Railroad and union negotiators resumed contract talks today on the basis of a White House panel's recommendations that were rejected by the four unions.

The unions described as inadequate the suggested pay increase of 37 per cent over a three-year period and a strike is threatened for Dec. 11.

State Announces Low Bids Of Highway Work

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The California Division of Highways has announced a low bid of $705,881 for widening of Highway 116 near Petaluma and a low bid of $44,474 for guardrail work on Highway 101 north of Novato.

Arthur B. Siri Inc. of Santa Rosa was low bidder on the Highway 116 project, the division reported. The two-lane road is to be widened from 26-30 feet to 40 feet to provide eight-foot shoulders along a four-mile stretch.

Low bidder for the guardrail work was E.A. Forde Co. of Greenbrae, the division said. The work called for is installation and modification of guardrails from north of Atherton Avenue in Novato to a point north of the Todd Road overcrossing in Rohnert Park.

They make Volkswagens, but they buy Renaults.

Last year only 18,132 VW's were sold in France.

Yet, during the same period, Renault sold 112,263 cars in West Germany.

Germans are famous for demanding quality and dependability above all else.

Does that seem to tell you anything?

"Love Your Neighbor"

is a

☐ Platitude
☐ Commandment

(CHECK ONE)

You've probably said it a thousand times. And maybe that's the trouble. The words give you a nice, warm feeling, and back to business as usual.

It's almost as if speaking the words serves as a substitute for observing the commandment.

"Love your neighbor" means caring —really caring about others. "Love your neighbor" carries the responsibility to right the wrongs around us. "Love your neighbor" calls for the courage to be unpopular in the cause of justice.

If we'd all say it less and practice it more, maybe we'd start seeing some changes in the world.

Republican Group Reports Loss Of $23,000

ANAHEIM (UPI)—The California Republican Assembly has begun a private investigation into the loss of more than $23,000 from its treasury.

The announcement of the loss came Saturday from CRA president David W. Gater of Anaheim following a day long, closed door meeting here.

After the session Gater announced that CRA treasurer Paul Casattas of San Jose had resigned and was replaced by former assistant treasurer Robert Eichemberg of Tustin.

Gater, who said "clever bookkeeping techniques" apparently were used to remove the funds, announced that civil action would be taken to recover the funds and that information from the group's investigation would be turned over to the Santa Clara County District Attorney for possible criminal action.

To Select Panel

The Dixie School District board will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday in administratice offices to appoint additional members to a citizens finance advisory group, then meet at 9 p.m. in Don Timoteo School with district administrators to discuss teacher complaints about staffing and working conditions raised at a meeting earlier this month.

Kennedy Visits Brothers' Graves

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, his wife Joan and his sister-in-law, Ethel Kennedy, knelt in prayer for about five minutes Sunday before the Kennedy graves in Arlington National Cemetery.

It was the seventh anniversary of President John F. Kennedy's assassination. Edward Kennedy placed seven white roses on the presidential grave, and the family then went to mass at a nearby church.

BLACK CANYON — A portion of 539 acres being offered to the City of San Rafael encompasses the steep slopes of the city's Black Canyon area. This photo, looking north, was taken from Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co.'s microwave relay station. The steep canyon area is heavily covered with brush and small trees. The other side of the slope is not as steep and is forested with pine and other trees. Plans call for the property to be maintained as recreational open space.

Crash Kills Decorated Viet Vet

A 25-year-old decorated Vietnam War veteran from Santa Rosa was killed last night when his motorcycle crashed into a power pole in Novato.

Killed was Melven Ruttan Jr. of 662 King Street, holder of five purple hearts, the Bronze Star, and the Silver Star.

Deputy coroner Richard W. Madigan said Ruttan died of multiple injuries suffered in the crash.

Ruttan's death was the 38th traffic fatality in Marin this year as compared to 32 during the same period last year.

Novato police reported that Ruttan was driving northeast on Sunset Parkway north of Parkwood Drive, when his motorcycle swerved into a power pole in the divider strip at 9:40 p.m.

A witness, told police Ruttan had gone through a stop sign at South Novato Boulevard at about 25 miles per hour, then accelerated to about 45 to 59 miles an hour.

For no apparent reason, the motorcycle left the roadway and swerved into the median strip, struck the pole, and Ruttan was thrown to the ground.

Ruttan was taken to Novato General Hospital and pronounced dead at 10:33 p.m.

LARKSPUR TOWN MEETING

Preserve The Marshland

By ERIK M. INGRAM

A group of concerned Larkspur residents has agreed to oppose any future filling of Piper Park's marshland which they feel should be maintained as a wildlife sanctuary.

Preservation of the marsh was one of 16 proposals approved Saturday by about 150 citizens who nearly filled Redwood High School's Little Theater for the city's first town meeting.

The group gathered at 9 a.m. and were given an introduction to the concept of town meetings by Lewis W. Stewart, a consultant with Pacific Gas and Electric Co., originator of such gatherings, which have also been held in San Anselmo, Fairfax and Novato.

The citizens later divided into five committees to delve into problems faced by their growing community.

The committee topics included: parks, recreation and open spaces; zoning and population density; traffic circulation and the proposed ferry terminal; downtown development and improvements; and one on improving the looks of the city immediately.

The committees, following two-hour workshops, reassembled to vote acceptance, rejection or amendments to recommendations drafted by the committees.

The group rejected only one workshop recommendation: to petition the state to allow gas tax revenues to be used for bicycle paths and the city to register bicycles and use revenues to prevent bike thefts.

Objection to the measure was raised by residents who opposed registering their bicycles because as one said, "We have to register everything except bicycles now." The assembly was also reminded of recent voter rejection of expanded use of gas tax revenues.

The 16 recommendations will be considered Dec. 3 at 8 p.m. at city hall by the town meeting's steering committee, formed from a citizens' group which cosponsored the meeting with PG&E. The steering committee will then channel the recommendation to appropriate city agencies.

During the workshops, about 40 residents attending the discussion on parks and recreation were told Piper Park's marshland must be preserved because it is a source of oxygen for the bay and a source of food for wildlife.

Describing the marsh as "the lungs of the bay" and "a marine soup for wildlife," naturalist Clerin Zumwalt of the Audubon Canyon Ranch said government must save the swamps because "they won't be preserved by developers."

About half of Piper Park's 40 acres, located between Henry Hall School on Doherty Drive and Corte Madera Creek, have been filled and proposals have been made to fill the remainder.

The committee agreed the marsh should be preserved as well as the marshlands along the remainder of the creek from Highway 101 to Bon Air Bridge.

The parks and recreation committee was also presented to differing concepts for land use at the park.

Edward W. Adams, Novato Park and recreation director, said the park should be developed to provide residents with playground facilities and not be "just a park for people to walk in."

He said adults outnumber children three to one in Larkspur and predicted that ratio would change. "You have to plan for that increase," he said. "It's important the city have a well-balanced recreation program."

His ideas for expanded use of the area were embraced by Yopie Lewis, a member of the Larkspur Library Board, who said a library facility should be planned at the park.

"I feel a library is part of recreation and should be provided for," she said.

Pierre W. Joske, county parks and recreation director, was warmly applauded when he suggested the park be kept vacant of structures and equipment.

"The trend now is for less centralized, less organized parks," he said. "People want to go to a place where they can just sit under a tree."

Ample playground facilities are located at Redwood High School, city elementary schools and the College of Marin, he said. "The city would be well off to work with the school districts," he said. "Leave the park informal."

Residents nodded agreement but said site development should be considered later when Larkspur's park report is presented the city by its landscape and site planners, Arbegarst and Newton.

Other workshop recommendations passed at Saturday's town meeting were:

PARKS, RECREATION

No harbor or marina for motorboats or large sailing craft be constructed at Piper Park.

A series of public hearings on development of Piper Park be conducted by the Larkspur Park and Recreation Commission.

The city council amend the subdivision ordinance and require developers to dedicate open lands or money for park and recreation.

Focus development of continuous and improved access to water along Corte Madera Creek from Bon Air Bridge to Highway 101.

The city should acquire and preserve all rights-of-ways and easements within the city for bicycle and hiking trails.

ZONING, POPULATION

The city council should adopt an interim ordinance prohibiting building adjacent Corte Madera Creek until the Larkspur Master Plan is reviewed.

A citizens' committee be formed to study the 1965 Larkspur Master Plan and make recommendations for alterations at the next town meeting.

The city council reconsider the planning commission's recommendation to join the Marin City-County Planning Council and that the town meeting support the planning commission's recommendation.

TRAFFIC, FERRY TERMINAL

The Golden Gate Bridge District and the city make a study of the environmental impact a ferry terminal would have on Larkspur and if such a study has been conducted, it be made public.

If there are no serious ecological disadvantages to the Larkspur site, the town meeting favors selection of the Larkspur site for the terminal.

DOWNTOWN DEVELOPMENT

The study area for the Downtown Precise Plan be enlarged from the two-block downtown area to include area to the Kentfield boundary on the north to William Avenue on the south.

Form two volunteer committees, one an aesthetics committee to study renovating downtown buildings and the other to study downtown parking, traffic and land use problems.

ACTION NOW

The city provide a bike path between Doherty Drive and Bon Air Road with work to start immediately after acquisition of land and to be finished within two weeks; that the path be paved in asphalt and motorcycles prohibited.

The city stencil a white line along Doherty Drive four feet from the curb and designate it a bike path from the Disco Store to Redwood High School.

The public's right be preserved to use the trail along Madrone Avenue and up Baltimore Canyon along Larkspur (Rotunda) Creek.

In its final action, the town meeting reelected current officers on the Town Meeting Committee. The officers are: Joan Sestak, chairman; Charles Brousse, treasurer and Helen Heitkamp, secretary.

Another town meeting is planned in April.

500 Acres Of Land Offered San Rafael

More than 500 acres of densely forested property valued at about $1.5 million, southeast of the Marin County Civic Center have been offered for sale to the City of San Rafael for less than $200,000.

City Mgr. James H. McCown, city councilmen and other city officials toured the hilly area Saturday as they pondered the offer from singer Frank Sinatra and associates, who own the property.

McCown said the offer, being made through Los Angeles attorney Norman Tyre, would require the city to pay the last mortgage payment of $167,000 and to provide the present owners with appraisals of the property value and title reports.

Total cost to the city, McCown said, would be about $170,000.

Two appraisals have already been made, he said. One valued the property at $1.4 million, the other at $1,650,000.

If the council accepts the property, the city manager said, it is planned to "retain it as a recreational "greenbelt" area.

No specific proposals have been made, but the property near San Rafael's Black Canyon area would be ideal for hiking, bicycling and bridal paths, he said.

Two parcels within the 539 acres are under separate ownership. The parcels, the Army's Nike missile site and the microwave relay facilities of Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., are not included in the offer, McCown said.

The peak elevation of the property, 1,003 feet, provides views in all directions, he said.

Colorado Exploring

HOUSTON (UPI) — Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co. announced it will join Pan American Petroleum Corp. in drilling up to 111 explorator wells on a 300,000 acre tract leased by Pan Am in Colorado. Pan Am is part of the Standard Oil (Indiana) group.

Bay Water Board Due Map Request

A proposal to require cities and counties in the Bay Area to file all tentative subdivision maps with the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board will be heard by the board in its all-day meeting tomorrow in Hayward.

The regular monthly meeting, scheduled from 9:30 to noon and 1:30 p.m. to conclusion, will be in the Alameda County Public Works Building, 399 Elmhurst Street.

Also on the agenda is fixing requirements for plans by Mill Valley Air Force Station to treat its sewage wastes for use in the station swimming pool. The wastes now are sprayed onto a field, a system criticzed by public health officials because the wastes can reach public water supplies.

The requirement for the subdivision maps was proposed by the board's staff to help keep tabs on the ability of sewage systems to handle wastes as lands are developed. Any system found to be approaching capacity would face a board order against approving any new development until the treatment system was expanded.

Twenty sewerage agencies have responded to notice of the proposal, most of them oppoisng it.

Planners Approve Kappas Plan

George Kappas will be allowed to build one long houseboat pier at Gate 6½ in Richardson Bay to replace his previous plan for two piers.

Marin County planning commissioners this morning voted 5 to 1 to accept the redesign on a recommendation by planner Raymond Smith. Commissioner John F. West, the lone dissenter, agreed that the redesign is an improvement, but he opposes either plan. Commissioner Jack G. Nixon was absent.

Both the planning commission and the county board of supervisors last month approved Kappas's previous plan for two piers providing berths for 35 houseboats.

The number of berths remains the same under the new plan. Smith explained that the change from two piers to one will unclutter the area and give a less obstructed view from both the highway and for houseboat dwellers.

Attorney Hugh G. Lawrence, representing Kappas, agreed to various conditions for approval, including the requirement for 42 automobile parking spaces and an eight-foot pathway for pedestrians and bicycles, plus landscaping along the waterfront.

Romney Says No Switch In Works

WASHINGTON (UPI) — George Romney sought today to dispel reports that President Nixon plans to shift him from secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development to another post in the administration.

"I have not been asked, nor am I planning, to resign from the cabinet," Romney said in a statement. "I have not been asked to accept any other position by the President, the attorney general . . . or anyone else."

Defense Business Gets SEC Queries

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Securities and Exchange Commission has reported it sent questionnaires relating to financial disclosures made by defense contractors to approximately 40 companies.

The SEC's defense contract disclosure hearings resumed Monday after having been in recess since July 6. It put into the record the replies of 26 contractors, including General Motors Corp., General Electric Co., International Business Machines Corp. and Standard Oil Co. (N.J.).

Obsolete Products

DETROIT (UPI) — Ex-Cell-O Corp. says it will phase out operations at its small cutting tool division in Detroit that employs 90 workers. The company said the plant's products are becoming obsolete.

The Word 'Saloon' Made Legal Again

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —The California barkeep who yearns to return to those thrilling days of yesteryear in the old west and call his cocktail lounge a saloon has a golden opportunity today.

For that word, banned from tavern signs since the 1930s, is again legal, along with "bar" and "barroom." The law repealing the ban is one of about 1,060 passed by the state legislature this year and signed by Gov. Ronald Reagan that take effect today.

$6 Million Loan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — (UPI) — The Civil Aeronautics Board has approved a proposed loan of an additional $6 million to Northeast Airlines by its parent firm, Storer Broadcasting Co. Northeast is in process of being sold by Storer to Northwest Airlines.

Christopher Is New Co-Chairman

NEW YORK (UPI)—Former San Francisco Mayor George Christopher was installed today as Eastern Orthodox co-chairman of the National Conference of Christians and Jews (NCCJ).

Christopher joins William F. May, board chairman of American Can Co.; Oscar S Strauss II, president of Straus Exploration Inc., and Robert D. Murphy, board chairman of Corning Glass International, co-chairmen respectively representing Protestants, Jews and Roman Catholics.

An amendment of the conference's by-laws last year provided for the addition of an Eastern Orthodox cochairman to the organization.

Supervisors To Begin Hunt For Defender

Marin County Board of Supervisors will begin recruitment tomorrow to find a successor to Public Defender Jerome C. Durham, who resigned under fire last week.

County Administrator Alan Bruce will recommend to the supervisors that the personnel director conduct an open recruitment to get qualified candidates. County supervisors will make the final appointment.

The supervisors, meeting at 9 a.m. in the Civic Center, will also decide what to do with the $75,000 community planning program for Marin City, which ran into trouble because of slow progress and delay in getting federal reimbursement. It is partially financed by Title 701 of the Housing Act of 1954, with $50,000 reimbursement to come from the Housing and Urban Development Fund.

Bruce will recommend no further county spending on the Marin City 701 program until reimbursement arrives from HUD for the $36,000 spent to date.

Another major topic is a request by the privately operated Marin Child Development Center in Tiburon for $30,000 in county aid to keep the center open through June 30.

Other items on the supervisors agenda include:

CAFETERIA — The county administrator will ask for approval of bid documents to be sent to restaurateurs who want to operate the Hall of Justice cafeteria. Supervisors cancelled the contract with the present operator, the state Department of Rehabilitation, because of protests against poor service and high prices.

NUISANCE — Hearings will be held on proposed abatement of two dilapidated structures in Forest Knolls.

McNEARS BEACH — The parks and recreation department will present a master plan for development of McNears Beach and ask for contracts to improve the grounds and remodel a caretaker's residence.

WATER — Chairman John F. McInnis will ask for a resolution asking the federal government to hold up the funding for the Peripheral Canal project, which is a state water program to divert Sacramento River water around the periphery of the Sacramento Delta and pipe it to Southern California. Northern California counties want to study possible damage to the Bay Area and Delta.

Stalin Depicted As Sick, Fearful Man In Late Years

NEW YORK (UPI) — Josef Stalin is depicted as a sick man living in constant fear of assassination during his last years in an excerpt of what purportedly were former Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's written memoirs.

Khrushchev, deposed in 1964, said if Stalin were alive today he would vote he "be brought to trial and punished for his crimes," even though he attributed much of his rise to power to the dictator and his wife, a former classmate. Stalin died in 1953.

Life magazine, which insists the memoirs are authentic, published the first of four installments, "Life with Khrushchev," Sunday. It was taken from a forthcoming book, "Khrushchev Remembers," to be published by Little, Brown and Co.

Svetlana Alliluyeva, Stalin's daughter who is now Mrs. William Wesley Peters; was contacted by The New York Times Sunday and said she found many of the incidents written in Life of which she had personal knowledge were either confused or false. She is the only witness of the events reported now living in the West.

Khrushchev, 76 and reportedly suffering from a heart ailment, called the reminiscences a "fabrication" in a letter dated Nov. 10 and released a week ago by the Tass news agency. Neither Life nor Little, Brown has revealed the source of the information.

The memoir excerpt, written in earthy Khrushchevian style, said the former premier believed during World War II "Stalin started to be not quite right in the head." He said "there was unquestionably something sick about Stalin."

During a vacation in 1951, Khrushchev and Anastas Mikoyan were shocked by Stalin who said, "I'm finished. I trust no one, not even myself." Khrushchev wrote Stalin took elaborate security precautions during his last two years to the point of having guests eat first at a meal to see if the food were poisoned. He often drank heavily, he said.

"Stalin's pretensions to a very special role in our history are well-founded," Khrushchev wrote, and, "In everything about Stalin's personality there was something admirable and correct, as well as something savage.

"Nevertheless, if he were alive today I would vote that he should be brought to trial and punished for his crimes," Khrushchev said, according to Life.

Khrushchev wrote, however, he "draw a lucky lottery ticket when it happened that Stalin observed my activities through Nadezhda Sergeyevna," Stalin's wife and Svetlana's mother who committed suicide in 1932. She had been a classmate of Khrushchev's at the Industrial Academy in Moscow.

"It was because of her that Stalin trusted me. In later years he sometimes attacked me and insulted me; but right up until the last day of his life he liked me," wrote Khrushchev who met the dictator for the first time in 1925.

Cable Car, Auto Wreck Injures 2

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A cable car and an automobile collided Sunday at Hyde and Washington streets, hospitalizing two persons.

James Stayros, 58, of San Francisco suffered a possible leg fracture and Pamela Wolff of Berkeley a possible foot break.

Both were passengers on the cable car and both were treated at Harbor Emergency Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. E.F. Holland of Coleraine, Minn. tourists on their first day in San Francisco, suffered cuts and bruises but refused hospitalization

The 'Nutcracker' Scheduled At College Of Marin

"Nutcracker" ballet will be presented by the Marin Civic Ballet the week before Christmas in the Fine Arts Building at the College of Marin.

Performances will be at 2:30 and 8 p.m. on Dec. 19 and 20, and at 1 p.m. on Dec. 21.

The role of Prince Charming will be danced by Charles Perrier of Fairfax; Sugar Plum Fairy by Cindy Lucas of San Rafael and Laurie Berryman of Mill Valley; Snow Prince by Rocky White of Corte Madera; Snow Queen by Jane Phelan of San Rafael and Flower solo by Kathy McCormick of Terra Linda.

The production is directed by Leona Norman.

Wrong-Side Cyclist Hurt In Shoreline Accident

One person was hospitalized and two others received minor injuries in three separate accidents, the California Highway Patrol reported today.

Donald Clifford Vickery, 28, of Orinda, was reported in good condition at Marin General Hospital with multiple cuts and bruises.

Vickery's motorcycle, southbound on Shoreline Highwav one mile east of Muir Beach Road, at 2:20 p.m. Saturday, collided with a car driven by Robert John Evans, 46, of San Francisco, northbound on Shoreline Highway, CHP reported. Vickery was cited for driving on the wrong side of the highway.

Walter Edward Bass, 45, of 7768 Blair Avenue, Rohnert Park was treated for a lacerated elbow at Marin General Hospital. He received it in a one car accident at 5:30 a.m. yesterday on Highway 101 at the Tiburon turnoff, the highway patrol reported. Details of the accident were not available.

Kathleen Ann Mitchell, 30, of 400 Canal Street, Apt. 314 San Rafael, was to see her own doctor for pain in the back. Her car, southbound on Highway 101 near Sausalito collided at 8:55 a.m. Friday with one driven by Ruth Puller Kilby, 49, of 1085 Las Ovejas Avenue, San Rafael.

Union College, Schenectady, N.Y. was the first architecturally planned campus in America.

Safety Group Back In Business With A Backlog

Marin County Safety Commissioners, who were stymied last month by the absence of chairman Robert Bertrand and his briefcase, are back in business, trying to catch up with a heavy backlog of accident cases.

Last Thursday, acting chairman Richard L. Uchida reported that he had contacted the elusive Bertrand, the sheriff's sergeant who patrols West Marin, and retrieved the pile of accident reports which Bertrand carried in his briefcase.

With the reports in the hands of the commission, the commissioners were able to review 15 cases where county employees were involved in mishaps. The commission has a backlog of about 60 more to review.

The next commission meeting is set for 9 a.m. Dec. 17 at the Civic Center.

Sergeant Bertrand, who missed most of the meetings since he was elected chairman last February, has been replaced by Sgt. George Reuss of the sheriff's office.

Hearing For Red Soldier's Attacker

BERLIN (UPI)—A British spokesman said today Ekkehard Weil, 21-year-old hospital orderly suspected of shooting a Soviet war memorial sentry, would be arraigned Tuesday before a British military government magistrate's court.

Weill was recaptured at gunpoint Friday after 28 hours of freedom. He escaped Thursday by shoving aside a lone unarmed policeman who was taking him from jail to an interrogation at political police headquarters.

Bagley To Texas For Panel Study

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, will head a panel discussion of financing state and local government at the Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs at the University of Texas in Austin.

The three-day conference for Texas legislators, to start today, is sponsored by the League of Women Voters and Sears, Roebuck foundations.

Bagley is chairman of the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee.

Petaluma Car Theft

Harvey Johnson of 14 Fairfax Street, San Rafael, told Petaluma police that his car was stolen last night while parked on Petaluma Boulevard South at B Street. The 1960 Chevrolet had license number IBV 582.

. . . because somebody knows enough about most crimes to help solve them

The Independent-Journal announces

A special program enabling citizens to help combat violence, burglaries, vandalism, crime of any kind

The "Secret Witness"

A program which has proved of direct aid to law enforcement agencies in other communities

Based upon a system of publicly offered rewards in which the identity of anyone offering information is never known

THE SUCCESS OF "SECRET WITNESS"

The program has had significant success in other areas of the U.S. and has won the endorsement of law enforcement agencies.

A major contribution has been made in that the program provides police with information which has hitherto been denied them. It reinforces proper police action, speeds up apprehension of persons involved in crime and enables the citizen to make a legitimate contribution to law enforcement.

The "Secret Witness" program is aimed at protecting citizens in their homes, places of business, at their jobs, and on the streets. With the present scale of violence and crime it is often difficult for the general public to offer direct aid to law enforcement agencies and in turn the entire judicial process. The "Secret Witness" program is based on the assumption that somebody knows enough about most crimes to help solve them. It provides the means through which any citizen with legitimate information involving a crime or crimes may present it for proper legal investigation without fear of reprisal . . . since his identity can never be known. Substantial rewards will be paid if such information leads to the arrest and conviction of those engaged in criminal activities.

REWARDS

For information leading to the arrest and conviction of those engaged in criminal activities.

$10,000

has been posted by the Independent-Journal as a fund to initiate the program.

$1,000 REWARD - BOMBING OF THE CIVIC CENTER

for information leading to arrest and conviction of person or persons involved in acts of vandalism to property, buildings or vehicles belonging to the Independent-Journal, its employees, or to advertisers and suppliers of the Independent-Journal.

WATCH FOR NEWS STORIES ON REWARDS IN THE I-J

Rules to further protect the identity of anyone offering information

1. The police will make no attempt to determine the source of the tip to the newspaper but agree to check out the information when received.
2. The I-J agrees to post rewards only when police request them or with police approval, and the newspaper agrees not to investigate any of the information on its own.
3. The police agree to keep the paper posted on the progress police are making on the tips.
4. The I-J agrees not to publish any stories on the investigation until an arrest is made or a warrant issued.
5. Once court procedures are under way, the I-J will cover developments on the basis of what happens in the courtroom.

HOW THE PROGRAM WORKS

The Independent-Journal, in cooperation with the police, will publish stories of crimes in which a reward is offered for information. Rewards will be posted only with police approval. Any and all information elicited will be turned over to the police. The newspaper will make no investigation of the information on its own.

IF YOU HAVE INFORMATION, DO THIS:

- Write a letter, either typed or printed, about a crime on which you believe you have significant information.
- DO NOT SIGN YOUR NAME. At base of the letter (see example below), write in any six-digit number of your own choosing. Write the same six digits at bottom right-hand corner of the letter. Tear off this lower right-hand corner with the number and retain it.

123456 Choose your own number

(TEAR HERE) SAVE THIS

HERE'S HOW BOTTOM OF YOUR LETTER SHOULD LOOK

- Mail the letter (with corner torn off) to:

"Secret Witness"
Box 330, San Rafael, Calif. 94102

HOW REWARDS ARE PAID

Directly after the conviction of any person or persons as a result of information which you have helped supply, merely send in the torn off corner of your letter bearing the number which you wrote down. If this matches up with the letter, the I-J will immediately arrange for the reward to be paid you. Again, your identity will not be disclosed.

REAL ESTATE OPPORTUNITY
In the past year, our investors acquired in excess of $6,000,000 of land thru the ARGUS office. The continuing demand of our investors has created an opening for a land or acreage oriented sales-person. Applicants must be licensed and should be prepared to devote the majority of their efforts to listing rural properties in Marin, Sonoma, Napa, and Solano counties. We prefer a seasoned land man, but will consider substituting drive and ambition for that requirement. We offer a generous commission schedule, an atmosphere of stimulating real estate activities, and congenial co-workers.

Please call Jim Redding at 897-6127 to arrange a personal interview.

BEHIND EVERY SUCCESS STORY IS A MAN WHO GRABBED AN OPPORTUNITY!!

And here's that opportunity! UII Snack Shop vending machines.

A proven winner in the growing $5 billion a year market. One of the few markets left where the independent operator does the lion's share of the business.

UII Snack Shops are a proven business opportunity, with a proven line of nationally famous brands of confections that sell themselves. If you can invest as little as $600 to $1500 and 10 hours a week in your own car to begin, you can build a business. Your income is commensurate with your desire to succeed through hard work and conscientious service.

You need no experience, you make no personal sales calls. We will train you, counsel you, and secure your locations. You service them, and earn the profits yourself.

If you're interested in improving your income and your life style, fill out the coupon below.

Three Scheduled To Appear As Burglary Suspects

Three Richmond men were scheduled to appear today in Marin Municipal Court on suspicion of attempted burglary at the Edgewater Inn, Corte Madera.

Police reported today that Joe D. Lowe, 37, Elishes Cavness, 24, and Robert B. Hassell, 33, were arrested Friday at 8:18 p.m. outside a linen storage room at the motel.

Officers said the door knob had been pried off but an inter-security door was untouched. The linen room has been burglarized several times during the past months, the motel manager told police.

Officers said they were called to the scene by a report of suspicious persons at the storage room. When they arrived, officers said, the three men were sitting in a car outside the room.

The three remained in jail over the weekend in lieu of $3,124 bail each.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

More Than 20 Medical Problems Can Hinder Potential Flyers

Van Dellen

If a passenger becomes unconscious or has a heart attack while airborne, the pilot may be forced to make an unscheduled landing. These landings are expensive considering the fees, added cost of missed connections and the ensuing ill will. But the chances of dying en route are one in a million, as most victims of heart trouble are more likely to succumb on the ground.

The new jumbo jets carry 400 or more passengers and may have a registered nurse among the 10-15 member crew. Her presence may cut down on unscheduled landings provided she is able to determine if the emergency is real or imaginary. Many nervous people breathe so rapidly that they pass out.

THE MEDICAL clinic at John F. Kennedy International Airport in New York studied the records of 55 fatalities that took place at the field. Forty-three per cent died preflight and 27 per cent after landing. Only 30 per cent of the fatalities occurred en route.

Dr. George J. Kidera of United Air Lines advises persons with cardiac disorders or hypertension to arrive at the field at least one hour before departure. In this way they avoid the excitement and hurry of checking in. Meanwhile, they can take their time getting to the departure gate. Those who need wheelchairs should call ahead.

NOT EVERY sick person should fly. The more than 20 medical problems that require special scrutiny are listed in Medical Criteria for Passenger Flying, published by the American Medical Association. According to Dr. Ludwig G. Lederer of American Airlines, a nonmedical coordinator familiar with these conditions is responsible for boarding approval. American prefers the word of the family physician as to whether it is safe for the person to fly. The decision regarding a seriously ill passenger is made by an air line company physician.

TB OF THE NECK

Mrs. W. E. writes: Our 7-year-old son has tuberculosis of the neck glands. Is this a new form of tuberculosis?

REPLY

No. Scrofula goes back to medieval times and once was known as the king's evil. The condition is not common today-because we drink pasteurized milk and have eliminated tubercular cattle. Years ago, surgery was a popular type of treatment for this form of tuberculosis and is the reason many older persons have unsightly scars on the neck at the site where the infected glands were removed. Since excellent results are obtained with isoniazid, streptomycin and PAS, today, surgery is unnecessary.

RUNAROUNDS

Mrs. L. G. writes: I have an inflammation around my fingernails. They swell and get very sore. What causes this condition and what can be done about it?

REPLY

Paronychia involves the skin around the nail border and usually stems from injury, vigorous manicuring, or nailbiting. The condition usually responds to soaking the fingers in warm water and applying a mild antiseptic. Try to avoid injury. Send stamped, self-addressed envetope for our leaflet on runarounds.

REGAINING STRENGTH

L. B. writes: How can a person build himself up after a period of extreme nervousness that caused insomnia and fatigue?

REPLY

Thru regular exercise, sleep and a balanced diet containing ample proteins.

Today's Health Hint — Tainted foods do not always have peculiar odor or taste.

Boy's Condition Is Satisfactory

Robert A. Parrish, 15, of 5 Dellwood Court, San Rafael, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital with his left leg amputated below the knee.

Parrish suffered the injury Friday when a new motorcycle he was taking on a demonstration ride collided with the rear of a truck in San Rafael.

He had been listed in critical condition and in the intensive care unit until yesterday.

Vandals Damage Two Schools

Burglars entered two Petaluma elementary schools over the weekend, ransacking rooms and causing damage.

Police said that windows in the gymnasium and nurses' office were broken at the Valley Vista School. Vandals ransacked the kitchen, principal's office, main office and work room.

At McNear School, a rear door was pried open and a radio and undetermined amount of cash were taken.

Warren Says Race Split Worst Issue

NEW YORK (UPI)—Former Chief Justice Earl Warren said Sunday night America will overcome its problems but asserted racial discrimination was the toughest dilemma because minority Americans "are becoming more divided from the vast majority every day."

He told an American Jewish Congress dinner Americans "in self-defense" will find a way to "work our way out of war . . . stop inflation and prevent depression . . . wipe out illiteracy in the nation" and solve the pollution problem.

"But the problem which hovers over all of these, and the one which will determine whether we will be able to live in peace and harmony at home and abroad, is the problem of whether we can achieve the plural society with freedom for everyone envisioned by our founding fathers," Warren told his audience of 500.

The former chief justice said racial discrimination "approaches more closely to the limit of insolubility" than any American problem.

"Possibly 30 million Americans (including blacks, Indians, Mexican-Americans and Asian-Americans) are becoming more divided from the vast majority every day," Warren said.

Warren, 79, who served 16 years on the nation's highest tribunal, received the Stephen Wise Award at the dinner for "distinguished service in advancing human freedom."

Also honored were Benjamin H. Swig, owner of San Francisco's Fairmont Hotel, and New York attorney Shad Polier.

The Stephen Wise Awards have been presented annually since 1949 in honor of the founder of the American Jewish Congress.

Holiday Deaths May Exceed '69

CHICAGO (UPI) —From 670 to 770 Americans will die in traffic accidents over the four-day Thanksgiving holiday weekend, the National Safety Council has estimated.

Howard Pyle, NSC president, said last year 696 Americans died on the nation's highways over Thanksgiving.

From 29,000 to 34,000 persons will be injured in highway accidents over the 102-hour weekend that begins at 6 p.m. Wednesday and ends midnight Sunday, the council estimated.

Car Burgled

Money, clothes, stereo and tapes valued at $449 were taken between 1 and 1:30 a.m. yesterday from the car of David J. Hashimoto of Winton, Merced county, while the car was parked at 36 Medway Street, San Rafael, police reported.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Kent Killings Make Good Show

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—A two-part drama variy obviously based on the Kent State tragedy began Sunday night on NVC-TV's "The Bold Ones" series in an hour starring Hal Holbrook as an idealistic U.S. senator.

Holbrook portrays the head of a commission formed to investigate two student deaths —and other circumstances—in a campus confrontation with the guard.

The script by David W. Rintels was emotion-charged, so much so that this viewer would have preferred seeing a two-hour production of the story, right to the end, rather than being left up in the air and told to wait for a week to learn how everything comes out.

Rintels used a "Rashomon"-style storytelling technique in which the various principals testifying before the commission—the school chancellor, the governor, the mayor, etc.—offered differing versions of their confrontations about whether to send in troops.

The opening hour seems certain to arouse deep feelings in viewers for the usual reasons. Inevitably, some will identify themselves with key characters and their attitudes. Others undoubtedly will feel certain figures were stereotyped. It is possible that still others will feel the two-parter is exploiting a senstive current issue.

In fairness, though, whatever one's attitude, it seemed clear that, unlike other so-called "relevant" shows on television, the people involved with this one genuinely felt concerned about the matter at stake. In this sense, the "Rashomon" technique—the series of emotional and self-serving accounts—was effective in establishing the sad insolubility and vast complexity of certain human situations.

Two other things seemed clear, regardless of one's feelings: it was all but impossible to turn off the hour, once hooked. And the Rintels script delineated painfully the tragedy of hostility among protagonists who have given up trying to communicate with each other.

What with ABC-TV's new Monday night gridiron games, the annual Thanksgiving Day contests Thursday and the networks' practice of presenting doubleheaders, the next week will offer a binge of televised football.

Canadians Think Envoy Still Alive

MONTREAL (UPI)—Authorities today sought to determine the authenticity of a letter from kidnaped British diplomat James R. Cross in which he said he was in good health but was despondent.

Cross was abducted 50 days ago by the terrorist Front de Liberation du Quebec (FLQ), which later abducted and killed Quebec Labor Minister Pierre Laporte. The FLQ has demanded release of 24 terrorist prisoners and their deportation to Cuba and $500,000 in gold as ransom for Cross.

"Time drags very heavily after six weeks of imprisonment . . . what more can I say? What can I expect? When and how will this bad dream end?" The letter read in part.

Montreal and Quebec provincial police were attempting to establish the authenticity of the letter and an FLQ communique found with it.

A spokesman said the signature appears to match that of Cross but he pointed out there were a number of spelling mistakes and "fractured English" had been used in places.

Speaking on radio late Sunday, Quebec Justice Minister Jerome Choquette said the Cross letter "appears to be authentic."

"We draw the conclusion that Cross is still alive," Choquette said on Montreal radio station CJAD.

However, police still maintained they would not know whether the letter and the FLQ communique were authentic until at least later today.

The FLQ communique said the United Nations should step into the kidnap case and act as an intermediary to gain Cross' release.

Included with the letter and communique, left in a phone booth for a Montreal newspaper alerted by an anonymous telephone call, was a second letter purportedly written by Cross and addressed to his wife.

Mrs. Barbara Cross and her daughter have been staying in Berne, Switzerland, with the British ambassador, Eric A. Midgley, for the past two weeks. The contents of the "personal" letter to Mrs. Cross were not known.

The letter thought to be from Cross was dated Nov. 15, apparently explaining the reference to "six weeks" in captivity. It was found late Saturday by a reporter for the newspaper "Journal de Montreal."

THE BIG BOOT — It's jubilation for Oakland's George Blanda (16), Daryle Lamonica (3) and Hewritt Dixon (35) plus the other Raiders and their legion of fans after Blanda's 16-yard field goal with seven seconds left gave them a heart-stopping 20-17 triumph over San Diego yesterday. Dejected Chargers at right are Speedy Duncan (45) and Bob Howard (24). (UPI Telephoto)

Let George Do It, Say The Raiders

Blanda's Kick Beats Chargers

By JOE SARGIS

OAKLAND (UPI)—It may sound a bit corny in this sophisticated age to say "Let George do it," but that's exactly what the Oakland Raiders are doing this season, and so far George Blanda hasn't let them down.

The 43-year-old backup quarterback and kicking specialist did it again—for the fifth time in 1970 to be exact—booting a 66-yard field goal with seven seconds left Sunday to give the Raiders, fighting for their lives in the American Conference West race, a 20-17 victory over the San Diego Chargers.

EQUALIZER

Earlier, Blanda booted an 18-yarder that had put Oakland on top 17-14, but Mike Mercer equalled it with an 11-yarder to tie the score with 4:46 left to play.

The Raiders moved up field to the eight yard line and then with the clock ticking away the final seconds, quarterback Daryle Lamonica finally called time with seven seconds to go.

Blanda came on and booted the winner from an angle and the 54,594 fans almost tore up the Oakland Coliseum.

"With only seven seconds left I didn't have time to think about the pressure," Blanda said. "I only wish I had a better angle but you can't have everything."

Blanda, who has seen nearly everything in his 22 years of pro football, said his only concern as they lined up for the game winning field goal was Speedy Duncan, the San Diego defensive back who plays on the field goal kicking defense unit.

STACKED

"I know he is good at blocking kicks and I only hoped we could hold him off," said Blanda. "In fact, we lined the defense up to stack him (Duncan) and I guess he never made it."

Blanda missed two earlier field goal trys—one from the 43 and the other from the 41—but he dismissed both.

"You aren't going to get all of them," he said, "so why worry about it. As long as you get the ones that count, that's all that matters."

John Madden, the 37-year-old Raiders coach who says he has aged "at least 20 years" this season, said Oakland figured all the time that it would just try to maneuver the ball "so that George could get a whack at it."

Madden said that on the last play before Blanda's field goal try he told Lamonica to stand right alongside the official and call time with 10 seconds to go.

USED UP TIME

Charlie Smith, who scored the two Oakland touchdowns on three and one yard smashes, set up the winning boot by running for 35 yards in four

A WILD TIME

Massive Rally At Ohio State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — It took 12 hours and caused $10,000 damage when Ohio State University football fans staged the city's longest and most expensive football victory celebration in history during the weekend.

An estimated 10,000 persons began jamming into a one-mile stretch of N. High St. along the campus within minutes after Ohio State's 20-9 triumph over Michigan and began the city's biggest "block party" ever.

The celebrants, mostly high school and college-aged youths, also staged several marches to the downtown statehouse carrying the Ohio Stadium's $2,000 goal posts, torn away from their concrete moorings in a demonstration of exultation that just could not be contained.

Hundreds, if not thousands, of beer cans, wine bottles and other debris made walking difficult as the exuberant fans danced to music provided by several rock music bands and kept shouting, "We're No. 1."

Even OSU football coach Woody Hayes, who made a brief appearance during the giant celebration, could not make himself heard above the din. But words were not necessary as the crowd went wild when the coach held up his index finger to signify OSU's No. 1 status.

Although dozens of campus-area store windows were smashed, cars damaged and even steel utility poles uprooted by the fans, police, for the most part, stayer away from the area.

Plainclothed officers mingled with the crowd and dozens of riot-trained patrolmen were on standby at a nearby command post in case the celebration got completely out of hand. They were never called into action.

The "block party" began about 4 p.m. Saturday and lasted until 4 a.m. Sunday, when tired police officials finally ordered the remaining, still-celebrating, fans from the street to allow cleanup crews to begin work.

Several arrests were reported, some for drug violations. Dozens of persons suffered minor injuries, some in fist fights.

Series With Japanese On Giants' Schedule

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Giants announced Saturday a 32-game spring exhibition season for 1971 including a two-game weekend series with the Japan Pacific League champion Lotte Orions in Candlestick Park, April 3-4.

The Orions will hold their spring training next year in Arizona, using the Gaints facility at Casa Grande after the San Francisco club moves on to Phoenix following a two-week conditioning period.

In all, seven National and American League teams will train in the desert, including the California Angels at Palm Springs, Calif., along with the Orions. The Giants schedule lists games with all the big league clubs, including a pair with the Los Angeles Dodgers, one at Albuquerque and the second in Phoenix.

The Giants' first game in Phoenix is scheduled for Sunday, March 7, against traditional rivals, the Cleveland Indians. The Giants play the Oakland A's three times.

The Giants play their final Arizona game on April 1 against the Milwaukee Brewers in Tempe, then come home to meet the University of Santa Clara on April 2 before winding up the exhibition season against the Orions.

The regular N.L. season opens on April 6 with the Giants at San Diego.

49ERS DRUBBED IN DETROIT

Lions Are Back To Early Form

DETROIT (UPI) —The Lions "were searching for themselves" and the San Francisco 49ers were not a bit pleased with what Detroit discovered.

Detroit recaptured its early season winning ways Sunday by pasting San Francisco, 28-7, to snap its three-game losing streak and break a four-game 49ers' winning string.

They rediscovered fullback Mel Farr, who counted a two-yard touchdown run in his first 100-yard rushing day in two seasons, and unveiled a four-linebacker defense which shocked San Francisco quarterback John Brodie, who entered the game as the conference's leading passer.

Young Greg Landry, third-year quarterback from Massachusetts, started his second game of the season and upstaged Brodie with three touchdown passes in engineering the win.

"The guys were searching for themselves," Landry, who started in place of Bill Munson the previous game, revealed after the game. "They were wondering is it gonna happen again? They went out and played a real fine football game."

Detroit, now 6-4 after winning five of its first six National Football Conference games, lost on a record field goal in the last two seconds by Tom Dempsey of New Orleans and in the last two minutes to Minnesota after leading the whole game in its last two contests.

"This was my best performance," Landry said of his game, which saw him complete 11 of 17 passes for 111 yards and three scores. "But I think all year I've been picking up stuff."

"I'm better because of last year, too," he said. Landry made seven starts a season ago and won five of them. "But I've still got a lot to learn."

"We just had too many fumbles, penalties and interceptions," lamented losing Coach Dick Nolan of San Francisco. "You can't give the ball up that many times and expect to win. At least not to Detroit —they are a good football team."

Brodie didn't show Landry a whole lot, despite completing 19 of 25 passes for 130 yards. Three of his throws were intercepted by Dick Lebeau, Lem Barney and Mike Weger of the Lions.

The 14-year veteran quarterback decided to hand off to Doug Cunningham against the four-linebacker defense on the second play of the game and the San Francisco halfback fumbled the ball, with defensive end Jim Mitchell falling on it for Detroit on the 49ers' 26.

Five plays later, Farr gained the first two of his 117-yard total in 16 carries to give Detroit a 7-0 lead with the game but 4:18 old.

A 19-yard pass to tight end Charlie Sanders from Landry, who kept popping on the short ones until he could connect in the end gone in the longer

Warriors Moving On To Philadelphia

By LARRY MOWELL

SAN FRANCISCO — Records are made to be broken, the old bromide states.

Unfortunately for the Warriors, the Milwaukee Bucks played like they believe it as they frustrated San Francisco, 127-102, before a season-high 8,-204 fans at the Cow Palace Saturday night.

The Midwest Division leaders easily won their 13th straight, five short of the consecutive win record set last year by the world-champion New York Knicks.

Continually beating the home team down for easy layups on offense and, on defense, forcing the Warriors to struggle for every shot, the Bucks looked capable of claiming that record.

The only bright spot for San Francisco, now 11-9, was the play of Nate Thurmond. The lanky center pumped in 30 points and pulled down 14 rebounds to gain a standoff with awesome Lew Alcindor.

The Bucks' giant pivot man scored 28 points with 15 rebounds, but, unlike Thurmond, got strong support from four other Bucks.

Oscar Robertson popped in 25, Greg Smith, 23, and Bob Dandridge and Bob Boozer each netted 18 as the Bucks shot 56.5 per cent.

The Warriors shot a creditable 45 per cent from the field, but gave the ball away 34 times to the swarming Buck defense.

The Warriors played the talented Bucks, now 14-1, on even terms until the last minute of the first quarter when the Bucks reeled off three baskets for a 32-26 lead.

Relying on the shooting of Robertson and Boozer in the second quarter, the Bucks burst to a 56-42 half-time lead and pulled away steadily in the second half.

The Warriors' next game is tomorrow in Philadelphia against the 76ers, the second place team in the Atlantic Division of the National Basketball Association with a 13-9 record.

Chico Gridders Bomb Sonoma State, 75-14

The Sonoma State College Cossacks ended their 1970 football season on a sour note Saturday, losing to Far Western Conference co-champion Chico State, 75-14 at Chico.

The loss, fourth for the Cossacks of Rohnert Park against four wins and a tie in this, their first season of varsity competition, was a matter of course after the Wildcats racked up a 24-0 halftime lead. But the team that tied for the FWC title with Hayward State continued to pour it on, scoring 38 points in the final quarter.

Sonoma State scored on a one-yard dive in the third quarter by freshman quarterback Ernie Simon, and a 30-yard touchdown pass from Simon to Jack Trujillo in the final period.

Cossack coach Carl Peterson said afterward that, although disappointed over the final game, he was pleased with the seoson on the whole.

Two Cal Stars Named To West Shrine Squad

OAKLAND (UPI) — Linebacker Phil Croyle and tackle Bob Richards of the Cal Bears will play for the West squad in the East-West Shrine game Jan. 2 at Oakland Coliseum. They will be the only Bears on the all star squad.

Seals Home After Disastrous Trip

CHICAGO (UPI) —All the California Golden Seals can show today for their disastrous seven-game road trip are a win over Boston, a $25 meal and a $200 suit for each player.

Oddly, all of those goodies sprang from the pocketbook of owner Charles O. Finley after the Seals edged the Bruins 2-1 a week ago Sunday. But Finley would have taken back the new suits and $25 meals if he had seen his Golden Seals succumb 9-0 to Bobby Hull and the Chicago Black Hawks Sunday night.

It was the worst defeat of the young season for the Seals and left them mired in last place in the Western Division of the National Hockey League.

Hull scored the 25th hat trick of his career to pull to within three of the NHL record held by Maurice (The Rocket) Richard of Montreal.

The Seals defense completely collapsed and gave little protection to rookie goalie Bob Sneddon. All the Chicago goals came on close-in plays.

The loss ended a miserable 1-6 road trip for the Seals who were playing inspired hockey with four straight victories at home before heading east.

Oakland looked a little better in losing 5-3 to Toronto Saturday night. Trailing 4-1, the Seals made it close on goals by Dennis Hextall and Gary Jarrett in the third period.

Veteran goalie Gary Smith relieved Sneddon in the second period at Toronto with the Maple Leafs leading 3-1.

Now the Seals try to pick up the pieces in an abbreviated home stand starting with Los Angeles at the Coliseum Wednesday night. Oakland then plays Minnesota in the same arena Friday night before taking to the road again for games at Buffalo and Minnesota.

It's The Cotton Bowl For Fighting Irish

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI)—The Fighting Irish are Dallas-bound for a New Years Day battle in the Cotton Bowl But they don't know who they will be fighting.

Ara Parseghian's boys bypassed a shot at Nebraska in the Orange Bowl and voted Sunday for a return trip to Dallas to take on the Southwest Conference champ — Texas or Arkansas.

The Longhorns have invited Arkansas to Austin Dec. 5 in a gridiron match that will determine which team spends New Years in Dallas. If Texas wins, the Cotton Bowl could be a rematch of last year's contest in which the Longhorns lassoed a touchdown in the final minute to hand Notre Dame a 21-17 defeat in its first post-season bowl game.

"It was not an easy decision," Parseghian said. "Both the Orange Bowl and the Cotton Bowl are fine affairs. It was a great game a year ago, but of course our opponents are still unknown. The squad felt that regardless of the opposition it would be a great challenge."

Notre Dame meets Southern California at Los Angeles Saturday to finish out its regular season. The Irish won the Cotton Bowl bid with a 3-0 squeaker over Louisiana State Saturday to post their ninth victory in their undefeated season.

Don Makela Qualifies For Finals

Don Makela, College of Marin sophomore cross country ace, will be competing in the California State Finals Saturday in Moorpark, Ventura County.

Makela, a star runner for Novato high School before College of Marin, qualified for the state meet last Friday when he finished seventh in the Northern California cross country finals at Santa Maria.

Makela, who finished 11th last year in the Norcal meet, missing the state meet by one place, covered the four-mile course last Friday in 20 minutes and 33 seconds. The winning time was 20:21.

Daly City Meet To Marin Runner

DALY CITY (UPI) — Darryl Beardall of the Marin Athletic Club has won the 6.7-mile Daly City Hill Run in record time of 36 minutes, 29.6 seconds.

Second was Jim Howell of the West Valley Track Club who finished 21 seconds behind Beardall. Saturday's cross country run went to the top of San Bruno Mountain and back.

Tentative Orange Bowl Bid To LSU

MIAMI (UPI)—The Louisiana State Tigers can come to Miami and battle Nebraska in the Orange Bowl if—and it's a big if—they can beat Tulane and Mississippi in their remaining regular season games.

Notre Dame spurned an Orange Bowl invitation Sunday, deciding instead to go to the Cotton Bowl and play the winner of the Dec. 5 Texas-Arkansas clash. Orange Bowl committee scouts at first indicated the search was wide open again after the Irish rejected the bid, but committee director Keith Phillips later extended the tentative invitation to LSU.

CLEVELAND (UPI) — A federal grand jury which is probing possible anti-trust violations by the National Football League may not resume hearings again until January, according to reports here.

No date has been set for the grand jury to reconvene after four days of testimony last week.

The jury is believed to be considering the testimony already presented by team officials and former players.

Bowling

DETROIT (UPI) —Dave Davis is ready for a good run at his 12th career pro bowling tournament win today after taking a 185-pin lead in the elimination phase of the American Airlines Open.

The tall, left-handed Miamian rolled a 1,377 in Sunday's third round and then came back with a fourth round of 1,388 to lead 15 others into the round-robin match-game finals.

Horse Racing

LOS ALAMITOS, Calif. (UPI) —The richest exacta payoff in California history, a payoff of $5,182.50, highlighted the first week of the fall quarter horse meeting at Los Alamitos Saturday.

The huge payoff was set up when Cool It captured the sixth race and paid $70.40 to win while a 15-1 choice, Parker's Image, finished second. The exacta surpassed the $4,586.50 record set at Bay Meadows recently.

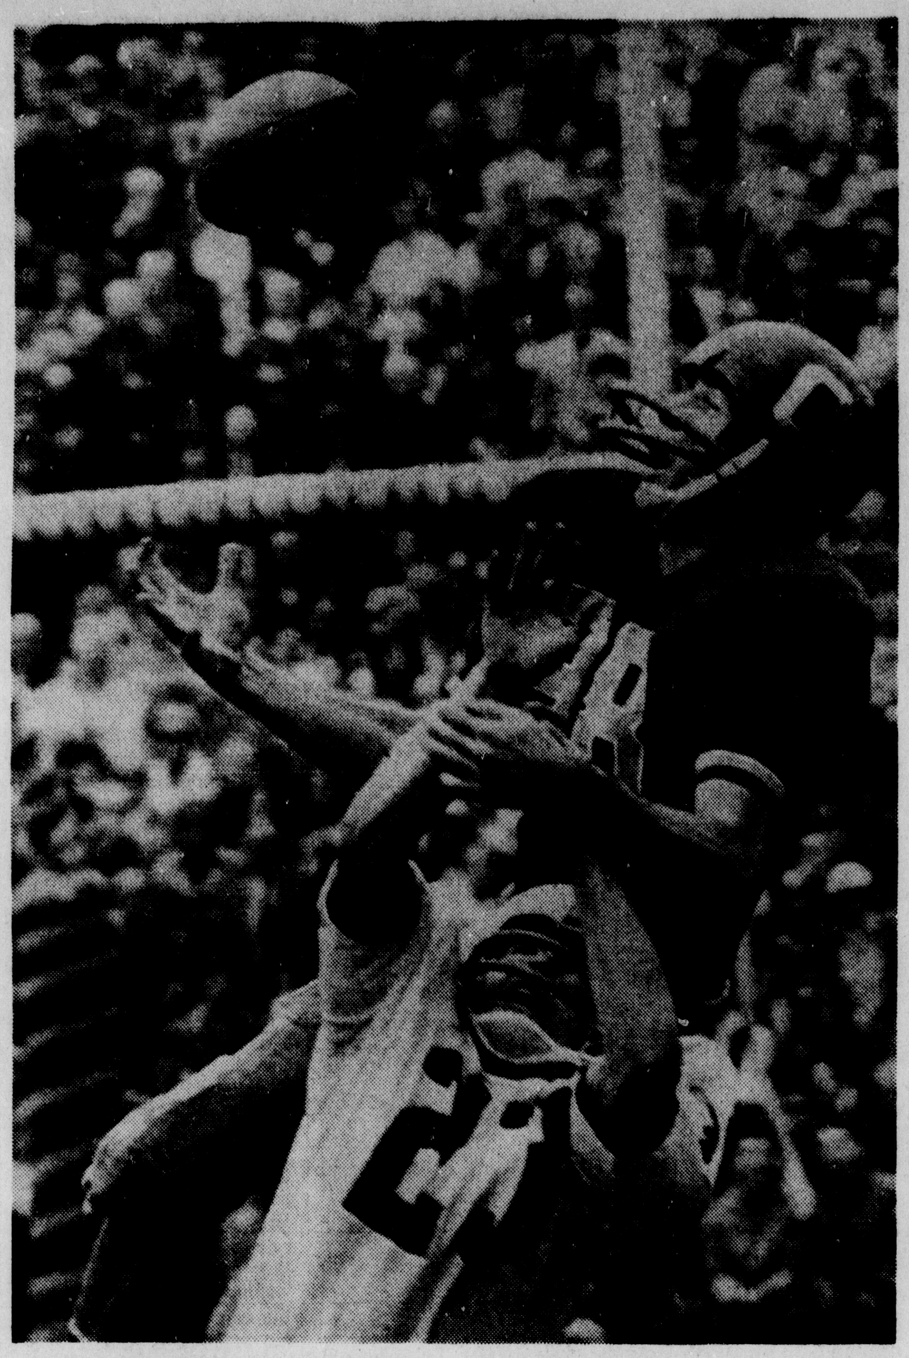
Auto Racing

PHOENIX (UPI) —Swede Savage of Costa Mesa, Calif. won the 150-mile Bobby Ball Memorial championship auto race.

ASHKELON, Israel (UPI) — Israel's first scheduled Grand Prix auto race was abandoned when an unruly mob poured onto the 2.5 mile circuit and ignored appeals to clear the track.

Tennis

WEMBLEY, England (UPI) —Rod Laver, the defending champion, defeated Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., 6-3, 6-4, 6-4, to take the $60,000 Embassy indoor tennis tournament and first prize money of $7,200.



UNBELIEVABLE! — California's Steve Sweeney (88) is about to make an unbelieveable catch of a pass thrown by Dave Penhall during first period drive against Stanford in Saturday's Big Game against Stanford. The play — caught over Indian defender Jim Kaufman — set up a field goal that led Cal to a 22-14 upset over Rose Bowl bound Stanford.

Indians And Chief Have No Excuses

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — Neither the Stanford Indians nor their coach, John Ralston, had any excuses today for their season ending loss to California as they began a two week vacation before beginning preparations for the Rose Bowl.

"We were out-played and out-coached," Ralston said of Stanford's 22-14 humiliation in the 73rd "Big Game." "Our game plan was to pass a lot, which we did, and maybe that was wrong. Don't take away, please, from a fine performance by a fine California team."

8-3 MARK

Stanford finished the regular season with an 8-3 overall record and won the Pacific 8 Conference title with a 6-1 mark. Four teams —Washington, UCLA, Oregon and California,—tied for second at 4-.3

Ralston dismissed his men Sunday after a brief review of the California game, sending them home for two weeks of rest before re-grouping for the Rose Bowl game against Big Ten champ Ohio State.

"I don't like going into the Rose Bowl with three defeats and I wish we could have gone unbeaten in the conference," Ralston said. "It would be a little hard for me to hold my head up if it weren't for the fact we can play again."

California beat Stanford every way possible —up front in the head to head skirmishes, in the defensive backfield and at quarterback, where Dave Penhall upstaged Jim Plunkett, the alltime college passing and total offense champ.

INTERCEPTIONS

Penhall hit on 18 of 26 passes for 231 yards and one touchdown and scored another on a one-yard dash. Plunkett connected on 20 of 37 passes for 280 yards and two TDs but threw two interceptions on key plays and fumbled when Stanford had a chance to pull it out with a little more than five minutes left and the Indians behind, 19-14.

"The thing that hurt us the most was our inability to score when we had first down on their nine yard line and that missed field goal," Ralston continued, "and not anything Plunkett did or did not do."

The Indians were ahead 14-13 and had momentum going for the first time in the fourth quarter when Steve Horowitz, who has booted some key field goals for the Indians the last two seasons, missed one of 31 yards.

SHANKED IT

"He simply shanked it," said Ralston. "It was one of those things but it hurt."

On the following series California was on the move but bogged down at the Stanford 23 when Stanford defensive back Mike Ewing was called for interference on a Penhall pass into the end zone. It was a third and seven situation and had it not been for the interference, a call that baffled even the most ardent Cal rooters, the Bears would have been forced to go for a field goal.

The referee placed the ball on the one and three plays later, Penhall went in for 19-14. He missed the try for two extra points.

Then Plunkett raced to the 37 for a first down after Stanford got the ball at the California 48 on an exchange of punts.

But Plunkett fumbled and Ray Youngblood recovered for Cal and the Indians were finished.

PRAISE

Penhall had nothing but praise for Plunkett, whom he called the best quarterback in the nation.

"It would be a shame if he doesn't get the Heisman Trophy," Penhall said of Plunkett, "after what he has done for his team this year. I just think he has done more against better opponents this year than any other quarterback in the running for the trophy."

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER

A freely-spinning, "active" ball is encouraged when you determine to make a full follow-through. That is, your hand and arm should continue on out toward the pins after the release. At the finish, your right hand should be at least head-high, if not higher.

Pac-8 Honors For Cal Tackle White

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — For sacking quarterback Jim Plunkett twice behind the line and for making seven other tackles, California's Sherman White earned the final defensive player of the week honors in the Pacific-8 Conference.

The 6-foot-5, 245-pound junior defensive tackle from Portsmouth, N.H., led an aroused Golden Bear line that allowed the Rose Bowl-bound Stanford Indians only 97 rushing yards. This enabled Cal to upset Stanford 22-14.

Giants Can Close In On Cardinals Tonight

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The surprising New York Giants have everything to win or lose and the Philadelphia Eagles have nothing but prestige to gain when the two National Football League teams meet at Franklin Field here tonight.

The game will be televised on ABC-TV beginning at 6 o'clock, PST.

The Giants, with a six and three mark, are in second place in the eastern division of the league's National Conference right behind the St. Louis Cardinals, 7-2-1, who tied the Kansas City Chiefs Sunday.

The Giants, 0-3 in early season play, started the six-game win streak that pushed them up in the standings at New York Oct. 11 when they beat the Eagles 30-23.

The victory came when halfback Ron Johnson burst 34 yards off tackle late in the fourth quarter for the winning touchdown.

The Eagles expect to see a lot of Johnson again tonight.

The running back obtained from the Cleveland Browns in an off-season trade has rushed for a total of 729 yards and caught 38 passes from quarterback Fran Tarkenton. Another outstanding receiver is the Giants' tight-end Bob Tucker, who once had a tryout with the Eagles and was picked up this year from the Pottstown Firebirds in the Atlantic Coast League.

The Eagles, who lost their first six games, have improved somewhat, winning over the Miami Dolphins and tying the Atlanta Falcons last week.

Running backs Lee Bougess and Cyril Pinder have minor injuries but were expected to be in the starting backfield with quarterback Norm Snead.

Snead, who had the dubious distinction of leading the league in interceptions prior to Sunday with 14, will be throwing to tight end Steve Zabel and wide receivers Gary Ballman and Howard Jackson.

Convention Slated

NBA ROUNDUP

Big Guns Sound Off On Hot Scoring Night

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Some big guns were sounding off yesterday in National Basketball Association action. There were four games and four standout performers.

Pete Maravich had 32 points, Wilt Chamberlain had 31, Lew Alcindor got 30 and Connie Hawkins had 29.

Maravich, the hot-shot, sloppy-socked rookie with the Atlanta Hawks had help from Lou Hudson and Walt Hazzard as Atlanta swept to a 125-115 victory over the Philadelphia 76ers. Hazzard had 28 points and Hudson 24 as the Hawks roared from a 52-47 deficit at the half to roll up 40 points in the third quarter.

Chamberlain had an ally in Jerry West in the Los Angeles Laker 149-124 rout of the Seattle Supersonics. West chipped in with 26 as all but one of the eight Lakers in action hit for double figures.

Alcindor grabbed 26 rebounds as his Milwaukee Bucks ripped off their 14th straight win, a 126-104 shellacking of the Portland Trail Blazers.

The poor Cleveland Cavaliers got pounded with a 114-99 by Hawkins and the other Phoenix Suns. Hawkins got 10 in the first half as the Cavaliers held on for a 53-52 edge, but then he poured in 19 in the last half.

Chargers' Coach Hot At Officials

OAKLAND (UPI) —Charlie Waller, the San Diego Chargers coach, was as mad as he could be today with National Football League officials and said he didn't care who knows it.

Waller was especially incensed at a call made in Sunday's game with the Oakland Raiders which the Chargers lost, 20-17, in the last seven seconds on a 16-yard field goal by George Blanda.

Waller's beef was with back judge Ralph Vandenberg, who made a call which baffled the San Diego coach and most of the crowd of 54,594 in the Oakland Coliseum.

With San Diego in front 14-7 early in the third period, the Raiders started a drive from their own 24. They got to their own 41 and then Daryle Lamonica threw a long pass down the right sideline for Fred Biletnikoff.

San Diego defensive back Bob Howard stayed with Biletnikoff ever ystep of the way and both went high for the ball as it came down just barely inside the sideline at the five.

One official, not Vandenberg, ruled no play claiming neither had possession when they came down.

Then Vandenberg raced over and ruled Biletnikoff had made the catch and Howard had taken the ball away from him out of bounds.

"How could he say that," Howard screamed and I told him so. I caught the ball on my chest and Biletnikoff never had it. He just rolled over me."

At best Howard said it should have been called no play and if not that, then he should have been given an interception.

The play became a big one because two plays later Charlie Smith cracked over from the one to tie the score at 14-14.

"Howard got a better explanation from him (Vandenberg) than I did," Waller said testily.

"The blankety blank officials are killing us and I don't care who knows it. I know we (coaches) aren't supposed to complain publicly about officials but I'm just tired of all this stuff.

"I wanted to protest but they (officials) told me I couldn't. In the past I've sent films along to the NFL office with my complaints and they haven't had the decency to even answer me."

Asked how have officials acted generally when he has complained, Waller said:

"Heck, I've had officials curse at me and my players. After a while you just get fed up with the whole bunch."

carries. His last started with 44 seconds to go, so the Raiders used up 37 seconds on the play to be sure they wouldn't have to give the chargers, who fell two games off the Oakland pace in the tight AFC West race, more than one play.

Smith credited the Oakland offensive line for springing him loose so many times.

"Those guys played one heck of a game," said Smith, who ran for a total of 84 yards in 15 carries. "They made it easy, I'll tell you."

The victory improved Oakland's record to 6-2-2 and, with Kansas City playing to a 6-6 tie with St. Louis, the Raiders now lead the Chiefs by a full game.

GARRISON

The Chargers got two touchdowns from Gary Garrison—on 5 and 15-yard catches of passes from John Hadl—and Mercer booted his lone field goal for the other points.

The Raiders have no time to reflect on their latest victory as they go to work today to prepare for their Thanksgiving Day game in Detroit with the Lions.

"We'll look at films of Detroit's game with San Francisco and practice on Monday," said Madden. "It's not a lot of time to get ready for a team as good as Detroit."

It isn't, but the Raiders, it seems, always will have that little extra edge against anyone as long as George Blanda stays healthy.

Comeback Victory In Drags

ONTARIO, Calif. (UPI)—Rick Ramsey, who retired from drag racing for nearly two years after a series of accidents, climaxed his comeback Sunday when he won the Top Fuel Eliminator championship of the Hot Wheels-National Hot Rod Association Supernationals at Ontario Motor Speedway.

The 26-year-old speedster from Manhattan Beach, Calif., defeated Gerry Glenn of Panorama City in 6.7 seconds and reached a top speed of 204.08 miles an hour.

Glenn had blown an engine in his semifinal heat and was forced to replace it with a gas dragster engine. Ramsey said he delayed a second or more at the start to see how Glenn would handle the makeshift car. It blew the replacement engine shortly after the start and Ramsey coasted to his victory.

A crowd announced at 41,917 turned out for the first drag races ever conducted at Ontario Speedway where more than 200 cars competed for $203,800 in prize and accessory money.

Other winners:

Funny Car Eliminator—Gene Snow, Fort Worth, Tex., 7.58 seconds and 195.22 mph.

Top Gas Eliminator—Don Cain, Kansas City, 7.39 seconds and 187.89 mph.

Pro Stock Eliminator—Ronnie Sox, Burlington, N.C., in '70 Cuda, 9.85 seconds and 139.96 mph.

Competition Eliminator—Don Enriquez, Dana Point, Calif., 7.33 seconds and 199.11 mph.

Super Stock Eliminator—Ray Allen, South Orange, N.J., in '70 Chevy, 11.32 seconds and 117.95 mph.

Modified Eliminator — Jim Stevens, Leona Valley, Calif., 10.41 seconds.

passes, gave the Lions a 14-0 lead in the second quarter.

San Francisco, 7-2-1, has now trailed at halftime in its last six games but after rallying to tie the first and win the next four, the 49ers saw their Western Division lead chopped to a single game over Los Angeles when interceptions blunted their scoring threats.

Barney picked off one Brodie pass on the goal line in the second quarter and Lebeau's 53rd of his career, giving him fourth place on the all-time list of pass thieves, set up Landry's 23-yard touchdown toss to wide receiver Larry Walton in the third period.

San Francisco marched right back, with Cunningham diving over from a yard out to make it 21-7 but Detroit ground out a score following the kickoff with wide receiver Mark McCullouch taking an 18-yard scoring strike from Landry.

NFL ROUNDUP

Wind Blows, Vikings Win

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

It was supposed to have been a game decided by field goals, but 30-40 mile-an-hour winds Sunday in Bloomington, Minn., hampered kickers and resulted in a 10-3 Minnesota victory over Green Bay. Dale Livingston, Green Bay's field goal kicker, missed three of four attempts from inside the 35 while the Vikings' Fred Cox missed one of two. One of Livingston's attempts, from the 12 yard line, bounced off the uprights.

"Every time I thought it hit the ball all right, the wind was making it wobble," Livingston said.

NIGHTMARE FOR KICKERS

"It was a nightmare for kickers," Cox said. "I've seen these conditions before, but never quite so bad as this. The same thing happened to Tom Dempsey of New Orleans as happened to Livingston today. The wind is swirling around and you don't have any idea how much to allow for it."

On Cox's successful kick — which made him the ninth highest scorer in NFL history, he said "I just went right for the middle. That's usually the best way."

The Vikings won the game when a completed pass from Gary Cuozzo to Gene Washington on the Green Bay five set up Clinton Jones' touchdown from the one in the third quarter.

OTHER GAMES

In other games Sunday, Kansas City fought to a 6-6 tie with St. Louis; Oakland edged San Diego, 20-17; Detroit routed San Francisco, 28-7; Los Angeles defeated Atlanta, 17-7; Miami upset Baltimore, 34-17; Dallas crushed Washington, 45-21; Cleveland downed Houston, 28-14; Cincinnati topped Pittsburgh, 34-7; the New York Jets beat Boston, 17-3; Denver stopped New Orleans, 31-6, and Chicago whipped Buffalo, 31-13.

Philadelphia hosts the New York Giants tonight.

George Blanda's game-winning field goal enabled the Raiders to pick up a half-game on the Chiefs in their fight for first place in the AFC West. The Raiders now are 6-2-2 and have a full game edge on the Chiefs, who are 5-3-2.

BAKKEN, STENERUD TIE

St. Louis, which leads the National Football Conference's East Division with a 7-2-1 record, needed a 14-yard field goal by Jim Bakken with 1:49 remaining to salvage a tie with the Chiefs. Bakken also kicked a 49-yard field goal while the Chiefs' kicking specialist, Jan Stenerud, countered with field goals of 39 and 15 yards. Stenerud, however, missed on a 55-yarder with 27 second to go which would have pulled the game out.

The Vikings avenged their only loss of the season by beating the Raiders. The victory left the Vikings with a 9-1 record and a three-game lead over Detroit in the NFC's Central Division.

DEFENSE SAVES RAMS

The Rams, upset a week ago by the Jets, got two touchdowns from their defense within a 46-second span of the third quarter and pulled out their game with the Falcons. The first TD came on a 14-yard run with a fumble by Coy Bacon and the second on a 25-yard run with a pass interception by Kermit Alexander.

Miami engineered the day's biggest upset and got back into the AFC East title picture by downing the Colts. Bob Griese sparked the victory by scoring one touchdown himself and passing for two others. Baltimore, now 7-2-1, leads the Dolphins (6-4) by a game and a half.

Dallas, which had not played well in recent weeks, snapped out of its slump by routing the Redskins. Rookie Duane Thomas scored three touchdowns and rookie Mark Washington scored on a 100-yard kickoff return to pace the victory.

BROWNS IN FIRST

Cleveland took over sole possession of first place in the AFC's Central Division by beating Houston. The Browns (5-5) won on the passing of Bill Nelson, who returned to a starting role and connected on 10 of 22 passes for 229 yards and three touchdowns.

Paul Robinson gained 119 yards rushing and Virgil Carter tossed for two touchdowns to pace Cincinnati's victory. George Nocks scored two second half TDs in the Jets' triumph; Pete Liske threw for two touchdowns as the Broncos ended a four-game losing streak and Bobby Douglass passed for four TDs in Chicago's triumph.

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, Nov. 23, the 327th day of 1970.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury and Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Sagittarius.

On this day in history:

In 1903 Italian tenor Enrico Caruso made his American debut in "Rigoletto" at the Metropolitan opera in New York City.

In 1945 World War II rationing ended in the United States for all foods except sugar.

In 1954 the Chinese Communists said they had convicted 11 American airmen and two civilians of espionage.

In 1968 French President Charles de Gaulle, after refusing to devalue the franc, ordered an austerity program for the nation.

A thought for today: British writer Samuel Butler said "An empty house is like a stray dog or a body from which life has departed."

St. Isabella's School Is Hit By Burglars

The theft of a portable typewriter, a television set, a projector and an unknown amount of cash from St. Isabella's School in Terra Linda was reported by San Rafael police Saturday.

The principal's office was ransacked, officers reported, and the television set was taken from the teacher's lounge area.

The burglary was reported to police Friday morning by school officials, who discovered the break-in when they arrived at the school.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Forget Double Trump Squeeze, Triple Hipper Dipper Floy Floy

Some of the advanced bridge books tell you how to execute complicated plays with outlandish names, such as the Double Trump Squeeze, or the Triple Hipper Dipper with the Floy Floy. You can afford to ignore all such fancy maneuvers if you use good common sense in such bread-and-butter situations as the correct diamond play in today's hand.

TWO SPADE TRICKS

West opened the six of spades, and South correctly played low from the dummy. He would automatically get two spade tricks if West had led from K-10 or from Q-10 of spades, or even if East blindly played "third hand high."

Many a defender would put up the king of spades from the East hand, after which South would easily get two spade tricks by taking a finesse with dummy's jack. The actual East player was shrewd enough to play the ten of spades.

East returned the king of spades at the second trick, and South properly refused to win the trick. East then led a third spade, knocking out dummy's ace.

NEEDS ONE TRICK

South could easily take five clubs, two hearts and one spade for a total of eight tricks. He therefore needed one diamond trick to make his contract.

South cashed the ace and queen of clubs and then overtook the jack of clubs with the king to run the rest of his long suit. West discarded three hearts on the clubs, saving three diamonds and two spades.

KING OR JACK?

Declarer then led a diamond and wondered whether to play the king or the jack from dummy. This common bridge situation is usually called a "guess," but in this case it was a certainty: West did not have the ace of diamonds.

If West had the ace of diamonds he would take it at once and defeat the contract with the rest of the spades. South had to assume that East had the ace of diamonds, and the only chance for the contract was to try a finesse with dummy's jack of diamonds. This simple, logical play brought home the game and rubber.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with two hearts (forcing to game).

The next player passes, you hold:

♠ K 10 2
♥ Q J 10 3
♦ A 8 5
♣ 10 9 2

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three hearts.

There is no need for any higher bid at this stage. Show the trump support and leave it to partner to make the next move. If he fails to take strong action, you intend to drag him to a slam by the scruff of his neck; but let him have his chance first.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Good Potential For Anti-Noise Issue

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I have $500 which I would like to invest. I am undecided whether to buy a utility like Detroit Edison or a more speculative issue like Tool Research & Engineering. — W. F.

A. Detroit Edison and utility stocks in general are best suited for the conservative investor interested in income. At present prices, this stock yields 7.7 per cent. While earnings have been rather static in recent years, shares have investment merit.

Tool Research & Engineering is, as you stated, a more speculative issue, geared to investors seeking growth and capital gains potential. Because of the firm's heavy involvement in the anti-noise pollution field and the increasing emphasis being placed on this area, shares have moved up sharply from September lows.

Further sparking interest is the $2.2 million contract received from Rohr Corp. for Tool Research's Soundwich paneling — proprietary engine sound deadening materials. Soundwich and Stresskin are the two materials for aircraft produced by TRE.

With these products, company is expected to be a prime beneficiary of the FAA's drive to cut back jet engine noise. Despite recent share strength, TRE is still selling at only 18x fiscal 1971's earnings estimates, and down from a 1969 high at 70x. This situation represents an intelligent but highly speculative buy.

Q. Is the NYSE trust fund in any danger of being exhausted by member bankruptcies? How many firms have actually gone under? — T. F.

A. Of the 580 firms of the New York Stock Exchange, twelve have or are in the process of termination, liquidation or are in receivership. Another seventeen financially shaky firms have been absorbed by stronger companies. And there are an additional sixteen companies whose liquidity is being closely watched by the NYSE.

All told, 196 firms have had financial difficulties of varying seriousness. The $55 million trust fund, set up by member firms to free customer assets when brokerage houses fail, is understood to be fully committed in the failures thus far.

New broker assessments may be required, pending passage of the proposed government-backed investor protection plan.

Securities Breach Laid To 9 Firms

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — The Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) has filed a suit charging nine corporations and 10 of their officers with violating the Securities Exchange Act of 1934.

Those charged in the suit filed in U.S. District Court here included Crofters, Inc., of Columbus, involved in a state loan scandal that penetrated ranks of the Ohio Republican Party. The SEC said Crofters submitted false information to the Ohio Treasurer's office to arrange illegal loans to two out-of-state firms.

The SEC said Crofters filed false information while arranging loans for King Resources, a Denver-based minerals firm.

Prices Close Strong In Medium Day

NE W YORK (UPI)—Prices on the New York Stock Exchange closed strong in moderate trading Monday.

Shortly before the bell the Dow Jones industrial average of 30 selected blue chips stood at 767 up 6.30. Among the 1,651 issues crossing the tape, 894 advanced and 463 declised.

The volume of around 12,500,000 shares compared with 10,920,000 traded Friday.

Closing prices included: Am T&T 44 up 3-4, Beth St 20 3-8 off 1-8, Chrysler 26 1-8 up 1-2, DuPont 121 3-4 up 3, Ford 49 1-4 off 1-8, Gen El 86 3-8 up 1-8; Gen Motors 74 5-8 up 7-8, IBM 299 up 2 1-2.

Observers attributed the market's strength to the cut in the prime interest rate started Friday by the Chase Manhattan Bank. The rest of the industry went along with the quarter point slash.

Analysts agreed that the bombing of North Vietnam by U.S. warplanes and the announcement that the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong would boycott Wednesday's peace talks in Paris "dampened" the rally.

One analyst said he did not believe the advance would "go too far" and he expected the market to settle back into "backing and filling."

Another said the bleak economic picture also was restraining the advances. Some of the buying dried up after the Commerce Department announcement that durable goods orders fell in October for the third consecutive month, he noted. The drop was .39 per cent.

Tenneco, Fannie Mae, Allegheny Power, American Standard and Telex were active issues.

Most major groups were mixed.

Prices were higher in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Delmas Locates Dimpco, Golf Masters Shops At Northgate

Two new openings at Northgate Industrial Park to take place in January are those of Dimpco Associates, Inc. and Golf Masters, Inc., located at 7 and 11 Mark Drive.

These are adjoining quarters in the same building, leased through William W. Hoey and Co.

Both Dimpco and Golf Masters are divisions of the San Francisco jewelry firm, Delmas and Delmas. The father and son team of Peter L. and Leonard P. Delmas is well known in Marin County. Son Peter, who is president of the company, lives in San Rafael. His father, a diamond setter and jewelry designer for many years, still continues active with the firm.

Dimpco creates unusual and functional jewelry presentations on a national scope and has done work for such organizations as Ford Motor Co., Chrysler Motor Co., the National League, National Basketball association and Trans World Airlines. Clocks, jade items, rings and pins are among the many articles specially designed and produced.

Golf Masters is the pet project of Leonard Delmas, who creates trophies, medallions and commemorative pieces for most of the major golf competitions, tournaments and country clubs.

Assisting in the management of the two divisions will be Henry J. Murray Jr., vice president of sales; Mrs. Dotti Stevens, administrative assistant; and Edward P. Fung, technical specialist.

FRANK P. MC GOWAN of Sleepy Hollow has been appointed senior account executive in the investment counsel division of Eaton and Howard, Inc., investment management firm, and will be at the San Francisco office. He was formerly manager of the San Francisco office of Standard and Poor's Counseling Corp.

THIS WEEK'S San Francisco International Imported Car Show, opening tomorrow and running through Sunday at the Civic Auditorium and Brooks Hall, will serve as the sounding board for many new foreign cars coming to this country next year.

Some of the new ones for 1971 on display will include Switzerland's Monteverdi, Dodge's new Colt made in Japan, Peugeot's 304 sedan, Alfa Romeo's Veloce, Ford's De Tomasso Pantera, Datsun's 240-Z with automatic transmission, Russia's Moskvich 412 and England's Bond Bug.

Show hours are from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. through the week (including Thanksgiving Day) and from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. next Sunday.

SHERMAN LITTLE JR. of Kentfield has been appointed sales manager of the central branch of Hill Refrigeration Corp., Glendale and will be headquartered at the Oakland branch office. Previously he was regional manager for Weber Showcase and Fixture Co.

Little Larkin

KENNETH V. LARKIN of Greenbrae observed his 25th anniversary with Bank of America last week. He has been senior vice president in charge of marketing at San Francisco headquarters since 1967. Previously he was statewide head of consumer installment credit lending for three years.

BELL SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION, San Rafael has promoted James F. McConnell of Novato and William Dennis Hassler of Terra Linda to assistant vice presidents. McConnell has been with the company several years and he and Hassler were previously with the Marin County Appraisers Office for seven and three years respectively. Both hold Class IV appraisers ratings.

Oakland Teacher's Case Exposes Welfare Idiocy

The complete idiocy of California's welfare system has been exposed by the state Department of Social Welfare's ruling that an Oakland school teacher, receiving $11,000 per year salary, is entitled to child-support funds for the two summer months when she gets no payroll check.

The woman filed for the money on the basis that she had failed to save enough from her $11,000 pay to tide her over the vacation period. She is separated from her husband but not divorced, so has no assurance that he will pay toward costs of rearing their two children.

The Alameda County Welfare Department turned down her request, saying it was ridiculous. She is not unemployed during July and August, the county pointed out: she is on vacation. She draws her annual pay in 10 installments instead of 12 as a matter of convenience.

SHE APPEALED. A state hearing officer named Maurice Rosen heard her case and ordered Alameda County to pay her $374 for child support for July and August.

How did Rosen arrive at such a decision? Well, the hearing was closed, as are all welfare hearings. Even the teacher's name was never disclosed, because California law says the name of a welfare recipient is secret. This is supposed to be to avoid embarrassment for the unfortunate. But it serves also to prevent exposure of the chiseler.

A little about Rosen's rationale leaked out, however, because Robert Martin, director of the California Department of Scoial Welfare, ordered an investigation — fearing, with ample reason, that the case might mean the start of a treasury raid by everyone who gets more than two weeks vacation per year.

It seems the woman testified that in past years she had saved enough from her salary to see her through vacation. But this year she used the money to make a down payment on a house, so had nothing left. So Rosen ruled the county must pick up the tab.

HERE, AS BALDLY as it could be, is exposed the basis of welfare aid in California: If a person manages carefully, so that he or she has a little money saved, he can draw no welfare assistance. But if he blows it all as fast as he receives it, he can go on welfare during his vacation — even though he makes $11,000 a year (or more, apparently, for the amount of earnings did not enter into the decision).

Simply put, the system is designed to subsidize the wastrel.

And get this: The applicant may own property, and still draw vacation pay from the state. The unnamed Oakland school teacher had invested her savings in a house.

But if the savings had been kept in the bank, or invested in stocks and bonds, she would not be eligible for the handout.

That is the explanation provided by the state Department of Public Welfare.

IN A COUPLE of months, our legislators are going back into session. They will have a lot of bills to "reform the tax structure," to "save the environment," to increase school support, to buy this and underwrite that.

We suggest that before they so much as look at any of these, they attack the welfare law and clean it up so that it makes sense. This is long overdue.

"The previous administration bears the responsibility for the deficit facing the state of California!"

If You Want Cleaner Air, Here's What You'll Have To Do

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Hey there, public, you have been challenged to become "they." As in, "Why don't 'they' do something about air pollution?"

The rude truth is that you never will see it really cleaned up until you are willing to make "major changes in the mode of life."

This challenge was issued by the state Air Resources Board's technical advisory committee in its recomemndations for new standards on the maximum levels of pullutants. The board adopted the standards Thursday, but we keep remembering the committee's caution that "it is the reduction of emissions into the atmosphere which ameliorates air pollution, not the simple act of legislating a strict air quality standard."

THE COMMITTEE cited as an example its estimate that oxidant values in Los Angeles, even by 1985, probably will be two to two and a half times over the standard of .1 of one part per million. And that will be 10 years after the expected imposition of the most stringent auto emission limits seen as possible.

"The public must be apprised of this fact and must be warned that unless drastic changes are made, they will continue to be exposed to levels of oxidant which will have effects on their health," the committee declared.

"The public also must be made aware of the cost of these drastic changes and the technological feasibility of making them," it said. Its warning was aimed especially at the Los Angeles area, but holds for the Bay Area as well.

THE COMMITTEE conceded that the "drastic changes which must occur will have direct and jarring effects," and listed seven actions needed to clean up the air:

"1. Limit the number and use of automobiles, trucks and aircraft permitted in the basin.

"2. Reduce emissions from these sources to levels below those now proposed.

"3. Remove or make essentially emission-free all industries and fossil-fuel power plants in the basin.

"4. Develop a comprehensive nonpolluting urban transport system.

"5. Limit population growth by sharply restricting subdivision and residential expansion in the basin.

"6. Limit commercial and industrial growth to zero-emission facilities.

"7. Restrict emissions from commercial, agricultural, domestic and recreational sources."

"THE IMPACT of these requirements staggers the imagination," the committee quite quite correctly concluded. But it insisted that once a basin's capacity to absorb pollution has been exceeded, "no further activity which adds air contaminants to the basin can be permitted if the objective of air quality standards is to be met and maintained."

The choices posed by these hard-headed experts are clear. Go on as we are, and pay the inevitable price of ravaged health. Or unearth as yet undiscovered evidence that we have at least some of the instinct for survival that is possessed by the average bug.

Teachers Made No Sacrifice Promise

Re: I-J editorial, Nov. 17, — Is Promise to Voters So Soon Forgotten?

Please, let's get the story straight.

The board of trustees and the administrators may have made "tighten the belt" promises to the local taxpayers. However, the teachers made no such promises. In fact, the teachers were led to believe if additional monies were received from the state, and monies were received, the teachers could negotiate for improved salaries. Based on this understanding, the teachers have begun negotiations with the board in an attempt to improve a salary schedule that is rated by the CTA to be one of the lowest in the Bay Area.

Terra Linda Fan Detects Prejudice

As one of the ever-growing band of Terra Linda alumni who return each fall to cheer on the Trojans, I too question the article about the game which gave T. L. their fifth MCAL championship. I feel Dennis Rogers ("Readers Say," Nov. 17) has a valid point and asked my mother to call David Einstein after his story appeared. He pointed out to her that only as a Terra Linda fan would she view the article as biased; well, one would hardly expect the losers to complain about coverage that gave no credit to their opponents. . .

If there is doubt that Mr. Einstein wrote with some prejudice one has only to read his article about the San Rafael-Drake game in which the Bulldogs "romped, rampaged, poured it on," etc., and "capitalized on two fumble recoveries and an interception" in the third quarter. Didn't Terra Linda recover fumbles, intercept and capitalize for their victory and didn't Matt Bowman catch up with "speedburner" Scott Duncan to stop him from going all the way? I'm not putting San Rafael down, they're great and Don Lucas and his team knew it but to the victor belongs the spoils and in his article David Einstein seemed to be denying that fact.

Insurance Firms Pull 'Sneak-Out'

More evidence of the large insurance companies "sneaking out from under" came to light last week with a very loud BANG, when the Firemen's Fund Insurance Co. and United States Fidelity and Guaranty Co. dictated to the County of Marin that the $100 deductible on the Civic Center insurance police is to be increased to $100,000 deductible.

This is not new! For years now, if you live or are in business in a "trouble area" you cannot buy insurance of any kind. The unfair tragedy is also, that if you live within a few miles of this insurance company's so-designated "trouble area" your insurance has either been cancelled, premiums raised or large deductibles attached to policies. Have you looked at your home fire insurance policy lately? Please do. You will find that you have been cheated and short-changed. Because rubber-stamped across the face of policy is: "IMPORTANT — $100 deductible applies to all property losses under this policy."

Let's fight back. The Firemen's Fund American Insurance Companies are made up of the following: Firemen's Fund Ins. Co., American Insurance Co., National Surety Corp., American Automobile Insurance Co., a true corporate giant. The other large company who wants out from under is United States Fidelity Guaranty Co.

Look at your policies . . . Hit this irresponsible octopus where it hurts the most — their corporate pocket book. . .

Our supervisors are in a beautiful position to really lash out at the above companies and all the other companies doing business in our state, by demanding that the insurance commissioner appear at the next meeting and explain to them and to the people, how come they allow companies to "sneak out from under" on insurance contracts that have been bought and paid for, either by a county or by plain Joe Public. Who is the insurance commissioner serving and protecting, the people or the very large and rich and powerful insurance companies?

Haunted House Drew 25,000

On behalf of the Jolly Rogers Chapter of Children's Home Society, I would like to express our gratitude to the many merchants and individuals who so generously supported our recent Haunted House project. This year 25,000 persons ventured through our "house." I would also like to extend our thanks to the San Rafael Fire and Police Departments for their help and cooperation.

The entire proceeds from the Haunted House go to the Children's Home Society, California's largest non-profit adoption agency. Our contribution enables this agency to better help the natural parents, prospective adoptive parents and the children who are in need of their help and advice.

Candidate Backed For City Council

It is extremely gratifying to learn that our current parks and recreation commissioner, George S. Burton, has expressed an interest in the appointment to the San Rafael City Council. Mr. Burton is an outstanding individual who takes extreme pleasure in serving his felow man.

The city and citizens of San Rafael are very fortunate to have such a person come forward. I would urge the mayor and the councilmen to give Mr. Burton's application their highest consideration and also urge all those who know Mr. Burton, and share my convictions, to contact the mayor and councilmen to express their desire to have him appointed.

Nixon Will Shuffle His Cabinet To Improve Chances For 1972

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — President Nixon is moving at once toward 1972.

He plans substantial changes at the top of his administration to improve his prospects for re-election.

Important economic policy is primarily at stake.

Significant shifts may well include as much as 10 per cent of his top White House aides. But this is far more than change for its own sake.

THE PRESIDENT very much has in mind that seven of the nine House seats the Republicans lost Nov. 3 came because of a sharp decline in the usual GOP farm vote in the Midwest. And he knows that, unless the economy improves, his second term in the White House is in jeopardy.

This is an overriding concern of the President.

This is why a new secretary of agriculture is likely to replace Clifford Hardin and why a new secretary of the treasury is soon expected to replace David Kennedy.

Unlike Walter Hickel at the Interior Department, neither Hardin or Kennedy is personally out of favor with Mr. Nixon. But the president is understood to feel that he needs a new face and a new force to put some muscle on administration farm policy. And he wants a new and stronger expositor at the treasury for a possibly changing anti-inflation policy.

PRESIDENT NIXON expects Secretary Hickel's resignation to be forthcoming, and in any event he hopes his departure can be worked out without painful controversy.

But it's in the making. Their relations have been strained ever since Hickel criticized the Cambodia action and permitted his personal letter to the President on student protest to become public.

There is no policy issue involved in the prospective change at interior, but it lost large areas of responsibility when the President transferred nearly all its environmental authority to the new Environmental Protection Agency.

There may be surprising changes beyond those already mentioned.

SEC. OF DEFENSE Melvin Laird is a firm fixture. So is Sec. of State William Rogers, unless and until there's an opening on the Supreme Court. That nomination would have no trouble with Senate confirmation. But a southern appointee would come first.

The two most influential White House aides will not be touched. It is a ear-certainty that they are secure for the duration. They are Chief of Staff H. R. (Bob) Haldeman and Dr. Henry Kissinger, foreign policy adviser.

FARM AND anti-inflation policies are closely linked. It was both the fuzziness of administration farm policy and the impact of inflation on the farmer's costs that undercut the Republicans in the congressional election.

This is why the speculation is plausible that Gabriel Hauge, president of the Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co. of New York, will become secretary of the treasury.

Mr. Nixon and Hauge were very compatible during the Eisenhower years when Hauge was assistant to the President for economic affairs. Both wanted General Eisenhower to do more to stimulate the economy in 1960, and failure to do so contributed to Richard Nixon's defeat. They have kept in touch and the President feels that Hauge takes a broad view of the economy and the government's role as balance wheel.

BY NO MEANS NEUTRAL

Veto Of TV Spending Bill Scarcely Frees Discussion

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — The clarion party call bugled through the Republican cloakroom has made an extremely close thing of today's vote to override Richard Nixon's veto of the campaign TV spending bill.

It also has made even more laughable than before the contention that the President's veto six weeks ago was an apolitical act based on serious flaws in the bill, rather than a partisan move to preserve the GOP's advantages in forthcoming campaigns. Not that anybody seriously bought that contention to start with.

If the motion to override carries, it is imperative to the democratic process that the House go along. If it fails, it is even more urgent that work start now to devise some bipartisan solution to the evil this bill was intended to cure.

THAT EVIL, of course, is the often noted fact that politics has become a rich man's game, and the main reason is the exorbitant cost of broadcast time for candidates. Being often noted has done nothing to alter the fact, and spending in the campaign just past has underlined it all over again.

True, some of the best-financed television blitzes failed to produce winners. Millionaire Richard Ottinger lost in New York and millionaire Howard Metzenbaum lost in Ohio. But they lost to opponents who also were able to mount expensive media campaigns back at them.

The most noticeable exception to the generality that in order to win you have to spend a fortune on television was Florida's "Walkin' Lawton" Chiles, who made it into the Senate by traipsing from one end of his long state to the other. But, in fact, his was not an antimedia effort: It was an ingenious way of getting media attention without paying for it. And not all candidates are as young and spry as Chiles or situated in such congenial strolling climates.

WHEN CONGRESS voted to limit the money spent on broadcasting by candidates in federal elections, it was taking the first important step in election-spending reform in 45 years. Yet Mr. Nixon saw fit to veto the measure.

In his veto message, he did not mention that the Republicans were fixed to outspend the Democrats $8 to $1 this fall, and hopefully to continue the trend next time out. Neither did he mention the less-discussed second part of the bill, which would remove the equal-time provisions of federal law to allow televised debates among major candidates without the networks' having to give equal time to obscure screwballs.

What the President said was that a spending limitation would favor well-known incumbents over newcomers eager to buy their way to fame and would put candidates in high-priced urban broadcasting districts at a disadvantage. He also said it would plug only one hole in the "sieve" of campaign spending. Faced with boradcasting limitations, politicians might be forced to spend even more on other forms of publicity, he predicted.

"THE BILL WOULD restrict freedom of discussion," he said. What it would actually restrict would be the selling of a candidate by high-priced techniques which have been peddled with increasing profits by the "media consultants" of the new politics.

Yet even these political image-makers have themselves come out for the bill. Last week they called on Congress to override the veto because the bill was "an important first step" toward assuring candidates equal access to the air waves. They approved that resolution unanimously. And this was no one-party gathering; the group includes Democrats and Republicans, and its president is F. Clifton White, the old Goldwater hand who ran James Buckley's successful outing against Ottinger.

As for the President's avowed concern for "freedom of discussion," he and his dictionary-happy staff should be aware that the word "discussion" implies more than one point of view. Television spots showing a smiling candidate above a repetitive slogan are the most frequent products of campaign television, and they decidedly are not "free discussions."

Rumored Package Deal Could Mean End Of Richardson Bay Mess

A big waterfront development with an international flavor may be jelling in Richardson Bay, where a jumbled mess now exists from Kappas Harbor to Richardson Bay Bridge.

Rumor has it that Paul J. Broman of Peacock Gap, the one who installed the Japanese Trade Center in San Francisco, is about to tie up all tidelots (about 50 acres) from Kappas' Gate 6½ northward to Richardson Bay Bridge, including property of Alexis Tellis, Commodore Properties, Tom E. Nowell Jr., and some of George Kappas's land.

For years, the county has been trying to get all owners together for a unified development with open water, marina green, and other esthetics. If Broman can swing this deal and put all properties together for a single planned development, it would be quite an accomplishment.

One thing that could change the whole picture is Broman's current battle with Strawberry Recreation District over the 102 units of apartments planned on Leonard Fleischman's property along Seminary Drive. If those apartments are blocked, Broman might have second thoughts about the rest of Richardson Bay.

Broman is also reported to be interested in acquiring the Howard Johnson hotel-restaurant development on the west side of Richardson Bay Bridge.

SUPERVISOR PETER Arrigoni will be given the honorary title of "deputy county counsel" on New Year's Day.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney wants to deputize Arrigoni, not to lure him away from his stock and bond business but to get him to play in the annual Gopher Bowl football game between the county counsel's office and the department of public works.

Arrigoni, who was a star halfback a few years back in his high school and college days, would provide badly needed muscle and talent on the county counsel's team.

The county counsel's forward wall has been deteriorating rapidly ever since the formerly hefty center, Tom Hendricks, went on a diet and lost about 50 pounds.

Even with the addition of Arrigoni, the county counsel will need all the help he can get, including office secretaries, to match the public works department, which will field men who are built like the bulldozers they operate the year around.

PUBLIC WORKS will be led by the likes of Mario Balestrieri and a few giants from the road crews.

Oddsmakers were giving public works a six-point edge, but when news spread that Arrigoni had been proselyted by the legal eagles, the odds vanished.

They're trying to recruit the county administrator's office to serve as referee, but Alan Bruce isn't exactly enthusiastic. After all, what county employee wants to call a foul on a county supervisor and penalize him 15 yards or toss him out of the game for arguing with the ref?

Too bad we don't have an annual basketball championship among the county departments. Supervisor Bud Baar, 6 feet 6 in stocking feet, would be much in demand.

Bombast Out Of Fear With Voting Majority

By JOHN HALL

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Looking over the Senate as it has been fashioned by voters in the past two elections, it is difficult to escape the conclusion that what American voters have spoken out against is simply outspokenness.

Despite its reputation as an inflamed, passionate organization of individualists, the Senate is becoming a body of low-profile statesmen. The Morses and Gruenings and Goodells are gone. In their place are the Cooks, the Tafts, the Stevensons—men whose views are no less strong but have found a way to express them without offending voters.

THIS SIMPLE fact may be the lesson of the November elections, more than any of the various interpretations involving the war, the economy, campus militancy or any other issue.

It may be a lesson that applies equally to a high-profile vice president and high-profile doves.

In the elections of 1968 and 1970, the men who used intemperate language—or at least who had been identified in the public mind with stridency—have been retired.

For that matter, it may have started in 1964 with Barry Goldwater's race for the presidency and his advocacy of "extremism in the defense of liberty."

IN 1970 Sens. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., Charles Goodell, R-N.Y., and Joseph Tydings, D-Md.—all of who has stuck their necks out on more than one occasion—were defeated at the same time that men on the opposite end of the political spectrum, backed by the extravagant language of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, were losing.

Two years earlier, Senators Wayne Morse, D-Oregon, Joseph Clark, D-Pa., and Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, were turned out by their constituents after a tense, open struggle with the President over Vietnam.

All had exposed themselves as persistent, unflinching and harsh critics of the war.

And they did so out of the most deeply held views. But others shared these views, perhaps just as strongly, and survived.

The reason may be that they were able to restrain themselves and their retorts.

TO AN EXTENT, Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., the most dovish dove of all and Agnew's prototype of the radical liberal, has survived because he is a master in the use of the language and comes through as a reasonable and dispassionate man. At least his Arkansas constituents regard him as such and they re-elected him in 1968.

Other senators, just as dovish as Morse and Goodell, won reelection easily this year. Agnew's charge that Sen. Quentin Burdick, D-N.D., was a radical liberal simply did not wash. Burdick is probably the quietest, least visible man in the Senate—except when he steps up to vote. He has one of the solidest anti-war records in the Senate—but simply does not make a big production of it.

On the other side of the spectrum, the question is now whether the Nixon administration will realize that the hard sell has turned off the silent majority.

Pottery Sale Is Announced

The Ceramics Department of the College of Marin will hold its annual pottery sale next Monday in the Art Gallery of the Fine Arts Building.

Pottery offered for sale is an accumulation of unclaimed student ware for the past year.

Silent bidding will start at 7 p.m. and close at 9 p.m. Revenue will go to the students' ceramic fund

Community Chorus Will Give Concert

The newly formed Marin Jewish Community Center Chorus will give a concert on Dec. 4 for the patients of the San Rafael Convalescent Hospital at 234 North San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia.

This will be the first performance of the chorus of the 50 Plus Club. It will include favorite old songs and solos by Phillip Sennette and Sara Barrot.

New Officers For Irate Taxpayers

Irate Taxpayers of Marin have elected Willis Bohm of Tiburon as the association's president for 1971.

The new slate also included Leonard Turner of Marin City, first vice president; Grant Halsing of San Anselmo, second vice president; Susan Tennler of Greenbrae, reelected treasurer; Sara Nome of San Anselmo, reelected corresponding secretary; Mrs. Louis Emis of San Anselmo, reelected recording secretary, and Frank Sloan of Fairfax, membership secretary.

At the Irate Taxpayers' election meeting, members heard Raymond Kesner of Larkspur condemn public housing as "socialistic and immoral." Kesner, chairman of the Committee Against Socialized Housing (CASH) which fought public housing proposals on the June ballot, called for return of all housing efforts to private industry.

The group canceled its December meeting, since it would fall on Christmas Eve. The meeting Thursday was in the Ross Valley Savings and Loan offices, San Anselmo.

Rohnert Park Council Sets Special Session

The Rohnert Park City Council will meet in special session today at 7 p.m. to study the proposed assessment district for the widening of Snyder Lane.

The council will also consider the proposal of Stern, Brenner and Co. to purchase bonds for the project. Also to be studied is the construction of a shed at the municipal golf course to house electric golf cars.

Parcel Rezoning To Be Considered

The Novato Planning Commission will consider a request to rezone 857 acres north of Novato Creek and west of San Marin High School at 8 p.m. today at the community house.

Applicant Jay Garlick is seeking a change in zoning from limited agricultural to planned community.

Commissioners also will consider a staff recommendation that surplus state property, west of Highway 101 and north of South Novato Boulevard, be rezoned from planned commercial to planned residential.

Design For Sears Store On Agenda

The San Rafael Planning Commission will meet at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in city hall to consider the design of the proposed Sears store and other new structures nearby at Northgate Shopping Center.

Architectural approval is sought for six buildings.

The commission also will review plans for a San Rafael Sanitation District administration building to be erected on the site of the district treatment plant off Francisco Boulevard.
